Then have the floor scoured with good strong lye water unless it is stained or oiled; then of course you will have it wiped up with hot water only, as anything else would extract both color and oil. If you have feared that there might be moths in the edges of the room, the hot water should be used freely and then a train of gasoline put around all the cracks. As soon as the floor is dry have the carpets put down.

While the carpets are being put down you can be cleaning the pictures. Remove the backs and wash the glass and dust the picture, then clean the frame carefully and hang as soon as the carpets are down. Dust and rub up the chairs, using some good furniture polish if necessary, or if there are no scars a rubbing with a kerosene rag and an after polish with a flannel cloth will benefit almost all kinds of wood. Clean the bedstead and other furniture the same way. Clean everything before you carry it back into the room, and for this purpose you will find the workroom quite handy. Put up your curtains and draperies the last thing. Some housekeepers do not take up their stair or hall carpets till the lower floor is reached in the process of cleaning, preferring to cover them with linen. I always take mine up the first thing and wipe up the halls and stairs, for the tramping and dragging of heavy furniture over the carpets wear them out.—Washington Star.

THE VOICE OF LOVE.

The voice of love came stealing, with its tender, thrilling note,
And found my heart a-wearying in a gloomy spot remote,
And with its gentle cooling it eased the wounded spot
And planted 'mongst the bitter tears a sweet forgetmenot.

The voice of love came singing that song of hopeful bliss
And swept out all the troubling with a smiling, happy kiss.
The shadows that had covered o'er the sky now fled away,
And shadows slipped their holding at the fast approaching day

The voice of love brought gladness in its joy inspiring tone,
To the dreary scene of sadness, to a heart left all alone,
And with its magic touching it ceased the sobbing sighs
And sprinkled rays of brightness with the teardrops in my eyes.

—E. N. Wood in Atlanta Constitution.

ALL'S WELL.

"All's well!"

"All's well!"

The musical cry floated down from the two black figures that stood vaguely outlined through the mist, high above the vessel's deck.

It floated down in ever widening ripples, round the great black hull and over the tossing waters. It was caught by the waves as they dashed from the vessel's prow and raced past her tall sides and foamed and splashed and eddied in her wake. It was caught up and thrown back and carried on again and swept out into the night—out into the night and shrouding mist and the rolling waves of the Atlantic, and there the ripples of its sound quivered for the last time and died away.

It floated down, already muffled by the mist, over the long wet decks to the ears of a man who paced to and fro in the after part of the vessel. It floated down and struck upon his ears and vibrated in them like the ringing of a bell.

And the man turned in his restless walk and paced back again, with the cry still echoing in his ears, "All's well!"

He even repeated it to himself, softly, slowly, like one trying to reassure himself of some good news, too good to be as yet believed. He murmured it to himself with half closed lips each time that he paused in that monotonous pacing to and fro. His footsteps fell upon the deck and beat out the rhythm of the same two words. And each time that he murmured them, each time that his listening brain caught that sound in the rushing of the wind, or the whistling of the ropes, or the steady tramp of his own footfalls, there was a smile upon his face that was not good to see.

His fellow passengers on board the ship knew him as the Silent Man. No doubt he had some other name, no doubt the captain knew it, and the ship's books held it written down in full, but to all the passengers who knew him he was known only as the Silent Man. And there were few on board who knew him not; few who had not noticed the tall, gaunt figure that strode incessantly to and fro and up and down upon the deck; few who had not shrunk insensibly from that haggard face and the lips that murmured forever to themselves, but could hardly be brought to frame an answer to another; few who had not wondered who this man was, with his murmuring lips, and his taciturnity, and his ceaseless tramp on the ship's deck, who had not speculated on the business that brought him on that voyage of the Amsterdam across the broad Atlantic.

Once more the bell sounded and the voices rang out through the darkness. And the Silent Man still paced, with bowed head and folded arms, up and down, to and fro, in the gathering mist.

Once again the bell was almost due to sound, but the cry that broke then from one of the two motionless figures on the lookout bridge was not the same—a cry of sudden fear, of wild alarm, with waving arms and frantic gestures and hands pointing out into the darkness, pointing into the darkness no longer now, pointing at something vast and shapeless, like a cloud rising from the water; something that came swiftly, noiselessly, loomingly out of the fog, ever nearer and nearer or towering high above the vessel's masts, lit with a strange glimmering light; something that a moment later, with a noise of crackling ice, with a horrible, rending, grinding jar, with a blow that made the great ship quiver like a compass needle, crashed into the bows of the Amsterdam.

For an instant she remained reared up against the iceberg, held fast in the jagged cleft that her prow had cut, then slowly, with a rushing swirl of water, slid back into the waves.

She was sinking in mid-Atlantic!

One of the first boats that were launched contained the Silent Man. He had taken his place quietly, almost mechanically. He was rowing now, and the beat of his oar in the rowlock seemed to him as he gazed back at the misty outline of the sinking ship to be still grimly, darkly, ominously echoing those words, "All's well!"

All that night they rowed, menaced incessantly by masses of detached ice, by floating wreckage, by foam topped surf that broke over the open boat—all that night and the next day and for many days after.

Who can tell the horror of those days?

Of days when the shrouding mist robbed them of all hope of rescue; when the sun beat down through the damp laden atmosphere for hour after hour on their uncovered heads; when no cloud in the sky came to screen them for an instant from its scorching, dazzling rays; when they drifted they scarcely knew whither and heard afar off the fog signals of vessels that passed them unheeded in the mist; when arms ached and strength was failing, and hunger and thirst were doing their fell work, and courage and hope together were well nigh spent.

Of nights when the rising breeze blew through their saturated clothes and chilled the very life within them; when other boats, the companions of their fate, were missed and lost sight of; when the great rolling swell threatened in the darkness to overwhelm them, and each giant wave as it passed seemed only to delay the death that the next must surely bring; when the misery and anguish and despair were made deeper and blacker and more intolerable by the darkness; of days and nights later on when the heat and thirst and weakness had done their work and men began to rave and sing aloud and say wild unmeaning things; when fever and death came among them; when it was no longer a strange sight to see dead men—their bodies stripped that their clothing might afford protection to the living—cast over into the gray waves without a prayer, almost without a thought; when the number of the living on board that little boat shrank awfully from day to day.

When there were at last but six alive—but five—and then one dim, gray morning only three!

The Silent Man still lived. Through all those days he lived—silent, unmoved, uncomplaining, working at his oar like a tireless machine, possessed, as it were, of a very greed of life; through all those days he lived, untouched by hunger or thirst, by heat or chill, by fatigue or exposure or despair; through all those days, unheeding everything around him, living in a sort of dream.

He had dreamed the same waking dream that night when he paced to and fro on the deck of the Amsterdam. He had dreamed the same dream, but not quite all of it, had seen the same figures, sleeping and waking, for 12 months past, but now, in his weakness and the horror of his daily life, with madness and delirium and death all around him, the figures gathered color and vividness and substantiality; they became to his disordered brain as living comrades, living and moving with him in a different world.

The scenes of the vision always recurred in the same order.

A cottage lying at the end of a long shaded garden. The sun shining on the red tiled roof, and the white muslin curtains in the little windows, and the rustic porch of trellis work, on which a rose tree climbs stragglingly. The garden bright with flowering lilac and drooping arbors of laburnum and all the uncultured profusion of English country flowers. The air around filled with the fragrance of the blossoms and the spring songs of the countless birds. And over all a sense of brightness and happiness and home.

A little 2-year-old child, toddling with open arms and laughing eyes, down the gravel path.

A fair haired young mother, that runs and catches up the little girl and bears her, with merry laughter, held aloft in her arms, down the path to meet the dreaming man. A moment of exquisite happiness, of mutual love, of joy so boundless that it seems to fill the soul and brim over. A time of happy rest, of unimpaired content, when those two sit in the rose twined porch, with the child playing at their feet, and watch the sun as he sinks to his rest.

A shadow that falls like a knife between the dreaming man and his wife.

A shadow at first thin and gray, that seems, for all it is so slight, to rob the sunshine of all its warmth and brightness and leave the evening cold and cheerless. A shadow that grows quickly broader and blacker and icier until it blots out the figures of the wife and child and darkens the little porch, that steals up quickly, like a cloud of deadly vapor, round the red tiles of the cottage roof and wraps all the picture at last in an impenetrable shroud.

A shadow that somehow gathers itself gradually into the form of a man's face—coarse, thick lipped, sensuous, with gloating eyes and a false smile—a face that might for all its coarseness be made attractive by that luring smile, yet in itself cruel and dissolute and evil looking.

Slowly the face emerges from behind that shadowy curtain. Slowly the features come dimly forth as one by one they recur to the tortured mind of the man in his waking dream. Slowly the eyes of the dream face turn and gaze down upon him mockingly.

Then a great surge of blood red light floods over the gibing face and hides it from view, and there is only the gray shadow left.

So far the vision has always been the same, but lately, since the Silent Man had taken his passage on board the Amsterdam, there had been something more which followed it—another ending to the never ending dream.

An ending in which he sees a scrap of paper, traced over with trembling characters—a letter dated four weeks before from 26 Omaha avenue, Lumberville, U. S. A.

The characters range themselves unerringly before his mind:

> I have sinned, and God knows I have repented. I do not ask to be forgiven. That cannot be. But for our child's sake, for little Goldie's sake, come quickly. She who was once
> YOUR WIFE.

The Silent Man's hand steals into the breast of his coat and touches something there—something hard and cold, made of metal; something that he touches softly and caressingly, looking at his fingers afterward to make sure that the sea water has not reached it; something that in the darkness of the night, as he lies crouching in the bows of the tossing boat, he takes from his breast and examines and weighs in his hand.

And he listens to the washing of the waves as they splash on the boat's side and laughs softly to himself as they, too, seem to bear the same message, "All's well!"

All was yet well—for what he had to do.

The morning dawned at last, when there were but two living souls besides himself on board the boat—dawned with a glorious uprising of the sun to show that the deathly fog had rolled away; that all was clear as far as the horizon line; that a sailing ship was standing down toward them.

They were saved!

Who shall say what those men felt? Who shall describe the weeping and laughter intermixed, the incoherent cries of joy, the frantic waving of the emaciated arms, the wild ejaculations of confused thanksgiving and imprecation that burst from their blackened lips? Who shall wonder that but for their failing strength they would have cast themselves into the waves and struggled to gain the boat that was lowered to rescue them; that in the moment of their preservation from a death but few hours distant their minds became distraught?

All save the Silent Man.

He alone was calm. To him alone their rescue seemed not unexpected. To him alone it was not a miracle like the raising from the dead. To him alone it was but the fulfillment of an omen.

The sailing ship that picked them up was bound for Rio, but the Silent Man was destined to dream that strange dream many a time yet before land was reached. For several weeks they beat about on the Atlantic. They were delayed by head winds, thrown out of their course by constantly recurring gales, becalmed for three whole days on the equator. It was close upon two months from that glorious dawn when the little boat had been espied drifting on the waste of tossing waters that they first saw the coast of Brazil, like a streak of bluish cloud rising behind the sea line, opening out before them.

Their voyage was nearly at an end.

The bluish cloud resolved itself into dark green masses of vegetation, growing down to the water's edge. The vegetation became dotted and broken by the white roofs of buildings. The buildings collected themselves together, tier beyond tier, and blocked out the vegetation. A great concourse of masts and spars rose before the buildings. They were entering Rio harbor.

It was long yet before the Silent Man resumed his journey. There were inquiries to be made—inquiries wherein the object of that journey was sought for but not revealed. The story of the loss of the ROSEBERY MAY RESIGN.

SERIOUS POLITICAL COMPLICATIONS AT WESTMINSTER.

The Premier Is a Sick Man—His Health Shattered by Insomnia and His Nerves Irritated by Criticism of His Adherents.

Special to the Times.

NEW YORK, March 4.—Mr. Ballard Smith cables from London to the World: The speedy retirement of Mr. Gladstone from the post of Prime Minister, which was predicted about 14 months ago, as well as the certain succession of Lord Rosebery, especially the possibility of the latter event, was scouted at that time by every prominent English newspaper of both parties and by all the English correspondents of New York newspapers. Now we can assert the very strong probability of the speedy resignation of Lord Rosebery for personal reasons, even while the present majority in the House of Commons remains assured to him. He is still suffering from a severe attack of influenza, but that would give little concern to his friends and physicians if it were not complicated by insomnia, which has been almost chronic for a year or more. The sleeplessness began after an attack of scarlatin about seven years ago but it has increased lately to such an extent that for several months he has found it impossible to sleep in London, going nearly every night to one of his two country seats near London, to Brighton or to the residence of one of his Rothschild connections.

The depression which is the invariable consequence of influenza has so affected him, I have authority for saying that only the influence of Lord Tweedmouth, a man of strong will, robust courage and highly trained political knowledge, has prevented the Prime Minister's resignation within the past two days. Lord Tweedmouth and other intimate friends fear that no influence can prevent it within the next 48 hours unless Lord Rosebery's present temper changes.

LABBY'S ATTACKS.

The renewed bitter attacks of Mr. Labouchere and Sir Charles Dilke in the House of Commons the other day, both being members of his own party, have, in his present condition, affected the Prime Minister greatly. On the other hand, it is well known that Lord Rosebery is intensely ambitious and has worked unceasingly for the Premiership ever since his entry into public life, and therefore would not throw it away lightly. Nevertheless, his highly excited and nervous physical condition makes him obstinate in his present purpose.

OPIUM FADDISTS.

LONDON, March 4.—The opium faddists have just succeeded in committing Great Britain to a very heavy item of expenditure. Though the opium commission has not yet reported it is known that the results of their labors will tell very heavily against the views of the anti-opium party. In order to appease that party the government permitted the commission to be established and it undertook a very expensive tour round India. The government had abundant evidence that there was no justification for the outcry against opium, but they had not the courage to refuse the demands of the opium faddists, all of whom sit on the ministerial side of the House. The government shirked their responsibility by appointing a commission, and they have now recognized the injustice of asking India to bear the cost by announcing that the entire charge will be met by the English Exchequer.

Seventy Deaths from the Wreck.

CITY OF MEXICO, March 4.—Six more passengers injured in the wreck in the railway disaster on Friday have died, making the total number of deaths so far 70. At least five more are expected to die. The statement that 104 passengers were killed in the accident is an error, arising from the mistake of the Universal in counting some of the injured among the dead. The damage to the railway property is $20,000. All of the dead and injured belong to the poorer classes. The engineer in charge of the wrecked train has not been found, but the chief conductor has turned up all right. The accident was caused by the trucks of the tender slipping out of place.

TRENT CANAL

Peterboro' & Lakefield Division

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tender for Trent Canal," will be received at this Office until noon on Saturday, 23rd March, 1895, for the construction of about six and a half miles of Canal on the Peterboro' and Lakefield Division.

Plans and specifications of the work can be seen at the office of the Chief Engineer of the Department of Railways and Canals, at Ottawa, or at the Superintending Engineer's Office, Peterboro' where forms of tender can be obtained on and after Monday, 18th February, 1895.

In the case of firms there must be attached the actual signatures of the full name, the nature of the occupation and place of residence of each member of the same, and, further, an accepted bank cheque for the sum of $7,500 must accompany the tender; this accepted cheque must be endorsed over to the Minister of Railways and Canals, and will be forfeited if the party tendering declines entering into contract for work at the rates and on the terms stated in the offer submitted. The accepted cheque thus sent in will be returned to the respective parties whose tenders are not accepted.

The lowest or any tender not necessarily accepted.

OXYGENATOR

HOW USED IN CONSUMPTION

Consumption, be it of the lung or throat, or afflicting any other part of the body, depends upon a germ or microbe, the bacillus of tuberculosis. It is the poroliferation of this germ, the changes produced by its presence in the tissues, and the absorption of its secretions or ptomaines that cause the various symptoms of this dreadful disease, loss of appetite, emaciation, fever, night-sweats, cough and expectoration.

In what way does oxygenator act to produce the beneficial results that follow its use?

1st. As a constitutional tonic and alterative;
2nd. As a direct inhalant and sterilizer.

Both, as a constitutional and an inhalant, the remedy through its anti-septic and germicidal qualities, causes the tissues in which the bacillus has found lodgment, to become unsuitable for its further growth, just as soon as thorough saturation has taken place therein. The results are noticed in this way: The fever diminishes, usually after the 3rd or 4th day of treatment, and finally subsides altogether. The cough gets easier, night-sweats cease, expectoration increases for the first, consolidated portions of the lungs re-open and renew their functions, appetite returns, in short convalescence follows. If the treatment be continued, directions properly followed, there can be no reason why a permanent cure should not be had.

Of course, in the nature of things, if there has been such necrosis as to leave insufficient lung tissue to meet the requirements of blood oxygenation, no cure can be expected. But even in advanced cases, the use of oxygenator will check the growth of the bacillus, life be prolonged, and much more accomplished for the patient than with former methods of treatment. Many patients are pronounced in the last stages of consumption, from a mistaken diagnosis, therefore even all such can surely learn from our method of treatment after a short time of using it whether or not their case is as hopeless as they are led to believe, and were this so, still life would be considerably prolonged for them, and existence rendered more cheerful and content. There is no question but what at least eighty per cent. of so-called consumptive cases can be cured by our rational method of treatment, if adopted by such just as soon as they find other methods of treatment, first used, to show no gain. To use a professed consumption cure for months and months, hoping, watching and waiting vainly, for a gain for the better, is like chasing a "Will o' the Wisp." Don't do it. Improvement should not only follow within a week from beginning with a good remedy, but such should continue right along as time passes, if proper conditions are looked after, until a cure is effected. This of course applies to all such cases as are not entirely collapsed. The Oxygenator, as an inhalant is most remarkably successful, because by its use every portion of respiratory tract is reached, and thus the diseased areas become thoroughly oxidized or sterilized. Precise directions are given to all purchasers of oxygenator, how to prepare it as an inhalant. All sufferers of lung troubles should avail themselves of the use of this remedy for a trial and then learn how good it is. It is nearer a specific for this dreaded disease, than any other method of treatment known. It has been quietly used and tried with success in thousands of cases. Cost of treatment does not amount to over three dollars monthly.

The remedy is only purchsed direct from the manufacturer to the consumer; not for sale at chemists.

Oakville Gold Cure.

Parties wishing for any information regarding this great cure can obtain it by applying to A. H. Melville, agent.

Evangelistic Services.

St. Paul's church was well filled last evening with a congregation that had gathered to attend the Evangelistic services. The resident ministers were on the platform and Rev. Mr. Moore delivered a splendid address. Mr. J. M. Whyte, conducted a song service.

The Award.

It is understood that the threatening difficulty in the matter of the sewer arbitration award has been averted and an order of court for an extension of time granted. A special meeting of councillors in reference to the matter was held last night. It is likely the award will be made today.

Police Court This Morning.

The individual who insulted Councillor Sproule at the Council meeting on Monday night has been summoned to appear before the Police Magistrate, and the case will come up this morning. A number of councillors who heard the language used have been subpoenaed as witnesses. It will be an interesting session of the Police Court.

Declared Vacant.

Before Judge Weller yesterday the trial of the petition of John Moloney against the return of James Scollard as councillor at the January municipal elections, was heard. The ground on which the appeal was made was that the petitioner had a majority of votes. The respondent consented to an order declaring the seat vacant, costs to respondent.

It Was a Disgrace.

"Workingman" writing in this issue deprecates such scenes as occurred in the Council on Monday night. There is no doubt that he voices public sentiment which is against the converting of the Council meetings into "beer garden scenes" in which outsiders can, openly and unchecked, grossly insult the representatives of the ratepayers. The dignity of the Council should be maintained and the Councillors have the right to expect protection from the Mayor from personal attacks of any kind. The chief magistrate was derelict in duty in that he did not have the individual promptly ejected who not only used insulting language but interrupted the proceedings at frequent intervals during the entire sitting of the Council.

BOARD OF EDUCATION.

Many Important Matters Discussed at Last Night's Meeting.

At the meeting of the Board of Education, last night, there were present Dr. Burnham in the chair and Trustees W. G. Ferguson, J. J. McBain, H. Denne, J. J. Hartley, W. H. Wrighton, R. P. Boucher, M. D., Peter Hamilton, James Edgecumbe, W. H. Law, L. M. Hayes, James Stevenson, J. McKee, R. Caldwell, M. D., W. H. Hill.

The following communications were read:

From William Walters, Lindsay, asking permission to give phonographic concerts in the schools. Received.

From W. Ben Kayler, Morrisburg, applying for the position of inspector. Committee on Appointments.

From Inspector Seath, enclosing report of Collegiate Institute. Received.

From C. Fessenden, stating the number of pupils on roll of Collegiate Institute to be 224 and the average attendance 210. Supervision Committee.

From George C. Robb, chief engineer of the Boiler Inspection and Insurance Company, of Canada, who had inspected the boiler of the Central school, reporting that the boiler was safe, although a little dirty. Received.

The matter of the bank account provoked lengthy discussion. Trustee Wrighton withdrew his notice of motion to remove the account from the Ontario bank, and substituted a motion that tenders be asked for from all of the banks.

Trustee Hill moved the following amendment, which was discussed at length, and which was finally carried by a large majority:

Moved by W. H. Hill, seconded by Dr. Caldwell, that the question of interest be referred to the Finance Committee for their consideration to determine in the interests of the town the best method of disposing of the account. That the committee confer either with the town council or with the Finance Committee of that body to ascertain if some method cannot be adopted as in other cities so that the Board may be supplied from month to month with such monies as may be required to carry on the schools without their being charged with interest, and that the Committee report at the next meeting of the Board.

Trustee Hamilton submitted the following report which he asked the Board to receive at present:

The Property Committee beg leave to report that the matter of school accommodation has been brought very forcibly to their notice, and they have had under their consideration different schemes for overcoming the difficulty, recognising that the present accommodation for the kindergarten is very unsuitable for the purpose and that it would be advisable to furnish better accommodations. The Committee have had Mr. Blackwell prepare a rough sketch showing how two additional rooms could be added to the South Ward School and would recommend to the Board the adoption of this method, which, they think, would for the present materially assist in relieving the overcrowded state of the South Ward school. The probable cost of this addition, including furnaces and furniture, would be in the neighborhood of $3,000. This addition would add very materially to the efficiency of the South Ward school, allowing for the better grading of the classes and also placing the kindergarten school under the supervision of the principal of the South Ward school.

PETER HAMILTON,
Chairman Property Committee.

The report evoked an exhaustive discussion. Some of the members were in favor of erecting a new school, while others were in favor of the additional rooms only.

A resolution was passed placing the matter of the engagement of a new school inspector at the expiration of Mr. Garvin's engagement into the hands of the Committee on Appointments.

MR. BURNHAM NOMINATED.

He Was the Unanimous Choice of a Very Enthusiastic Convention.

At Norwood yesterday Mr. John Burnham, M.P., received the unanimous nomination to contest East Peterborough riding in the approaching elections.

The convention, which was held in the town hall, was, without the least exaggeration, the largest and most enthusiastic ever held in that riding. The town hall was crowded with representatives from all parts of the riding, and the feeling in favor of Mr. Burnham was solidly unanimous. Although not announced in advance, Hon. J. C. Patterson, Minister of Militia, was present.

Shortly after 1 o'clock, the town hall was filled. Mr. W. H. Stevenson, president of the East Peterborough Liberal Conservative Association was appointed chairman, and Mr. E. A. Peck secretary. At this stage of the proceedings Hon. J. C. Patterson and Mr. Burnham entered the hall. Their appearance was the signal for an outburst of cheering that continued for some moments.

Without any extended remarks the Chairman called for nominations. Mr. J. B. Pearce, warden of the county and reeve of Norwood nominated Mr. John Burnham, M.P., remarking that Mr. Burnham was undoubtedly the man to hold the riding and if made the unanimous choice of the convention would assuredly be elected. The nomination was received with prolonged cheering.

Mr. George Read, ex M.P., of Keene, seconded the nomination, saying that Mr. Burnham, although reluctant to again be the standard-bearer of the Conservative party of the riding, could hardly refuse the nomination when it was made so evident to him that he was the unanimous choice.

No other names being placed in nomination the chairman tendered Mr. Burnham the nomination.

After a few minutes consultation with Hon. Mr. Patterson, Mr. Burnham arose and said they all knew he had practically stated his determination not to run again. Some might imagine this statement was only a sham, but as many really knew, he had not been anxious to run since 1878. He was a strong party man and always would be, and he desired to see the party successful at all times. After discussion with Hon. Mr. Patterson he had decided to accept the nomination.

Mr. Burnham's acceptance was received with a perfect ovation.

In further remarks he reminded them that if elected it would be by their assistance, as he could not and did not propose to make a personal canvas. He referred to the government's policy and said it was a matter of vital importance to Canada's future that the present government should be sustained. The Liberal policy of today was equally as disastrous as at the last election, which threatened to sever British connections and throw Canada into the arms of the United States.

Hon. J. C. Patterson followed Mr. Burnham. He was gratified, because the latter had consented to run, and paid that gentleman a glowing tribute. At some length he eloquently defended the policy of the Government, which, he claimed, was one of protection to the farmers and the farming industries.

A resolution of regret at the death of the late Sir John Thompson was moved by Mr. John Lancaster, deputy reeve of Otonabee, and unanimously carried.

Mr. R. C. Strickland, of Lakefield, fathered a resolution, which was carried, expressing confidence in Sir Mackenzie Bowell as Premier and allegiance to the policy of the Government.

LITTLE LOCAL LINES.

Members of Peterborough Lodge, No. 111, and all other Oddfellows are particularly requested to meet at their lodge-room on Thursday evening at 7.30, sharp, on business of importance.

For making things lively and also brandishing a knife, to give tone to the same, Frank Romey was arrested at the fruit store of Frank Anthony yesterday morning. The scene of his bravado was on Hunter street, Monday afternoon. He is to appear before the Magistrate for trial this morning.

Another amateur minstrel aggregation will meet tonight for organization and will go into rehearsal at once. The performance will be given on April 16. The manager, who is a popular "sport" of the town, says that if money, brain and talent is all that is necessary to ensure success, the organization will eclipse all previous attempts.

A number of gentlemen waited on Conductor Boundy at the Walker house, Toronto, on Saturday afternoon and presented him with an address thanking him for his efforts to procure comfort for the injured and allaying the fears of the rest of the passengers in the accident which occurred on the Midland Railway, near Agincourt, on Feb. 8.

CONCERNING THE MAYOR.

Editor of the Times.

DEAR SIR—Disgusting, to say the least, were the actions of Mayor Kendry at last night's council meeting to permit Mr. John McNaughton, one of his henchmen and ardent supporters, to turn a meeting of the citizen's representatives into a "bear garden scene" by calling one of the town's representatives "a d——d fool." The small snob's highest idea of manhood is the great snob.

While the shoemaker of the Old World is called a snob, it is easily explained that the smaller snob should show complete servitude to the large snob, when it is known that Mr. John McNaughton was openly showing in several places of entertainment during the past week, "a note one month from date for $100, endorsed by James Kendry."

When a Guinea trader was told by Sir Godfrey Kneller in the presence of Pope that he saw before him two of the greatest men in the world, he replied: "I don't know how great they may be, but I don't like their looks. I have often bought a man much better than both of them together, all bones and muscles, for ten guineas." When Mayor Kendry accepted the position he pledged himself to do his duty—duty to superiors, duty to inferiors and duty to equals; duty to man and duty to God. During his present years' incumbency, I ask you Mr. Editor to express yourself fully in this matter. Had the Mayor done his duty? That duty which is based upon a sense of justice, exhibiting itself in conduct and in acts.

While no one will find fault with the Mayor's daring nobly, and exhibiting his characteristic strong will, it is to be very much regretted that he faltered in his path of duty to the citizens by allowing Mr. McNaughton to make such an exhibition of himself as he did at the Council meeting on Monday night last. The citizens demand a cheerful, obedient, willing and faithful service, wise rulings, and the motto "Ich dien," (I serve) placing obedience to legal authority.

A word in conclusion Mr. Editor. You have no doubt read Bunyan's "Mr. Facing-both-ways;" which I respectfully submit to several members of our Council for perusal. They are only deceiving themselves when they think they are deceiving others—and who being essentially insincere, fail to evoke confidence, and invariably in the end turn out failures, if not imposters.

The "moral transparency" of the foregoing will no doubt be noted by at least two of the Councillors, and be followed by sleepless nights and days of pain. Thanking you, Mr. Editor for this trespass on your valuable space, I remain, dear sir.

Yours truly,
WORKINGMAN.

A Metal Breadboard

THE WOMAN WHO HAS BEEN USED to kneading dough on the old fashioned wooden breadboard knows what a bother it is to get them clean and how cumbersome and heavy they are. When they begin to crack or check it is almost impossible to thoroughly cleanse them, and they may easily become dangerous conveyances of disease. It was left for a woman, of course, to remedy this state of affairs, and Mrs. M. M. Everhard, of St. Joseph, Mich., has patented a metal bread board, which is one of the greatest labor-savers imaginable. It is light, does not absorb grease, dough does not adhere to it, and while it possesses all the advantages of the marble bread board it is much cheaper and, of course, far lighter and easier to handle. If readers want to confer a favor upon their wives that will be forever appreciated, let them send $1 to the manufacturers, 101 Bay street, Toronto, for one of these boards.

FROM THE QUEEN CITY.

THE PILLOWS INNOCENT OF THE CHARGE OF IMPERSONATION.

A Citizen Accuses Firemen of Being Intoxicated at the Sunday Fire—The Charge Denied—A Plot to Burn up T. Eaton & Co. Overheard.

Special to the Times.

TORONTO, March 6.—Crown Attorney Curry and Detective Cuddy returned from Montreal this morning without James Mossberger Pillow, manager of the Hyams chemical works, and his wife, whose arrest was considered to have strengthened the Crown's case against the twins.

Mrs. Pillow, it was alleged, had personated Mrs. Harry P. Hyams, and, together with her husband, was charged with conspiring to defraud the Equitable and Sun Life Insurance Companies out of $120,000. This charge is foundationless; at all events Crown Attorney Curry believes it to be.

BELIEVES THEM INNOCENT.

"I let those people go because I did not believe them guilty of the charge of conspiracy to defraud," he said.

"You mean by that that they did not conspire with Harry Hyams to defraud the companies?" asked the reporter.

"That is what I mean," he replied.

"But did not Mrs. Pillow impersonate Mrs. Hyams?"

"No. I believe she did not. I heard their statement and verified it and let them go. I cannot tell you what that statement was."

"Will they come up to Toronto to give evidence?"

"Yes, they will be here."

WILL GIVE EVIDENCE HERE.

"Did you release them on condition that they came and gave evidence—turn Queen's evidence in fact?"

"No. They were released first and they afterwards volunteered to come. I am glad I went down because I was able to find out the truth of their story in Montreal. Had Cuddy gone alone he would have been released here and the whole affair would have been a useless expense."

OVERHEARD TWO FIREBUGS.

A citizen, residing on Grange avenue, writes to the Mayor detailing a startling conversation which he overheard.

The substance of his story is that the two men whom he overheard (one of whom he can identify) were discussing a scheme to set fire to Eaton's and to the Exhibition buildings at the same time, so that the fire brigade would be divided and a large conflagration result.

One of the men said: "Then there would be plenty of work all summer." The conversation took place in the vicinity of the fire on Sunday.

His Worship has turned the letter over to the Chief of Police, and it will be investigated!

A SERIOUS ACCUSATION.

It is stated by a citizen, who signs himself "Eye Witness," in writing to one of the city newspapers, that he is positive that one of the firemen was drunk while on duty on Sunday morning. He says that he saw the Deputy Chief putting the man into a hack to send home, saying: "—— —— you, go home, and don't disgrace us." "Eye Witness" says that other firemen were under the influence of liquor.

The communication was shown to Ald. McMurrich, chairman of the Fire and Light Committee, who promised to institute the most rigid inquiry into the charges. He declares that if any officer of the brigade is proved to have shielded a man in that condition, he (the chairman) would deal with that officer most vigorously.

Deputy Chief Thompson characterizes the statement of the correspondent as absolutely untrue. He says that the man who was drunk was a civilian who had borrowed a fireman's hat and coat, and that as soon as he was discovered to be drunk the uniform was taken off him and he was sent away bareheaded. He expresses his willingness and ability to prove the correspondent a liar.

"MINNIE, MINNIE," SHE CALLED.

Plaintive Cry of a Deranged Girl Who Strolled Thinly Clad on the Bay.

Special to The Times.

Toronto, March 6.—Workmen engaged at the foot of Berkeley street have each evening for some days past watched with anxiety and wonderment the peculiar actions of Josie Langley, a 20 year-old girl, who lives with her mother at 55 Taylor street. At almost the same moment each evening Miss Langley has appeared at the foot of Berkeley street but thinly clad, apparently unconscious of the presence of those who were watching her movements. She would step upon the ice and walk slowly about half way across the bay, calling softly, as though seeking a lost friend, "Minnie," "Minnie," "Minnie." This pleading, plaintive cry would be continued until she returned to the shore, when a look of deep disappointment would spread over her features, and she would return sadly to her home.

The ice harvesters have been at work in the vicinity of her customary walk, and the workmen sometimes dared to disturb her reverie to warn her of her danger. The warnings were unheeded, and when Miss Langley was a short distance from shore yesterday the ice gave way beneath her. With some difficulty she was rescued and the ambulance being summoned she was removed to the General hospital. The unfortunate girl has been slightly deranged since the death of a friend a year ago.

Two Daring Thieves Shot the Cashier and Escape With Their Plunder.

Special to the Times.

DES MOINES, Ia., March 6.—Cashier Leech, of the Bank of Adel, was perhaps fatally shot by two bank robbers at Adel this morning. They escaped with an unknown amount.

Merchant Bailey was also shot. A posse is in hot pursuit and the robbers will be lynched if caught.

HE IS DIVORCED.

A Decree Issued Against W. K. Vanderbilt, the Well-Known Millionaire—Mrs. Vanderbilt Is to Receive $250,000 a Year.

Special to the Times.

NEW YORK, March 6.—Judge Barrett, of the Supreme Court, yesterday afternoon, granted a decree of absolute divorce in favor of Mrs. Alva E. Vanderbilt from her husband, William K. Vanderbilt, the well-known millionaire. As all the testimony and the report of the referee have been sealed, no facts can be ascertained as to the parties who are implicated with Mr. Vanderbilt. Although a liberal allowance has been granted Mrs. Vanderbilt, there is no record of the sum which her husband has agreed to give her. The only paper that the public can examine is the decree of divorce. Mrs. Vanderbilt is to have the care and custody of her three children.

The decree is granted upon the report of Edmund Kelly, who was appointed to hear and determine all the issues involved. The referee made his report Feb. 5, in which he found all the allegations in the complaint to be true; that Mrs. Vanderbilt was entitled to her decree of divorce, and that she shall also have the custody of the three children—Consuelo, William K., jr., and Harold Vanderbilt. The parties were married on April 20, 1875.

The decree provides that it is lawful for Mrs. Vanderbilt to marry again, but declares that it will not be lawful for Mr. Vanderbilt to again wed.

Mr. Vanderbilt is to be allowed to visit the children at all proper times.

The two sons, William K., jr., and Harold, are to receive their education in the United States. This last provision is made upon the consent of both parties, through their counsel.

William K. Vanderbilt sailed for England, Jan. 17. He came here from Europe just one month previously. His stay was almost entirely devoted to arranging his family affairs. It is understood by friends of both parties that he left behind him papers, signed and sealed, by which Mrs. Vanderbilt is to receive an annual income of $250,000 for the rest of her life, and the use of the Fifth avenue and Newport houses during the minority of the children.

THE WOMAN IN THE CASE.

The woman in the case is said to be Nellie Neustreeter, a native of Eureka, Nevada, the daughter of a Hebrew clothier. She is said to have met Mr. Vanderbilt at Paris and immediately afterward established herself in grand style in a suite of elegant rooms with many servants. After the suit for divorce was begun Mr. Vanderbilt offered to compromise. If Mrs. Vanderbilt would consent to a separation he would give her $3,000,000, custody of her children and possession of three houses at Newport, Islip and New York. Mrs. Vanderbilt declined the overtures and insisted upon an absolute divorce.

WHIRLED TO DEATH.

Harry Hilts, of Humberstone, Ont., Killed at Buffalo.

Special to the Times

BUFFALO, March 6.—Henry Hilts, who came here a few years ago from Humberstone, Ont., was yesterday caught in the belting attached to the buzz saw frame and carried around several times, each time the body striking the ceiling with tremendous force until it was horribly mutilated.

Hilts was 56 years old and leaves a wife and several children. He had several brothers who reside in Toronto, Parkdale, Port Colborne and Pinkerton.

SHORTIS GETS A LETTER.

IT IS FROM HIS SWEETHEART MILLIE ANDERSON.

She Swears to Be True to Him and Has Faith that All Will Come Right—Is He Insane?—A Diversity of Opinion.

Special to the Times.

VALLEYFIELD, Que., March 6.—The murderer Shortis is now in Beauharnois jail. He told a reporter that he will always love Millie Anderson, the young lady with whom he has been keeping company, and to whose stepfather, McGinnis, he made a suggestion that he, Shortis, should murder Mr. Simpson and McGinnis should prove an alibi. In answer to the letter sent by Shortis to Miss Anderson, Shortis, has received the following:

"MY DEAR BERTIE—Keep up heart; all will come right soon. I will always be true.
Your own,
"MILLIE."

Miss Anderson is quite ill. She is suffering from nervous prostration. Medical aid has been summoned.

A HAND-TO-HAND STRUGGLE.

Hugh C. Wilson is gradually recalling incidents which have not yet been told. He says that he had a hand-to-hand struggle with Shortis, and the murderer grasped him by the throat. This is where most of Wilson's pain now is, although he also complains of his side. It is not known whether the bullet is still in his side, as one fell from his clothing when he was being undressed, and this may be the one which entered his body at the first shot.

IS SHORTIS INSANE?

MONTREAL, March 6.—A well-known gentleman in the city, who does not wish his name to be mentioned in connection with Shortis' career here at present, has received the following cable from the parents of the murderer: "Insanity on both sides Shortis' family. Object could not be robbery. Family independent, and kept him supplied with money."

The recipient of the cablegram told a reporter that he has known Shortis ever since he came out to this country. He arrived here with a letter of introduction to the gentleman in question on the 15th August, 1893. This gentleman, to use his own words, always considered the young man had "a slate loose." He was very peculiar and gave his friends here much trouble, and seemed to possess a mania for purchasing firearms. The gentleman referred to firmly believes the young man is insane.

DID HE INTEND SUICIDE?

STRANGE SEQUEL TO A SECRET MARRIAGE.

The Son of a Wealthy Regina Merchant Studying Medicine at Toronto Marries on the Sly—He is Now Under Treatment at the General Hospital.

Special to the Times.

TORONTO, March 6.—The students of Trinity Medical College are much excited over the secret marriage of one of their fellows and his rumored attempt at suicide subsequently. The student in question is Hugh F. Kerr, a young man from Regina, N.W.T., who came here in October last to study medicine and boarded with Miss Fox of 375 Parliament street. Miss Fox had a niece named Miss Charlotte Lamb living with her, a sprightly young lady to whom all her boarders were more or less attached. Kerr and Miss Lamb became great friends, and on the 21st of January they went to the residence of Rev. John A. Morrison, at 255 Carlton street, and were quietly married. Mr. Morrison, who is pastor of Oak street Presbyterian church, did not know Kerr, but performed the ceremony pursuant to license in the presence of witnesses. The marriage was kept a close secret from all their friends and relatives by the young couple.

THE GREEN-EYED MONSTER.

In the meantime an old affection of the spine, caused by a kick received from a horse when Kerr was on a ranch in the Northwest Territories, had showed itself, and the young man became subject to epileptic fits attended by hallucinations and attacks of moroseness. On the night of the fire of Jan. 6, he was seized with one and they recurred from time to time. He showed considerable jealousy of Miss Lamb and two weeks ago tonight was particularly morose, imagining that everyone was slighting him. He went to the bedroom of Miss Lamb, who was not then known to be his wife, and dragged her out of bed, reproaching her for not coming to sit and talk with him in his room, as had been usual with her.

DID HE ATTEMPT SUICIDE?

Later in the night a fellow-boarder, named Dunn, was aroused by very heavy breathing in Kerr's room, and entering it found him writhing on the bed. On the table was an upturned cup and a phial of nitrate of silver, which led the household to believe that Dunn had taken poison. Dr. Duncan, who lives across the street, was summoned, and he gave the young man an emetic; and Dr. Sheard, who is a friend of Kerr's, was also called on, but it was found that the man had taken no poison, and was simply suffering from a fit.

A rope found in the room led to the belief that Kerr had attempted to hang himself, and this statement was made to the doctors, but his neck bore no evidence of this. Kerr had also concealed a hatchet in his room for some unknown purpose.

Miss Lamb did not reveal the fact of her marriage to her aunt and to her parents, who also reside in Toronto, until after the occurrence, and they, being afraid of her bodily safety, have been anxious to secure a separation. The young lady, however, clings to her husband. She was for a time prominent in the Salvation Army and is a very comely girl.

Kerr is now in the hospital, being treated for epileptic fits, and has lost his memory of some of the events in question. His father is a wealthy hardware merchant at Regina, and is coming to Toronto to take him home. The young man is very robust with a grip like iron, he having been a cowboy. He is very eccentric in his manners.

GREAT FIRE IN TRINIDAD.

Port of Spain Almost Wiped out—British and Yankee Blue Jackets Help.

Special to The Times.

NEW YORK, March 6.—A special to the Herald from Port of Spain, Trinidad, says: This city has narrowly escaped total destruction by fire. The loss will amount to nearly $4,000,000 the chief business section having been the centre of the conflagration.

Nearly 20,000 people would have been homeless had it not been for the assistance given by the U.S. North Atlantic squadron and H.M.S. Buzzard in extinguishing the flames. The facilities for fighting fire are very unsatisfactory, the Maraval waterworks, which lie several miles distant, being ample for ordinary purposes, but not sufficient for a great emergency.

Soon after the flames began to get hold in the town, Rear Admiral Meade signalled from the New York to the Raleigh, and the Cincinnati to land as many men as could be spared, and simultaneously the flagships' boats went into the water. There was lively rivalry among the men from each ship to reach the scene of the fire first, especially as the British cruiser Buzzard, having a nearer anchorage, was also bestirring herself to land a party. From the American vessels more than 250 men were sent ashore while the Buzzard landed about 80.

Organized and determined fighting of the flames at last had a good effect, and the advance of the fire was checked, though not until the sailors, as well as the townspeople, were thoroughly exhausted.

Everything is in confusion, and it will take several days to determine whether there was any loss of life. The blow to the city is overwhelming, and it will be many years before it recovers from it.

Death of a Duellist.

PARIS, March 6.—M. Percher, the editor of the Journal des Debats, who died from the effects of a duel with Commandant Le Chattelier of the Marine Force on the 1st, was buried today. No religious services was held, but a great demonstration was made at the Orleans railway station. Military honors were paid at the residence of Mr. Percher, he having been a member of the Legion of Honor.

The McClary Company's Enamel Works in Operation.

And Buyers no Longer Need to Import Their Goods.

Up-to-Date Machinery and Skilled Imported Workmen.

An Interesting Description of an Interesting Process. Which Has Been Jealously Guarded by the Different Manufacturers.

THE TIMES takes pleasure in publishing the following, taken from the London Advertiser, concerning one of Canada's most enterprising business concerns—the McClary Manufacturing Company, of London, Ontario. This company is all ready favorably known to the readers of THE TIMES, having used our columns freely last fall to advertise their splendid stoves and furnaces which is manufactured at their works in London :

London may now lay claim to the honor of possessing the first Enamel Works successfully operated in Canada. This is in accordance with the intention briefly outlined by Mr. John McClary when he appeared before the city council, some time last fall, and received permission to pipe petroleum, to be used as fuel, from the G.T.R., track to the building. Since that time the work has not lagged. In October a permit was taken out for the erection of the necessary building, and workmen began their task. It is a plain, substantial building, almost hidden behind the immense King street wing of the factory, the chimney alone, as it progressed skyward, giving any indication of what was going on. There was no ceremony either at the laying of the corner stone, or on the completion of the build- The city fire brigade, however, felt called upon to be present when the fires were started. The burning pretroleum caused an immense amount of smoke, before the burners became properly adjusted, and a a pedestrian, fearing that the factory was in flames, called out the brigade. After the fires had been in operation for two weeks, it was concluded that the kilns (or muffles, as they are known to the trade) were hot enough to commence operations.

Fortunately the process was found to be successful from the turning out of the very first vessel. This would not be a matter of comment in an ordinary business, but the secret process of enamiling has been so jealously guarded by the manufacturers that it is very difficult to successfully turn out work even after many trials, let alone the very first.

"Hitherto, this ware has always been imported into Canada," said Mr. Wm. A. Gunn, secretary of the McClary Co., to a reporter, "but we came to the conclusion, although it involved a large expenditure of capital, and was considerable of an experiment, to try it.

"The process has generally been considered a secret, different factories owning different formulas of their own, which they hold very closely. The secret was obtained at a very great trouble and expense—not only to get process, but to get skilled workmen to operate it.

"The work requires very careful and delicate manipulation from start to finish, as any fault in the various operations through which the vessels go will render the whole work useless.

"We have done exceptionally well in being able to produce the ware. One firm in the United States are said to have spent $100,000 and never put a vessel on the market.

"The outlay on building plant has all ready been large, and further extensions are to be made at once. All the skilled workmen are Germans, and they thoroughly understand their business. We will supply everything in the line of enamel goods known to the trade."

The work takes its start in a machine shop, where, with deafening sound, ponderous machines stamp sheets of steel into many shapes in which enameled ware is made. Then they are taken to the enameling shop to be annealed, or subjected to an intense heat, that causes the steel to become softened, and facilitates its being chemically cleaned.

The visitor who follows the process next finds himself in a room full of vapor and steam of a rather peculiar odor. Large crates stand around, which when filled with the steel vessels sink into chemical baths constructed beneath the floor. After being treated to several baths of this kind, they are handled by men thoroughly scour them with sand and water. Then comes another chemical bath, and the articles are ready for the first coat of enamel, known as the base.

Men who are known as the "slushers," stand over vats of liquid enamel, dipping the goods. After this process they are put by the "slushers" in peculiarly shaped iron stands, which are then placed on racks to dry. After drying they are ready for the first burning. This coat leaves them nearly black in color, and the vessels look quite cool, but it does not take long to find out that everything black in an enamelling shop is not cool. After the first burning they are again dipped in enamel and burned again, and yet once more. The process is repeated three times in all.

The work is carried on day and night in order that the muffles may not be allowed to cool. The fires never die out. The petroleum and air, which composes the fuel is interjected under the muffles with much pressure, and the roar of the column of flame is tremendous. Behind the furnace the boilers are situated and here the steam is generated for beating and cleaning purposes. Very expensive fire brick is used in the construction of the muffles, and the quantity used in building them was enormous.

The enterprise is an entirely new one in Canada, and a very important addition to the manufactories of the city of London. The entire work of the process from start to finish is done on the McClary premises. The machinery is new and complete, and the workmen skilled in every branch, and the company is deserving of the patronage of all Canadian dealers in enamel ware, not only for the reason that it is a home industry, but from the fact that the ware is equal in appearance and quality to that hitherto imported from England, Germany and the United States.

MR. BURNHAM'S CANDIDATURE.

The chance of holding the East Riding for the Conservatives is very much increased by the nomination of the present member, Mr. John Burnham. That there will be a stiff fight, the Conservative party fully realize. It will require the most perfect organization, as well as the hardest kind of work to win, so that it is not to be wondered at that Mr. Burnham hesitated about becoming a candidate.

The Reformers have a candidate that will leave no stone unturned to beat his opponent. A life-long Liberal as well as a leading Patron, he naturally will have a special "pull" in the constituency, which is composed almost wholly of agriculturists.

The party managers will no doubt see to it that Mr. Burnham will have all the assistance that is needed to lay his claims and the claims of the Conservative party properly before the electors.

IS HAPPINESS A DREAM?

There is something pathetic in an interview with Prince Bismarck which took place recently, in which he says : "I have seldom been a happy man. When I reckon my few minutes of real happiness I am hardly able to make 24 hours. In politics I never gained enough rest to be happy. I had only such moments in my private life. The first one I ever remember was when as a boy I shot my first hare. Later I enjoyed my life with my wife and children. One needs a certain natural gift to enjoy happiness. "The old Emperor possessed it. His temperament was partly sanguine, partly phlegmatic."

It is a bit saddening to find an old man declaring in effect that for him happpines has been an elusive dream impossible of realization, yet his statement will find an echo in the hearts of thousands. Happiness is purely a comparitive term. Some seem happy as the day is long and others go through life with the growing feeling that most of its little dolls are stuffed with sawdust. The days the months, the years go by and still they search for happiness and search in vain. They may get near it but it always eludes their grasp. The hope of finding it some day spurs them on but the end is the same.

Few men attain such honors as have fallen to Prince Bismarck's lot, but he seems to have found his happy moments in the little things in life—not even in its great ones. Perhaps the philosophy of a cheerful existence is found in being content with little things. But there are some types of mind that can never know contentment, and the doughty old German's seems to be one of them. He was resolute, ambitious, anxious for power and place and his ambitions were gratified. What a confession of failure it is to hear him saying now that his only happy moments were those he spent with his shotgun and his family!

INTERESTING TO LADIES
SOMETHING FOR NOTHING
CAN YOU GET IT?

Many who should kno wbetter, are well pleased to get a good sized glass jar or tin of bulky alum, ammonia or other powerful but injurious mixture, for use as Baking Powder, at much less, perhaps even half the price, of the really good article, overlooking the fact that the amount thus APPARENTLY saved is of small moment in comparison with the real but not always immediately observed inevitable injury following the use of these articles. If in addition to the seemingly low prices, there is attached some showy gift or prize to give the impression of extra value, the inferior or hurtful nature of the powder is lost sight of in the expectation (a vain one) of getting "something for nothing."

"LADIES' HOME" and "HAPPY THOUGHT" on the other hand, can always be depended on as articles of first class quality, and such as can be AND ARE guaranteed not only free from everything in the slightest degree injurious, but invariably sure, satisfactory and economical.

ALL'S WELL

(Concluded from yesterday)

Amsterdam and of the awful days that followed it had to be told and told again. A sum of money was raised and paid to him.

At last he was embarked for New York.

Then followed more days of dazzling heat and glittering water and the rising and falling of the ship's deck, days in which he lay inactive, watching the feathery clouds that floated across the sky, tracing the ship's wake as it wound over the glassy surface of the sea, nights in which he again saw the chill shadow creep up the cottage wall, and the face fashion itself out of the shadow, and the flash of blood that ended it all. And then his hand would seek the thing that he carried in his breast, and he would look at it stealthily in the moonlight and laugh exultingly to himself.

Once more he was on land, in the crowded streets of New York. He wanted to get to Lumberville. It is a long distance, almost half way across the continent. But he had got plenty of time to do that which he had come to do.

His money would not suffice to carry him the whole way. For two days he traveled by the railroad, fancying in the motion of the cars that he was still at sea, expecting almost as he looked from the windows of the car to see the leaden colored waves, and the gray mist, and the tangles of floating seaweed. Then his money was gone, and he must walk.

Rough, loosely made roads, thick with sand and grit. Long days' tramps under the broiling sun, when the little hillock or the stunted tree that looked so close at hand across the unbroken level of the prairie was only reached after half an hour's weary walking. Starlit nights, when he cast himself down on the long, coarse grass, to sleep the deathlike sleep of exhaustion, to dream once more that never changing dream. Homesteads of hewn timber, where he was made welcome in a rough yet kindly fashion, where he was allowed to sleep perhaps on a bed of straw in the empty barn, where round eyed children brought him milk and hunches of bread and staid behind to stare at the silent, uncouth man. Cities of six months' growth, proud in their uprising buildings, which never would be finished, and their mighty streets, which never would be built. Cities in which he was received with cold suspicion, as another competitor in that struggling throng of hungered humanity, whence he was watched on his departure with unconcealed relief.

More homesteads, more aspiring cities, more of the rolling boundlessness of the prairies.

And then—Lumberville.

It was half past 3 in the afternoon when the limping figure, his clothes torn and grimed with dust, his face and hands scorched and seamed and blackened by exposure, slouched up under the shade of the eucalyptus trees that skirted Omaha avenue.

His right hand was hidden in his breast. His hungry, bloodshot eyes scanned the houses furtively as he passed.

No. 26.

The man faltered. His hand trembled, even twitched once or twice convulsively, beneath his coat. His eyes turned involuntarily, as it were, toward the house and met the eyes of the woman who was sitting in the porch.

A middle aged woman with a pleasant, comely face, who lay back in her chair, fanning herself and rocking gently to and fro in the shadow of the veranda. As the eyes of the Silent Man met hers in a vacant, wild looking stare she ceased rocking and smiled, but not unkindly.

"Well, you're a pretty figure anyhow," she said.

There was a pause. The Silent Man still looked at her. His hand still fumbled beneath his coat.

"Seems to me you've been doin a bit of walkin," continued the woman, still smiling, "and by 'pearances it's been pretty rough. Are ye hungry?" she inquired suddenly, with a jerk.

The Silent Man said nothing. The woman recommenced her rocking and went on talking in her quiet, even voice:

"If so be, I s'pose I could give ye a bite and a drop of ice water and not hurt myself."

The man wet his lips with his tongue and spoke all at once, hoarsely, in a curious, gabbling whisper:

"Is there a man living here—Spencer?" he said.

The woman looked at him keenly.

"What has that to do with ye anyhow? Are ye a friend of Mr. Spencer's?"

He started, and a sudden light came into his filmy, bloodshot eyes.

"Then he does live here? I am a friend of his."

What is that hand doing that works nervously to and fro beneath his coat, that seems to be clutching something in its grasp, yet never comes from his breast?

The woman does not see it. She is looking across the road at a patch of golden sunflowers that grow in a hedge opposite. When she turns again to the Silent Man, the hand is still.

"Well, Mr. Spencer don't live here now, so ye're just wrong," she answered, with some asperity, rocking herself a trifle more energetically. "And not much loss either. And if ye're a friend of his I don't envy ye, not much. A man who could go and leave his wife or who was a wife to him anyway, whatever she was, with a sick child and nary a dollar in the house, leave her an go clean off, he's what I'd call a skunk. See there!"

The man had to moisten his lips again before he could speak.

"And she!" he muttered.

"She? D'ye mean Mrs. Spencer? Well, she's dead, poor soul!"

"Dead!"

He would have fallen but for the stem of the eucalyptus tree. He leaned against it, shivering. His eyes gazed dreamily at the sunshine in the road—at the sunshine, and the clump of nodding sunflowers, and the white pinafore of a little girl who was playing round their tall stalks. He even followed with his eyes the flight of the scarlet butterfly as it fluttered quiveringly from flower to flower. It seemed as if his brain was numbed and unable to think. Try as he would, he could not think.

The woman looked at him compassionately.

"I'm sorry if I've skeered ye," she said more gently. "I didn't know as ye were acquainted with Mrs. Spencer or I wouldn't have bluffed it out like that. But it's the truth anyway, so it'ud have had to come out all the same, one word or a thousand. Maybe ye'd like a drink of ice water," she added quickly as she rose from her chair.

The man motioned to her with his hand. It had fallen from his breast now.

"No, no," he whispered. "Tell me—how it was."

The thoughts were coming back to him now—black, evil thoughts, that he shuddered vaguely to remember, thoughts of what he had come there for, thoughts of how it had all ended with that woman's word, "Dead!"

"Ye'd best have something, for ye do look real bad," the woman persisted. "But there, if ye won't, I s'pose ye won't. Well," she continued, settling herself once more in the chair and folding her ample arms, "I've said this yer Mr. Spencer was a skunk, and a skunk he was to her! And she was frit of him, downright frit—couldn't a-bear of him, far's I could see, and yet daren't speak to him hardly, she was that frit. Well, sir, I told ye that they had a child"—she was getting loquacious now in her placid, droning manner, and rocking herself with a steady swing that seemed to stimulate her conversation—"anyway there was a child with them, though I never could understand exactly whose 'twas, and he was more of a skunk to that child than it's in the natur' of man to be to his own, and the child was took sick with the diphthery. That was when he bolted. Sick as sick the child was, poor little mortal! And then Mrs. Spencer come out—come out pretty strong too. I hadn't had much of a notion of her while the man was with her—I don't mind confessin—with her dolly face and fool ways and no more spir't than a chipmunk, but when she come out as she did come out I kinder changed my ideas of her. Yes, sir! The way she nursed that child and sat up with her day and night and Sundays and workdays and never took no food, so's she could buy medicines for the child, and got sick herself and didn't care, but went on nursin just the same—well, it was pretty strong! And I—ye'd just as well change your mind and have somethin," the woman interposed earnestly, "ye're lookin that skeered."

The man shook his head irritably.

"Go on."

"Well, there ain't much more to tell. She took the diphthery then, as I said, and took it bad. And there was no one to nurse her, 'cept what I did, and that wasn't much, and she'd sorter taken the grit out of herself with all the nursin and watchin and starvin herself, and she couldn't seem to stand out against it. And so—she died. That's all."

There was a long pause. The woman was very quiet. There was a gleam in her eyes as she looked away across the sunny fields, as though tears were standing there. The man still leaned against the stem of the eucalyptus tree, twisting in his hands a fallen leaf that he had caught as it fluttered down.

"And the child?" he said at last. "Did she die?"

"No, sir," the woman answered, still very quietly; "she didn't die. I guess the nursin saved her. When she come round," she continued presently, "there was no one left to take care of her, if ye understand, so me and my husband, considerin the lonesomeness of the poor little critter, kinder 'dopted her, not having any children of our own. And she's settled down with us just wonderful. It's real good to have her. Goldie," she cried, "come here, dearie!"

The man turned quickly, shaking with a strange spasmodic tremor.

"Goldie," she called again softly. "Goldie!"

The little girl, who was playing in the hedge by the patch of sunflowers, rose and turned toward them. For an instant she hesitated, shyly, wonderingly. Then suddenly she stretched out her little arms and began to run across the road.

"Daddy!" she cried.

* * * * * * *

The last tinge of golden light was fading from the crest of the waves. The last faint flush of the sunset was fading from the western sky. A tall, grizzled man and golden haired girl, ripening into womanhood, were standing on the hurricane deck of the ocean steamer, watching the flush as it paled and died away.

He was a rich man from out west, everybody knew; had been mayor of Lumberville, some said, and had made a great fortune in live stock and grain. A self made man, who had risen from nothing, but deserved his success by straightforwardness and hard work. And the girl was his daughter.

The flush faded from the summer sky. The stars came out one by one, shining brightly in its clear depths. The man and girl turned from where they stood on the vessel's stern and began to walk slowly back—in the direction where the sun, when it rose on the morrow morn, would rise on the rocky headlands and rugged cliffs that the man had last seen from the deck of the Amsterdam as they faded into the blueness of the sky, close on 14 years before.

And as they turned the clear voices rang out once more over the silent waters:

"All's well!"

"All's well!"—All the Year Round.

To Test Water.

A test for the purity of water, which can be easily applied and which gives a fair idea of the presence or absence of organic impurities, is made by using a solution of permanganate of potash in the proportion of one grain to two ounces of water.

Use this test as follows: Take a long, clear glass, fill it with pure or distilled water and add to it as much of the testing solution as will tinge it pink. Then do exactly the same to a glass of the water you suspect and watch and compare the colors of the two samples. If the pink color does not disappear, or if it does not turn brown, in the suspected water, you may conclude that it is safe to use it. If, on the other hand, it disappears quickly, probably animal matter is present, and if slowly vegetable matter. In either case the water is not above suspicion.—Family Magazine.

Where Printers Work In Chicago.

In this city (Chicago) there are at least four printing offices and barber shops combined occupying the same room. There are also two printing firms sharing the same quarters with carpenters.

One office is located in a butcher shop, another in a show window and one in a bakery.

A printing office on the West Side is in the same room where "Philadelphia scrapple" is being boiled, and the proprietor of another place increases his income by raising pups, nailing boards on the frames of his imposing stones for doghouses.

On Halsted street there is one in a church, the presses standing not 90 feet from the pulpit. Another is being carried on in the office of a livery stable and another among marble cutters.

One is in the fourteenth story of a skyscraper, and another is under a sidewalk. —Inland Printer.

Charcoal For the Mouth.

If there is a disagreeable taste in the mouth in the morning, a dose of powdered charcoal will remove it. It is wise occasionally to brush the teeth with a mixture of powdered charcoal and powdered orris root, which is both whitening and preserving in its effects. Charcoal is of too coarse a grain, however, for daily use. A semioccasional polishing with powdered pumice stone made into a paste with water is also good for the teeth, but used with frequency it scratches the enamel.

CANADA AND THE CAPE.

SIR CECIL RHODES OFFERS CANADA FREE TRADE.

The Offer is for Practical Free Trade between the Two Colonies—A Canadian Commissioner May be Sent to Negotiate.

Special to the Times.

OTTAWA, March 5.—An offer has been made by Cape Colony of free trade with Canada, with all the advantages which that means, to both countries, including an advantage to Canada in the markets of Cape Colony, equal all round to 20 per cent. over us and even Great Britain. It is the first practical move in the direction of acceptance of the principle of preferential trade, which was so emphatically endorsed by the Dominion Parliament two years ago.

Substantially, these are the facts. Shortly before Sir John Thompson's death, he and Sir Cecil Rhodes, Premier of Cape Colony, had a conference in London, at which the question of closer trade relations was discussed. Some time before then an offer had been made by Canada to the Cape Government for the establishment of a direct steamship service between the Dominion and Cape Colony. It was thought that if Cape Colony joined in the subsidy there would be little difficulty in rearranging the present Demerara service so as to extend it to South Africa, with the addition of one of the two steamers. In talking over the matter with Sir John Thompson, Mr. Rhodes took the ground that there would be no need for subsidizing a steamship line. He proposed that Canada and the Cape should each remove their tariff barriers to the products of each other, in other words that there should be free trade between the two colonies. With the establishment of a policy of this kind and the tremendous increase in trade that must follow, a direct line of steamers would be the result without either Government paying one cent of subsidy.

THE BEARING OF THE FRENCH TREATY.

As stated in my despatch of last evening the Government is desirous of securing a definite interpretation both from the French Government and Home Government, as to the effect of the most favored nation clause in the French Commercial Treaty. They desire a specific declaration that the term "Third power" in the treaty would not apply to a British colony. In the event of a satisfactory answer being received under this head, it is probable that the Government may commission a gentleman to proceed to Cape Town to negotiate a treaty with the Cape Government. In this connection the name of Senator W. E. Sanford, of Hamilton, is favorably mentioned. Mr. Sanford had the good fortune to meet Mr. Rhodes in London, after Sir John Thompson's death, when the Cape Premier unfolded to him his plan of preferential trade arrangements. Accompanied by and with the assistance of such an astute public official as Mr. Parmalee, Deputy Minister of Trade and Commerce, the two gentlemen ought certainly to come back to Canada with a favorable treaty.

TRADE OF THE CAPE.

In view of the consideration which the Government is now paying to this question it may be well to mention a few figures showing the trade of the Cape which would be open to our manufacturers. The imports of Cape Colony in 1893 were valued at $86,161,270. These include manufactures of wool, cotton, iron leather, furniture, doors and window sashes, hardware of all classes, agricultural implements and all machinery, paper, beer and ale, bags and bagging, wearing apparel of all kinds and many other articles which are manufactured in Canada. The exports of the Cape are not likely to interfere with our manufactures. The total exports of the Cape amount to $61,000,000 annually. Of this $25,000,000 was gold bullion, $18,000,000 diamonds, $9,000,000 wool, $2,500,000 Angora hair, $2,500,000 ostrich feathers. Practically the only thing the Cape could send to Canada would be wool and brandy. Mr. Rhodes was willing to negotiate upon the basis of free trade, and seeing that Canada has so much to gain it would be worse than folly if this grand opportunity were not seized.

It is Alleged that Mrs. Bella Pillow Impersonated Mrs Hyams in an Effort to Secure Policies on Her Life for $60,000 and $20,000.

Special to The Times.

TORONTO, March 5.—Word has been received from Montreal of the arrest in that city of James Messberger Pillow and his wife Bella, charged together with the Hyams twins now under arrest here on a charge of murdering Wm. C. Wells two years ago, with conspiring to defraud the Equitable Life Insurance Company out of $60,000 and the Sun Life Insurance Company out of $20,000.

Pillow is the manager of the Crescent Chemical Works in Montreal owned by the Hyams brothers. It is alleged that his wife impersonated Mrs. Harry P. Hyams on the application for the two insurance policies.

Detective Cuddy went to Montreal last night to bring the prisoners to Toronto.

Crown Attorney Curry went along to keep Cuddy company and to look up some evidence.

DEATH OF DEAN CASSIDY.

The Well-Known Rector of St. Helen's Church Passes Away.

Special to the Times.

TORONTO, March 4.—Very Rev. Dean Cassidy, who for the past two years had been failing in health, died yesterday morning at 8 o'clock at the parochial residence of St. Helen's Roman Catholic church, Brockton. In November, 1893, the reverend father contracted typhoid fever, from which he never recovered perfect health.

MARKHAM FIREBUGS

At their Devilish Work—Vanzant's Hardware Store.

MARKHAM, March 4.—An incendiary fire in Vanzant & Co's hardware and tin shop at 2 o'clock yesterday morning caused $5,000 damage to building and contents, insurance $4,400. Coakwell's harness shop suffered about $400 damaged with $200 insurance.

A number of similar fires have occurred recently and the town is excited.

A MODEL PRISONER

Is Clara Ford, the Self-Confessed Murderess of Frank Westwood.

TORONTO, March 5.—Clara Ford, the mulatto girl, accused of the murder of Frank Westwood early in the month of last October, and who has for the past two months been living a quiet life over at the jail, was seen for a few minutes this morning by a newspaper reporter.

She is occupying one of the most cheerful and commodious rooms in the jail and Governor Green states they have never had in their charge a prisoner who caused them less trouble.

During the past six weeks, however, Clara has been far from well, but she is now recovering. About seven weeks ago she had a tooth extracted and subsequently she caught cold in her mouth. A gathering asserted itself and gave her much pain. She has lost considerable flesh and shows signs of having undergone a severe siege of sickness.

BURGLARS LED BY A WOMAN.

Dressed in Man's Attire when She Robbed Stores and Houses.

BRIDGEPORT, Ala., March 5.—Almost nightly recently the stores here have been robbed. Suspicion fell on an unknown man as the leader of the gang of thieves, and yesterday the police tracked the robber to a hut where a large quantity of stolen goods was found. The supposed man proved to be Jane Creek, a well known widow, dressed in male attire. She was heavily armed.

The woman, the officers think, has been the leader of a band of burglars for years. Her sons, Hiram and Bob, were also arrested.

CHICAGO'S WRATH.

Aldermen Severely Roasted by Indignant Ratepayers.

CHICAGO, March 4.—So many people attended the indignation meeting held this afternoon at the call of the civic federation that Central Music Hall was inadequate for the crowds and an overflow meeting was held in battery D. on the lake front. The meeting was called to protest against the actions of the members of the city council in granting a gas and an electric ordinance last Monday evening, giving valuable franchises to unknown parties and to make action to prevent the ordinance becoming a law. During the speeches the members of the council were branded as thieves, robbers, scoundrels bloodsuckers and various other epithets were applied to them. Any detrimental reference to the council members brought forth the greatest applause. Resolutions were introduced expressing the sentiment and wishes of the meeting, and were voted forthwith at will.

BUILDING NOVELS.

Mrs. Southworth Describes Her Methods, Which Are Partly Realistic.

"My stories always have a foundation in fact," Mrs. Southworth says. "To show you how they are evolved from small beginnings I will give you a history of the manner in which the 'Hidden Hand' was produced. I was in wretched health at the time, my sister was dying of consumption, and yet in the midst of these depressing circumstances the brightest and gayest of my novels came to me. One day, in the year 1857, my eye chanced to fall upon a paragraph in a New York paper, which stated that a little 9-year-old girl, dressed in boy's clothing and selling newspapers, had been arrested in that city. This item fell like a seed into my mind and germinated there. The little seller of newspapers was Capitola, but I must find an origin for her.

"Suddenly an incident which occurred in my childhood just across Benning's bridge came back to me. An old nurse was met and blindfolded one night by two masked men and carried into a house, where, a few hours later, a child was born. Bribes were offered the woman to destroy this child, but she refused them. The young mother was also bent upon the preservation of her infant, the result being that, braving the displeasure of her family and being discarded by them, she brought up her child. It lived and thrived and was afterward well known in Washington. This was the fact upon which Capitola's birth was founded, and almost every adventure of her life was similarly obtained. Her sparkling speeches to Old Hurricane were taken from conversations which occurred between my sister and a Mississippi uncle. Her duel was suggested by a like adventure of a Mississippi girl, who was misunderstood and offended by a British officer. The girl appealed to her brothers to avenge the insult which she had received. They treated the matter lightly, and she challenged the officer to a duel. Her challenge was received with contempt, and meeting him later and being armed she fired at him—not with dried peas, as Capitola did, but with bullets. He was severely wounded, and the girl gave herself up to the authorities, but when her case was investigated she was released.

"As to Old Hurricane—liberal, kind hearted, but blustering and overbearing in manner—you might meet him any time among Maryland and Virginia planters. It was when at work upon the 'Hidden Hand' that I contracted the habit of writing at night. My invalid sister lived in the extreme east end of Washington, I in the western part of Georgetown. My visits to her were made in the morning, so that I never got to my desk until noon, and I generally remained at it until midnight. Anxious as I was about my sister, when I took up my pen I became possessed of the spirit of Capitola, and care and sorrow left me. Although I have been such an indefatigable worker, writing every day for many years from 12 o'clock in the morning until the same hour at night and scarcely taking any time for my meals, I have never had a threat of pen paralysis. I have avoided it by increasing the size of my holder every year.

'I have used a typewriter to a limited extent, and it has relieved me as a tired child on a long walk is relieved by getting astride of his father's cane for a ride. I have taken my seat at this instrument sometimes to make a few notes, and the change from my pen has been so grateful that I have frequently roughly jotted down as much of a story as would ordinarily have occupied me for several days. For 30 years I wrote exclusively for the New York Ledger, producing a novel for every one of those years. During that time I adapted my style to the tastes of its readers, but when my connection with it was severed—which occurred when the paper passed into the hands of Mr. Bonner's sons—I wrote with less embarrassment. I have never written a play, but many of my works have been dramatized, and the 'Hidden Hand' was played in three London theaters at once, with profitable results."—Philadelphia Times.

The Ideal Nursery.

The ideal nursery should be on the top floor if more quiet, air and sunshine can be had there. It should, to be artistic, be done in light colors, but first be clean. Matting on the floor, with a carpet rug tacked over it, should cover the floor. The windows should have white curtains, and the walls should be papered with sanitary paper, which can be wiped off with a damp cloth. The beds—single iron ones if possible—should be placed away from the walls and have flat mattresses and very low hair pillows. Light, warm blankets are better than heavy comforters or quilts, healthier and more comfortable. As little gas as possible should be used in the children's sleeping rooms, and that little should be carefully shaded. Nothing is worse for a young child than a light shining in its face while sleeping. Cretonne is the prettiest material for nursery furniture, and cleanliness, sunshine and air the best medicines for the nursery's occupants. In winter a grate fire is a boon. It keeps the room warm and gives perfect ventilation.

Characteristics of European Cities.

An observer, says a correspondent of the Leeds Mercury, has drawn up a little table in which he arranges the principal cities and towns of the world according to a classification which has at least the merit of novelty. Each town is considered from the point of view of the trades which are carried on in it. According to these statistics, in Paris there reside the most tailors, upholsterers, bonnet makers, barbers, advocates and men of letters, men or women. In London we find the most cab and carriage proprietors, engineers, printers, booksellers and—though most people would scarcely credit it—cooks. In Amsterdam we find the most are dealers and money lenders. Brussels is celebrated as the place where the largest number of boys smoke. It is in Naples that we find the most street porters. We see the largest number of beer drinkers in Berlin. Florence possesses the most flower sellers, and Lisbon is celebrated as containing the most bailiffs.

How He Read It.

The other day Mr. Toole entered a dairy, and in his most solemn manner addressed himself to the man as follows:

"I will take a boy," looking round at the shelves.

"A boy, sir?" asked the dairyman, fairly puzzled.

"Yes, or a girl," answered the actor.

The man, thinking him some lunatic, said, "Pardon me; this is a milk shop."

"Come outside," said Mr. Toole, and taking the man by the arm he led him to the door and pointed to the sign.

"I'll take a boy and a girl," repeated the humorist, with not a ghost of a smile. "Read what your notice states, 'Families Supplied In Any Quantity.'"—London Tit-Bits.

Department of Public works, Ottawa, 12th February, 1895.

OXYGENATOR

HOW USED IN CONSUMPTION

Consumption, be it of the lung or throat, or afflicting any other part of the body, depends upon a germ or microbe, the bacillus of tuberculosis. It is the poroliferation of this germ, the changes produced by its presence in the tissues, and the absorption of its secretions or ptomaines that cause the various symptoms of this dreadful disease, loss of appetite, emaciation, fever, night-sweats, cough and expectoration.

In what way does oxygenator act to produce the beneficial results that follow its use?

1st. As a constitutional tonic and alterative;

2nd. As a direct inhalant and sterilizer.

Both, as a constitutional and an inhalant, the remedy through its anti-septic and germicidal qualities, causes the tissues in which the bacillus has found lodgment, to become unsuitable for its further growth, just as soon as thorough saturation has taken place therein. The results are noticed in this way: The fever diminishes, usually after the 3rd or 4th day of treatment, and finally subsides altogether. The cough gets easier, night-sweats cease, expectoration increases for the first, consolidated portions of the lungs re-open and renew their functions, appetite returns, in short convalescence follows. If the treatment be continued, directions properly followed, there can be no reason why a permanent cure should not be had.

Of course, in the nature of things, if there has been such necrosis as to leave insufficient lung tissue to meet the requirements of blood oxygenation, no cure can be expected. But even in advanced cases, the use of oxygenator will check the growth of the bacillus, life be prolonged, and much more accomplished for the patient than with former methods of treatment. Many patients are pronounced in the last stages of consumption, from a mistaken diagnosis, therefore even all such can surely learn from our method of treatment after a short time of using it whether or not their case is as hopeless as they are led to believe, and were this so, still life would be considerably prolonged for them, and existence rendered more cheerful and content. There is no question but what at least eighty per cent. of so-called consumptive cases can be cured by our rational method of treatment, if adopted by such just as soon as they find other methods of treatment, first used, to show no gain. To use a professed consumption cure for months and months, hoping, watching and waiting vainly, for a gain for the better, is like chasing a "Will o' the Wisp." Don't do it. Improvement should not only follow within a week from beginning with a good remedy, but such should continue right along as time passes, if proper conditions are looked after, until a cure is effected. This of course applies to all such cases as are not entirely collapsed. The Oxygenator, as an inhalant is most remarkably successful, because by its use every portion of respiratory tract is reached, and thus the diseased areas become thoroughly oxidized or sterilized. Precise directions are given to all purchasers of oxygenator, how to prepare it as an inhalant. All sufferers of lung troubles should avail themselves of the use of this remedy for a trial and then learn how good it is. It is nearer a specific for this dreaded disease, than any other method of treatment known. It has been quietly used and tried with success in thousands of cases. Cost of treatment does not amount to over three dollars monthly.

The remedy is only purchsed direct from the manufacturer to the consumer; not for sale at chemists.

CITY AND COUNTY NEWS

LOCAL AND DISTRICT HAPPENINGS OF THE DAY.

The Weather.

Probs.—South to west winds; fair weather, higher temperature.

May He Succeed.

The highly esteemed assistant curate of St. John's church, Mr. Andrews, has gone to Toronto to be examined, preparatory to being advanced in the priesthood.

Laurier Coming.

Wilfred Laurier, the Liberal leader, will address the electors of this riding some time in April. Arrangements are pending for the reception of the distinguished politician.

Paid the Costs.

In the Police Court, yesterday morning, John McNaughton was charged with using grossly insulting language, the complainant being Councillor Sproule. As the offender had tendered an apology to Mr. Sproule, he did not insist on a fine being imposed, and McNaughton was let off by paying the costs.

He Drew a Knife.

The male portion of the Italian colony was well represented at the police court yesterday morning. An Italian was being teased by some boys on Hunter street Monday afternoon and becoming enraged drew a knife and took after them. The evidence which was given went to show that the police secured the wrong man and the Magistrate dismissed the case.

Races at Hastings.

Yesterday was the first day of the races at Hastings. The track was in excellent condition and there was a good crowd present quite a number being from Peterborough. In the three minute event Mr. M. Brown's horse, "Isaa Carr" won first money. The second and third prizes were won by "Alva," owned by Mr. J. Beatty, of Cobourg and "Nutgrove," owned by Mr. McGuire, of Belleville. The races will be continued today.

East Durham Reformers Doubtful.

East Durham Reform Association met at Millbrook yesterday. There was a divided opinion as to the advisability of placing a candidate in the field, as already the Conservatives and McCarthyites have chosen their standard-bearers, and many thought it best to leave the fight to these two. Several nominations were made, but each candidate thought it would be better to await the result of the Patron convention, which will be held in Millbrook next week.

Two Cutters Collide.

While Mrs. and Miss Dennistoun were driving on Water street yesterday afternoon a collision occurred between their cutter and that of Mrs. Reed, of Bobcaygeon. The occupants of both cutters were thrown out, but fortunately neither Mrs. Dennistoun or her daughter received injury and very pluckily got up and caught their horse. Mrs. Reid, however, was less fortunate and was hurt, though not seriously. She was taken to Mrs. Dennistoun's residence and Dr. Fife attended her.

OUTFALL SEWER AWARD.

THE SEWER MAY EMPTY INTO THE OTONABEE FOR FIVE YEARS.

After that Period the Sewage Must be Purified—The Town Must Pay its Own Costs and the Costs of the Township, the Arbitrator and the Stenographer's Fees.

The award in the outfall sewer arbitration has been made. The town solicitor met the arbitrator at Millbrook yesterday and telegraphed to the town clerk the substance of the award, the full and complete judgment not being ready.

The arbitrator decides that the town of Peterborough can empty the sewage of the town into the Otonabee river in its raw state for a period of five years. At the expiration of the five years the town must purify its sewage matter before it can enter the river.

The town must pay the costs of its own case, the costs of the arbitrator, the fees of the stenographer and the costs of the township of North Monaghan.

The substance of the award is as follows:

The arbitrator awards that the town of Peterborough be authorized to extend their outfall sewer through the township of North Monaghan and to discharge the sewage into the river Otonabee within the limit of said township upon the terms and conditions following:

Within five years of the making of the award the town shall cease to discharge any sewage in its raw and natural state into the river Otonabee within the limits of the township of North Monaghan through an outfall sewer, and from and after such period the town shall adopt such means as shall be necessary and reasonable to sufficiently and effectively deprive the sewage of its dangerous and obnoxious elements before discharging the same into the River Otonabee, within the limits of the township of North Monaghan, the town of Peterborough to pay it's own costs of arbitration and reference, the costs of making the award, the stenographer's fees and also the costs of the township of North Monaghan of such arbitration and reference.

The arbitrator took into consideration evidence put in on behalf of the townships of South Monaghan and Otonabee, and based his award on the extreme view that each riparian owner has a right to have the stream maintained in its natural state and absolutely free from all pollution.

The costs of the arbitrator were $335. The costs of the arbitration were over $2,000.

THE BANK ACCOUNT.

Trustee Wrighton's Resolution Regarding the Board's Account.

A prominent citizen has found fault because THE TIMES did not report in full the meeting of the Board of Education and because only brief reference was made to the exhaustive discussion which a resolution moved by Mr. Wrighton and seconded by Mr. Denne, sr., evoked. The only reason the discussion was not given and an extended report published of the proceedings was due solely to limited space.

There is a difference between a morning and an evening paper, which people do not stop to consider and which in itself is sufficient for the former courting brevity, while the latter may well be prolix in the matter of reports. Owing to the large number of subscribers who are supplied each morning before sunrise, THE TIMES finds it necessary to close its "forms" and go to press at 2 o'clock. From the time the Board of Education adjourned until our press time there was only a very short interval in which to have the report of the meeting put into type, and at this hour there is also the greatest rush of telegraphic and other news. A paper issuing at the hour THE TIMES does, has many difficulties to overcome which do not present themselves to the publisher of an evening journal, and which the uninitiated are slow to appreciate. THE TIMES has never been accused of lack of backbone in the handling of any public question, and no reason, other than assigned herein, was responsible for the curtailment of the report referred to. Mr. Wrighton's resolution is published below:

That the secretary of the Board is hereby instructed to write each of the local banks asking for tenders stating the lowest rate of interest that they will carry the school account for an over-draft or otherwise, the amount borrowed at any time not to exceed $20,000. The tenders to be for two years reckoning from the first day of March now next. Tenders to be addressed to the secretary of this Board and to be opened by the Finance Committee at a meeting called for that purpose. All tenders to be given in on or before the 12th inst. The lowest tender to be accepted.

In seconding the motion, Mr. Denne wanted to know if the bank had given notification of the change of interest at the bank. Mr. Ferguson replied that they had done so only when making their statement. Mr. Denne then went on to say that the interest had amounted to $650 which was too much.

The discussion which followed was an exhaustive one and participated in by nearly all the members. Finally Mr. W. H. Hill's amendment was carried on the following division:

Yeas—Hill, Caldwell, Boucher, McKee, Hayes, Law, Hartley, Ferguson, McBain, Hamilton, Edgecumbe.—11.

Nays—Wrighton, Denne.

Mr. James Stevenson did not vote.

COMMITTEES APPOINTED.

Annual Meeting of the Officers of the 57th Battalion.

At the annual meeting of the officers of the 57th Battalion "E" Company was awarded the regimental cup. The following committees were appointed:

Regimental Committee—Lieut.-Col. Bell (chairman), Major Edwards, and Capt. and Adjt. Mason.

Band Committee—Major Langford (chairman) and Capts. Miller and Loch.

Rifle Committee—Lieut.-Col. Bell (chairman), the captains of the respective companies, and a member from each company to be chosen by the non-commissioned officers.

Mess Committee—Surgeon Halliday (chairman), Major Langford, Capt. and Adjutant Mason, and Lieut. Hayes.

New License Commissioners.

The following license commissioners have been appointed: West Middlesex—James Cox, Malcolm McGugan, Adam Clark; Haldimand—James Mitchell, Robt. Buckley, John Lynch. South Norfolk—John Murphy, James McBride, Thomas L. Gillies.

LITTLE LOCAL LINES.

Items of Interest Intelligently Presented for Busy Readers.

Hockey match tonight.

The Separate School Board met last night and transacted routine business.

The Marine Minstrels play in Centreville tonight under the auspices of the Sons of England.

The new minstrel aggregation met last night and organised. They style themselves the Troubadour Minstrels.

The Orange district lodge will hold a special meeting on Friday evening in the Sons of Canada hall when business requiring the immediate attention of the members will be transacted.

In St. John's church last night, Rev. Canon J. W. R. Burke, of Belleville, conducted the Lenten services and delivered an interesting discourse, taking for his subject "Religious Life in the Family."

THE TIMES is in receipt of a letter from a prominent citizen, of some length, in which the vacillating course of Councillor Stone is very severely criticised. Owing to a press of other matter the letter will be held over until Saturday's issue.

An old Ridgeway veteran was admitted to the General hospital yesterday. His name is James Cole, and by trade he is a trunkmaker. At the Battle of Ridgeway on June 2, 1866, Cole received a bullet wound in his hip for which he received a pension for four years and a gratuity of $250. The wound has been troubling him for years and owing to its having again opened up, Cole applied to the hospital for relief and was admitted as a patient.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Mr. James McKee, of Toronto, is in town.

Mr. Arthur Nelson, of Arthur, is in town on a short visit.

Mr. J. W. Gardner, of Brockville, is a guest at the Central.

Miss J. M. Dench, of Lakefield, is spending a few days in town.

Mr. J. M. Carroll, of Lindsay, is in town, registered at the Snowden.

Mr. William Robinson of Bobcaygeon, is spending a few days at the Snowden.

Mr. W. E. Holden, of Marmora, registered at the Snowden House yesterday.

Messrs. W. Bradburn and I. W. Wilson, of Omemee, are registered at the Snowden.

THE TIMES received a call yesterday from Mr. F. B. Robb, manager of the Robb Engineering Company (Limited), of Amherst, N. S. Mr. Robb has just returned from a visit to the principal cities of the Western States, and he is now calling on the chief cities in Canada in connection with business of his firm. He is accompanied by Mr. McKay, engineer of the company, who is located at Seaforth. The Robb Engineering Company make a specialty of a very superior speed engine, which is widely in use.

INS AND OUTS.

Other people's money is easily spent.

The second arbitration could have been averted.

What do the Mayor, the Town Solicitor and Councillor Dawson think of the arbitor's award.

The money already expended on the outfall sewer is money wasted—and there's the costs as well.

If the town had heeded the advice of THE TIMES in regard to the outfall sewer, it would not be in the plight it is in today.

THE TIMES fought against the building of the outfall sewer on the proposed plans from the start, but the know-it-alls would have their way.

It would be absurd for the town to take advantage of the five years' granted in the award, and go on with the completion of the sewer which will be practically worthless at the expiration of that time.

Dr. Bryce's report on the sanitary aspect of the proposed sewer was conditional, and if rightly interpreted, meant that at some future time the sewage would have to be treated by some system of purification. The arbitrator is of the same opinion and has simply limited the time in which it would be safe to empty the sewage in its raw and natural state. The town knew that the outfall sewer was but a temporary makeshift, and that ultimately a purifying process would be necessary. The several thousands of dollars which represent the amount of the costs the town will have to pay would have covered the cost of a perfect sand filtration system.

WITH THE SPORTS.

Friendly Curling Games—Hockey Match Tonight.

On the rink tonight a hockey match will be played between the Volts II and the Norwood hockey team. A good game may be expected. The puck will be faced at 9 o'clock.

There were two friendly curling matches last night with the following results:

SONG OF THE TOWNSHIP.

(Tune: Suwanee River.)

'Way down upon the Otonabee river,
The farmers are all feeling so gay;
For they are free of microbes forever—
While the town has all the costs to pay.
Now their cattle won't get chock full of Anthrax,
Nor their butter an' cheese crawl with germs;
Grim death won't stalk in their foot tracks:
Why? just read the arbitrator's terms.

CHORUS:
All the woods are full of microbes,
Micro-organisms, tuberculosis germs, bacilli, potatoe bugs and cockroaches, too;
But we don't care a continental, hi, yi wow,
If they keep out of our river so blue.

When the experts came with scientific prattle,
And swore that typhoid fever wouldn't kill a cow;
Said that sewage was good fodder for our cattle,
It made the sweat stand out upon our brow.
When they said that germs would die in water,
That a child could drink them without fear,
The arbitrator he hitched around, sorter,
And with a doubtful look scratched his ear.

THREE FINGERS CRUSHED.

James Kennedy Has a Narrow Escape From Violent Death.

Mr. James Kennedy, McDonnel street, and an employee of the Edison works, had a narrow escape from death yesterday afternoon.

Kennedy was buffing a coil of heavy copper wire, which was fastened in a rapidly revolving machine. One end of the wire flew loose and before Kennedy could get out of the way struck him across three fingers, crushing them horribly. The second revolution of the machine brought the wire across his shoulder and breast with terrific force. Before it came around again he got out of the way.

He was placed in a hack and conveyed to his home, where his wounds were dressed.

Kennedy had a remarkable escape, for had the wire struck him on the head the blow would undoubtedly have killed him. He is suffering intensely from his injuries.

A Metal Breadboard

THE WOMAN WHO HAS BEEN USED to kneading dough on the old fashioned wooden breadboard knows what a bother it is to get them clean and how cumbersome and heavy they are. When they begin to crack or check it almost impossible to thoroughly clense them, and they may easily become dangerous coveyances of disease. It was left for a woman, of course, to remedy this state of affairs, and Mrs. M. M. Everhard, of St. Joseph, Mich., has patented a metal bread board. which is one of the greatest labor-savers imaginable. It is light, does not absorb grease, dough does not adhere to it, and while it possesses all the advantages of the marble bread board it is much cheaper and. of course, far lighter and easier to handle. If readers want to confer a favor upon their wives that will be forever appreciated, let them send $1 to the manufacturers, 101 Bay street, Toronto, for one of these boards.

THE FIREBUG IS ABROAD.

A FRONT STREET WAREHOUSE FIRED LAST NIGHT.

Munroe and Cassidy's Bindery Found Ablaze Soon After 7 p. m.—An Important Letter Regarding an Incendiary Plot Sent to the Mayor.

Special to The Times.

TORONTO, March 7.—Before the excitement of the Simpson fire has had time to cool off, the Mayor receives a letter from a reputable citizen, alleging a conspiracy to apply the torch to the great Eaton store and the Exhibition building. Then last evening an apparently incendiary fire was nipped in the bud in the centre of the business block on the north side of Front street, between Yonge and Bay streets.

At 7.10 o'clock last evening a still alarm was given for the incipient fire at Munroe & Cassidy's bookbindery establishment, 28 Front street west.

A reporter was promptly on the spot. He first saw Mr. Benjamin, who was thankful the fire was so soon discovered. Had it not been, the consequences would have been most disastrous.

THE MANAGER'S STATEMENT.

Mr. Thomas G. Wilson, manager of the Munroe & Cassidy firm, said: "I and Mr. Munroe were the last to leave the premises, which we did at 6.25 o'clock. We are busy with orders, and so had a hurried tea together. I locked the outside door, and when we returned at 7.10 I opened the door. The place was full of smoke. We rushed back into the street to give an alarm. Fortunately, there was a policeman near, and he rang the alarm. We hurried back into the store and found that the smoke was issuing from the stairs which lead down into the basement. At the rear of the basement are three water-closets, which we found to be on fire. We threw some buckets of water on the burning wood, and almost immediately afterwards firemen from Bay street with the small chemical engine arrived. At the time we reached the closets they were ablaze. The partitions were burned through. The fire appeared to have started at the top, near the ceiling. The lower part of the woodwork was not so much burned as the upper. No one is allowed to smoke on the premises, and as far as we know no one was left in when we went to supper. We found no one in when we got back. There were packing cases and inflammable materials in the basement. In a few minutes the ceiling would have been burning through. The firemen had the blaze extinguished very quickly."

Continuing, Mr. Wilson said: "Had we not returned at the time, there would have been a terrible fire. The contents of the different offices here are all highly combustible. We are in the centre of a business block, and it seems providential we were on the spot to have the fire put out so quickly."

THE BUSINESSES ENDANGERED.

The firms occupying the premises are: Carter & Company, blank books; J. L. Morrison Company, bookbinders' supplies; Brilliant Sign Letter Company; Cline Manufacturing Company, heaters; Rodwell Manufacturing Company, signs; Munro & Cassidy, bookbinders.

Immediately on the east side is the wholesale drygoods warehouse of Schaffer, Rittenberg & Company, and on the west is the wholesale hardware firm of M. & L. Samuel, Benjamin & Co.

THE LETTER SENT THE MAYOR.

The following is the letter sent to Mayor Kennedy by the citizens who overheard the plot to burn T. Eaton & Co.

"About 6 o'clock on Sunday evening last I was standing by the fence separating Knox churchyard from Queen street, looking at the ruins of the fire. Between me and Simpson's were standing two rough-looking men, who appeared to belong to the out-of-work fraternity. One of them was a stout man about 5 feet 10 inches tall with slightly stooping shoulders, fat ruddy face, unshaven beard and heavy, stiff reddish mustache. He appeared to be about 32 or thereabouts. He wore a long grey coat and a cloth cap with ear lappets. His companion was about the same height but thin, and with dark complexion. He was wearing a dark coat, frayed about the pockets, and a black fur cap. The men were conversing in a low tone. The elder one had a most peculiar voice, which I could recognise among thousands. I heard him say:

"We have done pretty well for Simpson's; but we have not done as well as we intended."

The other replied: "Well, never mind, Eaton's will go within a week."

The crowd then closed in around us, and the two men dropped their conversation, and I went away, attaching very little importance to their remarks.

THE SECOND CONVERSATION.

On Tuesday night, however, a little after 7 o'clock, I was in James street, which runs from Queen street behind the Eaton block to Albert street. I saw two men about 20 feet down Albert street, and being quite near to them and in the shade could hear a good deal of their low-toned conversation. I immediately recognized the peculiar voice I had heard on Sunday night. Its owner said:

"The council last night passed a resolution to buy two engines. We must do this job before the engines arrive."

The other one replied: "We can easily manage that; we can fire a building on the west side and one on the east, and divide the brigade."

"Can you suggest any place?"

"There is an empty factory in Markham street."

"An empty factory is no good; they would never re-build that. We must have work for our union men."

"How would the Exhibition buildings do?"

"That will do; set her afire astern, and with a good west wind she's sure to go," said the man with peculiar voice. He added: "We must first see Jim inside, so that he will tell us when everything is ready."

Jim's name was then mentioned, connected with packing or unpacking, I can't say which. I also caught the words: "Window with grating," but do not know what they referred to.

The men then left the street and I went home and immediately indicted letters to the Mayor and the T. Eaton Co., Ltd.

Married for a Lark.

BUFFALO, March 7.—Minnie Snyder, the girl who married Lewis Bacon, of Philadelphia, a university student, one night on a frolic, was brought into the Police Court on Tuesday morning on a charge of truancy, by her father, but the court held that as long as she was a married woman he could not hold her on such a charge, and advised her father to have the girl swear out a warrant for non-support against her young husband. This was done, and the father swears he will make young Bacon support the girl. Bacon will try to have the marriage contract annulled.

NELLIE THE SIREN.

Who Lured Millionaire W. K. Vanderbilt From His Lawful Wife—The Cause of the Divorce — Vanny's Enchantress And Who She is.

Special to the Times.

NEW YORK, March 7.—Judge Barrett has granted an absolute divorce to Alva E. (Mrs. William K.) Vanderbilt, giving her the custody of the children.

Nothing was made public but the decree. It is said that Mrs. Vanderbilt has arranged to sail for Europe tomorrow for a long visit. She will be accompanied by her three children. The domestic trouble between Mr. and Mrs. Vanderbilt, which culminated in a divorce, became the subject of public gossip last August. The first intimation that Mr. Vanderbilt and his wife were to separate was a cable dispatch from Paris announcing that Mrs. Vanderbilt was arranging with her lawyers to institute divorce proceedings against her husband. There was considerable mystery regarding the woman in the case, but soon the news came from Paris that the woman who would be named by Mrs. Vanderbilt as co-respondent was Nellie Neustretter, a young woman of American birth, who had been living in Paris quietly until she attracted the attention of Mr. Vanderbilt. Then it was said Nellie Neustretter established herself in grand style in a suite of elegant rooms, with many servants. The first intimation that all was not as it should be between Mr. Vanderbilt and his wife was when the party on the yacht Valiant, which had been cruising in the Mediterranean, broke up suddenly and to the surprise of many of the guests of the Vanderbilts. After leaving the yacht Mrs. Vanderbilt went to England and took up her residence on the estate of Scott Murray, Danesfield, near Henley-on-the-Thames, which had been leased for her. The fact that something was wrong gained credence when it was announced that Cornelius Vanderbilt had been summoned to London to try and bring about a reconciliation between W. K. Vanderbilt and his wife. It was said that he did all in his power, but Mrs. Vanderbilt refused ever to live with her husband again.

Nellie Neustretter, the woman who is said to have caused all the trouble, was born in Eureka, Nevada, and received a good education at Miles seminary, Alameda County. She then went to San Francisco and led a gay life. Her father was Ben Cohen, who kept a clothing store in Eureka and made a large fortune. It is said she made victims of many youths of San Francisco. In 1884 she met and married a cigar drummer named Henry Neustretter. In 1888 she came to New York. Neustretter got a divorce from her.

DIED ON THE TEUTONIC.

James McWhirter of Woodstock Passes Away in Mid Ocean.

Special to The Times.

WOODSTOCK, March 7.—Last night a message was received by John White, from New York, stating that James McWhirter a member of the firm of John White & Co., had died on board the Teutonic.

Mr. McWhirter had been in Europe in the interest of the firm and was homeward bound. Before leaving England he had contracted a slight attack of influenza, which was probably the cause of death. Death took place in mid-ocean, and the body was conveyed to New York where it lies awaiting shipment to Woodstock.

SHOOTING AT WINNIPEG.

A Young Swede Fills an Englishman's Place and the Latter Shoots Him.

Special to the Times.

WINNIPEG, March 7.—A young Swede named William Otto Hedin, who has been employed on a farm near here for some time past, was shot down this morning by a dissolute Englishman and badly hurt. The latter then took a horse from the stable of a farmer in the vicinity and rode away. The authorities are on his track. The reason assigned for the shooting is that Hedin had accepted employment in a position from which the Englishman had been discharged for incompetence.

ARTHUR DICK ARRESTED.

HE IS CHARGED WITH MURDERING HIS WIFE TO SECURE THE INSURANCE.

Is the Corpse the Body of Mrs. Dick—A Coal Oil Can Found Wedged Into a Pipe Near the Furnace Where the Fire Started.

Special to the Times.

TORONTO, March 7.—Charged with the wilful murder of his wife, Mary, Arthur A. Dicks was arrested last night by Detective Verney at 1164 College street and locked up in Parkdale police station.

The arrest was the result of an examination of the premises made by Detective Verney in which some startling evidence was found. The search was made yesterday afternoon beginning with the cellar where the furnace stood. It was here that the fire started and it was here that the detective made his find. The furnace is set in an excavation and the top is about two feet from the rafters supporting the floor above.

ARRESTED ON THE CHARGE OF MURDER.

From the top of the furnace run the hot air pipes in every direction, but not near enough to the rafters to be dangerous. The smokepipe is the only pipe that could get red hot, and it is three feet from any woodwork.

A STARTLING FIND.

It was while examining the pipe which heats the store that a startling find was made. The pipe runs three feet and six inches parallel to the floor above from the top of the furnace, and wedged in the space between the pipe and the floor was found a five gallon coal oil can. The solder fastening the top to the body had melted and the mouth and rim were gone. The tin was seared and blackened, as if the blazing oil had ran over it. Everything pointed to the fact that the can was placed there on purpose, and that violence was needed to put the can there.

The space was only 8 1-4 inches, the diameter of the can was 11 and the side of the latter was indented. At the junction of the pipe and the furnace there is a space of 16 inches and the can was evidently put in there and pushed up to where it was found.

The ashes and cinders in the furnace showed that there had not been a hot fire, the dampers being all turned off except in the pipe leading to the Dicks bedroom.

OTHER SUSPICIOUS CIRCUMSTANCES.

Nor is this all. At the inquest Dicks swore that his wife had only a night dress on at the time of the fire, yet her clothes are missing, although their bedroom was but slightly burned, and clothes lying about were not consumed. By the body was found what appeared to be the remains of a dark cloth or serge jacket.

Another suspicious circumstances is that the post mortem revealed the fact that the stomach was full of food only slightly digested, although Dicks swore that his wife had eaten nothing since eight o'clock.

EXPERIENCES WITH FIRES.

Dicks has had several experiences with fires, this last one making his fourth. In 1890 his stables were burned in Bathurst street and he got $200 insurance. In 1893 he was burned out at Mimico, obtaining $730 insurance. In April, 1894, he was burned out at Kew Beach, having been but two days in the house, which was completely consumed. He claimed $1,500 on his effects, and was allowed $917. When asked how the fire occurred, by Josiah Barnett of 66 Gloucester street, the owner of the place, Dicks attributed it to ghosts. He had been seen in the place a short time before the fire broke out.

THE VICTIM'S INSURANCE.

As to insurance Mrs. Dicks carried $19,000 distributed as follows: Sun $10,000; Covenant Mutual $3,000; Home Circle $3,000; Chosen Friends $1,000. The prisoner is insured for $27,000, as follows: Sun $15,000; Covenant Mutual $5,000, Home Circle $3,000; Home Life $2,000; Chosen Friends $2,000.

Mrs. Dick applied for $30,000 additional insurance in the Equitable Life and New York Life during January, 1894, and this was refused. The premiums on these policies were in excess of Dick's income which never, according to his statement exceeded $1,000.

WANTS TO BE TRIED.

"Arthur A. Dicks, you are charged that on March 3, you did murder one Mary Dicks. How do you plead, guilty or not guilty?"

The police court was very still this morning as Col. Denison read out the above charge to a spare, pale man with light-blue eyes, straight nose and light moustache. Dicks was neatly dressed in black coat and waistcoat, light trousers, heavy rough ulster and seal cap.

Dicks pleaded not guilty, and asked through Barrister Allan Cassels to have his case proceeded with at once. The Crown was not ready, so the case was adjourned until March 15.

A large crowd gathered round police headquarters this morning, all animated with a desire of seeing the man who is accused of wife murder. Precautions were taken by the authorities, and none but those who could show good reason were admitted.

A FIFTH HOUSE BURNED.

The investigation of the police in the Dick case are extending out into the country. It has transpired that he occupied a house in Little York, owned by ex-Ald. Elliott. This house was destroyed while he was an occupant. This makes the fifth case of fire in which he was interested.

ANOTHER ALLEGED FIRE BUG.

Thomas McConkey, the alleged fire bug, was committed for trial on a charge of setting fire to 389 Wilton avenue, to 88 John street and 77 John street. W. Lount, Q.C., appeared for him.

The Times.

PETERBOROUGH, MARCH 8, 1895.

Good morning !

Now for the paying of the sewer costs.

It seems to us that George Watson was too much for Burritt Edwards.

The town has a nice sewer for sale at a bargain. The lowest tender not necessarily accepted.

Yes, 'twas a funny verdict ! No one but an old-fashioned dry goods man could have given such a verdict.

The judge has protected the microber, baccilli and other dumb animals for five years, after that they must be destroyed.

For sale, a hole in the ground at the south end of the town—buyer must go into the hole and pull the hole in after him.

Judgment in favor of the town ! We can put down the sewer through North Monaghan, but the town will have to pay all costs incurred by the township !

It will just take about five years to complete the sewer, so the town is authorized to empty the sewerage into the river for that length of time ; but when the sewer is finished it can't be used any longer.

For five years it will not be detrimental to the health of those who live in the townships if the sewage of the town does enter the river, but at the end of that time the microbes and baccilli are supposed to have attained full growth.

Councillor Dawson treats the award lightly, and contends that it favors the town. There are none so blind as those who won't see. Mr. Dawson must know, if he knows anything, that the town can never use the sewer. The corporation has been struck for the entire costs, as well as the large amount of money in constructing the sewer, which, of course is also forever gone.

Councillor Stone's boast, after the municipal elections, that he intended to run the knife "up to the hilt" in the town solicitor, evidently is a mere piece of buncombe. Mr. Edwards, in his capacity as town solicitor, is infinitely preferable to the double-shuffling councillor, who in his brief record of a few weeks at the Council board has conveniently got stuck in the snow, and turned several somersaults that would put to shame any professional American politician.

AFTER SHAKESPEARE.

Enter Buritt—"Appeal or no Apeal, that is the question :—
Whether 'tis better for the town to suffer
The taunts and jeers of victorious Monaghan ;
Or to take advice from town solicitor
And by appealing, end them? to move, to fight—
Right on—and by a fight, to say we end
The outlay, and the thousand and one pulls
The purse is heir to—'tis a consummation
Devoutly to be wish'd. To move,—to fight,—
To fight ! perchance to win ; aye, there's the rub ;
For in that appeal to court, what facts may come out
When defendant's counsel makes his plea,
Must give me pause ; there's the respect,
That makes calamity of so long life, etc., etc.

JAPAN AND ENGLAND.

The capture of Wei-hai-wei, following that of Port Arthur has convinced observing Englishmen that Japan may speedily become, if she should not be deemed so already, a naval power of the first class. What effect is the emergence of this new factor in maritime affairs likely to have upon British interests ? The London Spectator has no doubt that henceforth England will have to reckon with the rivalry of Japan in the far east. Other English newspapers, less sober-minded, do not hesitate to denounce the rival of to-day, as the enemy of to-morrow, and they urge that an immediate attempt be made upon the part of European coalition, or even of Great Britain singly, to check the progress of the Mikado's empire toward ascendancy on the Asiatic shore of the Pacific.

The Japanese now possess, in addition to the naval resources with which they began the war, nearly all of the Chinese ironclads and cruisers that have escaped destruction. Moreover, of the pecuniary indemnity, which they are certain to obtain from China, a large part will be devoted to the strengthening of their war fleet; for, reversing the principle on which the Tokugawa Shotgunate was conducted. the Mikado's ministers have become converts to the teachings of Mahan, and recognize in sea power the indispensible conditions of safety and aggrandizement for an island empire. It is further to be noted that, while with a view of conciliating Russia, they may consent to leave Corea nominally independent, and to give up Wei-hai-wei, which lies within China proper, they are determined to remain at Port Arthur for a place of naval equipment and repair. They would thus have great advantages in the event of a war with Great Britain, which has no naval arsenal, where ironclads could be repaired, eastward of Bombay. Repairs, however, would be indispensible for even those Englishmen who take it for granted that they would be successful in a naval battle with the Japanese, admit, since they have studied the performance of the Japanese torpedo boats at Wei-hai-wei, That victory could not be won without grave damage to the British fleet. The inference they draw is that a first rate naval arsenal must be forthwith secured in either the Spanish or the Dutch insular possessions in the East.

HOW GRANDMA DANCED.

Grandma told me all about it,
Told me so I couldn't doubt it,
How she danced, my grandma danced,
Long ago.

How she held her pretty head,
How her dainty skirt she spread,
Smilling little rose !
How she turned her little toes,
Long ago.

Grandma's hair was bright and sunny,
Dimpled cheecks, too, ah, how funny !
Really quite a pretty girl,
Long ago.

Bless her ! why she wears a cap,
Grandma does, and takes a nap
Every single day ; and yet
Grandma danced the minuet
Long ago.

Now she sits there rocking, rocking,
Always knitting grandpa's stocking ;
(Every girl was taught to knit
Long ago.)

Yet her figure is so neat
I can almost see her now
Bending to her partner's bow,
Long ago.

Grandpa says our modern jumping,
Hopping, whirling, rushing, bumping,
Would have shocked the gentle folk,
Long ago.

No, they moved with stately grace,
Everything in proper place ;
Gliding slowly forward, then
Slowly curtsying back again,
Long ago.

It May Be Councillor Stone,

The Hamilton Spectator says : A Honolulu correspondent writes that the diaries of the ex-queen Lil show that the queen received many curious letters—one of them from "a prominent statesman of Canada offering to send a well-known man to her for premier, provided she would guarantee him $20,000 a year." Who is this prominent Canadian Statesman ? And who is the man who he recommended ? Here are questions that it would be worth while finding the proper answer for.

INTERESTING TO LADIES
SOMETHING FOR NOTHING
CAN YOU GET IT?

Many who should know better, are well pleased to get a good sized glass jar or tin of bulky alum, ammonia or other powerful but injurious mixture, for use as Baking Powder, at much less, perhaps even half the price, of the really good article, overlooking the fact that the amount thus APPARENTLY saved is of small moment in comparison with the real but not always immediately observed inevitable injury following the use of these articles. If in addition to the SEEMINGLY low prices, there is attached some showy gift or prize to give the impression of extra value, the inferior or hurtful nature of the powder is lost sight of in the expectation (a vain one) of getting "something for nothing."

"LADIES' HOME" and "HAPPY THOUGHT" on the other hand, can always be depended on as articles of first class quality, and such as can be AND ARE guaranteed not only free from everything in the slightest degree injurious, but invariably sure, satisfactory and economical.

ADVANCED WOMEN.

ealthier Than Their Indolent Sisters and Possessors of the Beauty of Intellectuality—Shining Examples of Persons and Performances.

There are many people of otherwise ex- llent intelligence who take an insane or audlin delight in attacking women. hey turn up about once a year, as the ares do in March, and with a cacopho- ous howl pour out the few minims of their al of wrath upon her devoted head. en, with a melodramatic chuckle, they nish into the obscurity of their alleged ought and hibernate for an indefinite riod.

This time the offender is a woman, and e offense appears in the columns of The n in the form of what purports to be an gument that advanced women advance d agitating women agitate merely be- use they are not beautiful.

The cleverness and charming diction of lady's screed render it enjoyable for moment and sweeten the sting which contains. It well illustrates the old y "of serving the devil in heaven's liv- ." It is bad enough for men, especially se who have never been married and s are brought up by a stepmother, to y the sex, but it is much worse when able woman indulges in a tirade em- ying the platitudes of old fogies, the nions of dullards in whose brute brain new idea ever burst into being, and the tic but somewhat florid tergiversation ur own intellect. Still, however, there certain force to the lady's letter. Just he temperance orator likes to have a ukard in his audience to point out as a ible example and to illustrate the ex- ding sinfulness of gin, so the fact of the k shows that there are women of e mentality who cannot be and will be advanced, and to whom such gs as a thorough education, a broad ure and a high moral purpose are r meaningless terms or something, the measles, to be avoided.

here are advanced women and ad- ced women. Dr. Mary Walker and Mary Johnson represent one tpye in r own esteem, and the correspondent of Sun represents another, very different the first, but equally objectionable discordant. The true advanced wom- one who develops her intellectual na- as far as she can and wants society to e same with all womankind by the means as they employ in converting y from the farm and the forest into niversity graduate, the scientist and tatesman. BIRTH OF NAPOLEON.

Charges That His Father Falsified the Record of the Date.

The trials of poverty made the Buonapartes most clever and adroit. Suspicions of shiftiness in small matters were developed later on and led to an overclose scrutiny of their acts. The opinion has not yet disappeared among reputable authorities that Nabulione and Napoleon were one and the same, born on Jan. 7, 1768, while Joseph was really the younger, born on the date assigned to his distinguished brother. The earliest documentary evidence consists of two papers, one in the archives of the French war department, one in those of Ajaccio. The former is dated 1782 and testifies to the birth of Nabulione on Jan. 7, 1768, and his baptism on Jan. 8. The latter is the copy of an original which declares the birth on Jan. 7 of Joseph Nabulion. Neither is decisive, but the addition of Joseph, with the use of the two French forms for the name in the second, destroys much of its value and leaves the weight of authority with the former. The reasonableness of the suspicions is further heightened by the fact that Napoleon's certificate of marriage gives the date of his birth as Feb. 8, 1768. Moreover, in the marriage contract of Joseph witnesses speak of him as born at Ajaccio, not at Corte.

But there are facts of greater weight on the other side. In the first place, the documentary evidence is itself of equal weight, for the archives of the French war department also contain an extract dated July 21, 1771, from the one original baptismal certificate, and this extract gives the dates of Napoleon's birth as Aug. 15, 1769. Charles' application for the appointment of his two eldest boys to Brienne has also been found, and it contains, according to regulation, still another copy from the original certificate. It is dated June 28, 1776, and also gives what is now generally accepted as the correct date. This quite explodes the old story that Napoleon's age was falsified by his father in order to obtain admittance for him to the military school. The application was made in 1776 for both boys in order to secure admission for each before the end of his tenth year. It was the delay of the authorities in granting the request which, after the lapse of three years or more, made Joseph ineligible. The father could have had no motive in 1776 to perpetrate a fraud, and after that date it was impossible, for the papers were not in his hands. The charge was made during Napoleon's lifetime. His brother positively asserted the fact, as it is now substantially proved to be, and Bourrienne, who had known his emperor as a child of 9, was of the same opinion. In the walk of life to which the Buonapartes belonged the fixity of names was not as rigid as it later became. There were three Marie Annes in the family first and last, one of whom was later called Elise.

As to the given name, Napoleon, there is a curious though unimportant confusion. We have already seen the forms Nabulione, Nabulion, Napoleone, Napoleon. Contemporary documents give also the form Napoleone, and his marriage certificates use Napolione. On the Vendome column stands Napolio. Imp., as if to recall Neopolus, a sainted martyr. The irreverent schoolboys of Autun and Brienne gave the nickname "straw nose"—paille-aunez—to the brothers. The pronunciation, therefore, was probably as uncertain as the form Na-paille-au-nez, being probably a distortion of Napoulione. The chameleonlike character of the name corresponds exactly to the chameleonlike character of the times, the man and the lands of his birth and his adoption. The Corsican noble and French royalist was Napoleone di Buonaparte; the Corsican republican and patriot, who was always present under the mask, was Napoleone Buonaparte; the French republican, Napoleon Buonaparte; the victorious general, Bonaparte; the emperor, Napoleon. There was likewise a change in his handwriting analogous to the change in his nationality and opinions. It was probably to conceal a most defective knowledge of French that the adoptive Frenchman, republican, consul and emperor abandoned the fairly legible hand of his youth and recurred to the atrocious one of his childhood, continuing always to use it after his definite choice of a country.

Stormy indeed were his nation and his birthtime. He himself said: "I was born while my country was dying. Thirty thousand French, vomited on our shores, drowning the throne of liberty in waves of blood—such was the horrid sight which first met my view. The cries of the dying, the groans of the oppressed, tears of despair, surrounded my cradle at my birth."

Difference.

"I hear," said the clam, "that you are going in for Christian socialism."

"You have been misinformed," averred the oyster. "It is church socialism that I expect to figure in."—Indianapolis Journal.

Concord, N. H., was originally called by an Indian name, Musketacook, "Dead Stream. It was changed to Runeford in honor of a prominent settler, then to the present name in honor of the settlement of an old land dispute.

Swore Himself In.

General Sir Evelyn Wood, in his reminiscences of the Crimean in 1854 and 1894, tells a story of a fighting general who, during the conflict was seen wherever bullets fell most thickly. When not visible, his voice was heard encouraging his men with "a vocabulary borrowed from 'the army in Flanders,'" which Sir Evelyn says will not bear repetition. "Years after he was appointed to the Aldershot command, and her majesty happened to ask, 'Has the new general yet taken up his command?' 'Yes, your majesty,' was the apt reply; 'he swore himself in yesterday.'"—Westminster Gazette.

HE IS DIVORCED.

A Decree Issued Against W. K. Vanderbilt, the Well Known Millionaire—Mrs. Vanderbilt Is to Receive $250,000 a Year.

Special to the Times.

NEW YORK, March 6.—Judge Barrett, of the Supreme Court, yesterday afternoon, granted a decree of absolute divorce in favor of Mrs. Alva E. Vanderbilt from her husband, William K. Vanderbilt, the well-known millionaire. As all the testimony and the report of the referee have been sealed, no facts can be ascertained as to the parties who are implicated with Mr. Vanderbilt. Although a liberal allowance has been granted Mrs. Vanderbilt, there is no record of the sum which her husband has agreed to give her. The only paper that the public can examine is the decree of divorce. Mrs. Vanderbilt is to have the care and custody of her three children.

The decree is granted upon the report of Edmund Kelly, who was appointed to hear and determine all the issues involved. The referee made his report Feb. 5, in which he found all the allegations in the complaint to be true; that Mrs. Vanderbilt was entitled to her decree of divorce, and that she shall also have the custody of the three children—Consuelo, William K., jr., and Harold Vanderbilt. The parties were married on April 20, 1875.

The decree provides that it is lawful for Mrs. Vanderbilt to marry again, but declares that it will not be lawful for Mr. Vanderbilt to again wed.

Mr. Vanderbilt is to be allowed to visit the children at all proper times.

The two sons, William K., jr., and Harold, are to receive their education in the United States. This last provision is made upon the consent of both parties, through their counsel.

William K. Vanderbilt sailed for England, Jan. 17. He came here from Europe just one month previously. His stay was almost entirely devoted to arranging his family affairs. It is understood by friends of both parties that he left behind him papers, signed and sealed, by which Mrs. Vanderbilt is to receive an annual income of $250,000 for the rest of her life, and the use of the Fifth avenue and Newport houses during the minority of the children.

THE WOMAN IN THE CASE.

The woman in the case is said to be Nellie Neustreeter, a native of Eureka, Nevada, the daughter of a Hebrew clothier. She is said to have met Mr. Vanderbilt at Paris and immediately afterward established herself in grand style in a suite of elegant rooms with many servants. After the suit for divorce was begun Mr. Vanderbilt offered to compromise. If Mrs. Vanderbilt would consent to a separation he would give her $3,000,000, custody of her children and possession of three houses at Newport, Islip and New York. Mrs. Vanderbilt declined the overtures and insisted upon an absolute divorce.

WHIRLED TO DEATH.

Harry Hilts, of Humberstone, Ont., Killed at Buffalo.

Special to the Times.

BUFFALO, March 6.—Henry Hilts, who came here a few years ago from Humberstone, Ont., was yesterday caught in the belting attached to the buzz saw frame and carried around several times, each time the body striking the ceiling with tremendous force until it was horribly mutilated.

Hilts was 56 years old and leaves a wife and several children. He had several brothers who reside in Toronto, Parkdale, Port Colborne and Pinkerton.

Death of a Duellist.

PARIS, March 6.—M. Percher, the editor of the Journal des Debats, who died from the effects of a duel with Commandant Le Chattelier of the Marine Force on the 1st, was buried today. No religious services was held, but a great demonstration was made at the Orleans railway station. Military honors were paid at the residence of Mr. Percher, he having been a member of the Legion of Honor.

TRENT CANAL

Peterboro' & Lakefield Division

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tender for Trent Canal," will be received at this Office until noon on Saturday, 23rd March, 1895, for the construction of about six and a half miles of Canal on the Peterboro' and Lakefield Division.

Plans and specifications of the work can be seen at the office of the Chief Engineer of the Department of Railways and Canals, at Ottawa, or at the Superintending Engineer's Office, Peterboro', where forms of tender can be obtained on and after Monday, 18th February, 1895.

In the case of firms there must be attached the actual signatures of the full name, the nature of the occupation and place of residence of each member of the same, and, further, an accepted bank cheque for the sum of $7,500 must accompany the tender; this accepted cheque must be endorsed over to the Minister of Railways and Canals, and will be forfeited if the party tendering declines entering into contract for work at the rates and on the terms stated in the offer submitted. The accepted cheque thus sent in will be returned to the respective parties whose tenders are not accepted.

The lowest or any tender not necessarily accepted.

SHORTIS GETS A LETTER.

IT IS FROM HIS SWEETHEART MILLIE ANDERSON.

She Swears to Be True to Him and Has Faith that All Will Come Right—Is He Insane?—A Diversity of Opinion.

Special to the Times.

VALLEYFIELD, Que., March 6.—The murderer Shortis is now in Beauharnois jail. He told a reporter that he will always love Mille Anderson, the young lady with whom he has been keeping company, and to whose stepfather, McGinnis, he made a suggestion that he, Shortis, should murder Mr. Simpson and McGinnis should prove an alibi. In answer to the letter sent by Shortis to Miss Anderson, Shortis, has received the following:

"MY DEAR BERTIE—Keep up heart; all will come right soon. I will always be true. Your own,
"MILLIE."

Miss Anderson is quite ill. She is suffering from nervous prostration. Medical aid has been summoned.

A HAND-TO-HAND STRUGGLE.

Hugh C. Wilson is gradually recalling incidents which have not yet been told. He says that he had a hand-to-hand struggle with Shortis, and the murderer grasped him by the throat. This is where most of Wilson's pain now is, although he also complains of his side. It is not known whether the bullet is still in his side, as one fell from his clothing when he was being undressed, and this may be the one which entered his body at the first shot.

IS SHORTIS INSANE?

MONTREAL, March 6.—A well-known gentleman in the city, who does not wish his name to be mentioned in connection with Shortis' career here at present, has received the following cable from the parents of the murderer: "Insanity on both sides Shortis' family. Object could not be robbery. Family independent, and kept him supplied with money."

The recipient of the cablegram told a reporter that he has known Shortis ever since he came out to this country. He arrived here with a letter of introduction to the gentlemen in question on the 15th August, 1893. This gentleman, to use his own words, always considered the young man had "a slate loose." He was very peculiar and gave his friends here much trouble, and seemed to possess a mania for purchasing firearms. The gentleman referred to firmly believes the young man is insane.

GREAT FIRE IN TRINIDAD.

Port of Spain Almost Wiped out—British and Yankee Blue Jackets Help.

Special to The Times.

NEW YORK, March 6.—A special to the Herald from Port of Spain, Trinidad, says: This city has narrowly escaped total destruction by fire. The loss will amount to nearly $4,000,000 the chief business section having been the centre of the conflagration.

Nearly 20,000 people would have been homeless had it not been for the assistance given by the U.S. North Atlantic squadron and H.M.S. Buzzard in extinguishing the flames. The facilities for fighting fire are very unsatisfactory, the Maraval waterworks, which lie several miles distant, being ample for ordinary purposes, but not sufficient for a great emergency.

Soon after the flames began to get hold in the town, Rear Admiral Meade signalled from the New York to the Raleigh, and the Cincinnati to land as many men as could be spared, and simultaneously the flagships' boats went into the water. There was lively rivalry among the men from each ship to reach the scene of the fire first, especially as the British cruiser Buzzard, having a nearer anchorage, was also bestirring herself to land a party. From the American vessels more than 250 men were sent ashore while the Buzzard landed about 50.

Organized and determined fighting of the flames at last had a good effect, and the advance of the fire was checked, though not until the sailors, as well as the townspeople, were thoroughly exhausted.

Everything is in confusion, and it will take several days to determine whether there was any loss of life. The blow to the city is overwhelming, and it will be many years before it recovers from it.

A ROSETTED COMMUNITY.

An English Parliamentary Election as It Was In the Olden Times.

At the time of which I write borough elections were carried on with those characteristics which have been graphically described by Dickens in his familiar account of the election in the little "borough of Eatanswill" as well as by Mr. Samuel Warren in the return of Sir Tittlebat Titmouse by the worthy and independent electors of Yatton.

In the Ludlow election there were three candidates, one Henry Clive, or "Warming Pan Clive," as he was called, being put forward by the Clive family to keep the place "warm" for a younger member not yet of age. "Warming Pan Clive" was a perfectly unknown individual, but he came before the people of Ludlow with all the best qualities and characteristics of a country gentleman, and with—what was of more consequence to the free and independent electors of this ancient borough—a purse full of money supplied for election contingencies by Earl Powis of Powis castle and the Hon. Mr. Clive of Oakly park. The second Tory candidate was Lord William Paulet, a younger son of the Earl of Winchester. Lord Paulet was unknown to the electors of Ludlow. He was deaf in the left ear and had the unenviable reputation of being a kleptomaniac. His only claim to the "vote and interest" of the Ludlow people was the fact that he was a friend of the Clives and had been sent to secure their vote by the Tory committee of the Carlton club. Their opponent was a strong Whig, Colonel Salway, whose family were highly respected townspeople, and who was himself a colonel in the British army.

In those days electioneering candidates adopted certain colors—for Clive scarlet and purple, crimson for Paulet, sky blue and yellow for Salway. Every draper and mercer in the town, according to his party, was commissioned to supply, free of charge, any number of rosettes at the expense of the candidate, and during the contest there was not a man, woman, child or baby of the 5,000 individuals who constituted the town and borough of Ludlow who did not display the colors of their respective party.

Motherly Love.

"Isn't it horrid," said the Circassian beauty, "to think of the fat lady wedding the ossified man so soon after her first husband's demise!"

"Yes, I know," replied the two headed girl, "but she says that the baby has taken a fancy to cutting his teeth on him."—Indianapolis Journal.

The alligator never leaves fresh water, while the crocodile frequently travels long distances by sea. It has been seen 1,000 miles from from land, and it is possible that these sea going crocodiles have given rise to sea serpent stories.

RENTING TYPEWRITERS.

The Business Is Profitable, Although Many of the Machines Are Stolen.

There are probably a dozen places in this city where the business of renting new and secondhand typewriters is carried on. Most of these concerns do an excellent business, and many of their lists of machines out on rental average from 150 to 200 names. Nearly all the machines rented are those of a high grade which have been tested by experience in business offices and in shorthand schools.

A strictly new typewriter seldom rents for less than $5 a month, while one that is only slightly damaged brings $4 a month. A machine that can be hired for $3 is considered fit for only a "plug" operator, and such typewriters are rented rarely.

There are upward of 70 shorthand and typewriting schools regularly conducted in this city, with classes of from 10 to 200 students. This does not include the public day and evening schools, numerous public libraries and general educational institutions where such things are taught and scores of private instructors all over the city. Typewriter manufacturers in many instances supply schools with complete outfits of their own machines free of charge as a means of increasing the number of operators thereon, for as soon as a graduate obtains employment he naturally prefers the same kind of typewriter he has used at school. Some operators have to provide machines for themselves. A large number begin by renting a machine, proposing to buy later. Frequently they fail to do so, and the books of a Barclay street house which derives a handsome monthly income from rents of machines show that it is a common occurrence for twice the value of a typewriter to be paid in monthly rentals.

It is not customary for these dealers to require security for the return of a typewriter other than a written agreement stipulating that it shall be delivered to the owners at the expiration of the period of rental in as good condition as when first received, barring the effect of ordinary usage. Hence it is not surprising that typewriter thieves are very common.

"Stealing a typewriter," said the man who looks after the rental department of a large typewriter house in Broadway, "is grand larceny and a state prison offense, yet this and the further fact that an immense number of these culprits have already been sent to penitentiaries in different states do not deter dozens of others every month from making like thefts. We have a standing list of from 100 to 200 typewriters that have been stolen from our branch offices and agents in various sections of the country. Every typewriter has its own number, which cannot be effaced, and whenever we hear that a machine is missing we immediately communicate its number to our representatives in this country and abroad, with instructions to seize the machine when found and to prosecute the person holding it. It is only a matter of time when any typewriter will need adjusting and repairing and will be taken to a repairer, and then the thief is easily apprehended. Thus we actually lose few or no machines."—New York Sun.

Railroad Speed.

In high speeds the United States seems just now to hold the world's records. Neither England nor any other country in the world has any trains as fast, for the distance, as the Empire State express, which runs 440 miles at 50.7 miles an hour, including four stops, or as fast for the distance as the defunct exposition flier of last summer, which ran 964 miles at 48.2 miles an hour, including nine stops.

Among the very fast special runs we find the following pretty authentic records of performances in the United States, which, so far as I know, have not been equaled in England since a run made on the Great Western, in 1848, of 53 miles at 66 miles an hour, and that was not up to the best of those given here: September, 1891, on the New York Central, New York to East Buffalo, 436 miles, at 59.6 miles an hour, including three stops; 1892, same railroad, 21½ miles at the rate of 72.7 miles an hour, no stops; Pennsylvania railroad, 1891, Jersey City to Washington, 227 miles, 54.2 miles an hour, two stops; New York Central, 1893, 86.4 miles at 65.5 miles an hour, no stops.—Scribner's Magazine.

Diamond Coated Boots.

Everybody has remarked that the matter applied to boots and shoes—viz, blacking—is a dull, blue black substance entirely devoid of gloss, but when the leather thus coated is rubbed over with a dry brush the boot begins to shine like a bright luminary. What is the cause of this strange phenomenon is a question which naturally presents itself to every well regulated mind. The diamond, as everybody knows and as recent experiments have abundantly proved, is nothing more or less than crystallized carbon. The chief element in blacking is likewise carbon, in the shape of lampblack. The friction of the dry brush on the leather produces electricity, which has the property of crystallizing carbon. The leather, coated with blacking and brushed, is covered with millions of microscopical diamonds, which give to the blacking its peculiar brilliancy. Accordingly everybody wears diamonds on his boots.—Imparcial.

The First Marital Kiss.

If, as seems to be the case, it is to be considered the correct thing for bride and bridegroom to exchange their first marital kiss at the altar, it would be a wise thing to announce the fact through the papers beforehand, along with the number of attendants, list of presents, etc. That would at least prepare the wedding friends for this very beautiful observance. At a largely attended wedding, when the bridegroom at the conclusion of the ceremony kissed his bride, from all quarters of the crowded church came a snicker, which was the more surprising on account of the well bred looks of the gathering. On another occasion the bride herself was taken by surprise and started back in alarm when her newly made husband wished to enter upon his lately acquired privileges on the spot.—Washington Post.

Was Posted.

"A woman couldn't run for office," argued the funny man, "because she can't find her pocket."

"Judging from what I have seen of politics," was his wife's austere rejoinder, "there would be plenty of people to find it for her."—Detroit Tribune.

Philadelphia has the finest city clock in the world. The face, which is 10 yards in diameter, can be seen from every part of the city. The minute hand is 4 yards long and the hour hand a little over half that length.

Men are made rich not by what the world can give, but by what it can't take away.—Ram's Horn.

"BEFORE TWO JURIES."

Closing Scenes of the Hayward Murder Trial at Minneapolis.

Special to the Times.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., March 7.—This was the defence's day in the Hayward murder trial. The evidence was all in, the attorney for the State had said his last word to the jury, and it devolved upon the "tall pine," Mr. W. W. Erwin, to say the final words in the defendant's behalf before the judge sent them out to arrive at a verdict. The scene was a most impressive one. The sick juror had been made as comfortable as possible for the final ordeal and the court room was packed to suffocation. Just before the proceedings began the palsied father of the defendant came in with his wife leaning upon him. They found seats among the throng, the defence fearing to have them too near the attorney's table. Then in came Harry Hayward with his keepers, manacled, but debonair, fresh, and seemingly confident of acquittal. He stopped a moment to receive his father's blessing, and to reply, with real or simulated gaiety, "Oh, I'm all right." Mr. Erwin began his address in a subdued and impressive manner, referring first to the length of the trial, the hardships of the jurors, and the widespread interest in the case. The case has been tried, he declared, before two juries, one there (pointing to the jury box). The other one (pointing to the press table) was a jury of sensationalism, of the dissemination of ill-investigated, half-digested news, the jury of destruction. The speaker then went into a long and careful explanation of the origin of the trial by jury, the law governing it, and the theory of reasonable doubt.

The Fools are not a'l Dead.

MARSHFIELD Oregon March 7.—In the smallest vessel which ever put the sea for a long journey, Captain Gustave Broman expects to sail in a short time to San Francisco, and from there make the voyage to Europe. His boat which is made from a cedar log is only 13½ feet over all, ten foot keel, and two feet depth of hold. Broman will sail on Sunday for San Francisco, where he will put three masts in his craft.

Thanks for Donations.

The committee of management of the Peterborough Protestant Home thankfully acknowledge the following donations for the month of February:—Bread and butter and cakes from Good Templars; Miss Edith Hamilton, reading matter; Mr. Walsh, (druggist), soap; Mr. Mann, bag apples; Mrs. Chas. McGill, Toronto daily papers; Mr. Sherlock, Chicago papers; bread and [illegible], etc., Masonic hall; Mr. Shortly, letter case and purse.

Deer Season Changed.

At a recent meeting of the Ontario Fish and Game Commission it was decided to make the deer season the same as it was in [illegible]—from the first to the 15th of November, thus cutting out the last 10 days of October. It is proposed also to prohibit shooting till half an hour after sunset, so as not to molest the birds during roosting. It was decided to offer a bounty of 50 cents a head for foxes, owing to the damage they inflict on farmers' poultry.

Lenten Regulations.

For the regulation of Lent, Archbishop Corrigan of New York, has issued the following directions: All the week days of Lent, from Ash Wednesday to Easter Sunday, are fast days of precept on one meal, with the allowance of a moderate collation in the evening. The Church excuses from the obligation of fasting (but not of abstinence from flesh meat, except in special cases of sickness) the infirm; those who are attaining their growth; those whose duties are of an exhausting or laborious character; women nursing infants, and those who are enfeebled by old age.

Hockey Game Tonight.

On the rink tonight the last and without doubt the best game of hockey played in Peterborough this season will be played between the Granites and the Peterboroughs. The Granites were the opponents of the home team in the championship [illegible] at Toronto. The home boys are [illegible] embarrassed financially on account of the expenses of their trips to Toronto and Kingston, and it is to be hoped a large turnout will greet them tonight when they line up to once more sustain the reputation [illegible] Peterborough has in hockey matters. [illegible] will be faced at 8.30.

Miss M. Griffin, of Charlotte street, has returned from Toronto, where she had been on a visit for several days.

TWO HOCKEY MATCHES.

Volts Defeat Norwood in a Hotly Contested Game—Keene Defeated.

One of the fastest and most exciting games of hockey played in Peterborough this year was that played in the rink last night between the Volts and Norwoods seven. A good crowd of spectators had gathered in the rink with the expectation of seeing a good game of hockey and their expectations were fully realized. From start to finish a very swift game was played.

It was just nine o'clock when the referee, W. Crossley lined up the teams. At the start Peterborough secured the rubber, but Norwood got hold of it and scored the first game in a half minute. The Volts followed with one in another half minute, and they also secured the next four games in short order. Before half time was called Norwood had placed two more to her credit. When the intermission had elapsed, playing again commenced, and Norwood seemed to be playing considerably better, scoring three games in rapid succession. Hicks scored one for Peterborough, McGregor followed with another for Norwood, while Hendren by very skillful play succeeded in making the score a tie. The Volts then did the best playing of the evening and scored two before the time allowance was up, making the result 9 to 7 in favor of the Edison Sewer.

The report of the game would not be complete without a reference to the individual play of the teams for the "Electricians." Wilgar, McIntosh and Hicks did some great combination work. The rushes of Moore were much admired. Thorne and Adams on the defence did very creditable playing. Thorne especially deserves great praise for some grand rushes. On the visitors' seven Code was their stronghold. Hendren on the forward line played a magnificent game although inclined to be rough. The decisions of Referee Crossley were very satisfactory to both teams.

The teams were composed as follows:

VOLTS.		NORWOOD.
Kelly	goal	Anderson
Thorne	point	Code
Adams	cover	McGregor
Moore	forward	Hendren
Wilgar		Williams
Hicks		Edgar
McIntosh		Stewart
R. J. Hillier	umpire	S. S. Forest

The games were scored in the following order:

WON BY	SCORED BY	TIME
Norwood	Hendren	½
Volts	Wilgar	½
"	Wilgar	2
"	McIntosh	3
"	McIntosh	3
"	Wilgar	9
"	Moore	5
Norwood	Edgar	2
"	Hendren	3
"	Hendren	1½
"	Williams	1½
Volts	Hicks	2
Norwood	McGregor	3
"	Hendren	1
Volts	Moore	3
" Volts	McIntosh	3½

It was the first game the Norwoods have played and they certainly made an excellent showing. Their playing last night augurs for them a bright future in hockey fame.

COLLEGIATE II VS. KEENE.

The Collegiate Institute II team ably upheld the Peterborough's name as a hockey town when they defeated the Keene Hockey team yesterday afternoon by a score of 3 to 2. The game was a very exciting one throughout and some good playing was witnessed on both sides. On the forward lines Ackerman and Hamilton did grand work for Peterborough, while the star forwards of the visiting seven were Laing and Miller. Peterborough's defence in Lewis was impregnable. VanEvery in goal played magnificently.

The following was the personnel of the teams as they lined up before Referee L. King:

PETERBOROUGH.		KEENE.
W. VanEvery	Goal	F. Soucie
H. King	Point	J. Dixon
N. Lewis	Cover	J. McIntyre
W. Hamilton	Forwards	A. T. Laing
W. Ackerman		A. Welsh
N. McGill		T. Owen
R. Watt		M. Miller
N. Bradburn	Umpires	D. Kenally

The summary of the games was:

WON BY.	SCORED BY.	TIME.
Peterborough.	Watt	13 mins
Peterborough.	Hamilton	12 mins
Keene	Miller	14 mins
Keene	Miller	6 mins
Peterborough.	McGill	15 mins

WITH THE SPORTS.

There were three exciting curling matches played on the rink last night, with the following result:

ANOTHER IMPOSTER.

The Woods are Full of Them Says the Lindsay Watchman.

The Lindsay Watchman says: A man claiming that his name was McDonald, and hailing from Melancton, Dufferin county, struck town this week and imposed upon the generosity of Mr. A. Campbell. His story was to the effect that he had been held up in Port Hope by two foot-pads and robbed of $75, when he was taken into the Bennet house and cared for until next day, when he was given sufficient money to carry him to Millbrook, from which point he walked to Lindsay.

Appealing to Mr. Campbell for aid, he was supplied with hotel accommodation and a promise to pay his way to his home. While waiting for his ticket, Mr. Campbell learned of an imposter, claiming to be an honest Scotchman, who had been done up in a like manner at Peterborough and Port Hope, began to question McDonald. Not satisfied in his own mind, he told the man to remain there for a few minutes, and he went out to consult Mr. D. Ray. Just as soon as Mr. Campbell left him McDonald took his departure, no doubt fearing that a constable would accompany Mr. Campbell on his return. The fellow is evidently one of the most contemptible kind of imposters and we may expect to hear that he has been held up in Lindsay next.

The Nicholls Hospital.

The report of the Lady Superintendent of the Nicholls hospital for the month of February is:

ODDFELLOWS' NIGHT.

Peterborough Lodge Entertains Brethren From Abroad.

Last evening was a field night with the members of Peterborough Lodge No. 111, I. O. O. F. At 7.30 the Oddfellows of the town, headed by the 57th battalion band, marched to the 7.40 C. P. R. train and met a deputation from Pontypool lodge, several members of which were to receive their degrees. Twenty-five brethren came up and there were also representatives of the Order from Norwood, Havelock, Millbrook and Lindsay. A procession was formed at the station and headed by the band marched to the lodge rooms at the corner of George and Hunter streets.

There were about 200 Oddfellows present to witness the degree team of Peterborough lodge exemplify the floor work of the order which was done in an excellent manner.

After the degree work was over short speeches were made by the following: P.G. Bro. Stewart and Dr. Peddigrew, of Norwood; P.G. Bro. Burnett, of Havelock; P.G. Bro. Given, Bro. Dr. McKinnon, and Bro. Dr. Clarke, of Millbrook; Bros. Carmichael and Greer, of Lindsay; P.G. Bro. Dodds and N.G. Bro. Irvine, of Pontypool, and several members of the Peterborough and Otonabee lodges.

After the addresses the N.G. invited all the brethren to the large dining-room of the lodge where an inviting supper prepared in excellent style by Bro. W. McCallum, was served.

More speeches and songs followed the collation and it was a late hour when the pleasant gathering dispersed.

HAD MANY VICTIMS.

The Scotchman Practised His Imposition in Many Places.

Those remembering our description of a Scotchman who struck town some weeks ago will read the following letter with interest and perhaps profit:

WHITBY, March 1st, 1895.

Editor of the Times.

I notice in the newspapers an item representing that a tramp struck your town, named Thompson, who had been robbed in Toronto, etc., etc. I am of opinion that he was a professional impostor. About two years ago last fall, a man answering the same description was "doing" the country—a Scotchman, about then 75 years of age; well dressed; a large, strong man. His story was then that he had been visiting friends in Waterloo county, and on his way home put up at the Albion hotel, Toronto, when someone entered his room and robbed him of $120, all the money he had, he reported the matter to the police, but they cou,d do nothing, and as he lived in the County of Northumberland he preferred making home,, rather than wire his friends for funds. He stated that he owned a farm in the Township of Seymour, and run a creamery, gave his name as James Thompson, Minie post office, and imposed on the generosity of the writer to the ticket to Trenton and his supper and left his address promising to return the money as soon as he returned home, and with many expressions of gratude. Weeks passed and no money came. We then wrote post master, at Minie, who knew no such man, and so the matter was dropped. I only wish the good samaritan at Uxbridge had paid his fare to Whitby where he would have met friends who would have been pleased to have seen him. I think you will agree with me that this is the same individual, and a professional dead beat and believe your friends in Uxbridge will have the same experience as I had—I hope not. This creature should be exposed through the Toronto papers, so that those who are hospitably inclined may be on their guard. I have since learned that previous to his visit to Whitby he had worked the same on a Scotch farmer in our neighborhood, with the same results. I trust you will publish this letter, so that all who run may read.

A. VICTIM.

TO INSPECT THE TICKETS.

A Man From Montreal to Examine Tickets on G T.R. Trains.

The conductors on all the incoming trains today seemed to have but one question to ask as they met one another on the platform at the station. It was, "Have you seen him yet?"

A reporter who happened to hear the question asked one of the trainmen whom he alluded to.

"Oh, you needn't ask us fellows anything about affairs on this road, for we cannot tell you," he said.

Conductors running on the road, it is understood, received notices in the early part of this week, stating that commencing on the 7th, Mr. Sheppard, of Montreal, would be ticket examiner on the trains running in and out of Toronto.

This scheme was talked of a great deal when the G.T.R. "cons" were taken into custody some months ago. The ticket examiner has the privilege of going through any train on his division and demanding that the passengers show their tickets to him.—Telegram.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Mr. W. C. J. Campbell, of Norwood, was in town yesterday.

Mr. J. B. Youney, of Brooklin, is at the Grand Central.

Mr. Hugh Grant, of Ottawa, is at the Grand Central.

Mr. D. Ewing, of Warkworth, was in town yesterday.

Mr. J. Everett, Toronto, is registered at the Grand Central.

M. F. W. Higgins, of St. John's, N. B., is spending a few days in town.

Messrs. H. B. R. Dryden and W. W. Judson, of Havelock, are visiting in town.

Thrilling and Interesting.

"Up to Date; or the Life of a Lumberman," a new book written by Captain G. S. Thompson, will undoubtedly have a large and popular sale as soon as the first edition leaves the hands of the printer. We have had the pleasure of reading the manuscript and unhesitatingly testify to its merits. The work will be specially interesting to those who are interested in lumbering. The narrator vividly portrays the life of the lumberman and gives many interesting incidents. The story of his life is evidence of the saying, "Truth is stranger than fiction," and it is told in language and style that does not tire the reader. The information the work contains regarding lumbering is not only intensely interesting but of great value, and is the only book that has taken up this phase of a great industry. It is understood that Capt. Thompson purposes having the first edition of 5,000 printed as soon as possible. They will be sold at $1.50 per copy.

Wanted: a Standard Bearer.

West Northumberland Reformers are at the present time in a quandary as to their choice of a candidate for the Commons. At a late meeting of the leaders of the party Mr. Wm. Kerr, of Cobourg, was urged to accept the nomination, but that gentleman after having been given a few days to consider, declined the honor. At the convention held in Cobourg on Saturday last, two or three other gentlemen were named, but with no better result. Failing to get a candidate an adjournment was made for two weeks to definitely settle the matter. It is rumored that if a local man cannot be induced to stand, an outsider will be brought in for the party standard bearer.

LITTLE LOCAL LINES.

Items of Interest Intelligently Presented for Busy Readers.

The Review has challenged the Examiner to a game of hockey.

Rev. Wm. Peer, formerly of Peterborough is pastor of the Baptist church at Hespeler.

The Toronto News says: A deputation from Peterborough asked Hon. Wm. Harty for assistance towards building approaches to the Rose Point bridge over the Otonabee river.

A young man came here from Peterborough two weeks ago, looking for premises in which to open up a grocery, and we believe he will soon open out a stock.—Campbellford Herald.

Now is the horse killing time when those who have been taking their leisure waiting for something to turn up, will rush their wood and other heavy loads over bare roads and into pitch holes.

The Brewers and Malsters' Association of Ontario has elected the following officers: James M. Lottridge, president; John Labatt, vice-president; Eugene O'Keefe, secretary-treasurer; Robert Davies, L. J. Cosgrave, A. Winslow, W. C. McCarthy, F. Bauer and Hume Blake, directors.

Some Hastings business men who do not patronize their own paper, the Star, complain that it is doing the village an injustice because it publishes advertisements for Campbellford and Peterborough merchants. Such men are to be found everywhere of the dog in the manger stamp. Wonder if they would sell goods to people from other towns, just as the Star rents its space?

Tonight a farewell supper will be tendered Capt. Latter, of Campbellford, and Ensign Macdonald, of Peterborough, at the Army barracks in Campbellford. In obedience to orders from headquarters both of these officers will be removed elsewhere, and on this occasion they will say good bye to the people to whom they have ministered. Capt. Cameron and other officers are expected at the supper.

TREAD LIGHTLY.

An Old Friend of the Times' Staff Has Passed Away.

The TIMES' staff this week mourns the loss of an old and venerable friend, the office towel, which, sad to relate, met with a fatal accident during the wind storm on Monday. Its sudden demise is surrounded by mystery, but following is the story told by the staff: One of their number became ashamed of the grime on his hands and went into the press room to cleanse them. Having vigorously applied soap and water with an antiquated lye brush, and having succeeded in removing the roughest of the dirt he struck for the towel to finish up on, when lo! on nearing its abode he discovered the poor thing lying in two pieces, and grief stricken, flew to inform the other members of the staff of the great affliction visited upon them. The deceased was a native of Gough Bros., and during its eight years of faithful service had endeared itself to every member of the staff and the various itinerant "prints" with which it came in contact with from time to time. At the wake last night the following epitaph, composed and dedicated by Mr. Carese LeBrun was unanimously adopted:

When we think of the towel,
The old-fashioned towel,
That used to hang up by the printing house [door.

I swear that nobody,
In these days of shoddy,
Can hammer the iron to wear as it wore.

The tramp who abused it,
The devil who used it,
The comp. who got at it when these two [were gone.
The make-up and foreman,
And the editor, poor man,
Each rubbed some grime off while they put [a heap on.

In over and under,
'Twas blacker than thunder.
'Twas harder than poverty, rougher than [sin;

From the roller suspended,
It never was bended,
And it flapped on the wall like a banner [of tin.

It grew thicker and rougher,
And harder and tougher,
And daily put on a more inkier hue;
Until one windy morning,
Without any warning,
It fell to the ground and was broken in [two.

Lo! this was the worst,
The devil he cursed,
While the foreman announced the funeral [next day.

On the hill top above,
Surrounded by love,
The old office towel is buried deep in the [clay.

A Metal Breadboard

THE WOMAN WHO HAS BEEN USED to kneading dough on the old fashioned wooden breadboard knows what a bother it is to get them clean and how cumbersome and heavy they are. When they begin to crack or check it is almost impossible to thoroughly cleanse them, and they may easily become dangerous conveyances of disease. It was left for a woman, of course, to remedy this state of affairs, and Mrs. M. M. Everhard, of St. Joseph, Mich., has patented a metal bread board, which is one of the greatest labor-savers imaginable. It is light, does not absorb grease, dough does not adhere to it, and while it possesses all the advantages of the marble bread board it is much cheaper and, of course, far lighter and easier to handle. If readers want to confer a favor upon their wives that will be forever appreciated, let them send $1 to the manufacturers, 101 Bay street, Toronto, for one of these boards.

BRIDE DID NOT APPEAR.

SHE WAS SPIRITED AWAY BY HER OWN PAPA.

The Marriage Was Therefore Called Off—A Port Perry Sensation—The Sad Fate of Aleck Thompson—He Wooed Many Girls.

Special to The Times.

TORONTO, March 8.—Swift are Cupid's darts, mysterious, violent, and instantaneous is their action. The little rascal twangs his bow string, the bolts fly home and behold two hearts quiver in unison.

Sometimes, however, Hymen does not back up the assault of his scout the God of Love and then there is weeping and wailing and gnashing of teeth. But time heals all wounds and the rejected lover and the jilted maid generally manage to console themselves. When one person drops ten cents another picks it up. That is the doctrine of compensation of which Emerson wrote so learnedly.

And thus it is that while, to Aleck Thompson and Minnie Henders life may at present appear a howling wilderness they should remember that there is a silver lining to every cloud and that they may yet find the means of filling the aching void in their hearts. And the sweet girls in the neighborhood of Strachan avenue should rejoice that their admirer, Aleck Thompson, is yet free to marry.

A NATIVE OF NEWCASTLE.

Aleck Thompson was born in the neighborhood of Newcastle some forty two years ago. He followed bucolic pursuits for many years, but often came to Toronto to visit his relatives, of whom he has many, in the city. These visits created an intense longing to become a citizen of this great town, which was a laudable ambition. It also gave rise to an overpowering desire to capture the heart of some winsome Toronto lassie. This was also very proper. Thus it was that he moved his household goods to Toronto; thus it was that today he is unhappy.

UNLIMITED LOVING CAPACITY.

Nature had endowned him with an unlimited capacity for love. From his ample heart there sprung lava like unquenchable streams, which caused him to fall at the feet of every pretty girl he saw—and Toronto is full of them—and worship the ground they trod on. He went further, he offered them his heart, hand, name and fortune. That led to his undoing.

Thompson had a bulkheaded heart. It was divided into numerous compartments, in each of which was enshrined the image of the object of his adoration. And they were many. The number of his loves would fill a book. Constant practice made him daring and he assaulted a girl's affections with a rush like that of a sea upon the shore. He believed in carrying things by storm and generally proposed on the second or third occasion.

That is what some of the girls of Strachan avenue, Massey and Bleecker streets say, and they should know, for they have been the altars upon which he has offered up of the fulness of his heart. Twelve girls in those neighborhoods have had the opportunity to become Mrs. Aleck Thompson, and they all refused, which proves that wives cannot be had for the asking.

AN EVEN DOZEN JILTED HIM.

Perhaps Thompson's manner was too abrupt and his age too uncertain; perhaps they did not believe in the saying: "Better an old man's darling than a young man's slave." Whatever it was, they refused him, nay, even spurned him—one young lady going so far as to call him an old "old beast" when he proposed to her and produced a marriage certificate to back up his proposal. But then that was only the second time he had met her.

It looked as if Thompson would die a bachelor and that he would go through life a living refutation of the Scriptural saying, "Ask and ye shall receive," when Minnie Henders appeared on the scene four short weeks ago and all was changed. She came; he saw, and conquered. Minnie was seventeen years old, a tall, slender, stately brunette, whose face, crowned with a wealth of dark brown hair, was lit up with lovely dark eyes, which reflected the emotions of her innocent heart, now softening with melting tenderness, now sparkling with mirthful mischief.

USED HER BEAUTY TO ADVANTAGE.

Her voice rung with a clear silvery timber and her step was as springy as that of the gazelle. Above all she was a stage beauty. She figured as No. 5 in the Beauty Competition at the Musee, where the ballot she received showed the number of her admirers. Later on in the bicycle competition she elicited admiration from the assembled multitude by the agility she displayed when gyrating the pedals of the swift, silent steel steed.

This alluring creature and the gallant Aleck met a month ago at a boarding house on Bleeker street, where Minnie resided during her theatrical engagement. Her parents were at Port Perry. When she appeared every other image was obliterated from Aleck's bulkheaded heart and he bowed down her abject slave. He no longer cast eyes at other girls but became pensive and absent-minded, lost his appetite and read poetry. These are the never failing outward signs of the inward state of love.

MINNIE ACCEPTED HIM.

Withal he grew cunning. He called to mind his previous defeats, and having decided that life was not worth a coffin nail without Minne, sternly crushed the volcanic action of his tumultuous heart and went slowly about his wooing. And he played a winning game. Everything cometh to him who can afford to wait. Aleck knew this. He waited, and Minnie's heart came. He purposed in his wooing, proposed and was accepted.

But alas! marriages are made in heaven and this was "of the earth, earthy." The result proved it so.

The day was set, the trousseau bought, the wedding feast prepared, and the guests invited. Eight o'clock in the evening was the hour appointed for the ceremony and Aleck Thompson was on hand with his marriage license.

THE BRIDE DID NOT TURN UP.

But, alas and alack! the bride never came, and from that hour to this Aleck Thompson has never set eyes on the girl who filled all the compartments of his bulkheaded heart.

It happened thus. A friend sent an anonymous letter to John Henders, her father, at Port Perry, telling him that if he did not interfere someone would steal his daughter. Henders arrived in town and not knowing where Minnie lived, proceeded to Inspector Archibald's office and told his story. What happened next is another proof that marriages are made in heaven, and if they are not Providence interferes sooner or later. This time it interfered sooner, and very properly a minister was the instrument.

Rev. J. E. Starr was sitting in his office on Thursday of last week, the day of Hender's arrival in town, when he received a telephone message asking him if he would marry a couple that night at 8 o'clock at 361 Wellesley street. He said he would, and shortly after went over to Inspector Archibald's office, where he found Henders, whom he knew.

MINNIE AND HER PAPA.

The latter told his story, notes were compared and the result was that about 7 o'clock that evening Henders walked up to the house and enquired for Minnie. She appeared but there was no scene. Henders was too cute for that. He congratulated his daughter on her prospective marriage wished her happiness and asked her to come out with him and choose a wedding present. Minnie went.

"But she never came back." Henders walked down town, gave her into safe keeping, and when the Port Perry train pulled out of the Union depot it contained a stern parent and a sorrowing daughter.

There is a legend that on that fateful night a wild-eyed man was seen wandering around wearing the festive habiliments of a bridegroom, and a haunted, despairing look. There is also a story that at twelve o'clock that night Rev. J. E. Starr was called to the telephone and informed that his services would not be required to tie the nuptial bond. He said nothing.

There is further a story that on Monday last an Italian organ grinder was turning his crank on Queen street when he was suddenly confronted by a fierce-looking man who, with outstretched menacing hand, pointed down the street and thundered out, "Scat! You crazy Dago!" He scatted. He was playing "She never Came Back."

HE WILL RULE SIAM.

A Boy who Attains to High Rank by the Death of a Royal Relative.

Special to the Times.

LONDON, March 8.—The new Crown Prince of Siam, Cowfa Maha Vigaravat, who was solemnly proclaimed heir to the throne in Bangkok on January 17th, was today formerly invested with his rank and title at the Siamese legation in this city by a commission sent by the King of Siam for that purpose. The prince is the eldest son of the second Queen of Siam, and succeeds Crown Prince Maha Vajirunhis, who died a short time ago. He is attending school in England and has the choice of remaining here two years longer in order to complete his education or of returning at once. It is not as yet known what his intentions are.

The new heir to the throne held a drawing room at the Siamese legation after the ceremony of his investiture with the insignia of his new dignity, which was largely attended. Among those present were the Siamese Ministers at London, Paris and Berlin.

TORTURED WITH FIRE.

AN OLD COUPLE ROASTED INTO REVEALING THEIR MONEY.

Held Over a Hot Stove by Merciless Robbers—They Finally Succumb and Give up $5,000 in Cash.

Special to The Times.

TOLEDO, Ohio, March 8.—Jacob Shonbrick, living thirty-five miles northwest of here, near the Ohio and Michigan line, was brutally tortured and robbed early Sunday morning. He is a well to do German farmer, who, having lost considerable money by a bank failure some years ago, has since kept his money about the premises. He was a morose, reticent sort of a man and there has been a rumor that there was something in his past life that was a constant menace to him.

Along toward dawn Sunday morning four men, all masked with rude pieces of cloth or handkerchiefs over their faces, with holes cut to see through, entered the house and first bound and gagged the 15 year old daughter, who slept in a room off from the kitchen. By this time the rest of the family were aroused and had hastily dressed themselves. They were seized by the robbers. The 12 year old boy and the elder daughter were bound, gagged and tied to a chair. The old man and his wife were easily overpowered. Mrs. Shonbrick was bound and a piece of cloth thrust into her mouth, after which she was tied to a lounge with cords.

The old man was then ordered to point out the hiding place of his money. He denied having any, but one of the men told if he repeated that story his head would be blown off. The threat was emphasized by pointing a revolver at him. He then took them to his sleeping room and tore up the carpet under the side of the bed next to the wall and brought out $1,200 in bills. Three of them were about to leave when the leader told them he knew there was more than that in the house.

The old-fashioned cookstove was filled with wood and soon a red hot fire warmed up the rooms. The men then took Shonbrick and held him him over the flames, after removing the stovelids, until his feet and the calves of his legs were terribly burned, yet he remained obdurate. Again they held him over the stove until the pain caused him to faint. They then seized Mrs. Shonbrick and threatened the daughters with indignities, but all denied knowledge of more money in the house.

The men then took the old woman and held her over the flames until she was terribly burned. She refused any information. Again they raised her over the hot stove, when she screamed that she would tell where the rest of the money was hidden. She was then so badly burned that they were compelled to carry her.

She directed them to the cellar, where under a barrel was concealed over $4,000, which they took and hastily left the house.

The story leaked out by one of the boys telling a neighbor's son. He said his father told him not to mention it, which gives color to the stories such as have often been told that there was something in Shonbrick's past life that makes him seek to avoid publicity, and for that reason he is fearful of making any attempt to arrest the robbers. He refuses to talk about it, and is said to have punished the boy severely for telling of it.

BACK TO CANADA.

The Vanguard to Arrive Next Week—Repatriation Scheme.

OTTAWA, March 8.—Rev. Father McCarthy was here today about his repatriation scheme, and had an inverview with Lumberman J. R. Booth regarding land in Nipissing. He says the Government are favorable to the scheme, but are not in a position to assist 4,000 people just now. Father Paradis thinks 25 families will emigrate to the territory next week.

Death of Rev. J. W. Annis.

LONDON, March 8.—The Rev. J. W. Annis, pastor of Queen's avenue church, who has been lying at his residence for the past two week, dangerously ill, died at 11.10 this morning.

DIED IN AWFUL AGONY.

CHILDREN WITNESS THEIR FATHER'S TRAGIC END.

The British Naval Estimates—Egg Market—British Postal Telegraph—Strike in Pennsylvania—Bank of England—Exportation of Potatoes.

Special to the Times.

BROOKLYN, March 8.—Because he could not find work, John F. Corrigan, an insurance man, drank paris green yesterday morning. At the time his four children were playing about him. They saw him drink the poison and lie down to die. Mrs. Corrigan was out. When she came in she found her husband writhing in pain. The children, who were gathered about him, were asking him to tell what the matter was. He simply replied: "I am ill." A doctor was sent for, but too late. Corrigan died in a few minntes.

THE BRITISH POSTAL TELEGRAPH.

LONDON, March 8.—An examination of the estimates submitted to the public of the operation of the British Postal Telegraph department for the year ending March 31st, 1895, shows a growing deficiency. The actual deficiency for the previous year was $2,400,000. This amount included $1,500,000, the annual interest charges on stock or the purchase of telegraphs. The deficit for the current year including the same charges is estimated at $3,700,000, or an increase of $300,000, although the gross receipts from telegrams are expected to show an increase of $450,000.

STRIKE IN PENNSYLVANIA.

PITTSBURG, March 8.—Reports received at the miners' headquarters today indicate that the strike order has been very generally obeyed throughout the Pittsburg district. Very few of the mines are in operation.

U. S. EGG MARKET.

BUFFALO, March 8.—The egg market suddenly went smash this morning. Last Saturday the grocerymen were buying eggs at 29 and 30 cents per doz. in bulk. Monday values were 28 cents, and by yesterday the market here had steadied down to a 25 cent figure, but at the opening of this morning's market, values dropped in a chunk to 20 cents, and later in the day sales were made at 18 cents, with the possibility that even lower prices will be made. These values are for strictly fresh eggs.

NAVAL ESTIMATES.

LONDON, March 8.—The increase of the naval budget is due to the size of shipbuilding programme for the financial year. This programme calls for four first class and two third class cruisers, twenty torpedo boats and twenty torpedo destroyers. The Pall Mall Gazette comments upon the budget: "We are satisfied with this guarantee that the government is alive to the importance of our position at sea, but a radical reform of the organization of the navy is also necessary. We approve heartily of the proposed expenditures for the moles and docks at Gibralter, which must have four docks capable of holding battleships of the largest class in case of a disablement."

KILLED IN A SAWMILL.

EGANVILLE, March 8.—A serious accident by which a young man lost his life occurred yesterday morning at Lake Clear, about eight miles from Eganville. The sawmill owned by Martin Bros. was in operation, when in some way a loosened board came in contact with the saw. In recoiling it struck Frank Martin, son of John Martin, of Lake Dore, throwing him about twelve feet away. The blow coming with such force struck him in the stomach, causing internal injuries, which resulted in death after a few hours. Mr. Martin was a young and active man, and universal regret is felt at the untoward accident which has removed him from our midst.

EXPORTATION OF POTATOES.

BUFFALO, March 8.—Perhaps the largest importations of any special crop from Canada at the present time is potatoes. Cincinnati, Philadelphia and New York are buying largely in Canada, and the entry of Canadian potatoes at Niagara Falls and at Buffalo is the chief feature of customs. The local market is quoted: Good demand; fancy white, 62; good to choice, 56 to 58.

BANK OF ENGLAND.

LONDON, March 8.—The increase in the Bank of England's returns this week was due to the net imports for the week of £242,000, the details being £130,000 imported from Egypt, £81,000 from Australia, £18,000 from Roumania, £5,000 from Paris and £8,000 exported to Roumania. This week's bank return completes the bank's half year, and shows that the dividend will probably be 4½ per cent. against 4½ per cent. a year ago. There were heavy gold shipments to the River Platte and more will go there and to Chili. The demand for gold for America has ceased for the moment. The stock markets were irregular today. Consols were very strong on Government purchases.

AN EARTHQUAKE AT SEA.

The Water Lashed into Foam Rising in Places in Great Geyser Like Columns.

Special to the Times.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 8.—An earthquake at sea is reported by incoming vessels and hydrographic officers believe it was a gigantic oceanic eruption. The earthquake which occurred early on the morning of March 2 was preceded by a calm sea.

The first warning was in the form of a deafening roar which seemed to rise out of the sea. In an instant the ocean was lashed into a mass of foam, rising in places in great geyser like columns. Vessels stopped with a crash as if they had struck on a rock.

News of the advent of a new island in mid ocean or the disappearance of one is expected at the hydrographic office.

DID HE INTEND SUICIDE?

STRANGE SEQUEL TO A SECRET MARRIAGE.

The Son of a Wealthy Regina Merchant Studying Medicine at Toronto Marries on the Sly—He is Now Under Treatment at the General Hospital.

Special to the Times.

TORONTO, March 6.—The students of Trinity Medical College are much excited over the secret marriage of one of their fellows and his rumored attempt at suicide subsequently. The student in question is Hugh F. Kerr, a young man from Regina, N.W.T., who came here in October last to study medicine and boarded with Miss Fox of 375 Parliament street. Miss Fox had a niece named Miss Charlotte Lamb living with her, a sprightly young lady to whom all her boarders were more or less attached. Kerr and Miss Lamb became great friends, and on the 21st of January they went to the residence of Rev. John A. Morrison, at 255 Carlton street, and were quietly married. Mr. Morrison, who is pastor of Oak street Presbyterian church, did not know Kerr, but performed the ceremony pursuant to license in the presence of witnesses. The marriage was kept a close secret from all their friends and relatives by the young couple.

THE GREEN EYED MONSTER.

In the meantime an old affection of the spine, caused by a kick received from a horse when Kerr was on a ranch in the Northwest Territories, had showed itself, and the young man became subject to epileptic fits attended by hallucinations and attacks of moroseness. On the night of the fire of Jan. 6, he was seized with one and they recurred from time to time. He showed considerable jealousy of Miss Lamb and two weeks ago tonight was particularly morose, imagining that everyone was slighting him. He went to the bedroom of Miss Lamb, who was not then known to be his wife, and dragged her out of bed, reproaching her for not coming to sit and talk with him in his room, as had been usual with her.

DID HE ATTEMPT SUICIDE?

Later in the night a fellow-boarder, named Dunn, was aroused by very heavy breathing in Kerr's room, and entering it found him writhing on the bed. On the table was an upturned cup and a phial of nitrate of silver, which led the household to believe that Dunn had taken poison. Dr. Duncan, who lives across the street, was summoned, and he gave the young man an emetic; and Dr. Sheard, who is a friend of Kerr's, was also called on, but it was found that the man had taken no poison, and was simply suffering from a fit.

A rope found in the room led to the belief that Kerr had attempted to hang himself, and this statement was made to the doctors, but his neck bore no evidence of this. Kerr had also concealed a hatchet in his room for some unknown purpose.

Miss Lamb did not reveal the fact of her marriage to her aunt and to her parents, who also reside in Toronto, until after the occurrence, and they, being afraid of her bodily safety, have been anxious to secure a separation. The young lady, however, clings to her husband. She was for a time prominent in the Salvation Army and is a very comely girl.

Kerr is now in the hospital, being treated for epileptic fits, and has lost his memory of some of the events in question. His father is a wealthy hardware merchant at Regina, and is coming to Toronto to take him home. The young man is very robust with a grip like iron, he having been a cowboy. He is very eccentric in his manners.

NEW MEN! NEW WOMEN!

Made So By Paine's Celery Compound

The Great Spring Medicine that Gives new Life and Strength to Sick and Diseased People

New men and new women—renewed and re-created beings, every day bless the memory of the great medical genius who gave to the world the wonderful health-restorer, Paine's Celery Compound.

Today thousands of nervous, dyspeptic, rheumatic, neuralgic and broken-down men and women are using Paine's Celery Compound in preference to all other medicines. Why is this? Simply because it possesses virtues and health giving properties that are unknown to ordinary remedies. Hundreds of thousands in our fair Dominion are ready to affirm that Paine's Celery Compound "makes people well."

Mr. A. McGruer, of Dixon's Corners, Ont., says "Paine's Celery Compound made me a new man." His letter reads as follows:—

"About six months ago my condition of health was alarming and I suffered very much. I was laid up three days out of every week, and I often said to my friends that it would be better, if it was the Lord's will, that I should be called away. Three of the best doctors attended me, but could not relieve me in any way. It was then I was advised to use Paine's Celery Compound, which brought relief at once. After using this great remedy I find myself a new man, and feel just as bright as a boy of eighteen years. I think it is the greatest medicine in the world, and would strongly recommend it to all who suffer."

NELLIE THE SIREN.

Who Lured Millionaire W. K. Vanderbilt From His Lawful Wife—The Cause of the Divorce—Vanny's Enchantress And Who She is.

Special to the Times.

NEW YORK, March 7.—Judge Barrett has granted an absolute divorce to Alva E. (Mrs. William K.) Vanderbilt, giving her the custody of the children.

Nothing was made public but the decree. It is said that Mrs. Vanderbilt has arranged to sail for Europe tomorrow for a long visit. She will be accompanied by her three children. The domestic trouble between Mr. and Mrs. Vanderbilt, which culminated in a divorce, became the subject of public gossip last August. The first intimation that Mr. Vanderbilt and his wife were to separate was a cable dispatch from Paris announcing that Mrs. Vanderbilt was arranging with her lawyers to institute divorce proceedings against her husband. There was considerable mystery regarding the woman in the case, but soon the news came from Paris that the woman who would be named by Mrs. Vanderbilt as co-respondent was Nellie Neustretter, a young woman of American birth, who had been living in Paris quietly until she attracted the attention of Mr. Vanderbilt. Then it was said Nellie Neustretter established herself in grand style in a suite of elegant rooms, with many servants. The first intimation that all was not as it should be between Mr. Vanderbilt and his wife was when the party on the yacht Valiant, which had been cruising in the Mediterranean, broke up suddenly and to the surprise of many of the guests of the Vanderbilts. After leaving the yacht Mrs. Vanderbilt went to England and took up her residence on the estate of Scott Murray, Danesfield, near Henley-on-the-Thames, which had been leased for her. The fact that something was wrong gained credence when it was announced that Cornelius Vanderbilt had been summoned to London to try and bring about a reconciliation between W. K. Vanderbilt and his wife. It was said that he did all in his power, but Mrs. Vanderbilt refused ever to live with her husband again.

Nellie Neustretter, the woman who is said to have caused all the trouble, was born in Eureka, Nevada, and received a good education at Miles seminary, Alameda County. She then went to San Francisco and led a gay life. Her father was Ben Cohen, who kept a clothing store in Eureka and made a large fortune. It is said she made victims of many youths of San Francisco. In 1884 she met and married a cigar drummer named Henry Neustretter. In 1888 she came to New York. Neustretter got a divorce from her.

SONG OF THE TOWNSHIP.

(Tune: Suwanne River.)

'Way down upon the Otonabee river,
The farmers are all feeling so gay;
For they are free of microbes forever—
While the town has all the costs to pay.
Now their cattle won't get chuck full of Anthrax,
Nor their butter an' cheese crawl with germs;
Grim death won't stalk in their foot tracks:
Why? just read the arbitrator's terms

CHORUS:
All the woods are full of microbes,
Micro-organisms, tuberculosis germs,
bacilli, potatoe bugs and cockroaches, too;
But we don't care a continental, hi, yi wow,
If they keep out of our river so blue.

When the experts came with scientific prattle,
And swore that typhoid fever wouldn't kill a cow;
Said that sewage was good fodder for our cattle,
It made the sweat stand out upon our brow.
When they said that germs would die in water,
That a child could drink them without fear,
The arbitrator he hitched around, sorter,
And with a doubtful look scratched his ear.

People Make Money by Using Diamond Dyes

In every section in Canada, Diamond Dyes are blessings and enable people to save money and make money. One user of Diamond Dyes says :—

"I have been using your dyes for seven years. I can only say they are the best on the market. I have made as high as $21 a week in dyeing, and could not give satisfaction unless I used Diamond Dyes. I would not be without them, for when I am without Diamond Dyes I consider I am without money."

Another user says :—"My wife has thoroughly tested the Diamond Dyes, and they are better than any we have ever used. She used them according to directions, and we have washed the goods in strong soapsuds, exposed them to the piercing winds of our cold winter and afterward to the bright sunlight, and they retain their beautiful fresh color."

HAD MANY VICTIMS.

The Scotchman Practised His Imposition in Many Places.

Those remembering our description of a Scotchman who struck town some weeks ago will read the following letter with interest and perhaps profit:

WHITBY, March 1st, 1895.

Editor of the Times.

I notice in the newspapers an item representing that a tramp struck your town, named Thompson, who had been robbed in Toronto, etc., etc. I am of opinion that he was a professional impostor. About two years ago last fall, a man answering the same description was "doing" the country—a Scotchman, about then 75 years of age; well dressed; a large, strong man. His story was then that he had been visiting friends in Waterloo county, and on his way home put up at the Albion hotel, Toronto, when someone entered his room and robbed him of $120, all the money he had, he reported the matter to the police, but they cou,d do nothing, and as he lived in the County of Northumberland he preferred making home., rather than wire his friends for funds. He stated that he owned a farm in the Township of Seymour, and run a creamery, gave his name as James Thompson, Minie post office, and imposed on the generosity of the writer to the ticket to Trenton and his supper and left his address promising to return the money as soon as he returned home. and with many expressions of gratude. Weeks passed and no money came. We then wrote post master, at Minie, who knew no such man, and so the matter was dropped. I only wish the good samaritan at Uxbridge had paid his fare to Whitby where he would have met friends who would have been pleased to have seen him. I think you will agree with me that this is the same individual, and a professional dead beat and believe your friends in Uxbridge will have the same experience as I had—I hope not. This creature should be exposed through the Toronto papers, so that those who are hospitably inclined may be on their guard. I have since learned that previous to his visit to Whitby he had worked the same on a Scotch farmer in our neighborhood, with the same results. I trust you will publish this letter, so that all who run may read.

A. VICTIM.

TREAD LIGHTLY.

An Old Friend of the Times' Staff Has Passed Away.

The TIMES' staff this week mourns the loss of an old and venerable friend, the office towel, which, sad to relate, met with a fatal accident during the wind storm on Monday. Its sudden demise is surrounded by mystery, but following is the story told by the staff: One of their number became ashamed of the grime on his hands and went into the press room to cleanse them. Having vigorously applied soap and water with an antiquated lye brush, and having succeeded in removing the roughest of the dirt he struck for the towel to finish up on, when lo! on nearing its abode he discovered the poor thing lying in two pieces, and grief-stricken, flew to inform the other members of the staff of the great affliction visited upon them. The deceased was a native of Gough Bros., and during its eight years of faithful service had endeared itself to every member of the staff and the various itinerant "prints" with which it came in contact with from time to time. At the wake last night the following epitaph, composed and dedicated by Mr. Carese LeBrun was unanimously adopted:

When we think of the towel,
The old-fashioned towel,
That used to hang up by the printing house door.

I swear that nobody,
In these days of shoddy,
Can hammer the iron to wear as it wore.

The tramp who abused it,
The devil who used it,
The comp. who got at it when these two were gone.

The make-up and foreman,
And the editor, poor man,
Each rubbed some grime off while they put a heap on.

In over and under,
'Twas blacker than thunder,
'Twas harder than poverty, rougher than sin;

From the roller suspended,
It never was bended,
And it flapped on the wall like a banner of tin.

It grew thicker and rougher,
And harder and tougher,
And daily put on a more inkier hue;
Until one windy morning,
Without any warning,
It fell to the ground and was broken in two.

Lo! this was the worst,
The devil he cursed,
While the foreman announced the funeral next day.

On the hill top above,
Surrounded by love,
The old office towel is buried deep in the clay.

AFTER SHAKESPEARE.

Enter Buritt—"Appeal or no Apeal, that is the question :—
Whether 'tis better for the town to suffer
The taunts and jeers of victorious Monaghan;
Or to take advice from town solicitor
And by appealing, end them? to move, to fight—
Right on—and by a fight, to say we end
The outlay, and the thousand and one pulls
The purse is heir to—'tis a consummation
Devoutly to be wish'd. To move,—to fight,—
To fight! perchance to win; aye, there's the rub;
For in that appeal to court, what facts may come out
When defendant's counsel makes his plea,
Must give me pause; there's the respect,
That makes calamity of so long life, etc., etc

RENTING TYPEWRITERS.

The Business Is Profitable, Although Many of the Machines Are Stolen.

There are probably a dozen places in this city where the business of renting new and secondhand typewriters is carried on. Most of these concerns do an excellent business, and many of their lists of machines out on rental average from 150 to 200 names. Nearly all the machines rented are those of a high grade which have been tested by experience in business offices and in shorthand schools.

A strictly new typewriter seldom rents for less than $5 a month, while one that is only slightly damaged brings $4 a month. A machine that can be hired for $3 is considered fit for only a "plug" operator, and such typewriters are rented rarely.

There are upward of 70 shorthand and typewriting schools regularly conducted in this city, with classes of from 10 to 200 students. This does not include the public day and evening schools, numerous public libraries and general educational institutions where such things are taught and scores of private instructors all over the city. Typewriter manufacturers in many instances supply schools with complete outfits of their own machines free of charge as a means of increasing the number of operators thereon, for as soon as a graduate obtains employment he naturally prefers the same kind of typewriter he has used at school. Some operators have to provide machines for themselves. A large number begin by renting a machine, proposing to buy later. Frequently they fail to do so, and the books of a Barclay street house which derives a handsome monthly income from rents of machines show that it is a common occurrence for twice the value of a typewriter to be paid in monthly rentals.

It is not customary for these dealers to require security for the return of a typewriter other than a written agreement stipulating that it shall be delivered to the owners at the expiration of the period of rental in as good condition as when first received, barring the effect of ordinary usage. Hence it is not surprising that typewriter thieves are very common.

"Stealing a typewriter," said the man who looks after the rental department of a large typewriter house in Broadway, "is grand larceny and a state prison offense, yet this and the further fact that an immense number of these culprits have already been sent to penitentiaries in different states do not deter dozens of others every month from making like thefts. We have a standing list of from 100 to 200 typewriters that have been stolen from our branch offices and agents in various sections of the country. Every typewriter has its own number, which cannot be effaced, and whenever we hear that a machine is missing we immediately communicate its number to our representatives in this country and abroad, with instructions to seize the machine when found and to prosecute the person holding it. It is only a matter of time when any typewriter will need adjusting and repairing and will be taken to a repairer, and then the thief is easily apprehended. Thus we actually lose few or no machines."—New York Sun.

Railroad Speed.

In high speeds the United States seems just now to hold the world's records. Neither England nor any other country in the world has any trains as fast, for the distance, as the Empire State express, which runs 440 miles at 50.7 miles an hour, including four stops, or as fast for the distance as the defunct exposition flier of last summer, which ran 964 miles at 48.2 miles an hour, including nine stops.

Among the very fast special runs we find the following pretty authentic records of performances in the United States, which, so far as I know, have not been equaled in England since a run made on the Great Western, in 1848, of 53 miles at 68 miles an hour, and that was not up to the best of those given here: September, 1891, on the New York Central, New York to East Buffalo, 436 miles, at 59.6 miles an hour, including three stops; 1892, same railroad, 21½ miles at the rate of 78.7 miles an hour, no stops; Pennsylvania railroad, 1891, Jersey City to Washington, 227 miles, 54.3 miles an hour, two stops; New York Central, 1893, 80.4 miles at 68.5 miles an hour, no stops.—Scribner's Magazine.

Diamond Coated Boots.

Everybody has remarked that the matter applied to boots and shoes—viz, blacking—is a dull, blue black substance entirely devoid of gloss, but when the leather thus coated is rubbed over with a dry brush the boot begins to shine like a bright luminary. What is the cause of this strange phenomenon is a question which naturally presents itself to every well regulated mind. The diamond, as everybody knows and as recent experiments have abundantly proved, is nothing more or less than crystallized carbon. The chief element in blacking is likewise carbon, in the shape of lampblack. The friction of the dry brush on the leather produces electricity, which has the property of crystallizing carbon. The leather, coated with blacking and brushed, is covered with millions of microscopical diamonds, which give to the blacking its peculiar brilliancy. Accordingly everybody wears diamonds on his boots.—Imparcial.

The First Marital Kiss.

If, as seems to be the case, it is to be considered the correct thing for bride and bridegroom to exchange their first marital kiss at the altar, it would be a wise thing to announce the fact through the papers beforehand, along with the number of attendants, list of presents, etc. That would at least prepare the wedding friends for this very beautiful observance. At a largely attended wedding, when the bridegroom at the conclusion of the ceremony kissed his bride, from all quarters of the crowded church came a snicker, which was the more surprising on account of the well bred looks of the gathering. On another occasion the bride herself was taken by surprise and started back in alarm when her newly made husband wished to enter upon his lately acquired privileges on the spot.—Washington Post.

Was Posted.

"A woman couldn't run for office," argued the funny man, "because she can't find her pocket."

"Judging from what I have seen of politics," was his wife's austere rejoinder, "there would be plenty of people to find it for her."—Detroit Tribune.

Philadelphia has the finest city clock in the world. The face, which is 10 yards in diameter, can be seen from every part of the city. The minute hand is 4 yards long and the hour hand a little over half that length.

Men are made rich not by what the world can give, but by what it can't take away.—Ram's Horn.

The Times.

PETERBOROUGH, MARCH 8, 1895.

Good morning !

Now for the paying of the sewer costs.

It seems to us that George Watson was too much for Burritt Edwards.

The town has a nice sewer for sale at a bargain. The lowest tender not necessarily accepted.

Yes, 'twas a funny verdict ! No one but an old-fashioned dry goods man could have given such a verdict.

The judge has protected the microbes, baccilli and other dumb animals for five years, after that they must be destroyed.

For sale, a hole in the ground at the south end of the town—buyer must go into the hole and pull the hole in after him.

Judgment in favor of the town ! We can put down the sewer through North Monaghan, but the town will have to pay all costs incurred by the township !

Since Lord Roseberry began to suffer from insomnia it has been quite correct to call him the most wide-awake statesman in Europe.

It is perhaps lucky for Toronto that her three big fires had burned themselves out before the city goes into the fire insurance business.

It will just take about five years to complete the sewer, so the town is authorized to empty the sewerage into the river for that length of time ; but when the sewer is finished it can't be used any longer.

For five years it will not be detrimental to the health of those who live in the townships if the sewage of the town does enter the river, but at the end of that time the microbes and baccilli are supposed to have attained full growth.

One of the ablest and best citizens of Brantford, Robert Henry, has been selected to cross swords with the veteran politican gladiator, Wm. Paterson, in South Brant. Pretty soon the great question, " Who struck Billy Patterson ?" will be answered.

The Toronto Globe is writing up the Grit members of parliament. Every man written up so far, seems to be cleverer than all the rest. It makes one tremble to know what an extraordinary aggregation of the brightest, best, ablest, and most earnest men the poor tories have to run up against.

Councillor Dawson treats the award lightly, and contends that it favors the town. There are none so blind as those who won't see. Mr. Dawson must know, if he knows anything, that the town can never use the sewer. The corporation has been struck for the entire costs, as well as the large amount of money in constructing the sewer, which, of course is also forever gone.

Councillor Stone's boast, after the municipal elections, that he intended to run the knife " up to the hilt " in the town solicitor, evidently is a mere piece of buncombe. Mr. Edwards, in his capacity as town solicitor, is infinitely preferable to the double-shuffling councillor, who in his brief record of a few weeks at the Council board has conveniently got stuck in the snow, and turned several somersaults that would put to shame any professional American politician.

No less than five State Legislatures are, or have been, considering bills prohibiting high theater hats. Which of the political parties is going to make denunciation of the theater hat the leading plank in its next platform ?

The Globe published a long editorial on the Manitoba school case. It holds that the question must be decided either by the Federal Government or by the Manitoba people themselves. If the former undertake the settlement the decision would be made on the eve of a general election, and in such a way as would add strength to the party in power. If the matter were left in the hands of the people of Manitoba the Globe thinks that the decision of the majority would be fair and just. This the Liberal organ thinks should be the course pursued, the more so because the people themselves know the requirements of their young country.

The new Czar has given an indication of his pacific disposition by decorating his ambassador at the Court of St. James' for his efforts to " secure a favorable settlement of questions between Russia and England, and to strengthen the friendly relations which are so important in assuring the general peace.' These significant words will be warmly welcomed by England, and also by the members of the Triple Alliance. The world has anxiously waited every utterance of the Czar, and this one is the most satisfactory that he has yet made. The auguries of the first weeks of the new year have been hopeful for Europe.

Ex-Queen Lil has formerly renounced her rights to the throne of Hawaii. She was in jail, in danger of being tried for her life on a charge of conspiring against Mr. Dole's republic, when she signed the abdication document, and it is not at all probable that the act was a voluntary one. However, if Mr. Dole lets her go, ex-Queen Lil has it in her power to wreak vengeance on persecutor's countrymen ; she may cross over to the States and take to the lecture platform.

MUNICIPAL FIRE INSURANCE.

The Bulletin, the organ of fire insurance companies, has something to say about the proposed scheme for municipal fire insurance. Of course the Bulletin is opposed to the measure. It makes its living out of the fire insurance companies, and cannot afford to see anything good in a scheme which would deprive them of a large share of business. It may be interesting to some of our readers to know what the Bulletin has to say about the matter. Here it is :

Regarding this, as we do. as a measure that would interest the readers of the Bulletin, we give it entire, at the sacrifice of much space. We do not, however, deem the measure of sufficient importance to fire insurance companies and underwriters that we should warn them against it, nor advise them to put their house in order for a flitting from Ontario to other hunting grounds where they may pursue their vocation in accordance with sound business laws and the dictates of common sense. We do not, in fact, attach much importance to this municipal grasping at-power scheme.

At any rate, as things now present themselves, municipalities are not yet competent to perform the functions of insurance bodies, nor will they be for many years to come, if ever.

There need not, we think, be any apprehension of the bill becoming a law, for, though some members of the legislature may have promised their support, it is not at all likely that the majority will cast their votes in its favor. It is to be hoped that the bill will be turned down at sight. If, however, the reverse of this should be the case and that fire underwriters experience any disaster or inconvenience from it, their own anti-insurance practices and usages should be held accountable for any such results. If our space permitted we would point out several parts of the bill that should condemn it off hand as being arbitary and as giving too many, and by far too extensive, powers to the commissioners. But we must leave this for the present.

It will be noticed that the Bulletin, says the Hamilton Spectator, while professing to pooh-pooh the scheme, " sacrifices " much space to its publication, and would give it particular fits if it had space. It will also be noticed that the Bulletin decides, off-hand, that " municipalities are not yet competent to perform the duties of insurance bodies.". But why ? Is there anything peculiar about the men who govern municipalities ? Is it impossible to elect people who can read and write, and " cipher " a little ? But perhaps the non-competence is due to the fact that the legislature has not given the municipalities power to act as insurance bodies. That's true. But how does the Bulletin know that that power will not be given " for many years to come, if ever ? " Has the Bulletin got the Legislature in its pocket ?

The striking portion of the Bulletin's article is found in its admission that fire underwriters have been guilty of " anti-insurance practices and usages," which would be adequately punished by such a "disaster" as the passage of the proposed municipal insurance bill. That is precisely what the people in favor of the bill have been complaining about ; that is where the trouble is.

JAPAN AND ENGLAND.

The capture of Wei-hai-wei, following that of Port Arthur has convinced observing Englishmen that Japan may speedily become, if she should not be deemed so already, a naval power of the first class. What effect is the emergence of this new factor in maritime affairs likely to have upon British interests ? The London Spectator has no doubt that henceforth England will have to reckon with the rivalry of Japan in the far east. Other English newspapers, less sober-minded, do not hesitate to denounce the rival of to-day, as the enemy of to-morrow, and they urge that an immediate attempt be made upon the part of European coalition, or even of Great Britain singly, to check the progress of the Mikado's empire toward ascendancy on the Asiatic shore of the Pacific.

The Japanese now possess, in addition to the naval resources with which they began the war, nearly all of the Chinese ironclads and cruisers that have escaped destruction. Moreover, of the pecuniary indemnity, which they are certain to obtain from China, a large part will be devoted to the strengthening of their war fleet; for, reversing the principle on which the Tokugawa Shotgunate was conducted the Mikado's ministers have become converts to the teachings of Mahan, and recognize in sea power the indispensible conditions of safety and aggrandizement for an island empire. It is further to be noted that, while with a view of conciliating Russia, they may consent to leave Corea nominally independent, and to give up Wei-hai-wei, which lies within China proper, they are determined to remain at Port Arthur for a place of naval equipment and repair. They would thus have great advantages in the event of a war with Great Britain, which has no naval arsenal, where ironclads could be repaired, eastward of Bombay. Repairs, however, would be indispensible for even those Englishmen who take it for granted that they would be successful in a naval battle with the Japanese, admit, since they have studied the performance of the Japanese torpedo boats at Wei-hai-wei, That victory could not be won without grave damage to the British fleet. The inference they draw is that a first rate naval arsenal must be forthwith secured in either the Spanish or the Dutch insular possessions in the East.

MR. BURNHAM'S CANDIDATURE.

The chance of holding the East Riding for the Conservatives is very much increased by the nomination of the present member, Mr. John Burnham. That there will be a stiff fight, the Conservative party fully realize. It will require the most perfect organization, as well as the hardest kind of work to win, so that it is not to be wondered at that Mr. Burnham hesitated about becoming a candidate.

The Reformers have a candidate that will leave no stone unturned to beat his opponent. A life-long Liberal as well as a leading Patron, he naturally will have a special " pull " in the constituency, which is composed almost wholly of agriculturists.

The party managers will no doubt see to it that Mr. Burnham will have all the assistance that is needed to lay his claims and the claims of the Conservative party properly before the electors.

IS HAPPINESS A DREAM ?

There is something pathetic in an interview with Prince Bismarck which took place recently, in which he says : " I have seldom been a happy man. When I reckon my few minutes of real happiness I am hardly able to make 24 hours. In politics I never gained enough rest to be happy. I had only such moments in my private life. The first one I ever remember was when as a boy I shot my first hare. Later I enjoyed my life with my wife and children. One needs a certain natural gift to enjoy happiness. The old Emperor possessed it. His temperament was partly sanguine, partly phlegmatic."

It is a bit saddening to find an old man declaring in effect that for him happpiness has been an elusive dream impossible of realization, yet his statement will find an echo in the hearts of thousands. Happiness is purely a comparitive term. Some seem happy as the day is long and others go through life with the growing feeling that most of its little dolls are stuffed with sawdust. The days the months, the years go by and still they search for happiness and search in vain. They may get near it but it always eludes their grasp. The hope of finding it some day spurs them on but the end is the same.

Few men attain such honors as have fallen to Prince Bismarck's lot, but he seems to have found his happy moments in the little things in life—not even in its great ones. Perhaps the philosophy of a cheerful existence is found in being content with little things. But there are some types of mind that can never know contentment, and the doughty old German's seems to be one of them. He was resolute, ambitious, anxious for power and place and his ambitions were gratified. What a confession of failure it is to hear him saying now that his only happy moments were those he spent with his shotgun and his family !

THE LIME JUICE CLUB.

REGULAR WEEKLY MEETING OF THIS CHASE SOCIETY.

The President Makes Some Pungent Remarks —An Application Unfavorably Reported on —Some Bad Men — A Collossal Literary Treat.

"There are certain things I should like you to remember," said the President, as Fortypercent Duncefort finally got over his fit of coughing, and the hall became quiet : " In the first place the man who lies will knock a man down for calling him a liar just as soon as the man who tells the truth. In the next place, if a man says your lie, and don't lie, how do you prove you don't by hitting him ?

" What men lack in argument they will make up either in ridicule or bull-dozing.

" When you hear of a person with a confidential friend, you have found somebody to be sorry for.

" A man may have your respect and admiration for half a century on general principles, and yet loose all in half a day by refusing to endorse your bank note.

" Most every man has his weak side, and most of us except the drunkard, are hypocrites. We hide our weakness, while he exhibits his.

" A religion which can't stand the strain of paying taxes on its church must be a mighty weak one.

" I like to believe all men honest (uneasy feeling in the vicinity of where Alderman Blowhard Whetstone sits) but I never take the same patent medicine for liver complaint and the toothache, no matter how the label reads.

" If I ever become manager of a bank I shan't hunt for a cashier without any small vices. I have seen the time when a chew of blackstrap tobacco stopped my hunger for my neighbor's new potatoes.

" It is easy enough to make friends in a new neighborhood. All you have to do is to be a cheerful lender. Your enemies will appear when yo stop lending and begin to borrow. Let us now take up the regular proceedings and proceed to business."

UNFAVORABLY REPORTED.

Pony Moore expressed his readiness to report on the application of Jesse Blaylock and others, of Lindsay, in the matter of granting a charter for a branch lodge. He had discovered that the petitioners were people in very bad standing in Lindsay, especially among the police, and that Blaylock's sole object in establishing a branch was to spite Joe Price, the king pigeon of the roost. Brother Moore had been in correspondence with old Pete Whitefield, who hasn't slept in a bed for six years, and has the largest bank account of any man in the town, and old Pete had replied :

" No, sir, don't you give them fellers no charter nor nuffin. Why, sir, that crowd are the tuffest lot of folks in this hull country, and they have the lodge room shuck full of poker chips and whiskey. I'm expecting every day to see both Blaylock and Price hung for murder !"

In view of the circumstance Brother Moore said he should report unfavorably on the application, and he was relieved from further consideration of matter.

ACCEPTED.

The receipt of an invitation to the Bachelor's annual ball, to be given in Lakefield was annnunced, and after some discussion Bro. Talkaway, Cripes Mulcahey and Henroost Bell were selected as delegates to attend. The gentlemen are experienced talkers and step dancers, and they will reach Lakefield with store clothes on. Credentials will accompany each, and to guard against imposition these credentials should be asked for. The Lakefield people are asked to see the delegates aboard a freight train after the ball is over.

NOT OF THE CLUB.

The Secretary then read the following :

Toronto, March 7, 1895.

Sir Richard McBride :

EMINENT SIR—A most foul and dastardly outrage has been recently prepetrated in this city, and perpetrated upon the persons of two strangers, who claim to be active and important members of the Lime Juice Club. They say that they stopped off here on the 3rd of this month, bearing letters of recommendation from the Lime Juice Club, and with the intention of establishing a chapter of the club at this place ; but falling in with two genleel looking citizens, who claimed that the interests of the Lime Juice Club were nearer their hearts than anything else, and who passed over the goobers in a paper sack, with a generous hand ; were basely set upon by their newly-found friends, while passing through a woodyard at the corner of Commercial Place and Brickbat Alley, and were violently separated by them from the following personal effects : A chicken spur, a couple of pedro packs, a Waterbury watch and chain, a constitution of the Lime Juice Club and $425 in money. They, at present, have apartments at the Hotel De Kallaboose, and their cards bear the names, J. Zollicoffer Kelly and B. Juniper Polite, Peterborough. J. Zollicoffer Kelly is rather on the dude order, being a tall, angular man, and wearing an eyeglass and standing collar, while Mr. Polite is rather a short man, who wears a beaver and side whiskers and has a slight hesitancy in his speech. The question is—Can members of the time-honored Lime Juice Club be treated thusly and go unavenged ? Sir, this matter demands not only an immediate investigation on your part, but a sentiment of righteous indignation from the breast of every true and right-minded member of the Lime Juice Club.

Yours truly

J. HOLDEM,

Police Constable.

The roll of honourary membership was consulted, but it failed to show that the men mentioned were members of the club. The Secretary was instructed to return thanks to the Chief of Police, and to throw out a hint that the victims were doubtless imposters who were justly served.

AN OFFER DECLINED.

A letter was read from Cautious Miler, Keene, offering to purchase the outfall sewer over which there has been so much wrangling of late. He said that he proposed to use it to pound fractious members of the Keene branch of the Lime Juice Club over the head with.

" The Secretary will write to Bro. Miller with red ink on blue paper," replied the President, " to the effect that the sewer is not for sale. We intend to stand it on end as a monument to the professional ability of Solicitor Edwards and the statemanship of Councillor Cahill and others."

A LECTURE.

The President announced that Pofessor Johnson, of Alabama, was in the anteroom, waiting to address the club. The Professor was on a trip to Canada to see what a northern climate would do for a stiff knee. After being escorted to the platform, he placed his hand on his breast and begun :

" My friends, I did not arrive here tonight to make a speech. I simply wanted to gaze on your hall, congratulate every member, and go home with your President to save a hotel bill. (Wild cheers by mistake from Bro. Jack Cumming, who was promptly fined $900 and costs.) I should have joined this club four years ago, only I was led to believe that a man with a glass eye would not be taken in. I have discovered my error to-night, and my application has been fyled. (Cheers).

" I am astonished with this country of yours. I never seen so much land to the acre in all my life. Your policemen, whose acquaintance I cultivated on my arival in your town, all carry around corporations of their own, as well as look after the municipal corporation. Every poor family in your fair city appears to own from one to six dogs.

" I am surprised and highly delighted with the progress which you have made in intelligence and education. Yesterday I asked a boy who was the slipperiest man in town, and he answered me Councillor Stone quicker'n a wink. (Sensation) I asked another youth who built the greatest tunnel on earth, and he answered Burrit Edwards. (Great commotion in the visitors' gallery where sat Reeve Forster, of North Monaghan, and Bro. Wm. Collins.) I also note that you people in the north are a long way ahead of dictionary words.

" I am glad to see this. No thought of jealousy ranks in my breast. On the contrary. May the emblem continue her indivisibility until the unrewarded requisition contests the apparent reliability of the hemisphere. In fact, let me say with Bro. Boneyard Billyjimm—" Ingis factuus hos de combat, faux pas ex abrupto est modus in rebus," and don't you forget it !

For a minute and a half there was a dead silence, when Bro. Talkaway broke out in a cheer which cracked the bottom of the stove, and put out the lights.

Market Reports.

PETERBOROUGH.

The market has been brisker this week, especially in grain. Peas and oats have advanced in prices, and are still advancing. Working horses are selling at better prices ; two span were sold on the market square this week at fair figures. Live stock day next Tuesday, when hogs, etc., are expected to be in good demand. A large market may be looked for to-day ; as the demand for all kinds of produce, etc., is good.

TORONTO.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

March 8.—In Liverpool to-day the market was unchanged. The Chicago market closed higher. In this market eggs were easier ; dressed hogs were firmer.

Butter—The receipts are fair, there is a fair demand for large rolls and prices are steady at 12c to 14c for the best, and 15c for small lots in baskets if very choice. Dairy tub is slow at 14c for the best and 7c to 8c for low grade. Creamery is quiet. Rolls are steady at 21c to 22c and tub is rather quiet at 20c to 21c.

Eggs—Are in good demand, but the weakness in the outside markets, New York being 7c lower this week, and the larger receipts for new laid contributed to the easier feeling in this market. Limed are quoted at 15c and new laid at 22c to 23c.

Potatoes—Are steady. Cars on the track here are quoted at 55c and potatoes out of store sell at 60c to 65c.

Poultry—The offerings are fair, but the demand is rather slow and prices are steady at 10c to 11c for choice turkeys, 6c to 7c for geese and 50c to 65c for chickens.

Baled Hay—Is steady. Cars on the track here are quoted at $8 50 to $8 75.

Baled Straw—Is dull. Cars on the track here are quoted at $5 50 for oat and $5 for wheat.

Dressed Hogs—The offerings are small, holders are firm and packers are inquiring for more. The market is firmer all round, and cars sold outside to-day at equal to $5 80 delivered here for average weights. The receipts on the local street market were larger, but there was a good demand and sales at $5 75 to $6.

FARMERS' MARKET.

The receipts of grain on the street market to-day were larger. Prices were steady. Dressed hogs were firmer.

Wheat—Steady, 100 bushels selling at 62 for goose and 63c to 64c for white.

Barley—Steady. 500 bushels selling at 48c.

Oats—Steady, 80 bushels selling at 37c to 38c.

Hay and Straw — The receipts were larger, there was a good demand and the market was firm, 50 loads of hay selling at $11 to $13 for timothy and $9 to $10 for clover, and 10 loads of straw at $7 to $8 50.

Dressed Hogs—The receipts were more liberal, there was an active demand and the market was firmer, with sales of loads to local packers at $5 75 to $5 90, and small lots at $5 50 for poor and $5 80 to $6 for choice.

MONTREAL.

LIVE STOCK MARKET.

March 8.—The pacific state of the live stock market remains unruffled. Business is dead. Local shippers, however, are sending a few cattle forward from American ports. M. Green shipped 1,500 head of American sheep from Baltimore this week, and expects to forward as many again during the next few days. A little more space has been taken, but no rates have been established. There was a very small run of cattle at the Point St. Charles market. The demand was slow and prices show no change. There were very few sheep. At the East End market this morning there were 300 head of cattle offered. The ruling price was 3⅛c per lb live weight for sheep and lambs. The ruling price was 4¼c per lb live weight for cattle, 100 being offered. There were 300 calves on the market, which brought only from $1 to $6 each, according to size and quality. There was a fair demand and a good number of butchers were in attendance.

HOW GRANDMA DANCED.

Grandma told me all about it,
Told me so I couldn't doubt it,
How she danced, my grandma danced,
Long ago.

How she held her pretty head,
How her dainty skirt she spread,
Smiling little rose !
How she turned her little toes,
Long ago.

Grandma's hair was bright and sunny,
Dimpled cheecks, too, ah, how funny !
Really quite a pretty girl,
Long ago.

Bless her ! why she wears a cap,
Grandma does, and takes a nap
Every single day ; and yet
Grandma danced the minuet
Long ago.

Now she sits there rocking, rocking,
Always knitting grandpa's stocking ;
(Every girl was taught to knit
Long ago.)

Yet her figure is so neat
I can almost see her now
Bending to her partner's bow,
Long ago.

Grandpa says our modern jumping,
Hopping, whirling, rushing, bumping,
Would have shocked the gentle folk,
Long ago.

No, they moved with stately grace,
Everything in proper place ;
Gliding slowly forward, then
Slowly curtsying back again,
Long ago.

OUR ELIGIBLE BACHELORS

ANOTHER BATCH OF THE HEART WHOLE AND FANCY FREE.

Targets For Cupid with His Little Bow and Arrows—Wooers Who Went Woo or Wooed in Vain.

So many letters have poured in requesting THE SATURDAY TIMES to continue the list of "Our Eligible Bachelors," that another batch appears in this issue. It is no use trying to stem the tide of popular demand, which asks THE SATURDAY TIMES to continue its good work of holding up to the public gaze the numerous species of humanity that make up the ranks of bachelordom in Peterborough. It is surprising how many there are, too Why, if a quarter of the bachelors of this town were to marry, the things predicted for Peterborough Thirty Years Hence would come about much sooner. The appended list is a regular bargain day offering. The different articles are good value, warranted to wear and give good service.

Keener, H. R.—30 years of age; $5,000. This intellectual young man is classical master of the Collegiate Institute. He is the son of a Methodist minister and it follows that he is bashful and of a retiring disposition. Mr. Keener recently had the misfortune to break his arm and it is said he expressed the opinion that a wife would have been a very handy possession to have around during the semi-helpless period that followed. Mr. Keener would make a great match. He is handsome, genial and affectionate. He is said to have delicate leanings towards Stratford.

Benedict, C. L.—26 years of age; $10,000. Here is a living exemplification of the truth of the saying, "what's in a name," for Mr. Benedict is an almost bachelor. This popular gentleman who is with the Bank of Montreal is a most desirable catch. He is very popular with the boys and is a familiar figure in curling circles. He looks very distinguished in a light fawn overcoat. The young ladies of Peterborough would do well to keep an eye on Mr. Benedict.

Parson, J.—26 years old; $10,000. This gentleman is also with the Bank of Montreal. He is quite a society man although of a quiet disposition. It is reported that he is already engaged. Be this as it may, Mr. Parson would make a first rate husband, and it is to be hoped he will not wait until the sear and yellow leaf of life to take this most important step. Mr. Parson is a great hockey player.

Lewis, H. F.—25 years old; $5,000. He teaches the Fourth Book class in the Central school, and is a graduate of Victoria University. While it is a matter of general belief that the majority of school marms remain single, the rule does not apply to pedagogues of the male persuasion, and it is Mr. Lewis' duty to uphold the rule as far as he is concerned. He is a good match.

Jewett, W. D.—24 years old; $5,000. Mr. Jewett is with the Snowden House. He is one of the boys every time and quite a sport. It is said he is very fond of the girls. If this is so, he ought to loose no time in selecting one out of the large and choice selection in Peterborough. He would make a nice husband.

Henry, Myles—27 years of age; $10,000. This gentleman is the senior member of the well known firm of Henry Bros., grocers. He is very popular, good looking and quite a ladies' man. There is no reason under the sun why he should not get married. It is the duty of some nice young lady to catch him. He would make a splendid hubby, is able to support a wife handsomely and is one of the best matches on the market today.

Hay, R. A.—30 years of age; $10,000. Mr. Hay is in the law office of A. P. Poussette. He is very popular, but has a strong antipathy to females, which is execrable taste for so handsome a man. He is a great hockey enthusiast and a member of Durham Field Battery.

Hamilton, William H.—27 years of age; $7,000. Mr. Hamilton is proprietor of the Metropolitan grocery on Simcoe street. He is extremely good-looking, works like a Trojan and is fast amassing wealth, which, no doubt, in the near future, he will ask some good woman to share. This is the devout wish of his large circle of friends, who think so quiet, steady and exemplary a gentleman should be married.

Halliday, Charles J.—22 years old; $10,000. Here's a snap. He's in the Custom House, and a Government official is always good value. Charley is a very quiet fellow and extremely good-looking. He would make a real nice husband. It is said that he is matrimonially inclined.

Beal, Harry L.—25 years of age; $5,000. Harry is with Messrs. Dennistoun & Stevenson, barristers. He is a real sweet boy, and a great ladies' man. He should get married at once, and settle down, for no young man can think of girls and master the intricacies of law at the same time. He would make a good husband if managed properly.

Murty, Michael—30 years of age; $10,000. Here is a splendid catch, as Mick is a fine fellow. He is one of the boys and well liked by both sex, but has a hankering for corresponding with outside young ladies. We hope he will be more considerate and help to make the list of old maids in Peterborough smaller. He has a good head for inventions and we hope he will put a damper on the flood of outside correspondence and give some of the home ladies a chance as they are "after you."

Matthews, Charles—26 years of age; $60,000. He is secretary of the George Matthews Pork Packing Co., Ltd. Mr. Matthews is very popular and fond of the ladies. He pays frequent visits to Montreal and is said to have an attraction there, but the signs in the north are to the contrary. He is very good looking and has a splendid disposition, and, it is said, intends increasing his popularity by joining the masons. He is a plum.

Schneider, F. S.—29 years of age; $15,000. The well known George street jeweller is unmarried, and it is really too bad, for he is a nice fellow and well able to keep a wife. Mr. Schneider has been thinking of marrying for some time, in fact, his friends have been expecting "cards" for the last 15 years. But he has put it off and is still living a miserable life in the single state. However, there is no telling what a day may bring forth. Spring is coming, gentle Annie, and in the spring time the minds of men turn lightly to thoughts of love. It is to be hoped his mind will turneth thusly. Mr. Schneider is one of the best matches in town. He is handsome, good natured and very popular. Fortunate will be the young lady who lands him.

Wonham, H. E. C.—26 years of age; $3,000. Mr. Wonham is with the Bank of Montreal. He is a darling little fellow and has a style and manner all his own. He is one of the bright particular stars of the Peterborough hockey team and to his agility and skill with the hockey stick is due much of the success of the team. He would make a splendid little hubby and will doubtless be snapped up soon.

Comstock, Wm.—24 years of age; $10,000. Here is a cuckoo. This is one of Peterboroughs best catches. He is the son of our enterprising furniture dealer, Mr. A. Comstock, and is developing good business qualities. He is a regular attendant at St. Andrew's church, at least that is the direction he goes on Sunday evening. The ladies want to watch him.

Hall, W. F.—23 years of age; $10,000. This young man is with the Adam Hall hardware establishment. He is a splendid catch, and should get married at once. He is looked upon as a good curler.

Leplante, John—50 years of age; $50,000. Mr. Leplante, the butcher, is known as well, probably, as any man in Peterborough, and there has been any amount of conjecture why he does not marry. He is now almost beyond reclaim, having become a hardshell in the ranks, but, still, there is the possibility that he may yet "steak" out a claim, form a "joint" partnership and prepare a "quarter" into which to install the missing "rib." His intentions, however, he refuses to re-"veal," and as we have no means to dis-"skiver" them, this is only a premise. He would make a good husband.

Alexander, A.—45 years of age; $25,000. He is another dyed-in-the-wool bachelor. He would make a splendid husband and would be better off married, if he could only be made to see it that way. He is quiet and a regular home man.

Strickland, Pollie—22 years of age; $10,000. Pollie is the civil engineer of the Trent Valley Canal and is a young man much admired by the ladies. He is a fine hockey player and does not take a back seat in football. He dresses very tastefully and cuts quite a dash in his T.V.C. working suit. Several young ladies in town have him in tow and and his falling into the ranks of the benedicts in the near future will create no surprise.

Martin, Robert—23 years of age; $8,000. Rumor says that Mr. Martin is mortgaged to ladies in outside towns. He is worth watching. A letter from a Hamilton young lady, requests that we publish his rating and other particulars.

Smith, John—32 years of age; $5,000. The genial Ashburnham councillor is very well known and very popular. He is a great talker and often drops into THE TIMES' office and enlivens dull routine with his fund of anecdote. Councillor Smith is a great ladies' man and in him the fair sex have a stalwart champion. It is rumored that John is matrimonially inclined and will soon take unto himself a lovely wife. No one is more deserving of a good woman than the man who every night is the last to cross the bridge.

NOTES.

The following letter is evidence of the wide circulation of THE SATURDAY TIMES, which is read all over the continent:

BROOKLYN, N.Y.

DEAR MR SNYDER—One day last week I was asked to look over THE TIMES. It contained the names of some gentlemen who claim to be bachelors, although I think they are far from it, judging from their age. Seeing that there are so many lone gentlemen there I thought I would try, at least, to cheer up one. I am very fond of Canadians, for I know quite a few and hope some day to see that part of the country.

I will give you a brief description of myself. I am five feet seven inches tall—medium blonde and twenty-three years of age. I choose you from the number of gentlemen mentioned and hope you will answer this letter.

The young ladies of the States seem to be in the same boat with the gentlemen of Peterborough. Now, I must close, hoping you will favor me with an early reply, I am

Very sincerely,
MARGARET HUGHES.

Mr. James Snyder, Peterborough.

We understand a hot correspondence is going on. Jim has changed his politics and is now in favor of annexation and free trade. He says THE SATURDAY TIMES is the greatest paper on earth

The following letter refers to our esteemed friend W. A. Buchanan:

Editor of the Saturday Times.

DEAR SIR,—Noticing in your paper this morning that you intend to continue your list of eligible bachelors, at the request of a number of young ladies I write to ask that you do not omit the name of Mr. W. A. Buchanan, the esteemed reporter of the Review. This young gentleman is leading a society life, and I, for one think that it is time he was settled down. Several of Norwood's belles are anxious to see his name appear.

Respectfully yours,
ONE OF HIS ADMIRERS.

Mr. Buchanan is an exemplary young man, 23 years of age and worth $2,000. He has a bright journalistic future, and the "belles" can't be blamed for wanting him to hurry up in his choice. However, it might be stated that like all newspaper men he is hard to catch. It is reported that he is engaged to young ladies in Norwood, Millbrook, Brighton, Lindsay, and (since the Keene carnival) Peterborough.

A petition signed by 120 of Peterborough's old maids has been received praying that their names be left out as they are doing their level best to get husbands.

KEPT HIS AUDIENCE WAITING.

Comedian Barry Got Stuck in a Game of Poker in Syracuse.

Special to the Times.

ROCHESTER, March 8.—Billy Barry, the star of "The Rising Generation" company, kept a Lyceum Theatre audience waiting nearly an hour Monday night on account of a little game of poker that he got into in Syracuse.

The game began in the Yates House last Saturday night, and never broke up until 4 o'clock Monday afternoon. Around the table sat Barry, Frank D. Hennessy, manager of the Bastable Theatre, Charles Kilday, a Quaker City man, and George Estes, a representotive of of a New York wine house.

By 6 o'clock Sunday evening Barry had lost $900, but at the close he was $160 "to the good."

Barry came to Rochester on the Flyer, which was twenty minutes late, and reached the Lyceum just as the manager was about to dismiss the audience.

A Texas Bank Closes its Doors.

WASHINGTON, March 8.—Comptroller Eckles has ordered Bank Examiner Johnson to take charge of the First National bank of Texarkana, Tex., which closed its doors. The capital of the bank is $50,000, and on its last report it had $66,000 in loans and discounts, and owed depositors and other debts amounting to $45,000.

THE FIREBUG IS ABROAD.

A FRONT STREET WAREHOUSE FIRED LAST NIGHT.

Munroe and Cassidy's Bindery Found Ablaze Soon After 7 p. m.—An Important Letter Regarding an Incendiary Plot Sent to the Mayor.

Special to The Times.

TORONTO, March 7.—Before the excitement of the Simpson fire has had time to cool off, the Mayor receives a letter from a reputable citizen, alleging a conspiracy to apply the torch to the great Eaton store and the Exhibition building. Then last evening an apparently incendiary fire was nipped in the bud in the centre of the business block on the north side of Front street, between Yonge and Bay streets.

At 7.10 o'clock last evening a still alarm was given for the incipient fire at Munroe & Cassidy's bookbindery establishment, 28 Front street west.

A reporter was promptly on the spot. He first saw Mr. Benjamin, who was thankful the fire was so soon discovered. Had it not been, the consequences would have been most disastrous.

THE MANAGER'S STATEMENT.

Mr. Thomas G. Wilson, manager of the Munroe & Cassidy firm, said: "I and Mr. Munroe were the last to leave the premises, which we did at 6.25 o'clock. We are busy with orders, and so had a hurried tea together. I locked the outside door, and when we returned at 7.10 I opened the door. The place was full of smoke. We rushed back into the street to give an alarm. Fortunately, there was a policeman near, and he rang the alarm. We hurried back into the store and found that the smoke was issuing from the stairs which lead down into the basement. At the rear of the basement are three water-closets, which we found to be on fire. We threw some buckets of water on the burning wood, and almost immediately afterwards firemen from Bay street with the small chemical engine arrived. At the time we reached the closets they were ablaze. The partitions were burned through. The fire appeared to have started at the top, near the ceiling. The lower part of the woodwork was not so much burned as the upper. No one is allowed to smoke on the premises, and as far as we know no one was left in when we went to supper. We found no one in when we got back. There were packing cases and inflammable materials in the basement. In a few minutes the ceiling would have been burning through. The firemen had the blaze extinguished very quickly."

Continuing, Mr. Wilson said: "Had we not returned at the time, there would have been a terrible fire. The contents of the different offices here are all highly combustible. We are in the centre of a business block, and it seems providential we were on the spot to have the fire put out so quickly."

THE BUSINESSES ENDANGERED.

The firms occupying the premises are: Carter & Company, blank books; J. L. Morrison Company, bookbinders' supplies; Brilliant Sign Letter Company; Cline Manufacturing Company, heaters; Rodwell Manufacturing Company, signs; Munro & Cassidy, bookbinders.

Immediately on the east side is the wholesale drygoods warehouse of Schafler, Rittenberg & Company, and on the west is the wholesale hardware firm of M. & L. Samuel, Benjamin & Co.

THE LETTER SENT THE MAYOR.

The following is the letter sent to Mayor Kennedy by the citizens who overheard the plot to burn T. Eaton & Co.

"About 6 o'clock on Sunday evening last I was standing by the fence separating Knox churchyard from Queen street, looking at the ruins of the fire. Between me and Simpson's were standing two rough-looking men, who appeared to belong to the out-of-work fraternity. One of them was a stout man about 5 feet 10 inches tall with slightly stooping shoulders, fat ruddy face, unshaven beard and heavy, stiff reddish mustache. He appeared to be about 30 or thereabouts. He wore a long grey coat and a cloth cap with ear lappets. His companion was about the same height but thin, and with dark complexion. He was wearing a dark coat, frayed about the pockets, and a black fur cap. The men were conversing in a low tone. The elder one had a most peculiar voice, which I could recognize among thousands. I heard him say:

"We have done pretty well for Simpson's; but we have not done as well as we intended."

The other replied: "Well, never mind, Eaton's will go within a week."

The crowd then closed in around us, and the two men dropped their conversation, and I went away, attaching very little importance to their remarks.

THE SECOND CONVERSATION.

On Tuesday night, however, a little after 7 o'clock, I was in James street, which runs from Queen street behind the Eaton block to Albert street. I saw two men about 30 feet down Albert street, and being quite near to them and in the shade could hear a good deal of their low-toned conversation. I immediately recognized the peculiar voice I had heard on Sunday night. Its owner said:

"The council last night passed a resolution to buy two engines. We must do this job before the engines arrive."

The other one replied: "We can easily manage that; we can fire a building on the west side and one on the east, and divide the brigade."

"Can you suggest any place?"

"There is an empty factory in Markham street."

"An empty factory is no good; they would never re-build that. We must have work for our union men."

"How would the Exhibition buildings do?"

"That will do; set her afire astern, and with a good west wind she's sure to go," said the man with peculiar voice. He added: "We must first see Jim inside, so that he will tell us when everything is ready."

Jim's name was then mentioned, connected with packing or unpacking, I can't say which. I also caught the words: "Window with grating," but do not know what they referred to.

The men then left the street and I went home and immediately indicted letters to the Mayor and the T. Eaton Co., Ltd.

SHOOTING AT WINNIPEG.

A Young Swede Fills an Englishman's Place and the Latter Shoots Him.

Special to the Times.

WINNIPEG, March 7.—A young Swede named William Otto Hedin, who has been employed on a farm near here for some time past, was shot down this morning by a dissolute Englishman and badly hurt. The latter then took a horse from the stable of a farmer in the vicinity and rode away. The authorities are on his track. The reason assigned for the shooting is that Hedin had accepted employment in a position from which the Englishman had been discharged for incompetence.

AWFUL FIRE.

A Million Dollar Blaze In Toronto.

THE HEART OF THE CITY

Four Corners of Queen and Yonge Streets in Ashes—Simpson's New Building, Knox Church, Imperial Bank, Government Building and Many Others Completely Destroyed.

Special to the Times.

TORONTO, March 3.—Another disastrous fire has visited this city and razed to the ground some of the most costly and substantial business buildings. The path of the flames was in the heart of the retail business portion of Toronto, and under less favorable circumstances, Toronto's largest and wealthiest stores, in fact the main business portion, would have been swept away. As it is, the conflagration assumed an immensity never equalled before, and the loss of property is greater than in the two previous fires. What were yesterday the handsomest four business corners in the city, are now huge heaps of blackened ruins, and where imposing structures stood, only crumbling, smoking walls remain.

THE BEGINNING.

ROBERT SIMPSON'S LARGE AND COSTLY NEW STORE THE FIRST TO GO.

This morning shortly before one o'clock a tremendous fire broke out in Robert Simpson's large departmental store located at the corner of Yonge and Queen streets. This building, recently erected and one of the largest and most costly of its kind in Canada, is wholly destroyed. The building cost about two hundred thousand dollars and the stock is an enormous one.

At 1.30 a. m. a high wind from the west caused the fire to spread rapidly. The flames completely enveloped the structure and the wind carried them across the street, where they ignited several buildings. In a few minutes there were half a dozen buildings ablaze and the firemen were confronted with an almost hopeless task. Simpson's store was doomed, and the firemen directed their combined efforts to stay the galloping flames which were extending in all directions with a rapidity at once appalling and frightening.

At 1.45, or less than an hour after its origin Simpson's building collapsed with a roar that could be heard for miles and scattering burning brands and sparks that lighted up the sky as brightly as day. The collapse was anticipated and with the terrible fatalities of the Globe fire fresh in mind, the police forwarned spectators and firemen, who were well out of the way when the ponderous walls and heavy iron columns tottered and then crashed into the roaring abyss.

FLAMES SPREAD.

PHILLIP JAMIESON'S LARGE STORE IN THE GOVERNMENT BUILDING WIPED OUT.

At 2 o'clock the fire crossed Queen street to the north and the flames wound around and quickly enveloped the handsome front of Phillip Jamieson's large clothing and tailoring establishment. The south and east fronts of this store was of plate glass, and this breaking on account of the heat a wide passage was opened to the interior through which the flames were carried by the wind. The building was soon entirely gutted. In the third storey were the offices of the Ontario Agricultural and Arts department. The flames continued northward and next enveloped J. Sutcliffe's big departmental establishment. This store has an entrance both on Yonge street and Queen street west, running back of Jamieson's, and it in turn is adjoined on the north side and west end by the mammoth establishment of T. Eaton & Company. The entire fire brigade was working on this building, and by heroic work stopped the northward progress of the flames, but not before Sutcliffe's store was completely destroyed, and the Queen street branch of T. Eaton & Company was badly damaged. More by luck, than anything else, the latter establishment was saved from total destruction.

KNOX CHURCH, TOO.

THE HISTORIC STEEPLE FELL WITH A CRASH AT 3 A.M.

At 3 o'clock the fire had exceeded in magnitude the two big conflagrations of a few weeks ago. The fire brigade worked with a will, but were greatly hampered by falling wires and the fire showed no signs of diminishing.

West of Robert Simpson's on Queen and a little back from the kerbing, for many years had stood the historic Knox Presbyterian church. This edifice was ablaze shortly after the first outbreak, and as the city clock struck 3 the high steeple swayed and then fell with a crash. West of this is a brick structure known as the Shakespear restaurant. A space intervenes and checked the westward course of the fire.

YONGE STREET EAST.

BONNER'S, THE IMPERIAL BANK, C. F. ADAMS & CO., MILNE & CO. FALL A PREY.

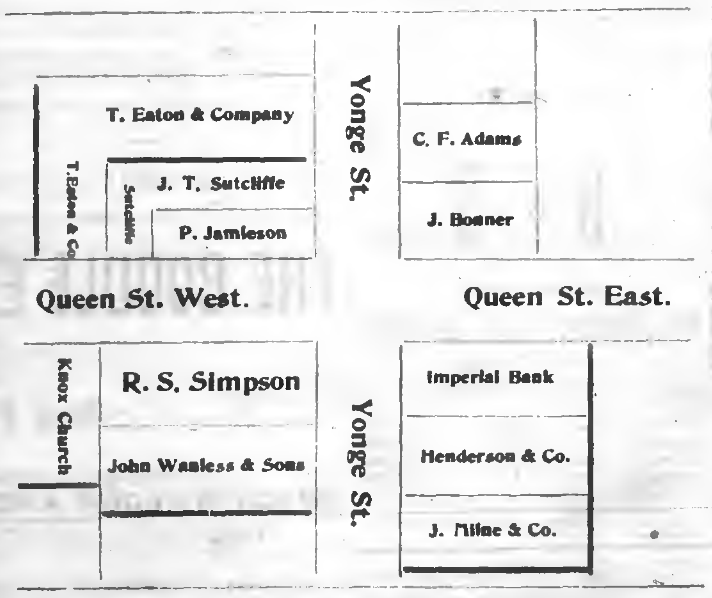
By this time thousands of citizens had reached the vicinity of the burning district and the lurid light shone upon a vast gathering of excited and upturned faces. While the firemen were stopping the north advance of the fire, it leaped across Yonge street to the east and in a few minutes Bonner's gents' furnishing store on the northeast corner of Queen and Yonge and the large stone structure of the Imperial Bank were seething in a maelstrom of fire. North of Bonners' are Duffield's store and C. F. Adams & Company's large furniture emporium. These were gutted in less than 30 minutes. South of the Imperial Bank on the east side of Yonge, are John Milne & Co., house furnishings, etc., and C. M. Henderson's auction rooms. These and the bank building were completely devastated.

South of Simpson's on the west side of Yonge is John Wanless & Company, Jewellers. This establishment was almost totally destroyed at the time that Simpson's succumbed to the flames.

At 4 a.m. the immense bell tower of Knox church fell crashing through the roof. This gave the flames a free passageway. At this time the fire was practically under control.

As near as can be estimated the losses are: R. Simpson, building, $200,000, stock about $300,000; P. Jamieson, building and stock, $100,000; J. Sutcliffe & Sons, building and stock, $125,000; John Milne & Co., house furnishings, $40,000. Damage to Knox church and other buildings will probably average $50,000 additional, making the total loss of about three quarters of a million dollars. Insurances are probably two thirds.

THE BURNED DISTRICT.



Note:—The burned district and the business houses destroyed are shown in th above diagram. The heavy rules denote the boundaries in which the fire was confined Only the Queen street wing of T. Eaton & Co.'s store was damaged.

"BEFORE TWO JURIES."

Closing Scenes of the Hayward Murder Trial at Minneapolis.

Special to the Times.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., March 7.—This was the defence's day in the Hayward murder trial. The evidence was all in, the attorney for the State had said his last word to the jury, and it devolved upon the "tall pine," Mr. W. W. Erwin, to say the final words in the defendant's behalf before the judge sent them out to arrive at a verdict. The scene was a most impressive one. The sick juror had been made as comfortable as possible for the final ordeal and the court room was packed to suffocation. Just before the proceedings began the palsied father of the defendant came in with his wife leaning upon him. They found seats among the throng, the defence fearing to have them too near the attorney's table. Then in came Harry Hayward with his keepers, manacled, but debonair, fresh, and seemingly confident of acquital. He stopped a moment to receive his father's blessing, and to reply, with real or simulated gaiety, "Oh, I'm all right." Mr. Erwin began his address in a subdued and impressive manner, referring first to the length of the trial, the hardships of the jurors, and the widespread interest in the case. The case has been tried, he declared, before two juries, one there (pointing to the jury box). The other one (pointing to the press table) was a jury of sensationalism, of the dissemination of ill-investigated, half-digested news, the jury of destruction. The speaker then went into a long and careful explanation of the origin of the trial by jury, the law governing it, and the theory of reasonable doubt.

James McWhirter of Woodstock Passes Away in Mid-Ocean.

Special to The Times.

WOODSTOCK, March 7.—Last night a message was received by John White, from New York, stating that James McWhirter a member of the firm of John White & Co., had died on board the Teutonic.

Mr. McWhirter had been in Europe in the interest of the firm and was homeward bound. Before leaving England he had contracted a slight attack of influenza, which was probably the cause of death. Death took place in mid-ocean, and the body was conveyed to New York where it lies awaiting shipment to Woodstock.

Mr. David Lambert, of London, registered at the Central yesterday.

ARTHUR DICK ARRESTED.

HE IS CHARGED WITH MURDERING HIS WIFE TO SECURE THE INSURANCE.

Is the Corpse the Body of Mrs. Dick—A Coal Oil Can Found Wedged Into a Pipe Near the Furnace Where the Fire Started.

Special to the Times.

TORONTO, March 7.—Charged with the wilful murder of his wife, Mary, Arthur A. Dicks was arrested last night by Detective Verney at 1164 College street and locked up in Parkdale police station.

The arrest was the result of an examination of the premises made by Detective Verney in which some startling evidence was found. The search was made yesterday afternoon beginning with the cellar where the furnace stood. It was here that the fire started and it was here that the detective made his find. The furnace is set in an excavation and the top is about two feet from the rafters supporting the floor above.

ARRESTED ON THE CHARGE OF MURDER.

From the top of the furnace run the hot air pipes in every direction, but not near enough to the rafters to be dangerous. The smokepipe is the only pipe that could get red hot, and it is three feet from any woodwork.

A STARTLING FIND.

It was while examining the pipe which heats the store that a startling find was made. The pipe runs three feet and six inches parallel to the floor above from the top of the furnace, and wedged in the space between the pipe and the floor was found a five gallon coal oil can. The solder fastening the top to the body had melted and the mouth and rim were gone. The tin was seared and blackened, as if the blazing oil had ran over it. Everything pointed to the fact that the can was placed there on purpose, and that violence was needed to put the can there.

The space was only 8 1-4 inches, the diameter of the can was 11 and the side of the latter was indented. At the junction of the pipe and the furnace there is a space of 16 inches and the can was evidently put in there and pushed up to where it was found.

The ashes and cinders in the furnace showed that there had not been a hot fire, the dampers being all turned off except in the pipe leading to the Dicks bedroom.

OTHER SUSPICIOUS CIRCUMSTANCES.

Nor is this all. At the inquest Dicks swore that his wife had only a night dress on at the time of the fire, yet her clothes are missing, although their bedroom was but slightly burned, and clothes lying about were not consumed. By the body was found what appeared to be the remains of a dark cloth or serge jacket.

Another suspicious circumstances is that the post mortem revealed the fact that the stomach was full of food only slightly digested, although Dicks swore that his wife had eaten nothing since eight o'clock.

EXPERIENCES WITH FIRES.

Dicks has had several experiences with fires, this last one making his fourth. In 1889 his stables were burned in Bathurst street and he got $200 insurance. In 1893 he was burned out at Mimico, obtaining $750 insurance. In April, 1894, he was burned out at Kew Beach, having been but two days in the house, which was completely consumed. He claimed $1,500 on his effects, and was allowed $917. When asked how the fire occurred, by Josiah Barnett of 60 Gloucester street, the owner of the place, Dicks attributed it to ghosts. He had been seen in the place a short time before the fire broke out.

THE VICTIM'S INSURANCE.

As to insurance Mrs. Dicks carried $19,000 distributed as follows: Sun $10,000; Covenant Mutual $5,000; Home Circle $3,000; Chosen Friends $1,000. The prisoner is insured for $27,000, as follows: Sun $15,000; Covenant Mutual $5,000, Home Circle $3,000; Home Life $2,000; Chosen Friends $2,000.

Mrs. Dick applied for $30,000 additional insurance in the Equitable Life and New York Life during January, 1894, and this was refused. The premiums on these policies were in excess of Dick's income which never, according to his statement exceeded $1,000.

WANTS TO BE TRIED.

"Arthur A. Dicks, you are charged that on March 2, you did murder one Mary Dicks. How do you plead, guilty or not guilty?"

The police court was very still this morning as Col. Denison read out the above charge to a spare, pale man with light blue eyes, straight nose and light moustache. Dicks was neatly dressed in black coat and waistcoat, light trousers, heavy rough ulster and seal cap.

Dicks pleaded not guilty, and asked through Barrister Allan Cassels to have his case proceeded with at once. The Crown was not ready, so the case was adjourned until March 15.

A large crowd gathered round police headquarters this morning, all animated with a desire of seeing the man who is accused of wife murder. Precautions were taken by the authorities, and none but those who could show good reason were admitted.

A FIFTH HOUSE BURNED.

The investigation of the police in the Dick case are extending out into the country. It has transpired that he occupied a house in Little York, owned by ex-Ald. Elliott. This house was destroyed while he was an occupant. This makes the fifth case of fire in which he was interested.

ANOTHER ALLEGED FIRE BUG.

Thomas McConkey, the alleged fire bug, was committed for trial on a charge of setting fire to 320 Wilton avenue, to 86 John street and 77 John street. W. Lount, Q.C., appeared for him.

Married for a Lark.

BUFFALO, March 7.—Minnie Snyder, the girl who married Lewis Bacon, of Philadelphia, a university student, one night on a frolic, was brought into the Police Court on Tuesday morning on a charge of truancy, by her father, but the court held that as long as she was a married woman he could not hold her on such a charge, and advised her father to have the girl swear out a warrant for non-support against her young husband. This was done, and the father swears he will make young Bacon support the girl. Bacon will try to have the marriage contract annulled.

The Sea Giving Up its Dead.

HULL, Eng., March 6.—A fishing smack today brought here the body of Anton Baumann, one of the victims of the Elbe disaster. He was formerly manager of the opera house at Prague and had been engaged by Walter Damrosch as stage manager for the Wagnerian opera season in New York. His wife was a native of California.

Rumoured Royal Match.

ROME, March 6.—The Prince of Naples arrived in Rome this morning from Florence. The assertion is again made by his entourage that he will shortly be married to Princess Maud of Wales, and the arrival of the Prince of Wales and other members of the British Royal Family is expected soon.

Her Majesty's Health.

LONDON, March 6.—The Queen experienced no fatigue from her presence at the drawing room yesterday. She drove out this forenoon and appeared to be in excellent spirits.

LOCAL AND DISTRICT HAPPENINGS OF THE DAY.

Paid the Costs.

In the Police Court, Wednesday morning, John McNaughton was charged with using grossly insulting language, the complainant being Councillor Sproule. As the offender had tendered an apology to Mr. Sproule, he did not insist on a fine being imposed, and McNaughton was let off by paying the costs.

Declared Vacant.

Before Judge Weller Tuesday the trial of the petition of John Moloney against the return of James Scollard as councillor at the January municipal elections, was heard. The ground on which the appeal was made was that the petitioner had a majority of votes. The respondent consented to an order declaring the seat vacant, costs to respondent.

East Durham Reformers Doubtful.

East Durham Reform Association met at Millbrook Wednesday. There was a divided opinion as to the advisability of placing a candidate in the field, as already the Conservatives and McCarthyites have chosen their standard-bearers, and many thought it best to leave the fight to these two. Several nominations were made, but each candidate thought it would be better to await the result of the Patron convention, which will be held in Millbrook next week.

Davidson & Hay have issued a writ for $6,329 against J. C. Hart, of Alliston.

Thanks for Donations.

The committee of management of the Peterborough Protestant Home thankfully acknowledge the following donations for the month of February:—Bread and butter and cakes from Good Templars; Miss Edith Hamilton, reading matter; Mr. Walsh, (druggist), soap; Mr. Mann, bag apples; Mrs. Chas. McGill, Toronto daily papers; Mr. Sherlock, Chicago papers; bread and butter, etc., Masonic hall; Mr. Shortly, letter case and purse.

Deer Season Changed.

At a recent meeting of the Ontario Fish and Game Commission it was decided to make the deer season the same as it was in 1892—from the first to the 15th of November—thus cutting out the last 10 days of October. It is proposed also to prohibit ducking till half an hour after sunset, so as not to molest the birds during roosting. It was decided to offer a bounty of 50 cents a head for foxes, owing to the damage they inflict on farmers' poultry.

Artillery Officers.

The Ontario Artillery Association has elected the following officers: President, Major John S. Hendrie, Hamilton; vice-presidents, Lt.-Col. A. H. Macdonald, Guelph; Lt.-Col. W. McKenzie, Gananoque; Lt.-Col. F. King, St. Catharines; Capt. Neil B. McNachtan, Cobourg. Executive committee, Major J. M. Mead, Toronto (chairman): Lt.-Col W. Nicholl, Guelph; Lt.-Col. W. McLean, Port Hope; Major D. C. B. Bliss, Ottawa, and Mr. J. A. Hesketh, London; treasurer, Robert Hyles, Toronto; secretary, L. Homfray Irving, Toronto. 6

"Harry B" Sold.

Mr. H. LeBrun sold his trotter, "Harry B," yesterday to J. J. Burns, of Toronto, the consideration being $400. Since this speedy animal developed into a trotter it has not lost a race, having taken first money in every event in which it was entered. The remarkable record of the trotter is partly due to the excellent care and training it received at the hands of its trainer, Mr. William Sherin, who is a capital trainer and one who knows how to bring out a horse's fine points and speeding qualities. "Harry B" will be taken to Toronto this morning. The sale deprives Peterborough of a fast horse and one that has a future on the race track.

Lenten Regulations.

For the regulation of Lent, Archbishop Corrigan, of New York, has issued the following directions: All the week days of Lent, from Ash Wednesday to Easter Sunday, are fast days of precept on one meal, with the attendance of a moderate collation in the evening. The Church excuses from the obligation of fasting (but not of abstinence from flesh meat, except in special cases of sickness) the infirm; those who are attaining their growth; those whose duties are of an exhausting or laborious character; women nursing infants, and those who are enfeebled by old age.

Wives and Life Insurance

Chief Justice Armour has just rendered a decision which will be of interest to the fathers of families and those who have to do with life insurance. He holds in effect that a man who has duly declared a life insurance policy to be for the benefit of his wife alone cannot by the will deprive the wife of this benefit and transfer it to his children. He can, however, do so during his life by an instrument in writing attached to or endorsed or identifying the policy by its number transfer the benefit from his wife alone to the children alone or 'vice versa,' or vary the apportionment the wife and children are to receive. In the present case the wife did not claim the whole of the insurance money, but a share along with the children. The chief justice, however, went further and decided that she was entitled to the whole of the money, as her husband could not by will substitute the children for his wife as beneficiaries after having first declared the policy to be for the wife's sole benefit.

Newspaper Thieves.

Elsewhere will be found a notice of a reward which we propose to offer for the conviction of those contemptible sneak thieves who make it a business of stealing THE MORNING TIMES from the porches and doorways of our subscribers in the early morning. We have complained several times to the police, but it would appear that there is little hope of action from that quarter, although the detective ability required to secure the prompt arrest of some of these thieves, would not bother a ten year old school boy. The loss is a serious one to us, entailing as it does not only the subscription price of the paper (for we cannot expect a subscriber to pay for a paper he seldom receives) but it keeps others from becoming subscribers. While it is complimentary to know that THE TIMES is so much in demand that people will have it, if at the risk of being "jugged," we prefer that they should call at the office and take it in the regular way. Our subscribers will oblige us by promptly advising us of any irregularity in the delivery of the papers.

COMMITTEES APPOINTED.

Annual Meeting of the Officers of the 57th Battalion.

At the annual meeting of the officers of the 57th Battalion "E" Company was awarded the regimental cup. The following committees were appointed:

Regimental Committee—Lieut.-Col. Bell (chairman), Major Edwards, and Capt. and Adjt. Mason.

Band Committee—Major Langford (chairman) and Capts. Miller and Lech.

Rifle Committee—Lieut.-Col. Bell (chairman), the captains of the respective companies, and a member from each company to be chosen by the non-commissioned officers.

Mess Committee—Surgeon Halliday (chairman), Major Langford, Capt. and Adjutant Mason, and Lieut. Hayes.

THREE FINGERS CRUSHED.

James Kennedy Has a Narrow Escape From Violent Death.

Mr. James Kennedy, McDonnel street, and an employee of the Edison works, had a narrow escape from death Wednesday afternoon.

Kennedy was buffing a coil of heavy copper wire, which was fastened in a rapidly revolving machine. One end of the wire flew loose and before Kennedy could get out of the way struck him across three fingers, crushing them horribly. The second revolution of the machine brought the wire across his shoulder and breast with terrific force. Before it came around again he got out of the way.

He was placed in a hack and conveyed to his home, where his wounds were dressed.

Kennedy had a remarkable escape, for had the wire struck him on the head the blow would undoubtedly have killed him. He is suffering intensely from his injuries.

ANOTHER IMPOSTER.

The Woods are Full of Them Says the Lindsay Watchman.

The Lindsay Watchman says: A man claiming that his name was McDonald, and hailing from Melancton, Dufferin county, struck town this week and imposed upon the generosity of Mr. A. Campbell. His story was to the effect that he had been held up in Port Hope by two foot pads and robbed of $75, when he was taken into the Bennet house and cared for until next day, when he was given sufficient money to carry him to Millbrook, from which point he walked to Lindsay.

Appealing to Mr. Campbell for aid, he was supplied with hotel accommodation and a promise to pay his way to his home. While waiting for his ticket, Mr. Campbell learned of an imposter, claiming to be an honest Scotchman, who had been done up in a like manner at Peterborough and Port Hope, began to question McDonald. Not satisfied in his own mind, he told the man to remain there for a few minutes, and he went out to consult Mr. D. Ray. Just as soon as Mr. Campbell left him McDonald took his departure, no doubt fearing that a constable would accompany Mr. Campbell on his return. The fellow is evidently one of the most contemptible kind of imposters and we may expect to hear that he has been held up in Lindsay next.

TO INSPECT THE TICKETS.

A Man From Montreal to Examine Tickets on G.T.R. Trains.

The conductors on all the incoming trains today seemed to have but one question to ask as they met one another on the platform at the station. It was, "Have you seen him yet?"

A reporter who happened to hear the question asked one of the trainmen whom he alluded to.

"Oh, you needn't ask us fellows anything about affairs on this road, for we cannot tell you," he said.

Conductors running on the road, it is understood, received notices in the early part of this week, stating that commencing on the 7th, Mr. Sheppard, of Montreal, would be ticket examiner on the trains running in and out of Toronto.

This scheme was talked of a great deal when the G.T.R. "cons" were taken into custody some months ago. The ticket examiner has the privilege of going through any train on his division and demanding that the passengers show their tickets to him.—Telegram.

ODDFELLOWS' NIGHT.

Peterborough Lodge Entertains Brethren From Abroad.

Thursday night was a field night with the members of Peterborough Lodge No. 111, I. O. O. F. At 7.30 the Oddfellows of the town, headed by the 57th battalion band, marched to the 7.40 C. P. R. train and met a deputation from Pontypool lodge, several members of which were to receive their degrees. Twenty-five brethren came up and there were also representatives of the Order from Norwood, Havelock, Millbrook and Lindsay. A procession was formed at the station and headed by the band marched to the lodge rooms at the corner of George and Hunter streets.

There were about 200 Oddfellows present to witness the degree team of Peterborough lodge exemplify the floor work of the order which was done in an excellent manner.

After the degree work was over short speeches were made by the following: P.G. Bro. Stewart and Dr. Peddigrew, of Norwood; P.G. Bro. Burnett, of Havelock; P.G. Bro. Given, Bro. Dr. McKinnon, and Bro. Dr. Clarke, of Millbrook; Bros. Carmichael and Greer, of Lindsay; P.G. Bro. Dodds and N.G. Bro. Irvine, of Pontypool, and several members of the Peterborough and Otonabee lodges.

After the addresses the N.G. invited all the brethren to the large dining-room of the lodge where an inviting supper prepared in excellent style by Bro. W. McCallum, was served.

More speeches and songs followed the collation and it was a late hour when the pleasant gathering dispersed.

LITTLE LOCAL LINES.

Items of Interest Intelligently Presented for Busy Readers.

The Toronto News says: A deputation from Peterborough asked Hon. Wm. Harty for assistance towards building approaches to the Rose Point bridge over the Otonabee river.

A young man came here from Peterborough two weeks ago, looking for premises in which to open up a grocery, and we believe he will soon open out a stock.—Campbellford Herald.

Now is the horse killing time when those who have been taking their leisure waiting for something to turn up, will rush their wood and other heavy loads over bare roads and into pitch holes.

The Brewers and Maltsters' Association of Ontario has elected the following officers: James M. Lottridge, president; John Labatt, vice-president; Eugene O'Keefe, secretary-treasurer; Robert Davies, L. J. Cosgrave, A. Winslow, W. C. McCarthy, F. Bauer and Hume Blake, directors.

Some Hastings business men who do not patronize their own paper, the Star, complain that it is doing the village an injustice because it publishes advertisements for Campbellford and Peterborough merchants. Such men are to be found everywhere of the dog in the manger stamp. Wonder if they would sell goods to people from other towns, just as the Star rents its space!

OUTFALL SEWER AWARD.

THE SEWER MAY EMPTY INTO THE OTONABEE FOR FIVE YEARS.

After that Period the Sewage Must be Purified—The Town Must Pay its Own Costs and the Costs of the Township, the Arbitrator and the Stenographer's Fees.

The award in the outfall sewer arbitration has been made. The town solicitor met the arbitrator at Millbrook Wednesday and telegraphed to the town clerk the substance of the award, the full and complete judgment not being ready.

The arbitrator decides that the town of Peterborough can empty the sewage of the town into the Otonabee river in its raw state for a period of five years. At the expiration of the five years the town must purify its sewage matter before it can enter the river.

The town must pay the costs of its own case, the costs of the arbitrator, the fees of the stenographer and the costs of the township of North Monaghan.

The substance of the award is as follows:

The arbitrator awards that the town of Peterborough be authorized to extend their outfall sewer through the township of North Monaghan and to discharge the sewage into the river Otonabee within the limit of said township upon the terms and conditions following:

Within five years of the making of the award the town shall cease to discharge any sewage in its raw and natural state into the river Otonabee within the limits of the township of North Monaghan through an outfall sewer, and from and after such period the town shall adopt such means as shall be necessary and reasonable to sufficiently and effectively deprive the sewage of its dangerous and obnoxious elements before discharging the same into the River Otonabee, within the limits of the township of North Monaghan, the town of Peterborough to pay its own costs of arbitration and reference, the costs of making the award, the stenographer's fees and also the costs of the township of North Monaghan of such arbitration and reference.

The arbitrator took into consideration evidence put in on behalf of the townships of South Monaghan and Otonabee, and based his award on the extreme view that each riparian owner has a right to have the stream maintained in its natural state and absolutely free from all pollution.

The costs of the arbitrator were $323. The costs of the arbitration were over $2,000.

MR. BURNHAM NOMINATED.

He Was the Unanimous Choice of a Very Enthusiastic Convention.

At Norwood Tuesday Mr. John Burnham, M.P., received the unanimous nomination to contest East Peterborough riding in the approaching elections.

The convention, which was held in the town hall, was, without the least exaggeration, the largest and most enthusiastic ever held in that riding. The town hall was crowded with representatives from all parts of the riding, and the feeling in favor of Mr. Burnham was solidly unanimous. Although not announced in advance, Hon. J. C. Patterson, Minister of Militia, was present.

Shortly after 1 o'clock, the town hall was filled. Mr. W. H. Stevenson, president of the East Peterborough Liberal-Conservative Association was appointed chairman, and Mr. E. A. Peck secretary. At this stage of the proceedings Hon. J. C. Patterson and Mr. Burnham entered the hall. Their appearance was the signal for an outburst of cheering that continued for some moments.

Without any extended remarks the Chairman called for nominations. Mr. J. B. Pearce, warden of the county and reeve of Norwood nominated Mr. John Burnham, M.P., remarking that Mr. Burnham was undoubtedly the man to hold the riding and if made the unanimous choice of the convention would assuredly be elected. The nomination was received with prolonged cheering.

Mr. George Read, ex M.P., of Keene, seconded the nomination, saying that Mr. Burnham, although reluctant to again be the standard-bearer of the Conservative party of the riding, could hardly refuse the nomination when it was made so evident to him that he was the unanimous choice.

No other names being placed in nomination the chairman tendered Mr. Burnham the nomination.

After a few minutes consultation with Hon. Mr. Patterson, Mr. Burnham arose and said they all knew he had practically stated his determination not to run again. Some might imagine this statement was only a sham, but as many really knew, he had not been anxious to run since 1878. He was a strong party man and always would be, and he desired to see the party successful at all times. After discussion with Hon. Mr. Patterson he had decided to accept the nomination.

Mr. Burnham's acceptance was received with a perfect ovation.

In further remarks he reminded them that if elected it would be by their assistance, as he could not and did not propose to make a personal canvas. He referred to the government's policy and said it was a matter of vital importance to Canada's future that the present government should be sustained. The Liberal policy of today was equally as disastrous as at the last election, which threatened to sever British connections and throw Canada into the arms of the United States.

Hon J. C. Patterson followed Mr. Burnham. He was gratified, because the latter had consented to run, and paid that gentleman a glowing tribute. At some length he eloquently defended the policy of the Government, which, he claimed, was one of protection to the farmers and the farming industries.

A resolution of regret at the death of the late Sir John Thompson was moved by Mr. John Lancaster, deputy reeve of Otonabee, and unanimously carried.

Mr. R. C. Strickland, of Lakefield, fathered a resolution, which was carried, expressing confidence in Sir Mackenzie Bowell as Premier and allegiance to the policy of the Government.

Laurier Coming.

Wilfred Laurier, the Liberal leader, will address the electors of this riding some time in April. Arrangements are pending for the reception of the distinguished politician.

Thrilling and Interesting.

"Up to Date; or the Life of a Lumberman," a new book written by Captain G. S. Thompson, will undoubtedly have a large and popular sale as soon as the first edition leaves the hands of the printer. We have had the pleasure of reading the manuscript and unhesitatingly testify to its merits. The work will be specially interesting to those who are interested in lumbering. The narrator vividly portrays the life of the lumberman and gives many interesting incidents. The story of his life is evidence of the saying, "Truth is stranger than fiction," and it is told in language and style that does not tire the reader. The information the work contains regarding lumbering is not only intensely interesting but of great value, and is the only book that has taken up this phase of a great industry. It is understood that Capt. Thompson purposes having the first edition of 5,000 printed as soon as possible. They will be sold at $1.50 per copy.

TWO HOCKEY MATCHES.

Volts Defeat Norwood in a Hotly Contested Game—Keene Defeated.

One of the fastest and most exciting games of hockey played in Peterborough this year was played in the rink Thursday night between the Volts and Norwoods seven. A good crowd of spectators had gathered in the rink with the expectation of seeing a good game of hockey and their expectations were fully realized. From start to finish a very swift game was played.

It was just nine o'clock when the referee, W. Crossley lined up the teams. At the start Peterborough secured the rubber, but Norwood got hold of it and scored the first game in a half minute. The Volts followed with one in another half minute, and they also secured the next four games in short order. Before half time was called Norwood had placed two more to her credit. When the intermission had elapsed, playing again commenced, and Norwood seemed to be playing considerably better, scoring three games in rapid succession. Hicks scored one for Peterborough, McGregor followed with another for Norwood, while Hendren by very skillful play succeeded in making the score a tie. The Volts then did the best playing of the evening and scored two before the time allowance was up, making the result 9 to 7 in favor of the Edison Sewer.

The report of the game would not be complete without a reference to the individual play of the teams for the "Electricians." Wilgar, McIntosh and Hicks did some great combination work. The rushes of Moore were much admired. Thorne and Adams on the defence did very creditable playing. Thorne especially deserves great praise for some grand rushes. On the visitors' seven Code was their stronghold. Hendren on the forward line played a magnificent game although inclined to be rough. The decisions of Referee Crossley were very satisfactory to both teams.

The teams were composed as follows:

VOLTS.		NORWOOD.
Kelly	goal	Anderson
Thorne	point	Code
Adams	cover	McGregor
Moore	forward	Hendren
Wilgar		Williams
Hicks		Edgar
McIntosh		Stewart
R. J. Hillier	umpire	S. S. Forest

The games were scored in the following order:

Norwood	Hendren	½
Volts	Wilgar	½
"	Wilgar	2

It was the first game the Norwoods have played and they certainly made an excellent showing. Their playing last night augurs for them a bright future in hockey fame.

COLLEGIATE II VS. KEENE.

The Collegiate Institute II team ably upheld the Peterborough's name as a hockey town when they defeated the Keene Hockey team yesterday afternoon by a score of 3 to 2. The game was a very exciting one throughout and some good playing was witnessed on both sides. On the forward lines Ackerman and Hamilton did grand work for Peterborough, while the star forwards of the visiting seven were Laing and Miller. Peterborough's defence in Lewis was impregnable. VanEvery in goal played magnificently.

The following was the personnel of the teams as they lined up before Referee L. King:

PETERBOROUGH.		KEENE.
W. VanEvery	Goal	F. Soucie
H. King	Point	J. Dixon

Wanted: a Standard Bearer.

West Northumberland Reformers are at the present time in a quandary as to their choice of a candidate for the Commons. At a late meeting of the leaders of the party Mr. Wm. Kerr, of Cobourg, was urged to accept the nomination, but that gentleman after having been given a few days to consider, declined the honor. At the convention held in Cobourg on Saturday last, two or three other gentlemen were named, but with no better result. Failing to get a candidate an adjournment was made for two weeks to definitely settle the matter. It is rumored that if a local man cannot be induced to stand, an outsider will be brought in for the party standard bearer.

It May Be Councillor Stone.

The Hamilton Spectator says: A Honolulu correspondent writes that the diaries of the ex-queen Lil show that the queen received many curious letters—one of them from "a prominent statesman of Canada offering to send a well-known man to her for premier, provided she would guarantee him $20,000 a year." Who is this prominent Canadian Statesman? And who is the man who he recommended? Here are questions that it would be worth while finding the proper answer for.

Mr. Dafoe Badly Injured.

While sawing lumber with a portable saw mill on the farm of Mr. Michael Kerby about a quarter of a mile from Stirling, about 3 o'clock yesterday, Mr. Anson Dafoe met with a serious accident. While putting on the belt, it caught his hand, turning him several times around the pulley, bruising his left hand, cutting his right arm about half off, breaking it in two places, leaving the bones sticking out through the flesh. He also received a severe cut in the forehead, several ribs broken and internal injuries from which he may not recover.

Special S. A. Meetings

There will be a farewell meeting in the Salvation Army barracks this evening, when Ensign MacDonald and Captain Cameron, who have been stationed here for the past twelve months, will deliver a farewell address. On Tuesday evening there will be a farewell banquet from 6 to 7.30 and a great mass meeting, commencing at 8 o'clock, led by Mrs. Commandant Booth, of Toronto. Mrs. Booth is a talented woman, noted for her great power in music and song. She will speak on the social work of the army. Her private secretary, Adjt. Jones, and Brigadier Scott of Kingston, will accompany her.

A Sensible Resolve.

The Bobcaygeon Independent, in referring to the free notice business, puts the matter in the following saucy style: One of the consequences of the general depression is that this journal will be compelled to retire from the grandly philanthrophic position it has hitherto held. It has advertised and puffed everything that was going on in the village, it has contributed its wealth to mostly everything that was going on, it has even frequently contributed its printing, and it is now going to shut down on itself, to take itself out and jump on itself, and if possible kick sufficient sense into itself to escape the clutches of the sheriff. For the future all advertising of money making affairs will be charged the ordinary rates. Advertising and printing is what this journal is here to do, and obtain its existence from. Be good enough to mark the last sentence. There seems to be a sort of impression that this journal should do printing for next to nothing and use its columns in advertising and puffing for absolutely nothing. Public affairs requiring printing and and advertising are just what this journal has to obtain it livelihood from. Where an admission fee is charged, if the manager wishes the presence of a reporter they will be good enough to leave a ticket of invitation at this office. This journal regrets having to retire from the high and noble course it has hitherto followed, but the state of depression in business precludes it from any longer paying for the honor and glory of contributing its labor and its stock in trade for the special benefit of others.

PETERBOROUGH WON.

They Defeat the Granites of Toronto by a Score of 9 to 4.

That the citizens of the town take an interest in their hockey team was amply demonstrated last night at the Charlotte street rink when about six hundred spectators assembled to cheer the Peterborough club on to victory in their match with the Granites of Toronto, and their cheering was not in vain, for Peterborough ably upheld her name, defeating the visitors by a score of 9 to 4.

The game was very exciting from start to finish, but the playing was somewhat hampered by the poor light. The arc light in the center got out of order and delayed the playing for considerable time. The necessity for another light was clearly seen.

It was shortly after nine o'clock when the Granites arrived at the rink headed by the Fire Brigade Band, and as everything was ready and the crowd impatient, Referee "Pollie" Strickland soon lined the teams up. They were composed as follows:

PETERBOROUGH.		GRANITES.
Dixon	Goal	Carlisle
Montgomery	Point	Lilly
Parsons	Cover Point	Somerville
King	Forwards	Crawford
Phelan		Dixon
Wonham		Lilly
Davidson		Johnston
W. Stocker	Umpires	R. Burgess

At the face off Phelan secured the puck, and it was soon down in the neighborhood of Toronto's goal, but their defence was very strong, and it kept the Peterborough seven spurting to get around them. After some very clever passing King scored the first game for Peterborough.

The next several games were very exciting. Dixon, Toronto's star forward, played a grand game and scored the second for them. King could not be got over, and he scored two more in a very short time for Peterborough. The fifth game was delayed somewhat by poor light, but after a short interim the puck was faced off again, and Toronto followed up considerably better, and Dixon scored the second goal for Toronto.

The next three games were scored in short order by Peterborough. Toronto followed with another shot, and that was the last they got. Peterborough ran up their score to nine before time was up. Johnston, Crawford and Dixon played a brilliant game for the visitors on the forward line, while their goal-keeper, Carlisle, was almost impregnable, stopping the puck time after time, and had it not been for him the score for Peterborough would be away up. The Peterborough players were all at their best. King could skate all round them, while Wonham was a regular whirlwind. Davidson played his best game of the season, and was loudly cheered for some excellent playing. Dixon's goal minding was superb. Montgomery's and Parson's playing met with loud applause. The latter played an exceptionally fine game, considering that he has been laid up with a sprained ankle for sometime.

The summary of the games is as follows:

WON BY	SCORED BY	TIME
Peterborough	King	7
Toronto	Dixon	2
Peterborough	King	5
Peterborough	King	1½
Toronto	Dixon	2
Peterborough	King	5
Peterborough	Wonham	6
Peterborough	Davidson	2½
Toronto	Crawford	1
Peterborough	Phelan	4
Peterborough	King	3½
Toronto	Johnston	1
Peterborough	King	1

Score: Peterborough 9, Toronto 4.

NOTES.

Mr. Carese LeBrun filled the office of timekeeper very satisfactorily.

The decisions of Referee Strickland were not disputed at all. He gave excellent satisfaction.

The offsides were very numerous in the game.

Cow bells, horns bugles, etc., helped to keep up a continued noise during the game.

The now famous war cry of the Peterboroughs was heard several times above the din.

WILL NOT CELEBRATE.

Orangemen Decide Not to Hold a Demonstration this Year on July 12.

Peterborough Dist. L. O. L. held a special meeting last night to take into consideration the advisability of holding a demonstration in Peterborough on the coming 12th of July, and other minor matters. There was a good attendance and some very interesting speaking indulged in by several of the members. Owing to the smallness of the amount of money guaranteed to the collecting committee the lodge decided that it would not be advisable to hold a demonstration here this year. A committee was appointed to make arrangements for an excursion to some important point.

The following resolution was passed:

Resolved — That this L. O. District Lodge in special session assembled in view of the fact that a determined effort is being made by the Romish Hierarchy and its friends to induce the Federal Government to force on the people of Manitoba the curse of Roman Catholic Separate Schools against the wish of an almost unanimous majority of the Province. Be it therefore resolved—That if necessary we will, with our moral and material aid, assist the people of Manitoba in their endeavor to maintain their rights in this matter, and call on all Orangemen and Protestants in the County of Peterborough to vote for representatives only who will pledge themselves not to interfere with Manitoba in this question.

Incendiary at Work.

On Thursday, about two a. m., as night constable Chas. Reeves was making his rounds, when opposite Gough Bros. mammoth store, he detected the smell of smoke and on going to the rear of the building he found a fire blazing up nicely against the door to the cellar. A portion of the heavy door had been burned away, but a pail of water quenched the flame. The fire was evidently started by some person, as tracks were found in the snow, which may result in the detection of the fire bug. A huge pile of packing boxes had been erected against the door to afford fuel for the flames.—Lindsay Post.

COUNCILLOR STONE.

Editor of the Times.

SIR,—I happened to be present at the Council on Monday evening when Councillor Dawson accused Mr. Stone of being too cowardly to name the man or men whom he proposed to dispense with. Mr. Stone, in a windy manner peculiar to himself, subsequently arose and thanked God that he is not as other men are. To hear his windy and bombastic utterances, one would think that he was the soul of honor (save the mark.)

Now, Mr. Editor, I desire to say a few words concerning Mr. Stone and his action in refusing to name the men whom he desired to dismiss from the service of the corporation. I happened to be present on a certain occasion when Mr. Stone denounced Town Solicitor Edwards in the most emphatic manner possible. After he had exchanged his catalogue of strong and violent epithets, he turned and asked those present how far he would run the knife into the —— solicitor! I was therefore ready to hear Mr. Stone speak out like a man, and give, not only the names of those who were to go, but also the reasons why he proposed to dispense with the services of these men. A man who can use such strong language as Mr. Stone used against the Town Solicitor on the street corners, should not be afraid to express himself freely in Council.

I cannot close this letter without a passing reference to the noble and manly stand taken by Councillors Best, Sproule, Phelan, Denne and Sawers in favor of a substantial reduction in our municipal expenses. Their conduct is in happy contrast with the action of such men as Messrs. Stone, Mills, Cahill and others. The ratepayers will be slow to forgive those who secured their votes on a pledge of economy, and thus grossly betrayed their trust.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, I am,
Yours truly.
WORKINGMAN.

A FREAK OF NATURE.

Editor of the Times.

SIR—Mr. Robert Eaton, living about two miles north of here, has a cow which has produced a curious freak of nature in the shape of a calf with a dog's head and teeth and the eyes of a wild animal. There has been a perfect stream of visitors to Mr. Eaton's stable every day since its birth to get a sight of the oddity. It drinks milk like an ordinary calf, and it never seems to be fully satisfied. Its body is longer and its legs shorter than a common calf. It has hoofs like a calf, but has never been heard to bleat like a calf nor bark like a dog.

Its fore legs are somewhat shorter than the hind ones and the hooves on the front legs turn out like the paws of a bull-dog. It appears to be quite healthy and playful and when it plays it stands up on its hind legs and frisks round like a young pup. Mr. Eaton intends raising it and feeds it regularly until he sees what it may grow into, a cow or a dog. When he first discovered it, he was nearly scared out of the stable, but being of a courageous turn of mind he finally ventured in and has now got quite intimate with the odd little stranger. SCRIBE.

Thomasburg, March 7.

[If our township cattle are forced to drink sewage there will doubtless be more freaks like the one described above.]

PROPOSALS OF MARRIAGE.

Statistics of How Men and Women Act at an Interesting Moment.

There is a clever statistician who could teach a thing or two to the novelist. This statistician has attempted to classify the action and methods of proposals, and, as a result, has presented tabulated figures extremely interesting to psychologists. Out of 100 cases 25 gentlemen take lady in arms, 67 gentlemen kiss lady on lips, four gentlemen kiss lady on cheek, three gentlemen show very good taste by kissing lady on eyes and two gentlemen kiss lady on hand. It is to be presumed these two out of a hundred are the timid, diffident kind, though it is possible that they might be of the quietly sentimental nature. One gentlemen kisses lady on nose. It must be added that the statistician is careful to insert the saving clause (by mistake). There is even a record of a man kissing a lady on edge of shawl, but, thank goodness, there is only one in a hundred, and the chances are that this man is peculiar. Seventy-two hold lady's hand, 10 hold it very tightly, 14 have lumps in their throats, and 8 exclaim aloud: "Thank God." Only 7 out of 100 declare themselves to be deliberately happy and 5 are too full for utterance. Three out of 100 stand on one foot when they make proposal and go down on one knee, while nine make a formal preclude—something like the slow music in the play, we suppose, when the villain appeals to heaven to witness the consuming flame of his affections for the heart he plots to ruin, etc.

The behavior of the lady under the circumstances is equally entertaining and instructive. Out of a hundred cases eighty-one sink into the arms of gentleman, sixty-eight rest their heads on gentleman's breast and only one sinks into the arms of a chair; eleven clasps their arms around the gentleman's neck, six weep tears of joy silently and forty-four weep tears aloud—whatever that means; seventy-two have eyes full of love, and nine out of a hundred rush from the room and tell everybody. Only four are greatly surprised, and eighty-seven out of a hundred knew that something was coming; five giggle hysterically and one even sneezes. Only one of a hundred struggles not to be kissed, while six kiss gentleman first. If we believe the statistician, one out of a hundred women will say, "Yes, but don't be a fool."

INTERESTING TO LADIES
SOMETHING FOR NOTHING
CAN YOU GET IT?
Many who should know better, are well pleased to get a good sized glass jar or tin of bulky alum, ammonia or other powerful but injurious mixture, for use as Baking Powder, at much less, perhaps even half the price, of the really good article, overlooking the fact that the amount thus APPARENTLY saved is of small moment in comparison with the real but not always immediately observed inevitable injury following the use of these articles. If in addition to the SEEMINGLY low prices, there is attached some showy gift or prize to give the impression of extra value, the inferior or hurtful nature of the powder is lost sight of in the expectation (a vain one) of getting "something for nothing."
"LADIES' HOME" and "HAPPY THOUGHT" on the other hand, can always be depended on as articles of first class quality, and such as can be AND ARE guaranteed not only free from everything in the slightest degree injurious, but invariably sure, satisfactory and economical.

A Metal Breadboard

THE WOMAN WHO HAS BEEN USED to kneading dough on the old fashioned wooden breadboard knows what a bother it is to get them clean and how cumbersome and heavy they are. When they begin to crack or check its almost impossible to thoroughly cleanse them, and they may easily become dangerous conveyances of disease. It was left for a woman, of course, to remedy this state of affairs, and Mrs. M. M. Everhard, of St. Joseph, Mich., has patented a metal bread board, which is one of the greatest labor-savers imaginable. It is light, does not absorb grease, dough does not adhere to it, and while it possesses all the advantages of the marble bread board it is much cheaper and, of course, far lighter and easier to handle. If readers want to confer a favor upon their wives that will be forever appreciated, let them send $1 to the manufacturers, 101 Bay street, Toronto, for one of these boards.

VALLEYFIELD TRAGEDY.

SHORTIS TRANSFERRED FROM BEAUHARNOIS TO MONTREAL JAIL.

Fuller Particulars of the Awful Crime—Some Interesting Facts About the Murderer—He Complains of His Bedding and Asks for Toothpicks and Cosmetics.

Special to the Times.

BEAUHARNOIS, March 9.—Prisoner Shortis was transferred from her to Montreal jail this morning. He is accompanied by Sheriff Laberg and two constables. A large crowd gathered at the railway station to have a look at him and all protested at this arrangement of the law. He smoked a cigarette and his hands were liberated. It was generally remarked that he should not have so much liberty.

Fuller particulars of the terrible Valleyfield tragedy revealed a story of love and hate, in which the principle actor, whose crime has placed the charge of murder to be recorded against him, figured in incidents that would furnish chapters for a most thrilling novel.

On Friday night, when the tragedy occurred, Shortis took supper at the Windsor hotel, where his room is decorated with photographs of actress and young lady acquaintances. His visit to Miss Anderson that evening was described in a previous issue.

When Shortis lost his secretaryship he asked to be allowed to work in the mill to learn the business, saying that he intended to invest in the company, when he received a sum of £5,000, which he was to get when he became of age. He knew the place well and was aware that, save the two watchman, Maxime Leboeuf and Delisle Bezan, the officemen were the only people in the vast workshops and weaving rooms.

HE KNEW FOUR MEN.

They were Paymaster John Lowe, Clerks John Loy and Hugh Wilson, and a brother of the night watchman Leboeuf. He walked in behind the counter and ate some oranges, and, as they knew he was fond of firearms, Lowe did not think it unusual that he asked permission to look at his revolver. He unloaded it and handed it to him, and Shortis cleaned it and returned it. Lowe re-loaded it and put it back in its place. It was a 32 calibre weapon, and there were about 30 cartridges kept with it. Again Shortis asked to see it and was refused. Lowe went into the vault and Shortis reached for the weapon. Lowe told him to let it alone, but he picked it up and the next moment Wilson was shot.

A moment after Loy was shot through the head as he stood at the telephone. Leboeuf had rushed into the vault at the back of the office, and Lowe now followed him. There shut in the vault, these two listened to the murder of Maxime Leboeuf, who was shot three times, and whose brains were beaten out with the telephone receiver that Shortis had torn from the wall.

THE REST OF THE STORY

has been pretty well told, and Hugh Wilson's plucky action has been praised, as it deserves to be, all over the continent.

Shortis complains of his bedding, and of having no toothpicks, and sent for his cosmetic and a bottle of face wash. He says he has been in Toronto.

Shortis was educated at an old country college, and moved in good society, his father being a prominent busines man in a large city in Ireland.

Mr. George Bury, of 449 Sherbrooke street, Montreal, was asked to keep an eye on the young fellow, and says that he considers him mentally unbalanced. He tells of one occasion when Shortis came to a dinner party at his house faultlessly arrayed, except as to his feet, which were encased in a pair of moccasins.

He was born on February 14, 1875, and many are the stories that are told of his queer actions in different places. He was quick-tempered, and his muscular build often led him to indulge in lively sparring bouts, when his temper got the better of him. He was always like a great boy, and made wild suggestions to Mr. Bury's son Edgar of going out west to hunt buffalo and kill Indians. Mr. Bury has obtained counsel for Shortis, and will stand by him through his trial.

WILSON PROGRESSING WELL.

Mr. Hugh Wilson is doing well, and Thursday his sister Jennie was allowed to see him for the first time. He asked for a looking glass in which to see exactly how he was hurt. His throat still pains him where the murderer's fingers tore it in their hand-to hand struggle. His chest is sore from the strain.

HONORABLY DISCHARGED.

There was Nothing in the Charge Laid Against the Brussels Fire Engine Builder

Special to The Times.

BELLEVILLE, March 9.—John D. Ronald, the famous Brussels fire engine manufacturer, was charged with four indictments of attempted corruption of municipal officers, by offering Frank G. Campbell, Councillor of the village of Tweed, and R. F. Houstan, Reeve of the same place, a bribe of $100 to secure their votes and influence in making a sale of his engine to their corporation. The case was heard before Mr. Chancellor Boyd yesterday afternoon, and the defendant was honorably discharged.

The evidence brought out in the trial would seem to indicate that the charges were laid against Mr. Ronald for the purpose of driving him out of Tweed, where he had called a meeting of the ratepayers to discuss fire engine matters, as it was expected that the dealings of some of the village officials in the matter would be shown up in an unfavorable light. There is now some talk of Mr. Ronald entering an action for malicious prosecution, but this has not yet been confirmed.

A Mutiny on the High Seas.

PHILADELPHIA, March 9.—A letter received here from Chas. Jones, steward of the missing American barque Portland Lloyd, which left Junin for New York on February 4, says that the vessel was wrecked during a desperate mutiny on board, in which the captain and most of his crew were killed. Jones' letter declares that the affair was a planned attempt by the revolutionary party in Peru to seize the vessel and cargo for use against the Government.

Verdict at the Joseph Inquest.

WESTON, March 9.—The Jury in the Joseph inquest returned a verdict to the effect that the accident was caused by the rules and regulations of the Grand Trunk Railway not definitely enforcing the block system, the present rules leaving too much discretion to despatchers, agents and operators, and that the danger signals now in force are not sufficient, especially when snow scrapers are being used.

LIBELLED BY A MARQUIS.

Oscar Wilde's Suit Against the Marquis of Queensbury—The Marquis Will Abide by What He Wrote—His Bail is Continued.

Special to the Times.

LONDON, March 9.—The case of Oscar Wilde against the Marquis of Queensbury, who was arrested a few days ago at the instance of Wilde upon the allegation that the Marquis had grossly libelled him, was heard in the Great Marlborough Street Police Court today. The court room was crowded. Mr. Wilde was placed upon the witness stand, and gave his name as Oscar Bangor O'Flaherty Wylls Wilde.

To the question, "Are you an author and dramatist?" Mr. Wilde replied, "I think I am well known."

The magistrate ordered him to answer the question, whereupon he said: "Yes."

In the course of his examination Mr. Wilde said he first became acquainted with the Marquis of Queensbury in 1893, although he had seen him prior to that time.

Mr. Humphreys, Mr. Wilde's solicitor, produced a letter which Mr. Wilde said had been handed to him by Lord Alfred Douglas as coming from the Marquis of Queensbury. The letter was not read, but it is alleged to contain other libels, as it mentions the names of several persons of exalted social standing.

Edward Carson, M. P., solicitor for the Marquis of Queensbury, said the defence sought to show that the Marquis had exercised a father's privilege in seeking to protect his son from Wilde's friendship.

The Magistrate ruled that this contention amounted to a plea of justification, which question would, therefore, arise later.

The Marquis of Queensbury, after the usual formal caution as to making incriminating statements, was asked by the court if he had anything to say. He replied: "I have only to say that I wrote the card complained of simply to bring matters to a head, as I have been unable to see Mr. Wilde otherwise and to save my son from his influence. I abide by what I wrote."

The Marquis' bail was continued and he was again released.

BY A NICK IN THE BLADE

IS JOHN HENDERSHOTT'S AXE IDENTIFIED BY HENRY COUSE.

It Was Found Under a Log 196 Feet Away From the Scene of the Tragedy—Hundreds Unable to Gain Admitance to the Court Room at St. Thomas.

Special to The Times.

ST. THOMAS, March 9.—The court room was crowded today, and hundreds were unable to gain admittance. Some strong evidence was brought out.

John Bigg corroborated the evidence of John Lyle as to the measurements and blood spots. But he did not think there were any spots of blood connecting the large pools.

Charles Joiner saw blood upon sticks between the pools of blood.

FOUND HAIR AND BLOOD.

W. E. Wardell saw the hole made by the knot. He found several drops of blood under the skidd twenty feet from the body, also in a crotch at top of tree and finger-marks of blood upon a sapling. He cut a chunk from an old log 48 feet from the body containing blood and brown hair which was produced and identified.

Neil Campbell and Sylvester Swisher swore to finding the axe covered with blood under a log 196 feet from the body.

THE AXE IDENTIFIED.

Henry Couse compared the axe with the chopping upon the skid and tree, and swore that this was the axe it was done with. He identified it by a nick in the blade. The portion of the tree containing the knot and other logs containing the chopping were produced.

Jerial Fortner made the handle in the axe for John Hendershott on February 17, 1892.

Ella Hendershott, wife of Duncan, and sister-in-law of John, washed deceased's two shirts and suspenders which she says contained blood, on the day following the killing.

A BREACH OF PROMISE CASE.

Daisy Missed Her Marriage, and She is Now Suing for $10,000.

Special to the Times.

CHICAGO, March 9.—The breach of promise suit of Daisy Gardiner, a telegraph operator, against John W. Stone, son of a wealthy Board of Trade operator, has developed a romantic story, in which stern parents, big iron vaults, an imprisoned bridegroom and disappointed wedding guests are mingled in charming confusion. Daisy Gardner is a very pretty girl, who takes stock quotations and the like in an office very near the Board of Trade, where young Stone is employed in his father's office. The young people met often, and Cupid did the rest—or would have done it, Miss Gardner says, if Mr. Stone, sr., had not interfered. The wedding day was fixed, so was the court bill, the guests arrived and the bride was ready, but the necessary groom did not come; the guests went home, and next day Miss Gardner declares young Mr. Stone came to her with a peculiar explanation. His father, he said, had discovered the proposed wedding, and, find the young man obstinate, pushed him into a large office vault, and kept him locked up until the wedding hour was finally passed. Miss Gardner could not see the joke and has sued Stone for $10,000 for breach of promise, in the hope, she says, that her former father-in-law apparent will have to foot the bill. Mr. Stone, sr., admitted in an interview, that he had prevented the marriage, but emphatically denies that he had locked his son in a vault.

STRUCK BY A TROLLEY CAR.

Little Percy Gill, of Toronto, Injured—He Will Recover.

Special to the Times.

TORONTO, March 9.—Four-year-old Percy Gill, who lives with his parents at 77 Ann street, while attempting to cross in front of a northward motor car, near the corner of Yonge and Ann streets, shortly before noon narrowly escaped being killed.

He was struck on the head by the car and pushed ahead of it a considerable distance. Architect R. Ogilvy, 10 King street east, picked the child up and carried it to its home, where Dr. Green found its injuries consisted of a nasty scalp wound and considerable bruises. The child will recover.

ONE LIST IS MISSING.

THE ANNOUNCEMENT CAUSES A STIR AMONG POLITICIANS.

A Sign of a Coming Election—The Manitoba School Question to Be Taken Up Next Thursday—Manitoba Legislature Being Rushed—Political Notes.

Special to the Times.

OTTAWA, March 9.—Today's Canada Gazette says 201 voters' lists have been received, so that there is one still missing. This announcement caused quite a stir here among politicians today, the majority of whom concluded that the missing list would necessitate an election, as the Government could not legally receive it after February 28th. The 18th was the day appointed for the receipt of all of them, and now it transpires that a special Act of Parliament will have to be passed for the reception of that list, and the feeling consequently is that a session will be held.

The Government has decided to assist Rev. Father Paradis' expatriation scheme to the extent of $1,000, which amount they have ordered to be forwarded to the Colonization Society in Montreal.

THE SEPARATE SCHOOLS.

No action will be taken by the Government regarding Manitoba Separate schools at the special meeting of the Cabinet called for Monday. Sir Charles H. Tupper is preparing, as Minister of Justice, a report to be submitted to the meeting. After receiving the report every member of the Cabinet will leave Ottawa for east, west or south on different missions.

Thursday next is now named as the earliest day for probable action.

In the meantime it is rumored here that the session of the Manitoba Legislature is being rushed through so that prorogation may be reached before action is taken here.

POLITICAL NOTES.

The Liberals of Marquette have nominated R. H. Myers, M. P. P., for the Commons.

D'Alton McCarthy will speak at Orangeville on Monday.

Major Thomas Beattie has been nominated to succeed Mr. Hyman, Liberal, in London.

A TRAIN STOLEN

By a Gang of About Fifty Tramps—Eleven Arrested—One of Them Injured.

Special to The Times.

WILMINGTON, Del., March 9.—A gang of about fifty tramps captured the Philadelphia, Wilmington and Baltimore freight train from Baltimore, which was due in this city about 11.30 o'clock. Part of the gang had revolvers and all were armed with knives and clubs.

They drove all the trainmen from the tops of the cars and after they had secured possession of the train began quarrelling among themselves and during one of their fights a man was thrown from the train and it is supposed fatally injured. The conductor telegraphed to this city for assistance and when the train reached the west yard in this city there were about 50 policemen in waiting.

As soon as the train was brought to a stop the tramps jumped from the cars and started to run across the fields. The heavy fog prevented the officers from capturing many of the men, but after a running fight in which several shots were fired, the officers succeeded in capturing eleven of the gang.

A SICK FARMER SUICIDES.

WM. ABBOTT THROWS HIMSELF IN FRONT OF A MOVING TRAIN.

He Escaped from the House in His Night-clothes—He Had Been Ill for Several Months—He Leaves Three Grown-up Daughters.

Special to the Times.

WINDSOR, March 9.—After being ill for several months, William Abbott, a well-known Essex county farmer, ended his life near here this morning by throwing himself before a moving train on the Lake Erie & Detroit River Railway.

He escaped, dressed only in his underclothes, from his house, and at seven o'clock was seen on the railroad track near Merlin. When the train got within 20 feet of him he laid down and was run over.

At first the doctors were of the opinion that his life could be saved, but he gradually sank and died at nine o'clock. He was a widower, and leaves three grown-up daughters.

BUSINESS FAILURES.

W. B. Clarke & Sons go Under—Too Much Real Estate Said to be the Cause of the Crash—Other Business Troubles.

Special to the Times.

A great surprise in commercial circles is the assignment of the old firm of W. B. Clark & Sons, general storekeepers, and wharfingers of Sarnia. The firm was rated for about $100,000 and was supposed to have assets away above that figure. It occupies one of the finest business blocks in Canada. They owned nearly all the wharves of Sarnia and also controlled the ferry line until lately. The trouble is caused by carrying too much real estate but the assets are far in advance of liabilities. Trade debts amount only to $17,000. The creditors are chiefly in Glasgow.

OTHER ASSIGNMENTS.

Fitzgerald & Stanger, carriage makers of Peterborough have assigned.

Alex. Ribout, fancy goods dealer, Ottawa has assigned.

Shields & Rutherford, general store keepers, Norwood, have assigned to W. A. Campbel. Assets $7,000. The liabilities are not yet known.

Suit for Damages.

HAMILTON, March 9.—Luke Mooney has begun action against Ald. Hancock for injuries sustained while working for the defendant on the smelting works building.

Arrested for Perjury.

The Times.

PETERBOROUGH, MARCH 8, 1895.

Good morning!

If our faults were written on our faces how quick we would all hang our heads.

The Missouri Legislature has enacted that the plea of hypnotism as a defense in criminal cases in the State shall be barred.

The citizens would be pleased to have Councillor Cahill's opinion of the Town Solicitor, in view of the recent decision in connection with the outfall sewer.

There is some talk of appealing against the decision of the arbitrator regarding the outfall sewer. Which probably means another thousand dollars in costs for the people to pay.

Councillors Stone, Mills, et al, are wise to get in their "pretty digs" this year, for in 1896 it goes without saying that these two gentlemen are not likely to adorn the Council board.

The Conservative Government is shaking like a jelly.—Ottawa Free Press

The Free Press should have taken a nearer view. It would have then been able to inform us whether the Government is shaking with fear or with laughter.

Councillor Mason thinks we have one of the best municipal lawyers in existence as solicitor for the corporation of the town of Peterborough. We don't know whether the verdict in connection with the sewer will cause Mr. Mason to alter his views. Some people are so obtuse that if a house fell on them they would not take a tumble.

A contemporary points out that the sum appropriated so far by Japan to carry on the war against China exceeds the net debt of Canada. Within a year the Japs have expended in war as much as this big Dominion has spent in the last 28 years, and much of what the provinces spent for many years previous, in all manner of public works for the benefit of the people. Let us have peace!

The Canadian trade in Methodist missionaries with Japan has received a bad blow. Our people have instructed the Japs so well and the latter have proved such apt pupils that they can turn out ten Japanese missionaries for the same price as we can turn out one. This sort of thing threatens to ruin the Canadian business and to give the Japs a monopoly that no laws can break.

Up to 1894 there was a steady increase in the pension bill of the United States. But the turn has been reached at last and this year there is a decrease of $18,000,000. The pension appropriation—amounting to nearly five times our Federal expenditure—is the big item in the outgo in the United States and a marked falling off in that account must have a great effect on the financial position of the Republic. The Americans have practically got rid of their war debt. When they are rid of their pension burden also no nation in the world will be so well situated financially.

WORSE THAN BARNARDO'S BOYS.

Every crime committed by a poor, uneducated wretch imported from the slums of England by some charitable organization has been made the basis of an attack upon the system of using Canada as a refuge for the ne'er-do-wells of the Old World.

The Barnardo boys, in proportion to their numbers, do more good and less harm than the "remittance men," in proportion to their numbers. Birchall will be remembered as a boy who grew up among the surroundings of an English rectory, and progressed through one of the best public schools and the University of Oxford to the opening of a career of swindling, which ended in cold-blooded murder.

Valleyfield, Quebec, is the scene of the latest tragedy, brought about by the son of a good family, reared amidst the best of influences, so far as money and culture can make home influence good. This Cuthbert Shortiss pretended to be the friend of the two men whom he shot down in cold blood and of the third whom he tried to kill. The plea of insanity cannot excuse a youth guilty of such devilish cunning and cruelty. He seems to have been insane with selfishness, and his insanity consisted in contempt for everybody but himself. Such a murder by such a murderer is an awful illustration of what a boy born with every advantage can come to.

THE CHILDREN COMING HOME.

The noonday is past, and my spinning is done;
And now in my corner I sit in the sun,
And watch the white road that goes winding away
Across the blue hills to the gates of the day,
Where the pink baby clouds lie dimpled and buried,
And the golden red blooms on the edge of the world;
I measure the shadows in Heaven's blue dome,
And wait for the night, when the children come home.

There's someone who places a stool for my feet,
And straightens my cap with a word soft and sweet;
But I fret at her touch—for the day is so long
Till the children come in with their laughter and song.
She says she is Marjory; but she is old
And gray—and Marjory's hair is like gold
In the sun, and her heart is as light as the foam—
You shall see her to-night when the children come home!

Then wee baby Elsie will wake up from her nap.
And come half awake to climb up in my lap;
The quaint broken speech of her dear twisted tongue
Is sweeter to me than all songs that were sung!
No wonder she prattles of pixy or elf—
Her people they are, she's a fairy herself,
I must weave me a story of brownie or gnome,
To while the long hour till the children come home

And Hugh with his wild boyish talk of the sea,
Will come whistling over the meadows to me
From the fern margined brook that runs down at the farm,
With his little toy ship tucked under his arm.
Sometimes they tell me, with quivering lip,
Of a captain named Hugh, who went down with his ship;
Of a sailor, whose one truant thought was to roam—
But my boy will be here when the children come home!

I listen no more to the stories they tell;
I scarcely feel sorry—I know them so well.
Behind me the sunset is ashen and rose;
But my faith is the hills where the golden rod grows
Straight into the sunrise! So clear are my eyes
I can see the bright jewels that wall Paradise,
I shall see, when the shadow stain heaven's clear dome,
Across the blue pavement the children come home!

The British Naval Estimates—Egg Market—British Postal Telegraph—Strike in Pennsylvania—Bank of England—Exportation of Potatoes.

Special to the Times.

BROOKLYN, March 8.—Because he could not find work, John F. Corrigan, an insurance man, drank paris green yesterday morning. At the time his four children were playing about him. They saw him drink the poison and lie down to die. Mrs. Corrigan was out. When she came in she found her husband writhing in pain. The children, who were gathered about him, were asking him to tell what the matter was. He simply replied: "I am ill." A doctor was sent for, but too late. Corrigan died in a few minutes.

BRITISH POSTAL TELEGRAPH.

LONDON, March 8.—An examination of the estimates submitted to the public of the operation of the British Postal Telegraph department for the year ending March 31st, 1895, shows a growing deficiency. The actual deficiency for the previous year was $2,400,000. This amount included $1,500,000, the annual interest charges on stock or the purchase of telegraphs. The deficit for the current year including the same charges is estimated at $2,700,000, or an increase of $300,000, although the gross receipts from telegrams are expected to show an increase of $450,000.

STRIKE IN PENNSYLVANIA.

PITTSBURG, March 8.—Reports received at the miners' headquarters today indicate that the strike order has been very generally obeyed throughout the Pittsburg district. Very few of the mines are in operation.

U. S. EGG MARKET.

BUFFALO, March 8.—The egg market suddenly went smash this morning. Last Saturday the grocerymen were buying eggs at 29 and 30 cents per doz. in bulk. Monday values were 26 cents, and by yesterday the market here had steadied down to a 25 cent figure, but at the opening of this morning's market, values dropped in a chunk to 20 cents, and later in the day sales were made at 18 cents, with the possibility that even lower prices will be made. These values are for strictly fresh eggs.

NAVAL ESTIMATES.

LONDON, March 8.—The increase of the naval budget is due to the size of shipbuilding programme for the financial year. This programme calls for four first class and two third class cruisers, twenty torpedo boats and twenty torpedo destroyers. The Pall Mall Gazette comments upon the budget: "We are satisfied with this guarantee that the government is alive to the importance of our position at sea, but a radical reform of the organization of the navy is also necessary. We approve heartily of the proposed expenditures for the moles and docks at Gibraltar, which must have four docks capable of holding battleships of the largest class in case of a disablement."

KILLED IN A SAWMILL.

EGANVILLE, March 8.—A serious accident by which a young man lost his life occurred yesterday morning at Lake Clear, about eight miles from Eganville. The sawmill owned by Martin Bros. was in operation, when in some way a loosened board came in contact with the saw. In recoiling it struck Frank Martin, son of John Martin, of Lake Dore, throwing him about twelve feet away. The blow coming with such force struck him in the stomach, causing internal injuries, which resulted in death after a few hours. Mr. Martin was a young and active man, and universal regret is felt at the untoward accident which has removed him from our midst.

EXPORTATION OF POTATOES.

BUFFALO, March 8.—Perhaps the largest importations of any special crop from Canada at the present time is potatoes. Cincinnati, Philadelphia and New York are buying largely in Canada, and the entry of Canadian potatoes at Niagara Falls and at Buffalo is the chief feature of customs. The local market is quoted: Good demand; fancy white, 62; good to choice, 56 to 58.

BANK OF ENGLAND.

LONDON, March 8.—The increase in the Bank of England's returns this week was due to the net imports for the week of £342,000, the details being £130,000 imported from Egypt, £81,000 from Australia, £18,000 from Roumania, £5,000 from Paris and £8,000 exported to Roumania. This week's bank return completes the bank's half year, and shows that the dividend will probably be 4½ per cent. against 4½ per cent. a year ago. There were heavy gold shipments to the River Platte and more will go there and to Chili. The demand for gold for America has ceased for the moment. The stock markets were irregular today. Consols were very strong on Government purchases.

AN EARTHQUAKE AT SEA.

The Water Lashed into Foam Rising in Places in Great Geyser Like Columns.

Special to the Times.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 8.—An earthquake at sea is reported by incoming vessels and hydrographic officers believe it was a gigantic oceanic eruption. The earthquake which occurred early on the morning of March 2 was preceded by a calm sea.

The first warning was in the form of a deafening roar which seemed to rise out of the sea. In an instant the ocean was lashed into a mass of foam, rising in places in great geyser like columns. Vessels stopped with a crash as if they had struck on a rock.

News of the advent of a new island in mid ocean or the disappearance of one is expected at the hydrographic office.

MORE JAP VICTORIES.

Heavy Fighting Precedes the Capture of a Stronghold.

LONDON, March 8.—A despatch to the Central News from Hai Cheng says the Japanese second army yesterday captured Yinglaw and the port of New Chwang after heavy fighting.

A despatch from Shanghai to the Central News says there are now only 160 Japanese soldiers and three small warships at Wei Hai Wei.

The Chen Yuen, one of the Chinese vessels surrendered to the Japanese at Wei Hai Wei, is being repaired at Port Arthur.

BACK TO CANADA.

The Vanguard to Arrive Next Week—Repatriation Scheme.

OTTAWA, March 8.—Rev. Father McCarthy was here today about his repatriation scheme, and had an inverview with Lumberman J. R. Booth regarding land in Nipissing. He says the Government are favorable to the scheme, but are not in a position to assist 4,000 people just now. Father Paradis thinks 25 families will emigrate to the territory next week.

Death of Rev. J. W. Annis.

LONDON, March 8.—The Rev. J. W. Annis, pastor of Queen's avenue church, who has been lying at his residence for the past two week, dangerously ill, died at 11.10 this morning.

MARINE GRAVEYARD.

SAWYER'S BEND, NEAR ST. LOUIS, AND ITS HIDDEN WEALTH.

The Fatal Locality in the Mississippi Where Some of the World's Finest Boats Went Down—Millions of Dollars' Worth Buried in the Sand.

"The recent discovery of a sunken raft by Mayor Walbridge in the channel of the river above the Chain of Rocks," said Street Commissioner M. J. Murphy, "will bring to the minds of many of our old steamboatmen the disasters that befell the marine craft of this city in that portion of the river now included in the harbor of St. Louis. The charter harbor of the city includes that stretch of the Mississippi river between the mouth of the Missouri and the mouth of the Meramec. That portion of the harbor under the care and control of the harbor and wharf commissioner lies between the Chain of Rocks and the Rives des Peres. From the upper mouth of the Missouri to the foot of North Market street there are now lying under the silt and sands the wrecks of over 60 boats and barges. Many of these steamboats were the largest, best equipped and speediest that ever walked the navigable waterways of the country. They were in reality marine palaces, such as this generation has not seen. Sawyer's bend was the fatal locality where nearly all these splendid crafts foundered and settled under the shifting sands of the treacherous channel. Among the boats that were lost many now living will recall the following: York State, Southerner, Mary Blain, Highland Mary, Grace Darling, Alleghany, Federal Arch, C. Buin, Yuba, Baltimore, John B. Carson, Philadelphia, Edinburg, Challenge, Moderator, Nebraska, Sioux City, White Cloud, Omaha, New Admiral, Geneva, Warsaw, Empire City, Governor Sharkey, Submarine No. 13, Saranac No. 2, War Eagle, Ben Jonson, Gerard B. Allen, Fanny Scott, Henry Adkins, Columbia, Silver Bow, R. J. Lockwood, Wild Duck, Nile, Victoria, Champion, Blue Lodge, Calhoun, Alma, Central City, Raven, Salvor, J. W. Garrett, Hudson, Beaver, John P. Keiser, Pacific, Lula Worth, Cornelia, Badger State.

"The above were sunk between the years 1855 and 1866. In addition to these, there were 20 barges lost north of Bissell's point within the same years. No record was kept of the sawyer or cut lumber rafts that were lost south of Alton, but it has been estimated that the aggregate value was over $1,000,000. Only two of the above named boats, the Calhoun and Alma, were raised. The bones of all the others lie many feet beneath the sands, petrifying under the action of the waters. The actual loss in marine property to the merchants of St. Louis by the sinking of these boats was over $5,000,000. Many of the owners in the loss of this property lost not only all they had, but also lost courage because of the increasing dangers to the marine commerce of the immediate harbor of St. Louis. To add to the pathetic story of these disasters, many of them fatal to life, it might be stated in passing that during the period named above 51 splendid steamers were destroyed by fire within the charter harbor of the city. The hulls of many of them lie just outside of the present water line and form the retaining dike for the granite wharf. Many of the grandfathers and grandmothers of today will remember with varying emotions their bridal trips on the James Howard, the Leviathan, the Bismarck, the Grand Republic, the Carrie V. Kountz and others equally grand. It will be noted above that I used the term 'the upper mouth of the Missouri.' I did this advisedly, because of the fact that within the past 40 years that river, where it empties into the Mississippi, has changed its location four or five times, and its present mouth is several miles south of the one that existed a few years ago. Opposite these various mouths, and for one mile southward, many of the disasters named above occurred. The outpouring of the Missouri waters was swift, the eddies and current were treacherous, and the snags and other obstructions so numerous at that point that unusual care was necessary in order to avoid the fatal places.

"The conditions that existed in Sawyer's bend 40 years ago exist practically today and are still a serious menace to the marine commerce of the city, with the added dangers to the important municipal and railroad interests that have grown with the requirements of the water supply and the transportation demands of a great metropolis.

"In 1837, when Robert E. Lee, afterward the great Confederate general, was assigned by the war department to the work of improving the harbor of St. Louis, he outlined to congress what should be done for its permanent fixation. These plans involved the securing of regular and parallel shores on the Missouri and Illinois sides of the river and the regulation of the bed of the river above the city so as to deflect the water in a direct line into the channel under favorable conditions. If he had been allowed to carry out his plans, there would be no marine graveyard in Sawyer's bend today, and it is difficult to estimate now what would have been the marine destiny of this city if President Polk had not persistently vetoed every bill that was passed for our harbor improvements and for the improvement of the inland seas of the west. I had occasion in 1887 to make a survey of the charter harbor of St. Louis for the rivers and harbors committee, and I found north of the city the same obstructions that were noted on a map prepared by Lieutenant Lee and filed with the war department in 1837. If the proper and necessary improvements were made in Sawyer's bend now, I estimate that 3,000 acres of solid land could be reclaimed to the riparian owners, worth at the present valuation $3,000,000. Putting entirely aside the question of re-establishing the former shore line, the present rapid erosion must be stopped, or great damage will result to the railway terminals now being constructed there. The water department, too, may be confronted in time with the serious problem of retarding the encroachments of the mouth of the Missouri on the immediate site of the new waterworks, and the erosion of the banks along which the conduits are constructed. If the waters in Sawyer's bend could be rolled backward, as the waters of the Red sea once were, the sands cleared away and the skeletons of our former palatial steamers photographed, what a terrible object lesson would be conveyed from a spot that is now the most thickly settled marine graveyard in the world!"—St. Louis Globe Democrat.

FIVE WEEKS FOR 10 CENTS.

These five numbers will contain the opening chapters of Paul Kemble's powerful and interesting story, "The Killules of Killall," also the opening chapters (with synopsis) of Seward W. Hopkin's story of the great strike in the Pennsylvania coal mines, "On a Criminal Charge." The other continued stories in these numbers are by Hall Caine and Mrs. E. D. E. N. Southworth. In addition to the continued stories, these five numbers of the New York Ledger, contain short stories poems, articles on the topics of the day, a brilliant editorial page, a children's column, a correspondence and scientific department, a Woman's World page devoted to everything of interest to women including a pattern department worth to any woman many, many times the price of the Ledger. The following is a partial list of the authors who contribute to these five numbers:

Hall Caine, Seward W. Hopkins, Paul Kemble, Effie Adelaide Rowlands, Elizabeth Olmis, Mary Lowe Dickenson, Amy Randolph, Hon. Henry L. Dawes, Mary Kyle Dallas, Prof. W. W. Kennedy, William Elliott Griffis, D. D., Lieut. Frederick Schwatka, Oscar Wilde, W. Thompson and others.

This vast quantity of delightful reading matter of interest to all members of the family goes to make the New York Ledger the most perfect National Family Journal ever offered to the American people. Your Postmaster, your Subscription Agent or your Newsdealer will receive your 10c. for us for your Trial Subscription and send us the money—or you can send the money direct to us. Try it, and judge for yourself what a great paper the New York Ledger is.

MY MOTHER'S SONG.

When the thrushes cease their singing, and the wild bees leave the clover;
When the glory of the sunset fades and leaves
the heavens pale;
When above the hill and mountains misty shades of twilight hover,
And the discords of the daytime far [illegible]
distance fail;

When the rath wheat gently rustles, and the timid aspens shiver,
And the west winds sighing softly scent from sleeping flowers bring;
When the peewits cry together plaintively by brook and river,
Then it is I hear the old song that my mother used to sing.

Round my neck I feel the pressure of her fin gers warm and slender,
As in sleeping dreams and waking I have felt
it many times,
Just as when of old I listened to that ditty,
quaint and tender,
Till the boughs that waved above us caught the cadence of the rhymes.

And my heart throbs loud and quickly as I hear it rising clearer.
Youth is mine, its hopes and visions, dreams and plans, are mine again.
Earth is fairer, life is sweeter—aye, and heaven itself seems nearer—
To me as I list in fancy to that ne'er forgot ten strain.

—Chambers' Journal.

KATTIE'S WEDDING.

It was the last Thursday in Epiphany and fair day in Gurteen. The one and only street the village boasted of was thronged with folk laughing and chattering as none but an Irish crowd can laugh and chatter. Indeed so great were their numbers that to get along at all you had to turn aside and scramble through the shingle, where the boats lay within shouting distance of their owners' doors. But there was little buying and selling that day in the tiny hamlet on the ocean's edge. The little pink "boneen" and the matronly, hoary headed sow slept more or less peacefully in the long line of carts, with their high red crates, that lined the narrow footpath, as nobody seemed to want them. In fact, they were there more to give the assembly the "tone" of a fair, for all men knew that "matchmaking" was the real business of today, the last fair day before Lent, and so the last great chance to make a match.

Threading their way up and down the village passed the "boys" in Sunday best, ostentatiously ignoring the girls, who, in their turn, tried to look as if they did not know that they were verily in the marriage market and as if they liked wearing boots. On the green beneath the chapel there was dancing to the lilt of Larry O'Toole's fiddle, square dances, in which partners sailed up and down past each other with heads held high, as if a lifelong coolness had just sprung up between them, while their busy feet never ceased to mark the rhythm on the "floor;" jigs, reels, singles and doubles, when some bolder spirit would "throw the shoes off av him" and take his place on the door that lay on the grass for such as ventured a "pas de seul." Then Blind Larry would screw his old eyes tight shut and make his bow dance on the strings to the tune of "The Trip to the Cottage" or "The Humors of Whisky," while the rest of the assembly gathered round, beating time with head and foot, with such remarks as, "'Tis he have the elemint fur dancin," "Haven't he a great warrant throw the legs, now?" "Wisha, more power to ye're elbow, Larry!"

But while youth disported itself on the green, age and experience abode in the village, matching their sons and daughters in holy wedlock. In such cases it is not necessary that Corydon and Phyllis should be acquainted, but Corydon senior must be satisfied that Phyllis does not come empty handed. Nevertheless the young people sometimes managed to introduce some romance into the transaction, and of one such case I shall tell.

While Blind Harry "rie jigs" for the fair, a party of four people were taking solemn counsel in a little shanty by the beach. This was Andy Lyneham's forge, and Andy himself was in the midst of the conclave—not that he took part in it. He had nothing to say, as a rule, and now he listened sullenly while his old mother was making a match for him with the daughter of Terence Flannigan, who, with his wife, completed the number of conspirators.

"Andeed, Mrs. Lyneham, ma'am," Mrs. Flannigan was saying as she threw back the great hood of her long cloak, "andeed, ma'am, 'tisn't like as if me dater Kattie hadn't ne'er a boy at all afther her. There's whips av thim wantin her."

"There is that!" corroborated her husband emphatically.

"But, you see, ma'am," she went on, "me an me husban wants some one that have a thrade. Times is so bad wid the land."

"Thrue fur ye, Mrs. Flannigan, ma'am," said the other woman, with garrulous politeness. "Thim as has land is robbed intirely these times. 'Tis well for ye, Terence Flannigan, that ye've been puttin by a bit av money thim 30 years," she added cunningly.

"Little enough, ma'am, little enough," said Terence, "but I'll give Kattie's man a hundred poun the day afther the marryin. Divil a pinny more."

"Faix, thin, 'tis no great match afther all," said Mrs. Lyneham, gathering her heavy cloak closer about her as if to go.

"Look at that, now!" cried the other woman, flaring up. "Maybe ye wouldn't get an offer like it so handy agin. Where would the likes av ye git a hundred poun or half av it?"

"An where would ye git a fine, hearty lump av a boy like my Andy? The best smith that ever dhrave a nail in a shoe!" cried Mrs. Lyneham, fairly dancing with rage.

"Howld ye're whisht, mother. Ye've a dale too much chat out av ye," said the bone of contention, rising from the anvil where he had been sitting chewing a straw in silence. "I'll take the gurl, Terence," he went on. "The owld woman wants help in the house, an 'tis time I tuk some one, I suppose."

"'Tis, sure," said Terence. "Give me a howld av ye're hand, Andy. There, now," shaking the blacksmith's fist heartily, "I won't break me word to ye about the money."

"I believe ye," said the blacksmith, lounging out of the door.

"Well, there, now, the match is made," said Mrs. Lyneham, smoothing back her gray hair under her snow white mutch, "an divil a steadier boy there is in Gurteen than Andy. 'Tis the lucky girl ye're darter is this day, Mrs. Flannigan."

"Faix, ma'am," answered Mrs. Flannigan, bridling, "I knows thim as would give golden guineas to be matched with Kattie, though indeed, ma'am," she added, softening, "I have no word to say agin Andy."

"'Deed he minds his business well an niver touches a sup of dhrink," said the fond mother proudly. "Only if he wouldn't spind so much time footthering about with thim little hins, bad luck to thim, that lays an igg no bigger than a marble," she added plaintively as the trio started down the village street.

The "little hins" alluded to were the one extravagance, the sole form of dissipation, that the burly blacksmith allowed himself and were a thriving family of bantams that he loved as his life. With his own hands he had made a wire inclosure for them behind the forge, and none but himself might feed them. His thrifty mother had a huge contempt for his "little owld chickens," as she called them, for by their fruits she valued them, and Julia Bralligan at the corner shop gave only fourpence a dozen for the dainty eggs.

But while the plotters plotted in the grimy forge the victim of their machinations was out on the green demurely footing it opposite Patsey O'Rourke, her partner in the "pattern."

She was a tall, slim maid, with the jet black hair and exquisite gray eyes seen so often in the south. He was an immense young fellow, red haired and freckled like a wren's egg, with eyes that looked as innocent and as simple as a child's. He was perfectly happy now, going through the intricate figures of the dance clumsily enough while he feasted his silly blue eyes on his pretty vis-a-vis, who seemed strangely absorbed in her own thoughts just at present. When at length the trippings to and fro, the "linking partners" and mad whirls in the middle of the floor, and the stately curtseys came to an end, Kattie whispered to her big partner as he handed her cloak to her:

"Come here, beyant, a minute."

Patsey's eyes danced with joy at the prospect, and seeing an air of mystery in the girl's manner he assumed such a knowing expression on his guileless countenance as made him look more like a very wicked baby than anything else. Soon the pair had wandered away up the hill behind the old gray chapel and stood by the wishing well, where a thousand little rags of all colors and texture fluttered from the boughs of the hawthorn bush, each the record of some wish accomplished by the good St. Bridget for one who drank of her holy well in perfect faith. Then they halted, the girl sitting on the low wall that went half way round the edge of the water, while her companion stood awkwardly by, with a dumb adoration written in every line of his simple, manly face.

"Tuesday is Shrove," said Kattie suddenly, intently watching the fall of a pebble into the clear water.

"Eh?" said Patsey, mystified, and he bent over to watch the rings that formed where the stone had fallen, looking from them to Kattie's face in a vain endeavor to see how her speech applied.

Kattie gave a short sigh and tried again.

"D'ye see the chapel below?" looking down herself to where it leaned against the hill.

"I do that," answered Patsey, with relief, feeling that he had failed miserably before.

Then there was a pause.

"Well?" said Kattie, a little crossly, flinging a whole handful of pebbles into the water.

Patsey's face fell again. He thought it easy to look down at the chapel, but he evidently had not done all that was expected of him.

"'Tis a mortal nate roof," he hazarded, looking inquiringly at his companion's face. "'Twas Paddy Collough's father-in-law put the slates on it."

Kattie blushed to the tips of her pretty ears, and her lips trembled, while Patsey, who, dense as he was, saw her distress, looked piteously around him for inspiration, finally blurting out:

"I'm almost sure he was his father-in-law."

Another silence, and then Kattie, bending her head very low, said hardly above a whisper:

"I'll be there—in the chapel—a' Tuesday mornin."

"Will ye now?" cried the unfortunate Patsey, his honest face lighting up. "Goin to see the weddin's? Sure, I'll be there too."

"'Tis to be married meself I'll be goin," cried the girl, looking up with burning cheeks.

"Ye—ye to be married?" gasped the man, so white that the freckles seemed to increase and multiply to an alarming extent.

"Yes, me," said Kattie, beginning to grow cool the moment he lost his head.

"Be the holy"— burst out Patsey.

"Whisht! Ye mus'n't curse," said she quickly.

"An who to?" he asked in a choking voice.

"Andy, the smith."

"I have no word agin Andy," said he slowly, "only — oh, Kattie, asthore!" stretching out a great, brown hand.

"Why didn't ye say that long ago?" said Kattie, stealing a glance with eyes full of tears as she laid her hand in his.

"Kattie, dear, why would ye marry him?" said Patsey, looking the picture of abject misery.

"Maybe nobody else would have me," said she, with a mischievous smile.

"Nobody else!" almost shouted he. "Sure, wouldn't I"—

"Be aisy, will ye," warned Kattie, with the common sense that rarely deserts her sex on these occasions. "Be aisy. Ye needn't tell the whole parish. Listen to me," she went on quickly. "'Tis only today the match is making, but well I know the Andy's owld mother won't let the chance pass. And Andy himself, dacint boy, don't care who he gets to rid up the house fur him. So ye'll see me married to him a' Tuesday if ye don't"—

"Don't what?"

"If ye don't be said by me."

"Sure, I will. Only tell me what to do."

"Faith, ye want some one badly to mind ye. 'Tis little since av ye're own ye have," said Kattie, looking, with love in her eyes, at the eager face that confronted her.

"Well, I'll be said by ye," said Patsey firmly. "Only spake the word."

"Well, thin," said the girl, looking down, "be nixt to me overright the althar a' Tuesday, an—an bring—a ring wid ye."

"Aye, faith, will I," said Patsey emphatically. "An what will happen thin?"

"Lave that to me, ye omadhaun," said Kattie, giving his hand the tiniest squeeze as she turned to go, but Patsey laid his hand on her arm, and, with his honest face full of joy, asked in an incredulous tone:

"An is it me ye want, Kattie dear?"

"Divil another!" said Kattie, looking up fondly.

"Look at that now!" exclaimed Patsey delightedly, "an ye love me?"—as if it were too good to be true—"me? An the red head av me an—all?" he repeated.

"Aye, do I! Have conduct now, will ye!"

But it was too late, and there was nothing left to do but to smooth her hair as she walked on by his side.

A bright March sun shone on the little

HE WILL RULE SIAM.

A Boy who Attains to High Rank by the Death of a Royal Relative.

Special to the Times.

LONDON, March 8.—The new Crown Prince of Siam, Cowfa Maha Vigaravat, who was solemnly proclaimed heir to the throne in Bangkok on January 17th, was today formerly invested with his rank and title at the Siamese legation in this city by a commission sent by the King of Siam for that purpose. The prince is the eldest son of the second Queen of Siam, and succeeds Crown Prince Maha Vajirunhis, who died a short time ago. He is attending school in England and has the choice of remaining here two years longer in order to complete his education or of returning at once. It is not as yet known what his intentions are.

The new heir to the throne held a drawing room at the Siamese legation after the ceremony of his investiture with the insignia of his new dignity, which was largely attended. Among those present were the Siamese Ministers at London, Paris and Berlin.

KEPT HIS AUDIENCE WAITING.

Comedian Barry Got Stuck in a Game of Poker in Syracuse.

Special to the Times.

ROCHESTER, March 8.—Billy Barry, the star of "The Rising Generation" company, kept a Lyceum Theatre audience waiting nearly an hour Monday night on account of a little game of poker that he got into in Syracuse.

The game began in the Yates House last Saturday night, and never broke up until 4 o'clock Monday afternoon. Around the table sat Barry, Frank D. Hennessy, manager of the Bastable Theatre, Charles Kilday, a Quaker City man, and George Eates, a representotive of of a New York wine house.

By 6 o'clock Sunday evening Barry had lost $900, but at the close he was $160 "to the good."

Barry came to Rochester on the Flyer, which was twenty minutes late, and reached the Lyceum just as the manager was about to dismiss the audience.

At St. John's church, the Rev. Septimus Johnes, of Toronto, will deliver a lecture on "Oliver Goldsmith."

A concert will be given in the opera house on Friday evening under the auspices of the Sons of Ireland.

The Court House can now boast of a splendid Dominion Ensign, which is the work of the well-known firm of J.J. Turner & Sons.

The mass meeting of Peterborough's Sunday school children held in the George street Methodist church yesterday afternoon was largely attended.

The mammoth new awning of Gough Bros.' was manufactured by J. J. Turner & Sons, while the credit of decorating the canvas is due to the new firm of Cook, Mitchell & Cook.

An evening contemporary in noticing the marriage of Mr. Jas. Kinsman to Miss Annie Trew inflicts us with the following gag: It must have been a case of "Trew" love to marry a "Kinsman."

Lady Aberdeen tried a novel solution of the ever-vexing servant girl problem in her homes in Scotland and Canada, and in the April number of the The Ladies' Home Journal she will, in an article, explain the method she adopted.

Governor Morton, of New York, has signed a bill forbidding the flying of foreign flags from the public buildings of the state. It will be an interesting question on the 17th inst. whether the green flag with the crownless harp is or is not a foreign flag in New York.

On the evening of March 14th, a lecture by Mr. Bernard McEvoy, of Toronto, entitled "Our attitude Towards Art" will be given in the Y.M.C.A. hall under the auspices of the Mechanics' Institute. The lecturer is the well-known art critic of the Mail and Empire.

The Cobourg World says: Peterborough citizens are counting themselves amongst the blessed as they have not had a fire of any great dimensions in several years. The World is correct, but we cannot count ourselves equalled blessed in having a "sewer ditch" for sale.

Mrs. Commandant Booth, of Toronto, will arrive in town tomorrow. She will address a mass meeting to be held after the banquet to be given in the S. A. barracks in the evening from 6 to 7.30. Mrs. Booth will be accompanied by Adjutant Jones and Brigadier Scott.

A faithful model of the Tower Bridge, London, Eng., is on exhibition in the window of Mr. John McKee's drug store. The exhibitor received the model, which is constructed with pasteboard, from his brother, Mr. A. O. McKee, who at present resides in the metropolis of the world.

The Bishop of Toronto held an ordination in Holy Trinity church yesterday morning, at which the following Deacons were ordained Priests: Revs. Frank Du Moulin, J. G. Wason and Basil Andrews. The latter gentleman is assistant curate of St. John's church Peterborough.

Snazelle, the gifted English entertainer, who has been lionized wherever he has visited, will give one of his world-renowned entertainments in the Port Hope opera house March 25th. It is to be hoped the citizens of Peterborough will shortly have an opportunity of enjoying the same privilege.

I cannot answer said the Mayor
Though wise in the outfall sewer affair
Grant me, Oh fate, some easier task
Than answering questions ratepayers ask.

You may choke me off with quinnie,
You may frighten me with squills,
You may try to overcome me
With your tonics and your pills
But I'm stronger than your doctors
Though for miles extends their fame,
I'm a little "grip" bacillus—
And I get there just the same.

THE HYAMS REMANDED.

OUT OF CONSIDERATION FOR THE ILL-HEALTH OF THEIR COUNSEL, MR. JOHNSTON.

The Prisoners Look Intensely Relieved When They Heard of the Long Respite—Proceedings Will be Resumed Next Saturday.

Special to the Times.

TORONTO, March 9.—"What about the Hyams' case?" asked Col. Denison in the Police Court this morning after the other cases on the docket had been cleared off.

"Bring up the Hyams," called Deputy Chief Stewart and presently the two brothers appeared, looking somewhat pale and anxious. Dallas in particular glanced from counsel to the magistrate in a restless and nervous manner. Harry was somewhat more composed.

A long discussion took place between Crown Attorney Curry, Lawyers E. F. B. Johnston and Barrett, and the magistrate as to when the investigation should be resumed.

Owing to the ill health of Mr. Johnston, it was decided to formally remand the case for a week and then fix a date.

The long respite granted them was evident very agreeable to the two prisoners. They looked immensely relieved and even smiled gayly as they bade good bye to their counsel.

CHARGED WITH THEFT.

A Hamilton Drug Clerk Charged with Stealing Valuable Goods from His Employers.

Special to the Times.

HAMILTON, March 9.—Fred Shaver, the young wholesale drug clerk arrested on a charge of stealing opium and cocaine from his employers, Archdale, Wilson & Co., was given his preliminary trial this morning.

John McMahon, a printer, swore that he had entered into a compact with Shaver to take the stolen stuff to Buffalo to sell, but instead of doing so he turned it over to Harry Dillabough, who sold it at half its value to two city druggists.

Shaver was sent up for trial at the next Assizes.

Port Hope Gun Club.

The annual meeting of this club, at which the election of officers and other important business will be taken up, is to take place at the offices of the American Consulate tomorrow evening.

Teachers' Annual Convention

During the two days preceding Good Friday the Public School teachers of the county of Peterborough will hold their annual convention in Peterborough. This event will give the scholars five days' rest from their studies.

Benefits of Advertising.

Angry Caller—I advertised for an electric battery yesterday.

Ad Clerk—And did you not get it?

Angry Caller—Get it! The blame ad overdid the business. My house was struck by lightning.

Popular Health Lecture.

The second of the series of "Popular Health Lectures," by Dr. Boucher, will be given in St. Luke's church, Ashburnham, tomorrow evening, commencing at eight o'clock. The subject will be "How we digest our food," with interesting and practical remarks on diet. No admission fee will be charged.

They Want the Bylaw Repealed.

The proprietors of the pool and billiard rooms in town are complaining bitterly of what they consider to be the injustice of the Saturday evening early closing bylaw, which they intend petitioning the council to repeal. The petitioners claim that the closing of their room at 7 p.m. is equal to the imposition of an additional license fee on each of from $150 to $200 per year.

A Tribute to Winter.

The following tribute to winter is of unknown origin:—It snows and blows and it stings your nose—makes all creation shiver; it bites your toes, increases your woes and freezes up the river. The frost nips all both great and small; the dismal dreary winter, freezes type, it bursts the pipes, and vexs sore the printer. So let her roll—we mean the coal—it takes the cash in winter; so please be kind and make up your mind to settle with the printer.

Saturday's Market.

The market on Saturday was fairly well attended. The supply of butter and eggs was much larger than the demand, resulting in a drop in price of the latter to 12½ cents per dozen, the maxium figure being 16 cents. Butter was more than plentiful at from 16 to 18 cents, and even at these figures it was found difficult to dispose of the large offerings. Potatoes were firm at 50 cents a bag, while apples brought from 75 cents to $1.00. Turkeys were plentiful but firm at from 7? cents to $1.25, and the offerings of geese were exceedingly small at from 55 to 65 cents. Chickens were very scarce and brought from 50 to 65 cents.

Is He Free of Taxes?

Sir Richard Cartwright says that "In England the poor man is entirely free of taxes." This is all nonsense, and irrespective of party or politics, it might be as well to draw attention to the following facts: In England the poor man pays a tax on his tea, on his coffee, his tobacco, his beer, all of which he finds needful; on the window panes in his dwelling, and in a hundred and ten ways the poor man in England is taxed just the same as elsewhere. He is taxed directly and indirectly. Almost every man who has a fair living income is taxed upon it for national purposes, sixpence or so in the pound. In Canada the poor man has his tea and coffee free, his molasses and sugar free, and if he foregoes the use of foreign luxuries, and will eschew tobacco and liquors, he can live entirely free of national expenses. In England he cannot so escape.

The Eclipse of the Moon.

As predicted, a total eclipse of the moon was visible last night. The moon entered the penumbra a few minutes before eight and the shadow at nine o'clock. At 10.30 Luna was totally eclipsed. This eclipse was especially interesting to astronomers and careful preparations were made at Harvard University, for the careful observation of the phenomenon, and photographs were taken every few minutes. Another total eclipse will be visible on the evening of September 3rd, the moon to enter the penumbra at 9.48.

OBITUARY.

The angel of death has visited the home of Mr. C. F. Lane, of Brighton, and taken from its midst their youngest son, Elmo. The deceased was born in the village of Warkworth on June 26th, 1878, and was well known and respected by all his school mates and friends for his endearing and winning ways. While in the village of his birth during the summer of 1889, Elmo had a severe attack of malarious fever, from the effects of which he never fully recovered. He removed to Peterborough with his parents in the spring of 1891, but while there was more or less a sufferer from this fearful disease. During the past year he has been gradually declining in health, and upon medical authority his parents moved to Brighton last October in the hopes of their son regaining his health, but since that time he has been gradually growing worse, and still with the general wasting away going on, there was a clinging to life. He was always hopeful of getting better. However, the past two months of his life he had a perfect resignation to the will of God. Conscious up to the last minute, and surrounded by his parents, two sisters and a brother, he quietly passed away. The remains were placed in Waite's burying ground, Brighton, by the side of his brother, Claude, who was drowned in the year 1870. While in Peterborough the deceased united with the George street Methodist church, and was also an active member of the Epworth League.

THE CHARGE WITHDRAWN.

But the Four Ennismore Young Men Have to Pay Heavy Costs.

Mr. F. Crough, of Ennismore, laid a complaint last week before County Police Magistrate Edmison, charging four young men of the same district with having upset his load of wood into a ditch and injuring a sleigh. Proceedings were accordingly instituted against the parties in question, and Mr. E. B. Stone was secured for the plaintiff and Mr. W. H. Moore for the defendants. Mr. Crough, however, withdrew the charges on Saturday in consideration of the defendants paying the debts of costs, amounting to $18.25, and $1.25 for the damage done to the sleigh.

VICTORY FOR PETERBORO'.

Our Collegiate Boys Defeat the Whitby Team by a Score of 7 to 3.

The attraction at the rink on Saturday afternoon was the hockey match between Peterborough and Whitby Collegiate Institute teams. In glancing at the physical advantage enjoyed by the Whitby team one would not feel very sanguine over the result of the contest, so far as our boys were concerned, but the latter put up a good game and fairly won the honor of being considered the best school team in Canada.

The puck was faced at about 1.30 and the two teams lined up as follows:

PETERBORO'		WHITBY
J Hamilton	goal	Lapham
C Poussette	point	K Campbell
S Adams	cover point	D Campbell
R Davidson	forwards	Barnes
B Belleghem		Smith
L King		Birrel
W Crossley		Stewart

The first goal was scored by the visiting team. The home boys secured the next and in very short order, evening the score.

From this out it was easily seen that the town boys were superior to their opponents in point of science, and when the game was finished the score stood 7 to 3 in favor of the Peterborough Collegiate Institute team.

MILITIA INSPECTION.

Halifax Regiments Score the Highest—Peterborough Scores 81.7 Points.

The results of the annual inspections of the various battalions has been compiled by the Militia Department. The 13th of Hamilton scores 125.25 points, thereby securing the highest honors in Ontario, while Peterborough is credited with 18.7 points. The averages are as follows:

Halifax 63rd battalion	143.73
Halifax 66th batt	142.78
Montreal 3rd batt	129.88
St. John 62nd bat	125.50
Hamilton 13th batt	123.25
Toronto 2nd batt. Q. O. R	125.25
Montreal 5th batt	122.30
Montreal 6th batt	116.98
Quebec 8th batt	104.56½
Sherbrooke 53rd batt	103.19
Toronto 48th batt., kilties	102.18
Montreal 56th batt	96.78

London 7th batt	43.75

PERSONAL MENTION.

Miss Gurd, of Peterborough, is visiting friends in Oshawa.

Miss C. Adams, of Ashburnham, is visiting friends in Lakefield.

Miss Estella Ackerman is visiting Mrs. Miller, of Parkdale, Toronto.

Mr. Mark Scheak, of the Queen City, spent yesterday with relatives in town.

Messrs. Bogan and Adams, of town, are visiting in Toronto, the "City of Fires." They are the guests of Miss Chestnut, of 18 DeGrassie street.

Rev. Dr. James Henderson, of the Sherbourne street Methodist church, Toronto, has, through ill health, retired from the pastorate. The rev. gentleman, who is well known in Peterborough, left for Clifton Springs, New York, on Saturday.

A SANITARY INVENTION.

Which Promises to Revolutionize Methods of Disposing of Garbage Etc.

Mr. James Mann, of Dowagiac, Mich., brother of Mr. Robert Mann, of the Auburn Woollen Mills, is credited with the invention of a sanitary system which promises to revolutionize all existing methods of disposing of garbage, and rubbish in small cities and towns.

The Chicago Headlight speaks very highly of the invention, which it claims to be superior to any sewer from a sanitary standpoint. It is comparatively cheap, and disposes by burning, of all foul matters which is allowed to run out into streams would pollute them. Every kind of refuse can be disposed of by the aid of the garbage or rubbish dryer, as the machine is called, and all moisture is evaporated by natural draughts, and then, the solid matter being thoroughly dried, it is burned without removal from the machine, smoke and odors going up the chimney.

ENNISMORE ITEMS.

The famous Ennismore wood case, which has been in Court for the last month, has been settled. Both parties pay their own costs.

The nomination in Ennismore to fill the Council vacancy, caused by the muddle which is supposed to have been brought about by the Township Clerk not understanding his duties, is dated for Tuesday, 12th. It is likely Mr. Malony and Mr. Schollard will be the men for the battle. Mr. Malony is the favorite, and the betting is two to one. The polling day is March 19th.

TO THE ELECTORS

—OF—

East Peterborough

GENTLEMEN,—Having some time ago been nominated by the Patrons of Industry, and lately by the Liberal party, as a candidate for the representation of East Peterborough in the House of Commons at the approaching Dominion Elections, I have decided to accept the candidature as an Independent Liberal, and if elected I shall support, to the best of my ability, the following policy:—

1. Maintenance of British Connection.
2. Public lands for the actual settler and none for the speculator.
3. Independence of Parliament and economy in the public expenditure.
4. The abolition of the Canadian Senate.
5. Tariff for revenue only and to be levied principally on the luxuries and not the necessaries of life.
6. Reciprocal trade between Canada and any other country in the world if it can be obtained on fair terms.
7. Repeal of the Dominion Franchise Act and a return of the voters' lists made out by our municipal officers.
8. That electoral districts conform as nearly as possible to county boundaries.
9. Responsible government in practice as well as theory.

As it will be impossible for me to call on you all personally during the short time at my disposal, I take this means of placing my views before you an soliciting your support. I shall also endeavor to hold as many public meetings as possible in the several municipalities, at which I hope to have an opportunity of presenting my views more fully before you. I beg to remain, gentlemen,

Your humble servant,

JOHN LANG.

Can Catarrh Be Cured?

MOST POSITIVELY SO BY THE USE OF

Oxygenator

The record of our remedy is remarkable, it having show itself equally efficacious in every form of the disease, from the simplest first symptoms to the most aggravated type. We confidently believe that any person suffering from Catarrh who has vitality sufficient to keep him alive until Oxygenator is given time to impart its properties can be completely cured by its use. That all other remedies have failed is no evidence that it will not cure.

Obtain precise but simple directions how to use it from head office, and we will guarantee you splendid results with the first jar you start with: Chronic cases desired

PERMANENT RESULTS GUARANTEED

INTERESTING TO LADIES
SOMETHING FOR NOTHING
CAN YOU GET IT?

Many who should know better, are well pleased to get a good sized glass jar or tin of bulky alum, ammonia or other powerful but injurious mixture, for use as Baking Powder, at much less, perhaps even half the price, of the really good article, overlooking the fact that the amount thus APPARENTLY saved is of small moment in comparison with the real but not always immediately observed inevitable injury following the use of these articles. If in addition to the SEEMINGLY low prices, there is attached some showy gift or prize to give the impression of extra value, the inferior or hurtful nature of the powder is lost sight of in the expectation (a vain one) of getting "something for nothing."

"LADIES' HOME" and "HAPPY THOUGHT" on the other hand, can always be depended on as articles of first class quality, and such as can be AND ARE guaranteed not only free from everything in the slightest degree injurious, but invariably sure, satisfactory and economical.

A Metal Breadboard
THE WOMAN WHO HAS BEEN USED to kneading dough on the old fashioned wooden breadboard knows what a bother it is to get them clean and how cumbersome and heavy they are. When they begin to crack or check it is almost impossible to thoroughly cleanse them, and they may easily become dangerous conveyances of disease. It was left for a woman, of course, to remedy this state of affairs, and Mrs. M. M. Everhard, of St. Joseph, Mich., has patented a metal bread board, which is one of the greatest labor-savers imaginable. It is light, does not absorb grease, dough does not adhere to it, and while it possesses all the advantages of the marble bread-board it is much cheaper and, of course, far lighter and easier to handle. If readers want to confer a favor upon their wives that will be forever appreciated, let them send $1 to the manufacturers, 101 Bay street, Toronto, for one of these boards.

THE HENDERSHOTT CASE.

BAD OUTLOOK FOR WELTER AND JOHN HENDERSHOTT.

The Crown Forging Links to Show That a Conspiracy Existed Between the Two—Some Damaging Evidence.

Special to the Times.

ST. THOMAS, March 11.—John Begg, Charles Joiner, Walter Wardell, Neil Campbell, S. Wisher, Henry Couse, Albert Chivers, Jeriah Fortener, Mrs. Duncan Hendershott and Mrs. Emily McConnell gave evidence regarding several minor circumstances that served to make strong points against John Hendershott at the trial Saturday morning.

In the afternoon the evidence was mainly directed against Welter. Mrs. Martha Griffin was at Charles Welter's the day when the prisoner Welter announced W. H. Hendershott's death, and saw blood on his cheek.

Thomas Casey said Welter told him that evening that Hendershott was killed almost instantly by a falling tree, while running to get his waistcoat.

Nelson Moore, jailer, of St. Thomas, told of taking a silver watch from Welter.

Turnkey Lanigan described how the prisoner told Crown Attorney Donahue that he bought the watch for $1 from a man he did not know.

Jeweller W. R. Jackson identified the watch as one he sold to W. H. Hendershott last September.

Frank Hobson told of his loan of $130 in February, 1894, to W. D. Welter, on John Hendershott's endorsation.

Edith Welter, W. H. Hendershott's fiancee, related the story of the death of her lover, as told to her by Welter.

Coroner E. W. Gustin was called to put depositions made by Welter and John Hendershott in evidence. His Lordship reserved decision as to admitting it objection being made that the prisoners made them without warning that it might be used against them.

Mrs. Emily McConnell, of Ingersoll, testified to conversation held at her house in Ingersoll on May 20 last with John Hendershott, on the subject of insurance, when he proposed to insure several people and get rid of one to pay the premiums on the rest. She said she was a first cousin of the prisoner Hendershott.

Mrs. Anna M. French, Mrs. McConnell's sister, testified that on May 21st John Hendershott said in her house near Ingersoll that he did not intend to work hard; that he would insure some one's life and put him out of the way.

George Delacey testified to a conversation with John Hendershott last September, in which the prisoner said he was going to see Insurance Agent Cook, and get a couple of policies on the life of a young man who was going to break a colt for him. The colt would break his neck, and then he (Hendershott) would get the insurance, which was payable to him.

Albert E. Futcher lent John Hendershott $250 at 7 per cent. on his note, with Charles D. Welter as endorser.

Davison W. Healey and Alexander McGugan told of Hendershott remarking on the Saturday after the killing of Hendershott that it was his nephew, when he had only received a telegram that Wm. Hendershott was dead, and he had a brother of that name.

ST. THOMAS, March 11.—At the opening of court this morning Chief Justice Meredith gave his decision debarring the evidence given by the prisoners Hendershott and Welter at the coroner's inquest, previous to their arrest. The other disputed questions in regard to admitting the insurance evidence to show a motive for committing the crime will be decided tomorrow.

It is expected that the head of the dead man will be exhibited in court to-day.

J. W. Ostrander testified to the prisoner showing him on the day of the killing two policies, amounting to $11,000, upon the life of the deceased in his (John Hendershott's) favor. He stated that the prisoner had received a telegram of his nephew's death, and said that he had probably been killed by a falling tree, while running to get his clothes or watch. Hendershott asked witness to say nothing about the policies.

John Ketchabaw, a brother-in-law of the prisoner Hendershott, said the prisoner received a telegram while at the witness' house, near Eden, informing him of the death. Mrs. Ketchabaw was afraid it was her brother, Wm. Hendershott, but prisoner told her not to worry, as his clumsy nephew was working in the woods cutting trees, and it was probably he, and not the brother, who was killed.

Calvin Gregory testified to finding in the vicinity of the tragedy and close to where the axe was found, pools of water, deeply tinged with blood on the Sunday after the dead man was found.

Miss Welter, the young lady who was to be the wife of deceased, said that she heard prisoner Welter say to Hendershott that he would have to spend considerable money before he could get it; the "it," it is supposed, referred to the insurance money.

Several other witnesses were examined, but no new points were brought out up to time of adjournment for lunch.

The medical testimony will likely be taken this afternoon.

TRIED TO WRECK A TRAIN.

An Obstruction Placed on the Grand Trunk Tracks at Windsor.

Special to The Times.

WINDSOR, March 11.—A deliberate attempt to wreck an express train on the Grand Trunk was made early Saturday morning. A 30 foot rail was placed on the track in a position calculated to derail a train going at a high rate of speed.

Providentially a freight train came along first at a slow rate and knocked the obstruction off the track.

Detectives are working on the case and an arrest is expected tonight.

ACQUITTED OF MURDER.

Luella Lacy of St. Catharines Found Innocent of the Poisoning.

Special to the Times.

ST. CATHARINES, March 11.—Luella Lacey, 14 years of age, was acquitted of the serious charge of poisoning Frank Wilbur, the 4 months old son of T. Pearson of North Grimsby. M. C. Cameron of Toronto conducted the Crown's case. E. A. Lancaster represented the accused. The jury was out only a few minutes, and the crowd cheered when the verdict was given.

Loss of the Czarina.

ATHENS, March 11.—The Russian yacht Czarina, with M. K. Onou, Russian Minister to Greece, on board, was wrecked yesterday in the Gulf of Patras. The fate of Mr. Onou and the crew of the yacht is unknown. Two Greek warships have been sent to the scene of the wreck.

THOUSANDS SLAIN.

Wholesale Slaughter of the Chinese by the Japs at Tenchantai—Chinese Throw Down Their Arms and Flee.

Special to the Times.

LONDON, March 11.—The Central News correspondent in Tokio quotes this despatch, which was sent from Yin Kao or New Chwang on March 7: "The first division reports that the forts south and west of Yin Kao on the left bank of the river have been taken to the last ditch and redoubt.

"Two soldiers were blown up by the explosion of a mine in the Chinese line of defence. The Laio river is still frozen."

Yesterday Gen. Nadzu reported that his army, with the aid of the first division, had attacked the Chinese at Tenchantai that morning. The Japanese advanced from three directions, one force coming from the east, one from the northeast and the third from the northwest.

A HOT ARTILLERY FIRE

was opened at 7 a.m., and under its cover the three bodies of troops stormed the town shortly before 10.30. The Chinese numbered 10,000 or more. At first they fought stubbornly, but eventually they broke and ran, throwing down their arms and making no effort to save their standards or baggage. Most of the Chinese fled to the northwest. Although the Japanese loss was but 100 killed the Chinese left more than 2,000 dead and dying around the town. All the enemy's war material was captured. The town caught fire during the fight and before night was burned to the ground. Gen. Madzu has been promoted to the rank of Marshal."

The Empress of Japan will start for Heroshima today to inspect all the military and red cross hospitals.

The Central News correspondent in Shanghai says: Chinese are making great preparations to defend Formosa against the expected landing of the Japanese.

HE LED A DOUBLE LIFE.

A WELL KNOWN PHILADELPHIA PASTOR UNDER A CLOUD.

A Banker's Desperate Act. He Victimizes His Friends and Puts a Bullet Through his Brain—Smallpox at Hot Springs—Parkhurst at Loggerhead With the New York Presbytery.

Special to the Times.

PHILADELPHIA, March 11.—Rev. Dr. Alexander G. McAulay, for 42 years pastor of the Union Tabernacle Presbyterian church in this city has been adjudged guilty of the charge of conduct unbecoming a Christian, by a judicial commission of the Presbyterian church and the verdict will be presented to the Presbytery at its meeting next Monday.

Dr. McAulay is about 75 years of age. It was about a year ago that ugly rumors regarding his conduct reached the ears of the elders of the church and finally resulted in serious consideration being given the subject. It is said that certain members of the congregation shadowed their pastor upon the occasion of the visits to questionable localities of this city and sufficient was learned to confirm their suspicions. The elders of the church requested Dr. McAulay to appear before them. He ignored the summons and shortly afterwards resigned. Charges were then presented to the presbytery with the result that a judicial committee was appointed to try Dr. McAulay. The general accusation was but there were at least a dozen specific charges, all of which it is claimed, have been sustained. It is said that the testimony showed that Dr. McAulay had been leading a double life for the last 9 or 10 years. It was showed in the trial that he made one place of questionable repute a rendezvous for five years, and was familiarly known in resorts that men of known sporting proclivities would hesitate to enter.

"CONDUCT UNBECOMING A CHRISTIAN"

PARKHURST IN HOT WATER.

NEW YORK, March 11.—Rev. Dr. Charles H. Parkhurst was the subject of special attention at yesterday's meeting of the New York presbytery and in a manner that may lead to proceedings as complicated and prolonged as those that originated four years ago in the case of Dr. Briggs. Plans are now forming to give Dr. Parkhurst a scorching respecting his conduct towards brethren in the ministry. If these plans are followed out, as they give promise of being, there is likely to be great public interest in the proceedings. Trouble has been preparing for Dr. Parkhurst ever since his strictures uttered in the pulpit upon the financial integrity and business honor of the New York presbytery in relation to the sale of the abandoned church of the Sea and Land.

Dr. Parkhurst, it is said, has not attended the meetings of the Presbytery recently. Members of the Presbytery, who are acquainted with the facts, declare that Dr. Parkhurst's utterances on the subject were based on ignorance or else inspired by a captious spirit. In either case they say that the Madison square preacher is guilty of conduct that merits censure at the hands of his fellow Presbyterians.

SMALLPOX AT HOT SPRINGS.

MALVERN, Ark., March 11.—The smallpox situation up to 5 p.m. yesterday at Hot Springs shows a total of 92 cases in the hospital and 19 deaths. Malvern has four cases.

SHOT HIMSELF.

CRESTON, Ia., March 10.—The town of Cromwell, six miles west of here, is greatly excited over the suicide of David Blosser, an influential citizen. The Creston National bank discovered yesterday had swindled them out of $10,000 by means of forged paper. Besides this he has victimized private citizens to the amount of $15,000. When an officer went to arrest him he endeavored to evade him, and, failing, drew a revolver and shot himself.

Death of Cantu the Historian.

MILAN, March 11.—The Cantu, the historian, is dead.

Release of the Tug Grace.

DUNKIRK, N.Y., March 11.—The tug Grace, seized and condemned by the Canadian authorities, for illegal fishing in the harbor of Port Colborne, Ont., has been released.

Swept Overboard.

QUEENSTOWN, March 11.—The Norwegian ship Severain, which arrived here today from New York, reports that on Feb. 15 a heavy sea broke over the vessel, smashing her taffrail wheel and pinnacle and gutted the cabin. One seaman was swept overboard and drowned, and three others were injured.

FROM THE QUEEN CITY.

P. J. SLATER, THE WELL KNOWN G.T.R. AGENT, DIES SUDDENLY.

Walker, MacWherrell's Partner in Crime, To Be Given His Liberty—More Attempts at Incendiarism.

Special to The Times.

TORONTO, March 11.—There was a painful shock felt in many circles today when it was learned that death had come suddenly to Phillip J. Slatter, city and district passenger agent of the Grand Trunk Railway, at his home, 457 Gerrard street East.

Mr. Slatter was in his usual health yesterday and when he retired last evening there was no sign of death being so near. At 4 o'clock he was awakened by a choking sensation. He arose and walked around, but did not get much relief. He returned to his bed and became rapidly worse.

DEAD BEFORE THE DOCTOR ARRIVED.

Mrs. Slatter telephoned for Dr. B. L. Riordan, but before the doctor could reach the house, Mr. Slatter was dead. Heart trouble was the cause.

The deceased was twice married. By his first wife, who died some years ago, he leaves one boy, 11 years old.

Less than three months ago he was married to Miss Carter, who is now left a widow.

James Slatter, the father of the deceased, is an old resident of Toronto, and carries on a flour and feed business at 470 Gerrard street east.

"Phil" Slatter, as the deceased was familiarly known, was in the employ of the Grand Trunk almost all his life, and occupied one of the best positions of the company in the province. He was one of the most popular railway men in the city.

WALKER TO BE RELEASED.

Charged with the murder of Elizabeth Williams, John Walker awaits his trial, which should commence to-morrow at Brampton, when the assizes will begin.

That trial will not come off, and to-morrow night Walker will be a free man. The Crown has decided not to go on with the prosecution as the evidence against him is not of a nature to warrant the expense of criminal proceedings against him.

The circumstances surrounding the commutation of the sentence pronounced upon his alleged partner in crime, William Walter MacWherrell, and the effect that this will have upon any jury, is also an important factor in the change on the part of the Crown.

FIFTEEN MONTHS IN JAIL.

Walker will be arraigned today and plead not guilty. Then the Crown will withdraw the charge and Walker will be allowed to go on his own recognizances. He has been in jail one year and three months.

The crime with which he was charged is an accomplice was committed on Dec. 13, 1893, when John Williams and his wife Eliza Williams were brutally murdered at their home on the Middle road. The subsequent arrest, trial and conviction of MacWherrell are still fresh in everybody's mind. At that trial Walker was acquitted of the murder of John Williams and held to stand his trial for that of Eliza Williams.

THE FIREBUG AGAIN.

The detectives have another case of incendiarism to look after. On Saturday night an attempt was made to fire the old Metcalfe foundry, 639 King street east, next to the Street Railway Company's car sheds. A board had been torn off and paper saturated with coal oil thrown into the building. R. R. Courtenay, who lives next door, saw four men running away from there at 10 p. m.

A fire was discovered in a vacant stable at the rear of the New Armory Hotel on Saturday.

The cigar store of Mrs. R. Clarke, 381 Gerrard street east, was burned to the ground yesterday evening. The loss was $800. The building was owned by Samuel Coxon.

The largest derrick used in filling the Ashbridge's Bay cut was totally destroyed by fire on Friday evening. The lost is estimated at $10 000, and the fire is supposed to have been incendiary.

STILL ANOTHER SMASH.

On the Owen Sound and Parkhead G. T. R. Division.

Special to the Times.

OWEN SOUND, March 11.—The G. T. R. between here and Parkhead has been again disorganized by snow. On Saturday only one train, a mixed, was run over this division.

Yesterday morning a snowplough with two engines, driven by Engineers Greig and Ciddrell, came in from Parkhead. On the way back they gone about two miles when the plough jumped the track and pulled the first engine along with it, making a complete ruin of it. The second engine only received some minor injuries to the smokebox and pilot.

An auxiliary from Palmerston was sent down at 6 o'clock to clear up the ruins, and they have been working all night. The engineer and fireman of the wrecked engine remained at their posts, and it is a wonder they managed to escape alive. They crawled out of the engine after the smash.

'TWAS A MIGHTY WAVE.

A Mountain of Sea Engulfs a Staunch Atlantic Liner—Much Damage.

Special to The Times.

NEW YORK, March 11.—Passengers of the Cunard liner Umbria, which arrived at quarantine last night, were startled Wednesday afternoon by a huge sea which boarded the craft. Its impact was like the broadside of a man of war. The ship trembled as the wave was hurled against the bow. The towering wall of water was not spent by the blow, but coiled over the bulwarks, smashing the rails, stanchions, skylights, and the forward end of the bridge. The captain's cabin was flooded, and much minor damage done. A strong northeast gale was blowing at the time, and a very heavy sea was running.

BOSS BEAR STORY OF THE YEAR.

A Half Calf Bear Born of a North Bruce Cow.

Special to The Times.

WIARTON, Ont., March 11.—A farmer named Sam Wilson, living six miles south of here, has a cow which gave birth to a freak a week ago Friday. It was half calf and half bear. The hind legs and feet are a bear's, also the nose and some other parts, while the rest of the body is like a calf. The color is red and white. It died last night. The cow has been in the habit of feeding in the woods.

The Times.

PETERBOROUGH, MARCH 12, 1895.

A PROSPEROUS COMPANY.

The annual meeting of the Federal Life Assurance Company took place at the head office, Hamilton, on Tuesday last. The report submitted shewed the most gratifying results. In spite of the existing commercial depression, the volume of business was most satisfactory, indicating that the affairs of the company are prudently managed.

The assets of the company were increased during the year $52,709.48, and the reserve liabilities by $41,914.99, the difference of nearly $11,000 being an addition to the company's surplus of the previous year. The security to policy-holders, including guarantee capital, was, at the close of the year, $1,051,610.78, and the liabilities for reserves and all outstanding claims $336,675.03, shewing a surplus of $714,945.75.

With a capital and assets aggregating more than a million dollars, and the above surplus security of nearly three quarters of a million, the company may be considered one of the most substantial in the Dominion.

The company is well represented in Peterborough district by Mr. H. B. Meharry, who has secured a large number of policy-holders.

Good morning!

Good old Li Hung Chang goes to Japan wearing his three-eyed peacock's feather in saucer-shaped cap. Should he succeed in negotiating a peace, he will return home with a much bigger feather in his cap.

French chemists have discovered a new amalgam, of 94 parts copper and 6 parts antimony, which is declared to be a wonderful substitute for gold. When polished it almost exactly resembles the aureate metal, and can be drawn, wrought and soldered precisely like gold. Besides, it can be manufactured at a cost of only about a shilling for a pound of avoirdupois.

It is computed by a statistician of the curious that Queen Victoria's hand, which is said to be a handsome one, has signed more important State papers and been kissed by more important men than the hand of any other Queen that ever lived. The queen does a great deal of political work of which the public rarely hears. Every day sealed boxes of documents are brought to her and in one year she has read as many as 28,000 state papers.

Congress has adjourned without finally ordering payment of the $425,000 which U.S. Secretary of State Gresham admits to be due Canadian sealers for illegal seizure in the Behring Sea. There is nothing surprising in this. American representatives swindled Canada out of a large slice of territory by means of a forged map; their Government accepted several millions in the Geneva award for which they have never since been able to find claimants; they whined over the payment of half a million in the Halifax fishery award; and, after solemnly agreeing to accept our packed fish duty free, they taxed the cans in which the fish were shipped. This latest incident is, therefore, quite in accord with traditional American policy.

THE FEDERAL LIFE

ASSURANCE COMPANY.

THIRTEENTH ANNUAL MEETING OF THE SHAREHOLDERS.

The Report of the Directors and Financial Statements—The Past Year's Business Satisfactory—Substantial Additions to Assets and Reserve—The Old Board Re-Elected.

The Thirteenth Annual meeting of this Company was held at the head office, in Hamilton, on Tuesday. Owing to the unavoidable absence of the President, Mr. James H. Beatty, Mr. William Kerns, M.L.A., Vice-President, occupied the chair, Mr. David Dexter, Managing Director, acting as Secretary, when the following report was submitted:—

DIRECTORS' REPORT.

Your Directors have much pleasure in submitting herewith for your approval the Thirteenth Annual Statement of the Company showing the amount of insurance written, the receipts and disbursements for the year 1894, also the assets and liabilities of the Company, at the close of the year.

Fourteen hundred and one applications for insurance, amounting to $1,974,700, were received during the year. Of these applications twelve hundred and sixty-one were accepted for $1,761,700. The remainder were either declined or in abeyance, waiting further information at the end of the year.

The insurance written was of a most desirable class, both in the rate of premium and in the distribution of the risks over a large number of lives for the amount assured.

The aggregate amount assured by the Company was not increased, though more than three hundred lives were added to those previously insured.

The assets of the Company were increased during the year $52,709.48, and the reserve liabilities by $41,914.99, the difference of nearly $11,000 being an addition to the Company's surplus of the previous year. A very satisfactory result, in view of the considerable amount paid to policy holders for claims and profits.

The security to policy-holders, including guarantee capital, was at the close of the year $1,51,610.78, and the liabilities for reserves and all outstanding claims $336,675.03, showing a surplus of $714,945.75. Exclusive of uncalled guarantee capital, the surplus to policy-holders was $95,132.75.

The death claims of the year amounted to $95,759.34 (reinsurance deducted), under 36 policies—a reduction of eleven in the number of deaths, and about $7,000 in the amount insured.

The depression in nearly all branches of business has been much felt throughout the country, inducing great care as to new engagements and some difficulty in the continuance of existing contracts. On the whole, however, the results of the Company's business during the year have given your directors much satisfaction. The outlook for the current year is of a most promising nature, our new business being greatly in excess of, and the mortality much less than, that for the corresponding months of last year.

We have an excellent staff of agents who are doing a good work, and will, with such support as the Company is now able to give them, make very favorable returns during the year in all branches of their agency work.

In surrendering our trust into your hands we have to congratulate you upon the excellent record of the Company for its upright business methods, for its good returns to policy-holders, and upon its continued progress in all departments pertaining to the welfare of its policy-holders, and which constitute a sure foundation for future prosperity.

The accompanying certificate from the Company's Auditors vouches for the correctness of the statements submitted herewith, all accounts, securities, and vouchers having been examined by them.

JAMES H. BEATTY, President.

AUDITORS' REPORT.

To the President and Directors of the Federal Life Assurance Co'y.

Gentlemen,—We have made a careful audit of the books of your company for the year ending 31st December, 1894, and have certified to their correctness.

The securities have been inspected and compared with the Ledger accounts, and found to agree therewith.

The financial position of your company as on 31st December is indicated by the accompanying statement.

Respectfully submitted
H. STEPHENS,
SHERMAN E. TOWNSEND,
Auditors.

Hamilton 2nd March, 1895.

The adoption of the report was moved by Mr. Kerns, seconded by Dr. Burns, and carried unanimously, after favorable comments from the mover, seconder and other shareholders.

The medical director, Dr. A. Woolverton, submitted an interesting report and analysis of the death rate experience of the company for the year, for which he was tendered a vote of thanks.

The retiring directors were re-elected and the auditors re-appointed.

At a subsequent meeting of the directors the officers of the board were all re-elected.

gay chapel on the morning of Shrove Tuesday, making the slates look as new as they did on the day Paddy Cullough's father-in-law had put them on and burnishing the sullen old Atlantic until it looked as if it, too, had put on a glorious wedding garment in honor of its fisher children. And they, old and young alike, light hearted as the veriest children, thronged the street that skirted the beach or assembled in noisy groups on the green. Everybody was there and in holiday dress. Even Judy Braliigan had put up the three shutters, on which she kept her accounts in roughly chalked sketches of the various coins owed her, and had left the corner shop looking as if its eyes were shut, and little Timsie Dwyer had come all the way from Berehaven, wearing the whole of his wardrobe—four waistcoats and three coats—which was his conception of a gala costume. He was the merriest soul on the countryside, as ready for fun as many a man at half his age, and now he was come, by special invitation of the bride elect, to see Terence Flannigan's daughter married.

Kattie was on the green with her people, who were re-enforced by Andy and his mother, but she gave little heed to them, for she was busy warning Patsey O'Rourke away with her eyes and eagerly looking for some one in the crowd.

Andy did not force his attentions upon her—in fact, he never looked at her at all—but stood staring moodily out to sea while his mother sang his praises to all around. At last Kattie's eyes brightened, and leaving the others she went quickly to a little man, who came to meet her with a series of curvets like a rather stiff but high mettled steed, at the same time waving his hat round his head. It was little Timsie, who strove to express his congratulations thus by dramatic action, but Kattie soon put an end to the spirited display, and turning him sharply round led him away among the people. When they appeared again, the girl's eyes were full of eager expectation, while Timsie's comical old face was screwed up to an expression of intense enjoyment. Then there was a general movement toward the chapel, for the all important hour had come.

With jokes and laughter the crowd slowly crushed itself in through the open door until the building was densely packed, but with a different congregation from that which a few minutes before had chatted outside, for in his church the Irish peasant is the most devout and reverent of worshipers. As she entered, Kattie had called Patsey to her side with a look, and now he stood close behind her at the altar steps, while behind him Terence Flannigan and his wife were helping Mrs. Lyneham to lead her son forward. Timsie Dwyer had disappeared.

Presently the ceremony began, and the priest, a stranger doing duty for Father Murphy, who was in Macroom marrying his sister's daughter to a policeman, began at one end of the row of couples before him. Kattie stood trembling and casting glances of agonised expectation over her shoulder toward the door. Patsey still kept his position behind her, watching her intently, and by her stood Andy, but he seemed to listen to something outside. Father Gallagher had come within two couples of her and was putting all important questions to the man in his rich Kerry brogue. In another minute it would be for him who was to marry Kattie Flannigan to express his willingness to receive her as his "lawful wife according to the rite of the holy mother church," for this part of the ceremony is gone through with every couple before the good priest blesses the rings, sprinkling them with holy water, "in modum crucis."

One last despairing glance over her shoulder. Ah, her face brightens at last, and her pale cheeks glow once more, for there is a movement in the crowd that packs the aisle, and little Timsie Dwyer forces his way to where Andy Lyneham is standing. He gives a tremendous wink, that completely obliterates half his face, at Kattie; then, standing on tiptoe, whispers in Andy's ear. As he did, the lazy blacksmith seemed roused from his lethargy at last, and muttering, "Sure, I thought I heard thim," turned incontinently from the altar and fairly plunged through the people down the aisle, followed by Terence and Mrs. Flannigan, who besought him in loud whispers to come back, and pulling his mother after him, who, with great presence of mind, had firmly grasped the tails of his coat. Meanwhile Father Gallagher had reached the spot where the truant had stood, and while he paused for the little tumult to subside Kattie quietly motioned her Patsey to the vacant place next her, so when the crowd closed behind the struggling quartet he found a demure looking maiden and a man of 6 foot 2, with red hair and a face like a child in surprise, awaiting his services.

"Ye're name, me good man?"

"Patsey O'Rourke, ye're riverince," answered the bridegroom, who had darted a look at the bride for directions. Then the ceremony proceeded.

"Are ye, Pathrick O'Rourke, willing to receive Kathleen Flannigan, here present, as your lawful wife according to the rite of the holy mother church?"

"I beg ye're riverince's pardin," said Patsey.

"I will, I will," whispered Kattie, jogging him with her elbow.

"I will, I will," echoed Patsey loudly and turned to her again for further instructions, but she was listening with downcast eyes while the priest put the question to her, and as she answered "I will" in a low voice there arose outside the sound of eager voices mingled with shouts of laughter and the shrill "kick-kick-kick-kyar" of a bantam cock in sore distress, while a voice that was unmistakably that of Gurteen's blacksmith cried piteously, "For the love of hiven, don't ye pull the illegant tail out av him, Tim Dwyer." A subdued titter ran through the chapel, and some one said in a loud whisper, "'Tis the way Andy's little hins is got out"—a speech that was followed by a decided movement toward the door by the younger members of the congregation.

Again Father Gallagher had to pause until the commotion had subsided and the more sporting members of the congregation had retired to see the fun. During the pause Kattie flashed a look of triumphant meaning up at her betrothed, over whose innocent face the light of understanding gradually stole, and soon his great body was shaking with only half suppressed laughter that threatened to become so violent that she had to pinch him viciously to bring him to his senses. Then the rings were given up to be blessed, Patsey producing his from the lining of his hat and dropping it twice afterward before Kattie managed to run her finger deftly through it.

There was nothing left to do now but to sign the register, but before that could be the hunting party had returned to finish the ceremony. The first to appear was Mrs. Lyneham, her gray hair straggling over her face and breathless with the chase. Under one arm she held a bantam hen that covered her with its yellow feath-

Get Strong Before Debilitating Spring Comes On

FEED THE WORN OUT BRAIN WITH PAINE'S CELERY COMPOUND

Let Changing Season Find System in Health.

TAKE THE GREAT REMEDY THAT MAKES PEOPLE WELL

A perfectly healthy body has its parts completely nourished and its nerves constantly refreshed and stored with energy from the the vigorous blood that all the time bathes it.

But to do this important work of conveying sufficient nutrition to the tissues, the blood must be kept rich and full of red corpuscles.

The only trouble with two thirds of the men and women whom the coming spring will claim for its victims, is a pitiful lack of proper nerve food. What these weak, nervous people need is a more general feeding and storing of their blood and tissues with fresh, highly vitalized material. There is undoubtedly nothing that can compare with Prof. Phelps' remarkable discovery, Paine's Celery Compound, for restoring health and strength.

The great body of physicians throughout the United States, England and Canada, believe profoundly in it, and prescribe it in all cases of nervous weakness and debility. In preparing this greatest of all nerve tonics and blood renewers, the eminent professor of Dartmouth college, Edward E. Phelps, M.D., L.L.D., had in mind the countless men and women with brains overworked and nerves unstrung by worry and lack of proper nutrition.

Clerks, their employers, lawyers, doctors, mothers of families, hard working men and women in every county and province, and hosts of brain workers—the most intellectual part of the community—are to-day taking Paine's Celery Compound, with the happiest results, to relieve themselves of rheumatism, neuralgia, nervous exhaustion, dyspepsia, sleeplessness and low spirits. Paine's Celery Compound cures disease of the important organs of digestion, circulation and excretion, by purifying the blood, by regulating the entire nervous system and supplying the body with strength to combat disease.

Paine's Celery Compound makes people well. It takes away all the tremor and irritability from the nerves, and gives that calm, strong feeling of assured health that invariably accompanies a perfectly well nourished bodily system.

Get rid of languor, clear the muddy, unhealthy skin, plump out the body and get back to a normal vigorous condition with Paine's Celery Compound, and begin now.

LIBELLED BY A MARQUIS.

Oscar Wilde's Suit Against the Marquis of Queensbury—The Marquis Will Abide by What He Wrote—His Bail Is Continued.

Special to the Times.

LONDON, March 9.—The case of Oscar Wilde against the Marquis of Queensbury, who was arrested a few days ago at the instance of Wilde upon the allegation that the Marquis had grossly libelled him, was heard in the Great Marlborough Street Police Court today. The court room was crowded. Mr. Wilde was placed upon the witness stand, and gave his name as Oscar Bangor O'Flaherty Wylls Wilde.

To the question, "Are you an author and dramatist?" Mr. Wilde replied, "I think I am well known."

The magistrate ordered him to answer the question, whereupon he said: "Yes."

In the course of his examination Mr. Wilde said he first became acquainted with the Marquis of Queensbury in 1893, although he had seen him prior to that time.

Mr. Humphreys, Mr. Wilde's solicitor, produced a letter which Mr. Wilde said had been handed to him by Lord Alfred Douglas as coming from the Marquis of Queensbury. The letter was not read, but it is alleged to contain other libels, as it mentions the names of several persons of exalted social standing.

Edward Carson, M. P., solicitor for the Marquis of Queensbury, said the defence sought to show that the Marquis had exercised a father's privilege in seeking to protect his son from Wilde's friendship.

The Magistrate ruled that this contention amounted to a plea of justification, which question would, therefore, arise later.

The Marquis of Queensbury, after the usual formal caution as to making incriminating statements, was asked by the court if he had anything to say. He replied: "I have only to say that I wrote the card complained of simply to bring matters to a head, as I have been unable to see Mr. Wilde otherwise and to save my son from his influence. I abide by what I wrote."

The Marquis' bail was continued and he was again released.

STRUCK BY A TROLLEY CAR.

Little Percy Gill, of Toronto, Injured—He Will Recover.

Special to the Times.

TORONTO, March 9.—Four-year-old Percy Gill, who lives with his parents at 77 Ann street, while attempting to cross in front of a northward motor car, near the corner of Yonge and Ann streets, shortly before noon, narrowly escaped being killed.

He was struck on the head by the car and pushed ahead of it a considerable distance. Architect E. Ogilvy, 10 King street east, picked the child up and carried it to its home, where Dr. Green found its injuries consisted of a nasty scalp wound and considerable bruises. The child will recover.

A TRAIN STOLEN.

By a Gang of About Fifty Tramps—Eleven Arrested—One of Them Injured.

Special to The Times.

WILMINGTON, Del., March 9.—A gang of about fifty tramps captured the Philadelphia, Wilmington and Baltimore freight train from Baltimore, which was due in this city about 11.30 o'clock. Part of the gang had revolvers and all were armed with knives and clubs.

They drove all the trainmen from the tops of the cars and after they had secured possession of the train began quarrelling among themselves and during one of their fights a man was thrown from the train and it is supposed fatally injured. The conductor telegraphed to this city for assistance and when the train reached the west yard in this city there were about 30 policemen in waiting.

As soon as the train was brought to a stop the tramps jumped from the cars and started to run across the fields. The heavy fog prevented the officers from capturing many of the men, but after a running fight in which several shots were fired, the officers succeeded in capturing eleven of the gang.

Suit for Damages.

HAMILTON, March 9.—Luke Mooney has begun action against Ald. Hancock for injuries sustained while working for the defendant on the smelting works building.

The Smilax.

Do not imagine that this beautiful vine can be owned and enjoyed only by those who have an experienced gardener and expensive greenhouse. Almost any flower lover can add it to her window collection and thereby possess a vine that is universally admired and holds a higher place in public favor for decorative purposes than almost any other plant or vine known. The flowers, although fragrant, are small and rather insignificant. But the luxuriant masses of glossy foliage are as beautiful as showy blossoms and are unexcelled for bouquets, wreaths and other cut flower work, since sprays remain fresh and bright for hours after being cut from the main vine. The smilax is propagated by dividing the roots, which consist of numerous tubers united by a top, or crown, from which the vine grows; also from seed, but as these are slow to germinate much tiresome waiting will be avoided if good healthy plants are purchased from a reliable florist. It requires rich, sandy soil and plenty of light, but seems particularly adapted to those locations where direct sunshine is unobtainable at all times, as it will grow and thrive best when partially shaded.—Philadelphia Times.

Unnecessary.

Judge Brown, whose boyhood's home was in a small New England village, had and deserved the reputation of being a most liberal and kind hearted man. He was always glad to see his old friends, no matter how rustic they might seem, and gave them many good times in his beautiful city house.

On one occasion the judge had some legal business in the capital of his native state, and shortly after his arrival he met an old farmer from his birthplace who was taking an unwonted holiday and looked somewhat bewildered. The judge instantly invited the old man to dine with him at the hotel, and the invitation was gladly accepted.

When the farmer took his seat at the table, one of the waiters laid a bill of fare before him. The old man looked at it for a moment, and then, facing around to look the waiter squarely in the face, he said in a tone that rang through the dining room:

"No need to gimme that, young feller. Judge Brown cal'lates to settle my bill. He come from our town, and I know his ways!"

Little as the judge probably enjoyed this public announcement, he showed no annoyance, but nodded to the waiter, who removed the offending sheet, and the old man sat beaming with pride as the judge ordered a dinner to which he did full justice.—Youth's Companion.

Who Is the Owner?

The law of finding is not generally understood, but it was declared many years ago, and it is well to note the case and the decision. A visitor to a store found a wallet containing a sum of money. He handed the wallet, with its contents, to the merchant, to be returned to the owner. After three years, the owner having failed to appear, the finder demanded the wallet and the money from the merchant. The latter refused to deliver them on the ground that they were found on his premises. The finder then sued the shopkeeper. It was decided that against all the world but the owner the title of the finder is perfect. The receiver of an article found is only a trustee, first of the owner, then of the finder, if the owner does not appear. The receiver has no right to keep an article against the finder any more than the finder has to keep it against the owner.

VALLEYFIELD TRAGEDY.

SHORTIS TRANSFERRED FROM BEAUHARNOIS TO MONTREAL JAIL.

Fuller Particulars of the Awful Crime—Some Interesting Facts About the Murderer—He Complains of His Bedding and Asks for Toothpicks and Cosmetics.

Special to the Times.

BEAUHARNOIS, March 9.—Prisoner Shortis was transferred from here to Montreal jail this morning. He is accompanied by Sheriff Laberg and two constables. A large crowd gathered at the railway station to have a look at him and all protested at this arrangement of the law. He smoked a cigarette and his hands were liberated. It was generally remarked that he should not have so much liberty.

Fuller particulars of the terrible Valleyfield tragedy revealed a story of love and hate, in which the principle actor, whose crime has placed the charge of murder to be recorded against him, figured in incidents that would furnish chapters for a most thrilling novel.

On Friday night, when the tragedy occurred, Shortis took supper at the Windsor hotel, where his room is decorated with photographs of actress and young lady acquaintances. His visit to Miss Anderson that evening was described in a previous issue.

When Shortis lost his secretaryship he asked to be allowed to work in the mill to learn the business, saying that he intended to invest in the company, when he received a sum of £25,000, which he was to get when he became of age. He knew the place well and was aware that, save the two watchmen, Maxime Leboeuf and Delisle Basan, the officemen were the only people in the vast workshops and weaving rooms.

HE KNEW FOUR MEN.

They were Paymaster John Lowe, Clerks John Loy and Hugh Wilson, and a brother of the night watchman Leboeuf. He walked in behind the counter and ate some oranges, and, as they knew he was fond of firearms, Lowe did not think it unusual that he asked permission to look at his revolver. He unloaded it and handed it to him, and Shortis cleaned it and returned it. Lowe re-loaded it and put it back in its place. It was a 38-calibre weapon, and there were about 20 cartridges kept with it. Again Shortis asked to see it and was refused. Lowe went into the vault and Shortis reached for the weapon. Lowe told him to let it alone, but he picked it up and the next moment Wilson was shot.

A moment after Loy was shot through the head as he stood at the telephone. Leboeuf had rushed into the vault at the back of the office, and Lowe now followed him. There shut in the vault, these two listened to the murder of Maxime Leboeuf, who was shot three times, and whose brains were beaten out with the telephone receiver that Shortis had torn from the wall.

THE REST OF THE STORY

has been pretty well told, and Hugh Wilson's plucky action has been praised, as it deserves to be, all over the continent.

Shortis complains of his bedding, and of having no toothpicks, and sent for his cosmetic and a bottle of face wash. He says he has been in Toronto.

Shortis was educated at an old country college, and moved in good society, his father being a prominent business man in a large city in Ireland.

Mr. George Bury, of 449 Sherbrooke street, Montreal, was asked to keep an eye on the young fellow, and says that he considers him mentally unbalanced. He tells of one occasion when Shortis came to a dinner party at his house faultlessly arrayed, except as to his feet, which were encased in a pair of moccasins.

He was born on February 14, 1875, and many are the stories that are told of his queer actions in different places. He was quick-tempered, and his muscular build often led him to indulge in lively sparring bouts, when his temper got the better of him. He was always like a great boy, and made wild suggestions to Mr. Bury's son Edgar of going out west to hunt buffalo and kill Indians. Mr. Bury has obtained counsel for Shortis, and will stand by him through his trial.

WILSON PROGRESSES WELL.

Mr. Hugh Wilson is doing well, and Thursday his sister Jennie was allowed to see him for the first time. He asked for a looking glass in which to see exactly how he was hurt. His throat still pains him where the murderer's fingers tore it in their hand-to hand struggle. His chest is sore from the strain.

HONORABLY DISCHARGED.

There was Nothing in the Charge Laid Against the Brussels Fire Engine Builder

Special to The Times.

BELLEVILLE, March 9.—John D. Ronald, the famous Brussels fire engine manufacturer, was charged with four indictments of attempted corruption of municipal officers, by offering Frank G. Campbell, Councillor of the village of Tweed, and R. F. Houstan, Reeve of the same place, a bribe of $100 to secure their votes and influence in making a sale of his engine to their corporation. The case was heard before Mr. Chancellor Boyd yesterday afternoon, and the defendant was honorably discharged.

The evidence brought out in the trial would seem to indicate that the charges were laid against Mr. Ronald for the purpose of driving him out of Tweed, where he had called a meeting of the ratepayers to discuss fire engine matters, as it was expected that the dealings of some of the village officials in the matter would be shown up in an unfavorable light. There is now some talk of Mr. Ronald entering an action for malicious prosecution, but this has not yet been confirmed.

Died Rather than Marry or Pay Her.

CHICAGO, March 9.—Charles Teige committed suicide by taking poison because of a judgement for $3,000 entered against him in Mrs. Matilda Stewart's breach of promise suit. She had answered his advertisement for a wife.

Jumping Hurdles.

In jumping hurdles the one thing which is imperative is not to jump them. Hurdle racing has become entirely an artificial sport. It was discovered that, by taking off from one foot and landing on the other, and by covering the ten yards between each hurdle in three strides, the hurdles could be run over, instead of jumped, and it was also discovered that the man who couldn't perform this acrobatic feat was not in the same hunt with the man who could. A long jumper, with a turn of speed, has a much better chance of becoming a good hurdler than a high jumper. It is a pastime which requires much practice. You must harden your shins and keep as near to the top bar of the hurdle as you can. If you are clearing the hurdles by too much, you must practice leaving part of the skin of your leg on the top bar.

A famous hurdle racer, H. K. Upcher of Oxford, who, by assiduous practice, brought the surmounting—one could hardly call it the clearing—of hurdles to the highest point of perfection, was in the habit of bumping each hurdle in practice to make sure he was not going too high, and of going through the top rail when it was movable, and sometimes when it was not, in order to be quite certain that there was nothing unnecessary to spare.—Fortnightly Review.

Uncle Tobias' Case Was Different.

"Twenty-five years ago," said the man in the mackintosh, "my Uncle Tobias, down in Macoupin county, made a vow he wouldn't cut his hair until General John I. Rinaker was elected governor of Illinois. He has kept it faithfully all these years, and he's a sight. I don't suppose you've ever seen a man that's a match for him in the matter of hair."

"I've seen nearly a dozen such men in my time," said the man with the goggles on. "There was a fellow named Howellton over in Missouri that vowed he wouldn't shave or cut his hair till John C. Fremont was elected president. He's alive yet and going around with hair and beard more than two feet long. Then there was"—

"I knew a man named Hughitt, down somewhere in Illinois," broke in the man in the slouch hat, "who made a vow of the same kind. When I saw him last, he had at least a peck of hair on his head. Over in Indiana"—

"I was well acquainted with a fellow of the name of Grimshaw, down in La Salle county," interrupted the man who had his feet on the table, "that registered an oath in 1860 he wouldn't cut his hair till Elizabeth Cady Stanton was elected president of the United States. He has a tangle on his head now that would fill a half bushel basket."

"You mean well, gentlemen," said the first speaker, "but none of those freaks you have mentioned can toot in the same class as my Uncle Tobias."

"I suppose his hair is about four feet long."

"That doesn't begin to describe him."

"Five feet?"

"You'll have to come again."

"Well, six feet, then. I've heard of one or two men with hair as long as that."

"You don't come anywhere near it."

"Confound it!" exclaimed the man in the baggy trousers, "how much hair has he got on his head anyhow?"

"Gentlemen," replied the man in the mackintosh, edging toward the door, "he's as bald as a glass marble."—Chicago Tribune.

If We Only Could See.

Our best acquaintance with the wonders of the visible universe must always be held provisional. The organ wherewith we are aware of it is an imperfect one, insensible to the colors beyond the red and the violet which certain insects appear to perceive. Light itself is nothing but a vibration of what we call, without understanding it, the ether, and sight is a sense easily deceived and of very feeble range. It is probable that only a slight exaltation of the power of the optic nerve would present the picture of the starry sky to us in a very different aspect.

To our vision the waste of space appears astounding, much as the Pacific ocean seems far too large for its archipelagoes. The boundless vault looks as though wasted in containing at such enormous intervals the tiny specks that are its worlds and suns. Would it wear anything like so open an aspect if we had better or different eyes? To see the stars at all it is necessary to wait for the darkness of night. To be aware of those crimson fountains of glory streaming into space from the sun we have to borrow the help of the moon's interposed disk.

Since all heavenly bodies exercise an influence, gravitatory and otherwise, upon all other bodies, it is conceivable that a kind of vision may hereafter exist to which their mutual contact and interaction would be perceptible. We see nothing now which is not of the nature to reflect upon our retinas or to project upon them those light waves of which alone our light sense can take any cognisance. The fish which dimly perceives a star through the water composed of oxygen and hydrogen is not in a much worse position for reliable astronomical observations than man, with his limited visual spectrum, at the bottom of his ocean of oxygen, nitrogen and the new gas.—Sir Edwin Arnold in North American Review.

Indian Bargains.

Indian travel is full of surprises, pleasant and otherwise. A gentleman, wishing to purchase some of the beautiful cashmere shawls which are made not far from Delhi, went to one of the largest establishments in the city. The merchant showed him a book in which were written recommendations of his goods by General Grant and his son as well as by many others.

Among the recommendations was this one in German: "I have bought shawls of this man and think I got them cheap, but do not offer him a third of what he asks."

The gentleman selected two very beautiful shawls and asked the price. The merchant, after a little consultation with his clerks, said:

"I have not sold a shawl to your party. I sell you very, very cheap. You may have these beautiful shawls for 1,400 rupees."

"Absurd! Let us go!" said the gentleman, having in mind the German's advice, and he started for the door.

"Don't go," said the merchant. "Make me an offer."

"I will give you 400 rupees for both shawls."

To his astonishment, the merchant replied:

"Take them. I will send them to your hotel."

At Jaipur the same traveler lodged in a hotel conducted by a native, but owned by the rajah. He found the following amusing notices posted in various places:

"If visitors are not satisfied with the food or cooking, they can deduct from the bill what they consider fair."

"Guests are requested not to strike the servants."

"Guests wishing ice are requested to give a day's notice and name how much they require."—Youth's Companion.

BOOTH'S SCHEME.

Ten Thousand Colonists to be Hived in Canada.

Special to the Times.

LONDON, March 11.—General Booth has returned filled with enthusiastic confidence in the future of the Salvation Army and of its industrial projects in Canada. He seems to have more doubts about the United States. He was greatly pleased with the attentions shown him by the officials of the Harvard and the Chicago Universities, and equally surprised to find such an exceptionally large propostion of professing Christians or regular church goers to the population, but he owns to some misgivings as to how much real separation from the world all this signifies—about the Dominion, though, he has no reservations. He believes that he is going to astonish the globe by the magnitude of his achievements there, and apparently his plans are all cut and dried for beginning an exodus of emigrants from this side which will be one of the most remarkable of our time. He is very sanguine, too, about keeping these 10,000 colonists in Canada after he has got them there.

ANOTHER TRIAL FOR A LIFE.

Josephine Begin Tried for Shooting Joseph Hebert.

Special to the Times.

SHERBROOKE, Que., March 11.—The defence are putting evidence in the trial of Josephine Begin, who shot Butcher Joseph Hebert on December 5, 1894. Dr. Rioux gave evidence, and Hubert Bouse said that Hebert had told him he lived with Miss Begin as man and wife. Butcher Adrien Lochance heard some one in Hebert's shop on the fatal afternoon say: "You are laughing at me, but it will soon finish."

Dr. Frederic Pare thought it was improbable, but not impossible, that the rupture of the artery which caused Hebert's death could have been caused otherwise than by the bullet striking the parietal bone.

Clara Leclare testified that she had known Hebert and Miss Begin from childhood, and their relations were those of man and wife.

Dishonor and Death.

BUFFALO, March 11.—The Express published on Saturday morning a pathetic story of the betrayal and death of Miss Sarah Van Schriven, of Bloomfield, Ont., whose remains, enclosed in a rough coffin, are laid away in a narrow grave in Potter's field. The girl was refined, intelligent, highly educated and of surpassing beauty. Her parents being dead, and thinking that she was a burden on her parental uncle, Abraham R. Snelling, postmaster at Bloomfield, she came to this city to seek her fortune, and instead met death and dishonor. Her uncle will have the body removed and reinterred in Forest Lawn cemetery.

ROSEBERY A SICK MAN.

The Premier's Condition Serious—He May Resign.

Special to the Times.

LONDON, March 11.—The persistent reports that Lord Rosebery is contemplating retirement from office, together with the announcement of Mr. Arthur Wellesley Peel's intention to resign the Speakership of the House of Commons, has relieved parliamentary circles of the dullness which has prevailed for the past week. Lord Rosebery's capacity for work is doubted by nobody but this faculty has unquestionably been seriously affected by the recurrence of his insomnia. This is, with him, an old complaint, which on a former occasion caused him to refuse to accept office. A judicious system of living banished the complaint and restored him to his normal condition. Now overwork and an attack of influenza have reproduced the ailments which incapacitated him before, and, with the addition of extreme nervousness, it has become necessary for him to take a prolonged season of rest. Lord Rosebery's colleagues, even those who before his illness were intensely hostile to him, now sympathize with him, and one and all decline to accede to the taking of any step which would lead to political complications. Even his political enemies, the Tories, are disposed to await his recovery as long as public convenience will permit. His physicians cannot express an opinion with certainty as to what period will be sufficient to restore him to health, but they are hopeful that a month's abstinence from work and care will enable him to resume his duties.

LONDON, March 11.—Lord Rosebery went to Windsor today for an audience with the Queen.

A MOTHER'S CRIME.

Poisoned Her Three Children for the Sake of a Paramour.

Special to the Times.

PALESTINE, March 11.—Mrs. Carruthers and her paramour were arrested here on Saturday for an atrocious triple murder. The mother gave poison to her three children, then sat down to watch them die. Death not coming quick enough, she gave them more of the drug until they were dead.

Diamond Thieves Arrested.

CHICAGO, March 11.—Operatives of a local detectives last night arrested Nellie Wilson, alias White, alias Winters, alias Sheehan, who is wanted in Boston for the alleged theft of $3,000 worth of diamonds. Nellie Wilson lived in the house of Mrs. Annie Libby, No. 1044 Washington street, Boston, and is accused of running away with the jewelry and a sealskin sacque, valued at $200. When arrested, she admitted the theft and agreed to return without papers. She said she had pawned the diamonds in Montreal. She told the officer who arrested her that she was arrested on the same charge in Buffalo but managed to convince the officer he had got the wrong woman.

Arrested for Gambling.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 11.—Frank Ives, billiardist, and several of his companions, were arrested last night, charged with gambling. It was alleged that Ives and the others were shaking dice in a cafe. The case was dismissed.

The Rival Cities.

NEW YORK, March 11.—A Herald special from St. Paul, Minn., says: War has been declared between St. Paul and Minneapolis again for the possession of the capital, and it may be necessary to restore matters to a peace basis by calling out the militia.

Judge McHugh Nominated.

WINDSOR, March 11.—The Conservative convention for North Essex met in Tara hall Saturday afternoon. A committee was appointed to wait upon Judge McHugh and tender him the nomination. The convention then nominated Judge McHugh unanimously.

CITY AND COUNTY NEWS

LOCAL AND DISTRICT HAPPENINGS OF THE DAY.

The Weather.

Probs.—Fair weather, followed tonight by easterly winds and rain or snow; slowly rising temperature.

Jury Sittings.

The jury sittings open next Tuesday before Mr. Justice Street. There are only a few cases on the docket.

The Oakville Gold Cure.

Information regarding the above will be given with pleasure to all parties desiring such information. A. H. MELVILLE.

Patrons in Session.

The Grand Lodge of Patrons of Industry attended by delegates from all over the Dominions, opened in Toronto last night.

Fire at Trenton.

Fire started in a barn owned by Mr. Peikie, Trenton, on Sunday, and rapidly spread to a large wood pile. Had it not been for the prompt work of the fire company there would have been a large fire loss. The building was fully insured.

Sale of Note Paper.

We have several hundred reams of first class note paper for sale at a bargain to made room for new stock. Two quires of fine note paper and a bunch of envelopes for 15 cents. Other goods in proportion. THE TIMES stationary department. tf

The Fortnightly Club.

An interesting and largely attended meeting of the Fortnightly Club was held last night. The paper of the evening was read by Mr. R. Max Dennistoun on the "Censorship of the Press" which was discussed by a number of the members.

Will Not Celebrate.

True Blue Lodge, No. 40, met last night for the purpose of electing officers, but could not agree in their selection, the vote being a tie. The election was consequently postponed for one week. The members decided not to hold a celebration on July 12.

Nursing a Frozen Toe.

While Mr. R. Croft, of Cobourg, brother of Mr. Wm. Croft, was attending the Port Hope races recently, he was pretty well frost bitten. The frost was so severe that it reached one of Mr. Croft's feet and he is now nursing a very sore toe. At times he is so lame that it is with difficulty that he can walk.

Neighboring Nominations.

At Cobourg on Saturday, Dr. George Waters was unanimously tendered the nomination of the West Northumberland Liberals. The candidate is a brother of Mr. John Waters, ex-M. P. P. for North Middlesex. The Liberals of South Ontario met in convention at Whitby on Saturday and nominated Leonard Burnett as their candidate.

Killed Two Horses.

On Friday a G.T.R. train on the main line ran into a team owned by a farmer named Mutton and killed both horses, near Brighton. At a crossing near Trenton, the same train ran into a wagon loaded with apples, which had got stuck on the crossing. The wagon and apples were badly wrecked. The fireman saw the obstruction and jumped from the engine, spraining his leg. The train got through without further mishaps.

Trinity College School.

The corporation of Trinity College School Port Hope, met in the Synod office in Toronto on Saturday afternoon for the purpose of considering what steps should be taken to find a new home. The loss by the fire was $60,000, against which there is $30,000 insurance. If the town will extend their water works system to the old site the corporation will rebuild. The town of Cobourg is making a bid to have the college removed there, as the Victoria University building is vacant. It is said substantial inducements may be held out.

Gazette Notes.

In the Ontario Gazette notice is given of the formation of the Pine Malt Medicine Company, with a capital of $24,000, to manufacture and sell pine malt, pine strobus inhalent, Dr. Norman's tonic liver discs and other remedies. Those composing the company are residents of Petrolea, Alvinston, Glencoe, Sarnia and Parkhill. Notice is given that the name of the Merchants' and Traders' Collecting and Protective Company is to be changed to the Guarantee Collecting and Protective Company of Ontario. The formation of the Railway Folder Advertising Company of Ontario, with a capital of $5,000, by residents of Toronto and Hamilton, is also announced.

KILLED BY A TRAIN.

The Sad and Tragic Death of Mr. William B. Carmichael.

The London bankers' hockey team played a match in Woodstock Saturday night, and while the train on which the team was returning home was passing the East London station about 4 o'clock Sunday morning, one of the members of the team, W. B. Carmichael, a clerk in the Bank of Toronto, was seen to step out on to the platform of the car. It is supposed that for the purpose of reaching home more quickly, and miscalculating the speed of the train, he jumped, and was rendered unconscious by the fall. His body lay on the track and was knocked off by the eastbound express. The injured man was discovered about 5.20 a.m., and removed to the hospital, where he afterwards died from the injuries sustained. Mr. Carmichael's home is in Markham, Ont. Deceased was well-known in Peterborough, having on two occasions been with the Bank of Toronto here. His family formerly resided in Norwood. About 18 months ago Mr. Carmichael was transferred to London. The news of his tragic death was a shock to his many friends.

ASHBURNHAM COUNCIL.

Village Solons in Session—Accounts and Communications.

The Ashburnham Council met in regular session last night. There were present, Reeve Burnham and Councillors Smith, Rutherford, Craig and Calcutt. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved.

A communication was received from W. Blackwell, C.E., who had examined the town hall and reported that when the frost went out of the ground the building would go back to position. He didn't think any repairs were necessary.

ACCOUNTS.

On motion of Councillor Calcutt, seconded by Councillor Smith, the following accounts were ordered paid:

Examiner Co.	$ 6 00
Dickson Co.	4 50
A. H. Statton & Co	1 70

St. Luke's church was granted the use of the town hall free of rent.

On motion of Councillor Smith, seconded by Councillor Rutherford, D. Law was paid $9 for keeping Mrs. McNairn.

On motion of Councillor Smith, seconded by Councillor Calcutt, the following taxes were remitted.

Mrs. Foster	$ 6 78
Mrs. J. Milliken	6 78
Mrs. W. H. Mitchell	8 70
F. Packenham, poll tax	1 00
D. McGregor	1 00

Several minor matters were discussed and the Council adjourned.

BANK TEAMS PLAY.

Montreal Defeats Ontario in a Game of Hockey—General Sports.

An exciting game of hockey took place last night on the rink between the teams of the Bank of Ontario and the Bank of Montreal. About 250 spectators watched the game which was fast and interesting from the start. The teams lined up as follows:

ONTARIO.		MONTREAL.
Crane	Goal	Benedict
Montgomery	Point	H. Lewis
Thompson	Cover Point	Parsons
Parker	Forwars	Wonham
McGill		N. Lewis
Hamilton		Hudson
Nelson		Taylor
W. Stocker	Umpires	W. Salisbury

In the Kendry Cup contest the following rinks played:

Kenner	Wylie
Brown	Clegg
Horkins	Davidson
Ray, skip..........9	Ferguson, skip.....18

GENERAL SPORTS.

At Woodstock on Saturday the local bankers defeated the London bankers at hockey by 5 goals to 4.

Britannia won the race for yachts of her class, and Dacotah won the race of the small yachts at Mentone yesterday.

Mr. "Roddy" Pringle will again officiate at the Hamilton Jockey Club meeting this year. Jimmy McLaughlin and John Stannton, of Whitby, will be the starters. A. W. McIlroy, of Chicago, will start the trotters.

The bill to allow prize fighting has been killed by the Oklahoma Senate. A committee of ministers and W.T.C.U. ladies camped with the senators for three days and three night and finally succeeded in defeating the bill.

In Montreal on Saturday evening Queen's college and Montreal met at the Victoria rink to decide the hockey championship of Canada, the match being for the Stanley Cup. Not much interest was manifested in the contest and only 500 people were present. The Montreal finally won by a score of 5 goals to 1.

WHERE WERE THE POLICE?

Editor of the Times.

DEAR SIR:—About 3 o'clock on Sunday morning a disgraceful fight occurred on George street, the combatants pounding each other to their hearts content. Several desperate rounds were fought, and the affair created no little disturbance. Nightwatchman Gordon, ever on the alert, and a faithful employee of the merchants who do well not to trust entirely to the protection (?) of the police, heard the encounter and lone-handed separated the combatants. No doubt the police were enjoying their usual nocturnal siesta at this time for they were nowhere in sight, and probably will learn for the first time through THE TIMES that a fight took place. In this instance nobody but the belligerants suffered, but suppose a burglary had been going on or a fire started in that locality, who would there have been on hand to check them? Certainly not the policeman, who like too well the warmth of the police station. This instance is like the inscription on the American silver dollar: "E Pluribus Unum." CITIZEN.

An Earthquake Predicted.

Professor Wiggins, famous for his weather prophecies, speaking about Sunday night's eclipse of the moon, said it was not remarkable except for the fact that it happened so near the celestial equator. This, he said, would produce violent atmospheric disturbances on both the earth and moon, and a very decided fall of temperature on both. In all probability the event will be followed by slight earthquake shocks in both hemispheres.

The Salvation Army held special meetings last night and were addressed by visiting officers.

A pool match between two local "experts" has been arranged to take place tomorrow night.

The ice races at Colborne begin today and will continue tomorrow. Some local sports will go down.

When the costs in the outfall sewer rise up to confront the ratepayers, no wonder the moon has an eclipse.

The Conservatives of South Victoria have nominated Mr. Charles Fairbarn, Liberal, the present member, and the Liberals Mr. George McHugh.

On Wednesday, the 27th inst., the Canadian Order of Oddfellows will hold their district meeting in Cobourg. A large number of delegates are expected.

The Manufacturers' Committee of the Council met last night and discussed the advisability of offering inducements to certain manufacturing industries to locate in Peterborough.

The full judgment of the arbitrator in the outfall sewer matter has not yet been delivered, but is expected any day. It will be exceedingly interesting to learn how the arbitrator arrived at his conclusions.

Fire, caused by a hot box, broke out in F. G. Lynde & Co.'s tannery, Madoc, on Sunday night, about 7 o'clock. The main body of the building was totally destroyed, together with about $400 worth of stock. Insured for $1,100 in the London Mutual, which will only cover about half the loss.

The Dickson Lumber Company, through their solicitor, Mr. A. J. Armstrong, has notified the Town Council that if any damage should occur by the rising of the creek through their property, that the Company will hold the town liable. At present the matter of ownership of the creek is in dispute, and this notice was served as a warning to the town. The right in the matter had better be settled before the spring freshets.—Post.

Can Catarrh Be Cured?
MOST POSITIVELY SO BY THE USE OF
Oxygenator

The record of our remedy is remarkable, it having show itself equally efficacious in every form of the disease, from the simplest first symptoms to the most aggravated type. We confidently believe that any person suffering from Catarrh who has vitality sufficient to keep him alive until Oxygenator is given time to impart its properties can be completely cured by its use. That all other remedies have failed is no evidence that it will not cure.

Obtain precise but simple directions how to use it from head office, and we will guarantee you splendid results with the first jar you start with. Chronic cases desired

INTERESTING TO LADIES
SOMETHING FOR NOTHING
CAN YOU GET IT?

Many who should know better, are well pleased to get a good sized glass jar or tin of bulky alum, ammonia or other powerful but injurious mixture, for use as Baking Powder, at much less, perhaps even half the price, of the really good article, overlooking the fact that the amount thus APPARENTLY saved is of small moment in comparison with the real but not always immediately observed inevitable injury following the use of these articles. If in addition to the SEEMINGLY low prices there is attached some showy gift or prize to give the impression of extra value, the inferior or hurtful nature of the powder is lost sight of in the expectation (a vain one) of getting "something for nothing."

"LADIES' HOME" and "HAPPY THOUGHT" on the other hand, can always be depended on as articles of first class quality, and such as can be AND ARE guaranteed not only free from everything in the slightest degree injurious, but invariably sure, satisfactory and economical.

A Metal Breadboard

THE WOMAN WHO HAS BEEN USED to kneading dough on the old fashioned wooden breadboard knows what a bother it is to get them clean and how cumbersome and heavy they are. When they begin to crack or check it is almost impossible to thoroughly cleanse them, and they may easily become dangerous conveyances of disease. It was left for a woman, of course, to remedy this state of affairs, and Mrs. M. M. Everhard, of St. Joseph, Mich., has patented a metal bread board, which is one of the greatest labor-savers imaginable. It is light, does not absorb grease, dough does not adhere to it, and while it possesses all the advantages of the marble bread-board it is much cheaper and, of course, far lighter and easier to handle. If readers want to confer a favor upon their wives that will be forever appreciated, let them send $1 to the manufacturers, 101 Bay street, Toronto, for one of these boards.

MRS. SMUCK'S EVIDENCE

IN THE HENDERSHOTT MURDER CASE AT ST. THOMAS.

She Tells of What She Saw in the Bush—John Hendershott Hears David Testify Against Him.

Special to the Times.

ST. THOMAS, March 12.—When court resumed after luncheon, George Bradley was sworn, and he told of meeting Hendershott driving at New Sarum Hill at 1.25 o'clock on the Friday afternoon.

David Hendershott, father of the young man who was killed, said he and his son were on good terms. The son was a good axeman. Welter told him on Saturday, 15th, about his son's $11,000 insurance. He told of how his suspicions were aroused by the bloodmarks in Wardell's woods, and identified the watch found in Welter's pocket as his son's. In cross-examination he admitted having looked for his son's valuables before he saw the body, and said he had garnished the insurance money so his brother John could not get it.

Mrs Bancroft, whose husband runs the Penwarden House, described Welter's delay in going up to the parlour to see John Hendershott and his daughter the next day after the tragedy. When he came into the room there was a minute before either of the men spoke, and then Hendershott said. "Well, Will, how did this happen?" Welter replied that a tree had fallen on him and killed him.

Prof. Ellis gave evidence that the corpuscles in the blood that he found on the leaves were the same size as those in human blood, but would not say definitely that the blood was human blood or was not.

Mrs. Smuck told of passing Wardell's bush at 1.10 Friday afternoon and hearing a tree fall. She saw two men, one with a white shirt, and one with a black shirt on. The man with the dark shirt was stepping over something and the other man was standing up.

A POINT ARGUED.

ST. THOMAS, March 12.—This morning the disputed question as to whether evidence not relative to the actual commission of the crime but to the motive can be admitted, was argued before Justice Meredith by counsel for the Crown and the defence, but in the absence of the jury final judgment upon it has been reserved.

In the meantime no evidence relating to the insurance branch of the case will be admitted, excepting to show the issuance of the policies.

Gilbert Roche, agent of the Mutual Reserve Insurance Company, the man who took out the insurance for $6,000,

UPON THE DECEASED'S LIFE

said that the prisoner, John Hendershott, solicited him for the insurance upon his nephew William Hendershott, and that John Hendershott afterwards brought him into the city to take out applications. The question "Has the applicant at present any further insurance on his life?" was replied to negatively. The first application was rejected but another was afterward made out and accepted and the policy for $6,000 issued. The premium was $120 the first year and $82 each subsequent year. This witness contradicted the evidence given by the father of the deceased. Roche also swore that deceased told him that he had quarrelled with his father and that he (Roche) had then suggested that the policy be made payable to John Hendershott be made payable to his wife and this was done.

THE MEDICAL TESTIMONY

has just commenced. Dr. Lawrence said he made a post mortem examination, and read his report of the same. He produced a human skull, and pointed out to the jury the position and extent of the different wounds found upon deceased Hendershott's skull. The witness said that death was caused by a fracture at the base of the skull, accompanied by shock. Very little blood was lost. He survived the first blow: the clotting of blood upon the brain occurred after death. Witness was at the scene of the killing and SAW POOLS OF BLOOD.

and the amount of blood lost by the dead man corresponded with the size of the pools found. He saw the tree and knot and it would be impossible for the wounds found upon deceased to be produced by the knot of the tree, but every wound upon the head could have been made by the axe. Eleven or twelve blows, perhaps more, had been inflicted upon the head, and the wounds could not have been caused by one blow.

THE AXE PRODUCED

has a jagged edge upon one side of the back, and would cause such wounds as were found.

Upon cross-examination, the witness admitted that some of the wounds found might have been made by the boughs of a tree.

Other medical experts will follow, and it is said the head of the dead man will be brought into court this afternoon. The excitement and the crowds are increasing, and hundreds are unable to obtain admittance to the court room.

BOWELL AT BELLEVILLE.

The City Gaily Decorated in Honor of the Premier's Visit.

Special to the Times.

BELLEVILLE, March 12.—The city is gaily decorated today in honor of the visit of Sir Mackenzie Bowell, who arrived on the noon train, accompanied by Hon. Sir A. P. Caron, Messrs. Daly, Curran, Wood, Ouimet and Senator Sanford.

They were met at the station by the Mayor and the various civic bodies and a procession was formed and marched through the principal streets to the residence of J. C. Jamieson, where luncheon was served.

At 3 o'clock the Premier was tendered a reception by the city at the Opera House. The Board of Trade will banquet him at the Hotel Quinte this evening.

MINE HORROR AT RAT PORTAGE.

Twenty Men in Danger, but Nineteen Are Rescued.

Special to the Times.

RAT PORTAGE, March 12.—Fire broke out in the shaft-house of the famous Sultana gold mine yesterday. The shaft was lined with timber, and as the airpumps were shut off there were grave fears of the 20 miners at work beneath being suffocated. Nineteen of the men were rescued and revived, the one exception being a foreigner, who succumbed.

What Toronto Batters will Have to Face.

NEW YORK, March 12.—Manager Chapman, of the Rochester Baseball Club, has signed George Harper, of California, who pitched for Nashville in the Southern League last season, winning 10 out of 12 games. After the Southern League disbanded he was secured by the National League club of Philadelphia, for which he won six of the eight games he pitched.

HAS MR. PROTT LEVANTED?

Mrs. Prott Thinks He Has—Disposed of His Hotel Quickly Before He Went West.

Special to the Times.

TORONTO, March 12.—Mrs. Francis Prott, wife of Hotelkeeper Prott of Bloor street, west, created a scene on the platform of the Union Station last evening. To a police officer she told a tale of cruel desertion by her heartless husband, who had, she said, disposed of his hotel business and all his effects, and, pocketing the entire receipts, had taken train for the west. Mrs. Prott's suspicions were aroused and she hastened to the depot to intercept her fleeing husband, but she reached the platform in time to obtain a glimpse of the rear end of the train that carried the object of her search, as the engine steamed away.

Prott had married his present wife only last Autumn, the ceremony being performed as a settlement of an action for breach of promise brought against him by her, and she claims he now takes this method of getting even.

NEWFOUNDLAND'S TERMS.

Upon Which She Will Come into the Confederation.

Special to The Times.

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., March 12.—The delegation to Canada to confer on confederation, consisting of Premier Whiteway, Colonial Secretary Bond and E. P. Morris, a Cabinet Minister, leave, if possible, this morning for Ottawa. Newfoundland requests Canada to grant her the following terms: Nine hundred thousand dollars for a mail service, the administration of justice, interest on the public debt; $1,000,000 for the use of local Government and Civil Service Department, Newfoundland to provide for any deficit by local taxation, the income on property and import taxes; Canada to send a commission to examine the affairs and curtail the civil service. If the terms are conceded by Canada, the colony is to submit it to the voice of the people at the next election.

RACE WAR DOWN SOUTH.

WHITES AND NEGROES KILLING EACH OTHER ON SIGHT.

There is Rioting all over New Orleans—White Screw Men on the Boats Kill the Colored Men Who Are Taking Their Places.

Special to the Times.

NEW ORLEANS, La., March 12.—This morning at 7 o'clock a gang of about fifty screw men came to the Harrison Cromwell line and fired upon the negroes as they came along. About twelve were instantly killed.

Rioting was resumed on the levee at an early hour. At the head of Josephine street one negro was killed by white screw men. In the vicinity of French market several negroes have been wounded.

In the rioting at the French market three negroes are reported to have been fatally wounded.

A DELIBERATE ACT.

The negro killed at the head of First street was walking along the levee when he was met by a crowd of 200 white men armed with shot gun, winchester rifles and revolvers. One of the men put a pistol to his head and blew out his brains.

Armed men are patrolling the levee and they threaten to shoot every negro they can find. The policemen are trying their best to keep the men in check. At the time the negro was killed a First street the best portion of the police force had gone to the French market where more rioting had occurred.

There is a thick fog hanging over the levee, and it is almost impossible to distinguish an object a foot away. At 9 o'clock everything was reported quiet, although it is expected that more trouble will occur.

WHITE MEN KILLED.

In the rioting down town, in the vicinity of the French market, Jules A. Carribeen, a shoemaker, was instantly killed, shot through the head. J. A. Bain, purser on the British steamship, Engineer, was shot three times through the head and will die. Robert Brooke, a white screw man, shot through the head and will die.

Two unknown negroes were shot through the head. They jumped into the river and were drowned. At Bienville street two unknown negroes are reported killed. At the Charity Hospital four men are reported to have died from their wounds.

WILL SIGN A TREATY.

Humiliated China Concedes All the Demands of Japan.

Special to the Times.

NEW YORK, March 12.—A cable despatch to the World, dated Tokio, Japan, March 10, says: China has been informed in general terms of the conditions upon which Japan will consent to peace.

Japan has been notified that China is ready to accept those conditions and to sign a treaty.

INSURANCE RATES RAISED.

Another Advance of 25 Cents Made by the Underwriters Yesterday.

TORONTO, March 12.—A special meeting of the Board of Underwriters was held yesterday afternoon, at which every fire company doing business in Toronto was represented.

It was decided to advance the rates on all risks, other than private dwellings and contents, 25 per cent., and this new rate went into effect immediately the motion was carried.

In insurance parlance, this is a conflagration hazard and will remain in force until the city is properly equipped with fire appliances and enlarged mains. This rate applies to Toronto Junction, in addition to the city.

A BULLET THROUGH HIS HEAD.

Determined Attempt at Suicide by an Old Man.

Special to The Times.

BROCKVILLE, Ont., March 12.—A case of attempted suicide has been reported from near Smith's Falls, Abraham Coad, an old man, on a visit to his brother William, shot himself three times. One bullet entered behind the ear and came out of the top of the head. Coad is still alive, but cannot recover.

Collided and Sunk.

LONDON, March 12.—The two steamers reported last night as having been in collision off Beach Head were the Queen Olga, from Hamburg, and the Cedaxton, from Smyrna, for London. The Cedaxton was sunk, but all on board were saved.

HARRY HAYWARD'S FATE

MISS GING'S SLAYER CONDEMNED TO THE SCAFFOLD.

Will be Executed in Three Months—Girls Engage in a Riot—A German Boy Kills His Father.

Special to The Times.

MINNEAPOLIS, March 12.—"Hanged by the neck until you are dead!" The words fell heavily on the ears of the listeners as Judge Smith pronounced the doom of Harry Hayward.

It was 10.30 o'clock when the judge arose and motioned that the defendant be brought before him.

"Have you anything to say," he asked, "why sentence should not be pronounced?"

Hayward cleared his throat and with an effort he replied, "Nothing sir, except that I am innocent in spite of the twelve jurors."

Judge Smith then began. "It is the most painful duty that ever devolved on me," he said, "to pronounce the sentence of the law upon you at this time. You have had, in my judgment, a fair trial. You have been assisted in the defence by remarkable legal talent.

"The jury have been carefully guarded and kept from the public, so that there was no possible chance that they should have been contaminated. I instructed them not to discuss among themselves the guilt or testimony in advance of the final charge and I am confident that they obeyed that order of the court. They were 12 men carefully chosen and of upright honesty and they have found, each in his own mind, independent of the others' opinion, that you are guilty. In the judgment of this court this was a conscientious verdict of this jury. Although I am not favorable to capital punishment, as I told the jury in the charge, I am not responsible for it. I am here to obey the law in reference to it. It is with a feeling that I wish I could avoid, that I pronounce this sentence. It is ordered that you, Harry Hayward, receive punishment for murder in the first degree, of which you have been convicted, that you be taken from here to the county goal and, after the lapse of a period of three calendar months from this day, shall thereafter be taken to a place of execution fixed by the Government of Minnesota and at a time this warrant sets, be hanged by the neck until you are dead."

Harry Hayward sat down unmoved, and was immediately taken back to the gaol.

STATE HOME RIOT.

CHICAGO, March 12.—The riot in the State Home for Juvenile Offenders broke yesterday morning. Girls were scrambling and trampling down the passages, tearing their clothes and cursing and reviling those in charge. Officers were sent for and six of the girls arrested and taken to the Fourth street station. The girls complain that they are starved and imprisoned in a dungeon for trivial offences, and that the fact they are sentenced to the home until they come to age drove them to desperation.

KILLED HIS FATHER.

MINNEAPOLIS, March 12.—Nicholas Bodvin, a German boy, 17 years of age, killed his father, Peter Bodvin, yesterday during a quarrel.

ELOPMENT—DIVORCE

CHICAGO, March 12.—Pauline Aubrey, daughter of Chief Justice Fuller, of the United States Supreme Court, has applied to the Circuit Court for a divorce from her husband, James Matthew Aubrey, jr. The bill was filed in the Circuit Court today. This is the outcome of the sensational runaway match in March, 1889. The marriage was a complete surprise to the families of both the young people, and not many months after became the source of chagrin and sorrow through the flagrant excesses of the young husband. For a year or more Mrs. Aubrey has been living with her parents, unable longer to bear her husband's conduct. Mrs. Aubrey in her bill says her husband contracted the liquor habit, and to that she attributes all her domestic difficulties. The couple have two children. Aubrey is at present in Chicago.

WALLACE'S POSITION.

He Will Likely Disclaim Responsibility for the Acts of the Cabinet.

Special to the Times.

OTTAWA, March 12.—Hon. N. Clarke Wallace has gone west to attend the meeting of the Grand Orange Lodge, where it is expected to the Manitoba School question will make things lively.

Regarding this question he will take the position that it is premature for him to declare himself, inasmuch as the Government has not decided its course. Moreover, it is understood the Controller not being in the Privy Council he will disclaim responsibility for the acts of his colleagues in the determination of which he has no say.

PATRONS IN SESSION.

President Mallery Presents His Annual Address.

Special to The Times.

TORONTO, March 12.—When President C. A. Mallery, of the Grand Lodge of the Patrons of Industry, called that body to order this morning in Temperance Hall, over seventy-five delegates were present representing all parts of the province. The first order of business taken up was the report of the Credential Committee, which was approved of. Resolutions were then handed from the delegates of the different districts setting forth their views and requirements on various subjects of interest to their particular locality.

President Mallery then read his address, which was a review of the work and progress of the order during the past year. In referring to the finances of the order, which has been subject to so much comment recently by those whom he considers the enemies of the order, the president asked that a special committee be appointed to make a thorough investigation. He also suggested that a special committee be appointed to watch legislation.

Secretary Welch then presented his report, which was referred to the auditors.

On re-assembling this afternoon the reports of the different committees was taken up and disposed of.

The action of the president in changing the time of the Grand Lodge meeting met with the entire approval of the members, as did the recent vote given by the Patron M.P.P. in the Local Legislature.

The Times.

PETERBOROUGH, MARCH 12, 1895.

Good morning!

The strongest test of the stability of the Salvation Army is to come. Can it stand prosperity?

The talk of removing Trinity College School to Cobourg, unless Port Hope offers inducements for it to remain, is an example of the evils of the municipal bonus system in another form.

The Czar of Russia has just directed that the knout be abolished as inhuman. The Senate of New York, at the instance of a "humane" society, has just directed that the use of the knout be established in this state.

The business men of the town evidently have no confidence in the police force as it is at present managed, else they would not hire and pay, by private subscription, a special night-watchman to guard their places of business at night.

The Spanish authorities claim to have nearly suppressed the revolt in Cuba, but it is noticeable that they keep on finding rebels to fight just the same. When the insurgents get a chance to tell their story possibly the record of Spanish successes will be broken.

The Liberals of West Peterborough are apparrently in no haste to put up their candidate in West Peterborough. Whether this is due to difficulty in securing a man or to other causes, is not known. Mr. Peter Hamilton is spoken of, as is also Mr. Richard Hall, Dr. King and Dr. Goldsmith.

In Chicago a foolish fellow killed himself because he lost a lawsuit. Now, if he had lost his suit in a Canadian court, he could have appealed, and he and the party of the other part might have died of old age before a final decision had been given.

It is melancholy to have to admit that the political career of such a statesman as Lord Rosebery can be cut short by the grip—that what the combined influences and efforts of two great political parties could not do is likely to be done by a measly, commonplace, democratic, microscopic microbe.

It is said that the outfall sewer, when everything is paid, will cost the unfortunate taxpayer fully ten thousand dollars. The law costs which will amount to two or three thousand dollars, is the least of the expenses which the poor victimized taxpayer will be obliged to settle. This would not be so bad if we had the "makings" of a sewer for all this good money, but when we get absolutely nothing except experience, it is only natural that there should be a somewhat vigorous kick.

A New York woman lived a double life in a double flat. On one side of the hallway she was known by one name. On the other side of the hallway, upstairs, she was the wife of another man. People who live in apartment houses rarely know the people in the next flat. No one dreams of knowing the people who live across the hall or upstairs. That is farther away than far Cathay. The lady of the double life consulted both her convenience and her safety by arranging her dual existence on the basis of this fact.

THE NEW SILVER PARTY.

The formation of the new free silver party in the United States with the influential leadership it possesses can hardly fail to force the hand of one or the other of the old parties. This is probably what it is intended to do. The silver men feel themselves to be strong in the West and South, and are in no mind to be played with longer by the politicians. It is generally claimed that they constitute a majority of the Democrats and a minority of the Republicans; so that they naturally look to win the former party rather than the latter to their standard. And if they should get a straight free silver declaration from the Democrats, old party lines would be tangled up in a marvelous manner. "Silver" would at once become the chief issue of the campaign, and new party alignments would ensue.

The Philadelphia Bulletin looks to the coming international conference to save American politics from this wholesale smash, It hopes that an agreement will be reached there that will impose a scientific bi-metallism on the financial world "If this hope shall be disappointed," it continues, "the struggle over the silver issue in the United States will, undoubtedly, be preciptated into the Presidental campaign, and new party alignments will be almost certain to result from it. It is apparent to thoughtful observers that the existence of the Democratic party as a distinct organization, as well as the unity of the Republican party as now constituted, may depend entirely on the outcome of the coming conference."

This is probably the exact condition of things that the silver party has been formed to produce. It stands ready to lead the silverites into a new camp if both the old parties shirk the issue; thus threatening the party leaders with the loss of their silver supporters in case they continue to dodge the question. Heretofore they have kept their silver men if they did not declare against free silver; now it is the purpose of this new party to make a positive declarition for "free silver" necessary if the silver states are not to be lost. All this will be very uncomfortable for the old leaders, who will now pin their hopes to the soothing effect of the international Conference.

YOUNG'S POINT.

(From our our own correspondent.)

Mr. H. J. Kearney, of Chicago, who has been spending a couple of months with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Kearney, left for the windy city a few days ago.

Miss Maddie Young, who has been visiting friends in Peterborough and Campbellford for the last few weeks, has returned home.

Miss Mary Pope, who has been visiting friends here, has returned to her home in Peterborough.

Mr. Alphonse Fobert, of Chemong, has returned home after spending a few weeks with friends here.

Mr. F. Condon, of Chicago, who has been spending a few weeks with friends here, left last week for Peterboro.

Mrs. Keane, of Peterboro, who has been the guest of Mrs. P. P. Young, for the past few weeks, has returned home.

COLLEGE PIE.

Dedicated to the Graduates of the Harmon Ladies' College, Ottawa, and the Kingston Ladies' College.

Give me a spoon of oleo, ma,
  And the sodium alkali,
For I'm going to make a pie, mamma,
  I'm going to make a pie.
For John will be hungry and tired, ma,
  And his tissues will decompose—
So give me a gramme of phosphate,
  And the carbon and cellulose.

Now give me a chunk of caseine, ma,
  To shorten the thermic fat;
And hand me the oxygen bottle, ma,
  And look at the thermostat;
And if the electric oven's cold
  Just turn it on half an ohm,
For I want to have supper ready
  As soon as John comes home.

Now, pass me the neutral dope, mamma,
  And rotate the mixing machine,
But give me the sterilized water first
  And the oleomargarine,
And the phosphate, too, for now I think,
  The new typewriter's quit
And John will need more phosphate food
  To help his brain a bit.

THE DIRECT ROUTE BETWEEN THE West and all points on the Lower St. Lawrence and Baie des Chaleur, Province of Quebec, also for New Brunswick, Nova Scotia, Prince Edward and Cape Breton Islands, Newfoundland and St. Pierre.

Express trains leave Montreal and Halifax daily (Sunday excepted) and run through without change between these points.

The through express train cars of the Intercolonial Railway are brilliantly lighted by electricity and heated by steam from the locomotive, thus greatly increasing the comfort and safety of travellers.

Comfortable and elegant buffet sleeping and day cars are run on all through express trains.

The popular summer sea bathing and fishing resorts of Canada are all along the Intercolonial, or are reached by that route.

Canadian European Mail and Passenger Route.

Passengers for Great Britain or the Continent leaving Montreal Friday morning will join outward mail steamer at Halifax on Saturday.

The attention of shippers is directed to the superior facilities offered by this route for the transport of flour and general merchandise intended for the Eastern Provinces, Newfoundland and the West Indies, also for shipments of grain and produce intended for the European market.

Tickets may be obtained and all information about the route, also freight and passenger rates, on application to ous in its struggles. With the other she dragged her son forward, who gave all his attention to mollifying the feelings of an irate cock half hidden in his bosom. Timsie Dwyer, who had obligingly joined the rescue party, brought up the rear with two more or less suffocated bantams under each arm.

"Here he is for ye," panted Mrs. Lyneham. "'Twas the way—what are ye laughing at, Patsey O'Rourke?" for the newly made bridegroom was grinning gleefully from behind the newly made bride.

"I don't want him," said Kattie boldly. "I have no mind for a boy as goes huntin hins when he ought to be marryin before the howly althar."

"Arrah whisht!" said the old woman coaxingly. "The prashte will come back agin and say the words for ye."

"'Tis too late ye are, ma'am," said Kattie, tossing her head. "I couldn't be waitin for the likes av him, so I just took this dacint boy that was standin be me," and she put her hand saucily through Patsey's arm.

"'Tis no marriage," cried Mrs. Lyneham, with spirit, while Terence and his wife stood amazed.

"'Tis the only marriage I'll ever make," said Kattie, drawing closer to her husband and looking with burning cheeks straight at her mother.

"Have ye nothing to say?" cried Mrs. Lyneham, turning to Andy.

"Let her kape Patsey O'Rourke if she wants him," said Andy simply. "'Tis ye made the match for me, though I towld ye I had no mind for marryin at all, at all!" and he fell again to stroking the little bantam that tried to peck his way through his coat.

"Lave it as it is, Tirince," said Timsie Dwyer, coming forward and squeezing his bone tight with his elbows so that they should not interrupt him. "Lave it as it is, man, an give Kattie the hundhred poun all the same."

But honest Terence felt he had been fooled and shook his head obstinately until Kattie cast such a piteous look of beseeching at her mother that the good woman's eyes filled with tears, and she whispered:

"Tirince, avic, be said by Timsie Dwyer!"

And he was.—All the Year Round.

Imperturbable Islamism.

The religion of Mohammed in Palestine is that from which there are no secessions (apostacy is punished in Syria by lynching), to which there are few converts. It is near its birthplace in Syria, and it has therefore been preserved in a stern, unbending manner, neither progressing nor declining, ever ready to turn to fanaticism, which is the escape valve of its fervency. In the towns where it reigns by the right of majority as well as by authority it is today what it was in the days of the caliphs—a strangely earnest form of deism, which satisfies the aspirations of its followers as few religions have ever done. It is a religion which enters absolutely into the daily life and orders all things in its pale. The Damascene Moslems, who are devotees, live lives of considerable piety, with no distractions to divert them from the daily cycle of prayers as fixed and as immutable as the sun which regulates them. Life for the pious is a constant call to prayers.

The voices of the muezzins join at dawn in the strangest of strange concerts, which half awakens the sleeper and insinuates itself into his dreams. They are heard again at midday and again when the sun sinks. "To prayer, ye praying ones," is the cry heard in the bazaars on the day of meeting. There is little or no abatement of religious observance among the Syrian Moslems. The tree of Islam has ceased growing, but it is not dying, although the days of its splendor have passed away. It is difficult to avoid experiencing a feeling of envy for the spirit of contentment which Mohammedanism has created in its followers.

A sheik in the public library of Damascus, who was engaged in the laborious task of copying by hand the history of Saladin, said to me, with composure and absolute conviction, while speaking on the subject of languages, "My friend, one language only is required, one tongue, and that the tongue of God" (lisan Allah).—Fortnightly Review.

Awkward.

During the progress of the search expedition in the Sinaitic desert for Professor E. H. Palmer, who, with his two English companions, was basely murdered by native tribes, a strict watch was kept about the camp at night to avoid a surprise from the treacherous Arabs. The search party consisted of three Englishmen and their escort, composed mainly of Bedouins. The author of "Man Hunting In the Desert" relates an incident connected with the night guard:

One of our number, being little inclined to sleep, strayed somewhat away from the camp into the moonlight, when he was suddenly approached by one of the Bedouin sentries, who, bringing his Remington rifle to his shoulder, presented the muzzle at our friend and shouted some challenge in Arabic.

The victim of this display of vigilance grasped the situation and at once realized his danger. Not a word of Arabic could he recall, and the fellow was liable to shoot the next instant.

"Here, you fellow, don't be a fool! Don't shoot!" the Englishman shouted.

The Bedouin understood not a word of this, but remained motionless, finger to trigger, the moon plainly revealing the precision of his aim.

The situation was awkward. Our friend felt anything but comfortable as he stood facing that ugly looking muzzle, not daring to retreat or advance. Racking his brain for an Arabic word, he at last succeeded in producing the sentence:

"Ana Inglise"—in pigeon Arabic ("Me Englishman").

To his infinite relief, the guard lowered his rifle with the ejaculation, "Wahad Kawadja," which our friend construed as a permit to pass on.

Foods.

An authority on foods prescribes for those who take little exercise and accumulate flesh rapidly green vegetables growing above the ground, like peas, spinach and asparagus, and plain green salads, unmixed with poultry, meat or fish, such as lettuce, celery and cresses, with a French dressing. Very little starch food and white meats should be eaten, as chicken, lamb or mutton, but there should be consumed a great deal of fruit, toast and graham bread. Avoid sweets, it is further advised, and use few stimulants, the best being Sauterne and Rhine wine in moderation.

For brain workers the same authority advises red meats, particularly beef, with starchy foods taken in the form of rice and wheat bread, all green vegetables that grow above ground, green salads every day, with French dressing containing plenty of oil, fruits in abundance and no sweets.—New York Times.

HE LED A DOUBLE LIFE.

A WELL KNOWN PHILADELPHIA PASTOR UNDER A CLOUD.

A Banker's Desperate Act. He Victimizes His Friends and Puts a Bullet Through his Brain—Smallpox at Hot Springs—Parkhurst at Loggerhead With the New York Presbytery.

Special to the Times.

PHILADELPHIA, March 11.—Rev. Dr. Alexander G. McAulay, for 42 years pastor of the Union Tabernacle Presbyterian church in this city has been adjudged guilty of the charge of conduct unbecoming a Christian, by a judicial commission of the Presbyterian church and the verdict will be presented to the Presbytery at its meeting next Monday.

Dr. McAulay is about 75 years of age. It was about a year ago that ugly rumors regarding his conduct reached the ears of the elders of the church and finally resulted in serious consideration being given the subject. It is said that certain members of the congregation shadowed their pastor upon the occasion of the visits to questionable localities of this city and sufficient was learned to confirm their suspicions. The elders of the church requested Dr. McAulay to appear before them. He ignored the summons and shortly afterwards resigned. Charges were then presented to the presbytery with the result that a judicial committee was appointed to try Dr. McAulay. The general accusation was but there were at least a dozen specific charges, all of which it is claimed, have been sustained. It is said that the testimony showed that Dr. McAulay had been leading a double life for the last 9 or 10 years. It was showed in the trial that he made one place of questionable repute a rendezvous for five years, and was familiarly known in resorts that men of known sporting proclivities would hesitate to enter.

PARKHURST IN HOT WATER.

NEW YORK, March 11.—Rev. Dr. Charles H. Parkhurst was the subject of special attention at yesterday's meeting of the New York presbytery and in a manner that may lead to proceedings as complicated and prolonged as those that originated four years ago in the case of Dr. Briggs. Plans are now forming to give Dr. Parkhurst a scorching respecting his conduct towards brethren in the ministry. If these plans are followed out, as they give promise of being, there is likely to be great public interest in the proceedings. Trouble has been preparing for Dr. Parkhurst ever since his strictures uttered in the pulpit upon the financial integrity and business honor of the New York presbytery in relation to the sale of the abandoned church of the Sea and Land.

Dr. Parkhurst, it is said, has not attended the meetings of the Presbytery recently. Members of the Presbytery, who are acquainted with the facts, declare that Dr. Parkhurst's utterances on the subject were based on ignorance or else inspired by a captious spirit. In either case they say that the Madison square preacher is guilty of conduct that merits censure at the hands of his fellow Presbyterians.

SMALLPOX AT HOT SPRINGS.

MALVERN, Ark., March 11.—The smallpox situation up to 5 p.m. yesterday at Hot Springs shows a total of 92 cases in the hospital and 10 deaths. Malvern has four cases.

SHOT HIMSELF.

CRESTON, Ia., March 10.—The town of Cromwell, six miles west of here, is greatly excited over the suicide of David Blossar, an influential citizen. The Creston National bank discovered yesterday had swindled them out of $10,000 by means of forged paper. Besides this he has victimized private citizens to the amount of $15,000. When an officer went to arrest him he endeavored to evade him, and, failing, drew a revolver and shot himself.

What Would You Call It?

I had a good look at something very unique on Fifth avenue, writes a New York correspondent of the Pittsburg Dispatch. It was a most exaggerated type of Willie boy, chappie or Johnnie, perhaps all three rolled into one. As it approached it attracted marked attention. The face is unfit for publication, but the expression thereon conjured up visions of an insane asylum. Clad in the latest cut of long tailed, double breasted attire, a bell crowned hat, loud trousers rolled up at the bottom high above tan shoes, fashionable gloves and carrying the regulation cane, it came along. The gait was peculiar, a sort of cross between a single footer and a spavined hurdle jumper. There was a sort of to and fro movement that made pedestrians swerve to one side, fearful lest a collision would wreck the outfit. The left arm was raised above the hips and crooked outwardly, the wrist limber and the fingers dangling, very like the pose cultivated by the chimpanzee when at ease. This arm carrying act apparently occupied all the creature's attention. The eyes were fastened on the left shoulder appendage, and its swing and carriage were constantly shifted, much to the amusement of the multitude. Many stood and gazed and smiled sort of disgustedlike. It was watched and studied until it got out of sight. A policeman who saw the attention had been diverted from the shop windows to it also grasped the humor of the thing and said: "It's perfectly harmless. Lots of money. Just sense enough to know it's on the earth. Frequently forgets where it lives, though, and has to be piloted home." Such a sight almost makes one lose faith and doubt the statement about man being made in the image of the Maker.

His Torn Letters.

"I'd like to speak to Miss Edith private," said a woman who had been a servant in Miss Edith's family, but who now took lodgers.

"Miss Edith," she began, after some preliminary remarks, "I'm told that Mr. Ripley comes here consid'able, and, Miss Edith, you know what I've always thought of your family, and that any one of you young ladies is fit for the best in the land, and I'm not sayin but what Mr. Ripley is a worthy young man, but I think I owe it to you, Miss Edith, to tell you that he gets terrible affectionate letters from a young lady named 'Belle.'"

"I've no right to interfere with his letters," said Edith, but her voice trembled. "And how do you know anything about it, Ann? You wouldn't read his letters."

"No, indeed, Miss Edith. Far be it from me to read anybody's letters when they're in the whole sheet and done up proper in envelopes, but when a man tears up his letters and scatters them round his room I have the right, as nobody can deny, to piece them together and make what may be out of them, and I hold that it's my duty for your family's sake, and for your sake, Miss Edith."

A few days later Ann paid another visit, and this time she announced: "Miss Edith, my mind's at rest, and I hope yours will be too. I pieced together a letter from his mother last night, and I found out that Belle is his sister."—New York Tribune.

ROSEBERY A SICK MAN.

The Premier's Condition Serious—He May Resign.

Special to the Times.

LONDON, March 11.—The persistent reports that Lord Rosebery is contemplating retirement from office, together with the announcement of Mr. Arthur Wellesley Peel's intention to resign the Speakership of the House of Commons, has relieved parliamentary circles of the dullness which has prevailed for the past week. Lord Rosebery's capacity for work is doubted by nobody but this faculty has unquestionably been seriously affected by the recurrence of his insomnia. This is, with him, an old complaint, which on a former occasion caused him to refuse to accept office. A judicious system of living banished the complaint and restored him to his normal condition. Now overwork and an attack of influenza have reproduced the ailments which incapacitated him before, and, with the addition of extreme nervousness, it has become necessary for him to take a prolonged season of rest. Lord Rosebery's colleagues, even those who before his illness were intensely hostile to him, now sympathize with him, and one and all decline to accede to the taking of any step which would lead to political complications. Even his political enemies, the Tories, are disposed to await his recovery as long as public convenience will permit. His physicians cannot express an opinion with certainity as to what period will be sufficient to restore him to health, but they are hopeful that a month's abstinence from work and care will enable him to resume his duties.

LONDON, March 11.—Lord Rosebery went to Windsor today for an audience with the Queen.

Judge McHugh Nominated

WINDSOR, March 11.—The Conservative convention for North Essex met in Tara hall Saturday afternoon. A committee was appointed to wait upon Judge McHugh and tender him the nomination. The convention then nominated Judge McHugh unanimously.

THOUSANDS SLAIN.

Wholesale Slaughter of the Chinese by the Japs at Tenchantai – Chinese Throw Down Their Arms and Flee.

Special to the Times.

LONDON, March 11.—The Central News correspondent in Tokio quotes this despatch, which was sent from Yin Kao or or New Chwang on March 7: "The first division reports that the forts south and west of Yin Kao on the left bank of the river have been taken to the last ditch and redoubt.

"Two soldiers were blown up by the explosion of a mine in the Chinese line of defence. The Laio river is still frozen."

Yesterday Gen. Nadzu reported that his army, with the aid of the first division, had attacked the Chinese at Tenchantai that morning. The Japanese advanced from three directions, one force coming from the east, one from the northeast and the third from the northwest.

A HOT ARTILLERY FIRE

was opened at 7 a.m., and under its cover the three bodies of troops stormed the town shortly before 10.30. The Chinese numbered 10,000 or more. At first they fought stubbornly, but eventually they broke and ran, throwing down their arms and making no effort to save their standards or baggage. Most of the Chinese fled to the northwest. Although the Japanese loss was but 100 killed the Chinese left more than 2,000 dead and dying around the town. All the enemy's war material was captured. The town caught fire during the fight and before night was burned to the ground. Gen. Madzu has been promoted to the rank of Marshal."

The Empress of Japan will start for Heroshima today to inspect all the military and red cross hospitals.

The Central News correspondent in Shanghai says: Chinese are making great preparations to defend Formosa against the expected landing of the Japanese.

A MOTHER'S CRIME.

Poisoned Her Three Children for the Sake of a Paramour.

PALESTINE, March 11.—Mrs. Carruthers and her paramour were arrested here on Saturday for an atrocious triple murder. The mother gave poison to her three children, then sat down to watch them die. Death not coming quick enough, she gave them more of the drug until they were dead.

BIG MEN IN SPAIN.

They Are Scarce Among the Natives and Are Much Admired.

"There is no place where a man's size will increase his importance in the eyes of the people more than in Spain," said William H. Graham. "The Spaniards, as a race, being an undersized people, a large man, well developed physically, is looked upon as being some important, extraordinary being. So, while I was traveling in Europe with Colonel Stone, we passed through England, with but little notice being taken of us. When we got to Spain, however, our party, thanks to the stalwart physique of the colonel, was the cynosure of all eyes. When we walked down the street, a crowd would follow us, pointing at the colonel in wonderment and admiration until the gallant congressman thought his proper place was on the boards of a Spanish dime museum. One day, while on a fatiguing journey, we stopped at a way station. Like travelers will do, we left our compartment to stretch our legs in a little walk up and down the platform of the station. There was quite a crowd gathered, evidently to see the departure of a bride and a groom, who were in the center of an admiring circle of friends. As we walked up and down we noticed that the attention of the crowd was gradually diverted from the loving couple in the center, and the people began to whisper one to the other and point at the colonel taking his constitutional. I could see and hear that they were astonished at his immense stature and were wondering who this notable must be, for to the Spaniard a man could not be of such a stature and not be great.

"Just before the train was ready to pull out I thought I would play a little joke on the people, taking the cue from the remarks I heard on all sides. So leaving my friend I went to the door of the railway carriage and called in as loud a tone as possible: 'James G. Blaine, come on. The train is about to move away.' It was just about the time of the excitement over Blaine and Harrison, so I thought that the supposed presence of a celebrity such as the 'plumed knight' would arouse their enthusiasm, but they took no notice of my cry. Thinking they could not have heard, I called the same thing out again, but still no response came from the crowd. Then I remembered an incident which occurred to the colonel in Pittsburg when he interfered in a street fight there. He pulled a burly ruffian off an undersized fellow, who was being beaten terribly, and when the bully asked him who he was that dared to interfere with him the colonel remembered having seen some billboards stating John L. Sullivan was in town, so he replied boldly, 'I'm John L. Sullivan.' Immediately the crowd cheered, and the bully sneaked away.

"Remembering this incident and the success of impersonating the prizefighter in a city where he was well known, I thought I would try it in Spain, doubting, however, that a community who did not know Blaine would be able to recognize a celebrity at the other end of the line. But I yelled out, 'John L. Sullivan, you had better hurry.' I had scarcely uttered the name when the whole crowd began to put up their fists and made a rush for the innocent colonel. They would have torn his clothes off in their enthusiasm and admiration of what they evidently thought a master man had the ringing of the bell not given us warning that the train was ready, and with difficulty we pushed our way through the yelling, boisterous crowd to our carriage.

"The bridal party and the purpose of the crowd's visit were lost in the excitement, and as our train drew out we could hear the cheering of the excited people far behind us. So it can in truth be said that Colonel Stone has appeared with great success as John L. Sullivan on both continents."—Boston Transcript.

The Pyrometer.

Some remarkable claims are put forth in behalf of Professor Austen's new pyrometer for the more accurate measurement of high temperatures. It is a thermo junction of platinum and of platinum alloyed with rhodium, this being attached to a galvanometer. The spot of light from its mirror is received on a revolving drum covered with sensitized paper. The curves exhibited give a 24 hours' record of the variations in the temperature of the blast supplied to furnaces smelting iron. In this way it is possible to account for the variations in the working of those large structures, and, by insuring regularity of work, to avoid the occurrence of such variations; also to effect economies of fuel, which it is anticipated will attain very large proportions, proving, it is claimed, to be of great industrial importance in conducting this branch of metallurgy.—New York Sun.

Jumping Hurdles.

In jumping hurdles the one thing which is imperative is not to jump them. Hurdle racing has become entirely an artificial sport. It was discovered that, by taking off from one foot and landing on the other, and by covering the ten yards between each hurdle in three strides, the hurdles could be run over, instead of jumped, and it was also discovered that the man who couldn't perform this acrobatic feat was not in the same hunt with the man who could. A long jumper, with a turn of speed, has a much better chance of becoming a good hurdler than a high jumper. It is a pastime which requires much practice. You must harden your shins and keep as near to the top bar of the hurdle as you can. If you are clearing the hurdles by too much, you must practice leaving part of the skin of your leg on the top bar.

A famous hurdle racer, H. K. Upcher of Oxford, who, by assiduous practice, brought the surmounting—one could hardly call it the clearing—of hurdles to the highest point of perfection, was in the habit of bumping each hurdle in practice to make sure he was not going too high, and of going through the top rail when it was movable, and sometimes when it was not, in order to be quite certain that there was nothing unnecessary to spare.—Fortnightly Review.

Uncle Tobias' Case Was Different.

"Twenty-five years ago," said the man in the mackintosh, "my Uncle Tobias, down in Macoupin county, made a vow he wouldn't cut his hair until General John I. Rinaker was elected governor of Illinois. He has kept it faithfully all these years, and he's a sight. I don't suppose you've ever seen a man that's a match for him in the matter of hair."

"I've seen nearly a dozen such men in my time," said the man with the goggles on. "There was a fellow named Howellton over in Missouri that vowed he wouldn't shave or cut his hair till John C. Fremont was elected president. He's alive yet and going around with hair and beard more than two feet long. Then there was"—

"I knew a man named Hughitt, down somewhere in Illinois," broke in the man in the slouch hat, "who made a vow of the same kind. When I saw him last, he had at least a peck of hair on his head. Over in Indiana"—

"I was well acquainted with a fellow of the name of Grimshaw, down in La Salle county," interrupted the man who had his feet on the table, "that registered an oath in 1869 he wouldn't cut his hair till Elizabeth Cady Stanton was elected president of the United States. He has a tangle on his head now that would fill a half bushel basket."

"You mean well, gentlemen," said the first speaker, "but none of those freaks you have mentioned can trot in the same class as my Uncle Tobias."

"I suppose his hair is about four feet long."

"That doesn't begin to describe him."

"Five feet!"

"You'll have to come again."

"Well, six feet, then. I've heard of one or two men with hair as long as that."

"You don't come anywhere near it."

"Confound it!" exclaimed the man in the baggy trousers, "how much hair has he got on his head anyhow?"

"Gentlemen," replied the man in the mackintosh, edging toward the door, "he's as bald as a glass marble."—Chicago Tribune.

If We Only Could See.

Our best acquaintance with the wonders of the visible universe must always be held provisional. The organ wherewith we are aware of it is an imperfect one, insensible to the colors beyond the red and the violet which certain insects appear to perceive. Light itself is nothing but a vibration of what we call, without understanding it, the ether, and sight is a sense easily deceived and of very feeble range. It is probable that only a slight exaltation of the power of the optic nerve would present the picture of the starry sky to us in a very different aspect.

To our vision the waste of space appears astounding, much as the Pacific ocean seems far too large for its archipelagoes. The boundless vault looks as though wasted in containing at such enormous intervals the tiny specks that are its worlds and suns. Would it wear anything like so open an aspect if we had better or different eyes? To see the stars at all it is necessary to wait for the darkness of night. To be aware of those crimson fountains of glory streaming into space from the sun we have to borrow the help of the moon's interposed disk.

Since all heavenly bodies exercise an influence, gravitatory and otherwise, upon all other bodies, it is conceivable that a kind of vision may hereafter exist to which their mutual contact and interaction would be perceptible. We see nothing now which is not of the nature to reflect upon our retinas or to project upon them those light waves of which alone our light sense can take any cognizance. The fish which dimly perceives a star through the water composed of oxygen and hydrogen is not in a much worse position for reliable astronomical observations than man, with his limited visual spectrum, at the bottom of his ocean of oxygen, nitrogen and the new gas.—Sir Edwin Arnold in North American Review.

Indian Bargains.

Indian travel is full of surprises, pleasant and otherwise. A gentleman, wishing to purchase some of the beautiful cashmere shawls which are made not far from Delhi, went to one of the largest establishments in the city. The merchant showed him a book in which were written recommendations of his goods by General Grant and his son as well as by many others.

Among the recommendations was this one in German: "I have bought shawls of this man and think I got them cheap, but do not offer him a third of what he asks."

The gentleman selected two very beautiful shawls and asked the price. The merchant, after a little consultation with his clerks, said:

"I have not sold a shawl to your party. I sell you very, very cheap. You may have these beautiful shawls for 1,400 rupees."

"Absurd! Let us go!" said the gentleman, having in mind the German's advice, and he started for the door.

"Don't go," said the merchant. "Make me an offer."

"I will give you 400 rupees for both shawls."

To his astonishment, the merchant replied:

"Take them. I will send them to your hotel."

At Jaipur the same traveler lodged in a hotel conducted by a native, but owned by the rajah. He found the following amusing notices posted in various places:

"If visitors are not satisfied with the food or cooking, they can deduct from the bill what they consider fair."

"Guests are requested not to strike the servants."

"Guests wishing ice are requested to give a day's notice and name how much they require."—Youth's Companion.

THE UNIVERSITY TROUBLES.

Mr. Whitney Brings the Matter up in the Legislature.

Special to The Times.

TORONTO, March 12.--Mr. Whitney brought the recent University troubles before the Local House yesterday. He asked for a return of copies of all correspondence between the Minister of Education or any member of the Government and any of the University College authorities pertaining to the questions between the students and the authorities of the college. He also asked for a return of copies of all letters to the Minister of Education or other members of the Government since January 1, 1891, in which persons were recommended for positions on the staff of either the University College or School of Practical Science. While he did not thoroughly understand the troubles that existed there must be something behind them.

Hon. Mr. Ross thought it would not be wise to give expression to opinions at this juncture as the question would be in the hands of a commission in a few days.

In reply to Mr. Barr the Provincial Secretary said the Government was considering the amendment of the Game Protection Act so as to make the open season for deer shorter.

MANITOBA SCHOOL CASE.

SIR CHARLES TUPPER'S REPORT ON THE HEARING IS READY.

It Will be Kept a Secret Until Friday — He Will Surely Report in Favor of Remedial Legislation.

Special to the Times.

OTTAWA, March 12.—It is generally understood that Sir Charles Tupper, Minister of Justice, has prepared his report on the Manitoba school case. What it recommends will be a carefully guarded secret until Friday next, when the Government will form its conclusions thereon.

The young Minister of Justice has spent three or four days sitting in judgment on the argument of a man who quite recently twitted him with never holding a brief. His reply to Mr. McCarthy at that time was that the gentleman had never held a portfolio. Now, by a curious combination of circumstances, Sir Charles is practically the judge to whom his antagonist had submitted his case. The conclusions of the Minister of Justice cannot relieve the Government of any responsibility for it is bound to carry out its ideas whether or not they conflict with the opinion of its legal adviser.

THE VIEWS OF TUPPER.

Sir Charles has already given some expressions of opinion on the subject, which in view of his position are important. During the late argument he declared, for instance, that "The Parliament which originally passed the Manitoba Act contemplated and endorsed a system of separate schools for Manitoba, just as we would be doing by a remedial order of this kind, for protecting the system would be endorsing it."

Sir Charles therefore holds that at the passage of the Manitoba Act the existence of a separate school system in that Province was actually contemplated for he declares "that it was practically certain there would be a separate school system there." As to the late judgment the Minister of Justice is of the opinion that it went some distance in the direction of recommending how Parliament should act.

Having these views there can be little doubt as to the character of the report to be submitted by the Minister of Justice.

THE PROCEDURE.

OTTAWA, March 12.—Referring to the statement in a newspaper that there is a Cabinet crisis, the Citizen, the Government organ here, says:

"The enterprising Toronto paper must be allowed to manufacture its Cabinet crisis from time to time and keep up with the procession, but the above is a premature. In the first place, the Cabinet has not considered the appeal, and it will not until it is reported on by the Minister of Justice. Then, should it decide to intervene, it will not be by legislation, but by a suggestion to the Manitoba Government contained in an order-in Council. In the event of the latter refusing to comply with the order, the matter would then come up in Parliament, in accordance with the Manitoba Act."

FOR THIRTY SIX DOLLARS.

The Machinery and Plant of the Crescent Chemical Works Were Sold.

Special to the Times.

MONTREAL, March 12.—The machinery and stock of the Crescent Chemical Works, belonging to Harry P. Hyams, who is now standing trial in Toronto on a charge of murder, were sold at auction yesterday by sheriff's sale.

There was a large attendance of buyers. The whole stock was purchased by Paul Dubord for $36, a sum which will not pay the sheriff's costs.

Mr. Joseph M. Pillow, who acted as clerk for the past year, stated that the effects were worth from $200 to $300. He also stated that Hyams owes him about $250 for wages.

The Cornwall Shooting.

CORNWALL, March 12.—Frank Carpenter and Frank Easterbrook, charged with shooting an Indian named Oak on Cornwall Island while the latter was stealing wood from Easterbrook's premises, were today remanded until Monday next, bail being allowed in $400. No serious consequences are liable to result from the shooting, and the wounded Indian will be put in the witness box when the case is again called.

Would Not Condemn Dr. Parkhurst.

NEW YORK, March 12.—According to programme the resolutions reflecting upon the conduct of Rev. Dr. Charles H. Parkhurst in the matter of his criticism of the New York presbytery's action with regard to the sale of the church of the "Sea and Land," were offered this afternoon at the monthly meeting of the body. Dr. Parkhurst was absent, having left the city for a two weeks' rest, but his friends were there in force. After a lively discussion the resolutions were laid on the table by a vote of 37 to 28.

LONDON. March 12.—Lord Tweedmouth has requested the newspapers to contradict the report of his son's engagement to a Gaiety Theatre actress.

TALE OF A WATCH.

Made for Sir Oliver Mowat's Granddaughter —Sold to Corinne—Seized as a Smuggled Article—Mrs. Kimball's Action.

Special to the Times.

PITTSBURG, Pa., March 12.—Mr. H. L. Christy, of Pittsburg, has been appointed commissioner to take testimony in the case of Mrs. Kimball and her daughter "Corinne," of the Kimball Opera Company v. the United States, and testimony will be taken here next Tuesday. The suit is to recover a gold watch valued at $1,200, confiscated by a government official, on the ground that it was smuggled from Toronto. The watch has a history. It was made for Sir Oliver Mowat's granddaughter, but was never accepted by that gentleman, and was sold to Corinne for $1,200. Shortly afterwards it was seized as smuggled goods. Mrs. Kimball claims that the watch was delivered to her at the Auditorium hotel, Chicago, by an agent of the firm of Ellis & Co., the jewelers, of Toronto, and that if there was any smuggling it was done by the firm and not by her. The depositions taken here will be certified to by the United States District Court at Chicago and forwarded to the Secretary of the Treasury for a decision of the question, whether or not the watch was the property of Corinne and in actual use before it was brought across the line.

The Owen Electric Belt

Trade Mark—Dr. Owen

The only scientific and practical Electric Belt made for general use, having batteries that produce a strong current of Electricity that is under perfect control and can be applied to any part of the body, for the cure of

Nervous Diseases

Thousands of people suffer from a variety of nervous Diseases, such as Seminal Weakness, Impotency, Lost Manhood, etc., that the old modes of treatment fail to cure. There is a loss of nerve force or power that cannot be restored by any medical treatment, and any doctor who would try to accomplish this by any kind of drugs is pursuing a dangerous practice. Properly treated, these diseases can be

Positively Cured

Electricity, as applied by the Owen Electric Belt and Suspensory, will most assuredly do so. It is the only known power that will supply what is lacking, namely nerve force or power, impart tone and vigor to the organs and arouse to healthy action the whole nervous system. It will most assuredly cure,

Without Medicine,

Varicocele, Nervous Prostration, Rheumatism, Sciatica, Kidney Disease, Lumbago, Lame Back and Dyspepsia.

The Oakville Gold Cure.

Information regarding the above will be given with pleasure to all parties desiring such information. A. H. MELVILLE.

Injured Himself.

Mr. R. Burgess, lineman of the telephone company, while trimming a pole with a draw knife, cut himself in the leg, the knife slipping and inflicting an ugly gash.

A Successful Season.

The shareholders of the Otonabee Union Cheese and Dairy factory met on Monday to hear the results of their experiment in winter dairying. The financial report showed that the season had been very successful and demonstrated that winter dairying could be made to pay.

A Surprise Party.

The Mark street Methodist choir and their friends held a surprise party at the residence of Mr. H. S. Armstrong, Otonabee, last evening. About 40 young people invaded the hospitable home of Mr. Armstrong and took the occupants totally by surprise. A very pleasant evening was spent.

A Runaway.

Quite an exciting runaway occurred on Charlotte street at noon hour yesterday. A horse attached to a cutter became frightened at a street car and dashed west on Charlotte. The shafts were broken in the turn. The horse was stopped near the G.T.R. tracks. The owner wouldn't give his name.

A Lecture on Health.

A large audience gathered in St. Luke's church last night and listened to a very interesting and instructive lecture by Dr. Boucher, who took for his subject "How we digest our food, with some practical remarks on Diet." In a clear and concise manner, Dr. Boucher explained the process of digestion, and pointed out the importance of careful diet, showing how inimical to health and happiness was a good digestion. Men should eat to live and not live to eat.

True Blues Concert.

Queen's Own Lodge, Loyal True Blues, gave a splendid concert last night in Unity Hall, which was largely attended. The chairman opened with an address, in which he dealt with the objects of the Society. The program consisted of vocal and instrumental music, reading and recitation. Mr. Walter English was the accompanist. Those who participated were: Messrs. Kingscote, Hayden, Varnes, [illegible], Hopkins, Sabine, Beach, Sharp, [illegible], Henderson, Corbin, Blackstock, [illegible], Millar, Gray, Miller, Hetherington, Hodson and Owens.

MARRIED IN HASTE.

Very Quiet Wedding—A Lucky Organist He.

A despatch from Cobourg says: Quite a sensation spread here on Saturday evening when it became known that Arthur O. Geiger, organist of St. Peter's Episcopal church here, was married on Monday last at Holy Trinity church, Toronto, to Miss Mabel Buck, of this place.

Monday last, Miss Buck, accompanied by her sister, Mrs. Gifford, left Cobourg for Toronto to take a course of Turkish baths for rheumatism. Mr. Geiger and Mr. George M. Stevens also went to the Queen City, and they were married the same day.

Mr. Geiger had been a good deal in the company of Miss Buck of late, but no one had any idea they were married until Saturday evening. Then Mr. Geiger called at the Buck residence and said to Mrs. Buck: "It's no use beating around the bush any longer. Mabel and I are married!"

Miss Buck belongs to one of the oldest families in the town and moves in the best of society, and the news of her marriage to Geiger was a great surprise to her friends and a subject of wondering comment to the public. Both of the contracting parties are well known in Peterborough.

ON SOCIAL WORK.

Mrs. Commandant Booth Addresses the Local Corps of the Salvation Army.

Mrs. Commandant Booth visited the local Salvation Army corps last evening and was tendered a banquet at the barracks, after which she addressed a mass meeting. The Army gave her a great ovation and after a testimony meeting and several solos by Mrs Booth, the wife of the leader of the Canadian forces of the Army, commenced her talk.

She denounced the criticisms of certain people on the modes of the Army and she upheld them and showed how they were utilized for good. The greater part of her speech was devoted to a description of the work in the rescue homes for fallen women and drunken women. They had several of these homes and they were doing much good and many lost women had been reclaimed and started on the right road. Mrs. Booth's address was touched up with several good illustrations.

The meeting was enthusiastic and was carried through in true Salvation Army style.

A ONE-SIDED GAME.

The Review and Examiner Play Hockey on the Rink.

The staffs of the Examiner and Review played a fierce and anarchistic game of hockey last night, at least they played at it. With commendable consideration for the feelings of the habitues of the rink, the time for the match to come off was set at 10 o'clock. From some unaccountable source the report got abroad that the newspaper men could play hockey, and this induced a large crowd to stay and witness the match, when it was amply demonstrated that the report was groundless. It will be safe to say that the game was an exhibition. It was more than that, it was blood-curdling. Spanish bull-fights were nothing to it. The ice was a scene of "pi" from start to finish, and the combatants will need a week to recover from the effects.

The noble aggregation of players lined up at 10 o'clock, as follows:

REVIEW.		EXAMINER.
Dobbin	Goal	Terrill
Taylor	Point	Glover
Heap	Cover Point	Dredge
Gerrans	Forwards	Hubbs
L. M'Williams		Costello
McWilliams		Knapp
Goldie		McMillan
W. Stoaker	Umpires	F. Nesbitt

L. King..Referee.

It would be impossible to describe the points as they were made. The players themselves have no idea of them. The puck was battered and hammered all over the rink and frequently sat on. The Review scored the first goal, and a mightly roar of applause was their reward. But the Examiner was not the slightest bit disconcerted by this, and immediately got down to business. It was a battle royal. The Review got the next goal and then two more before half time was called.

At this juncture the Examiner held a consultation. There must be something wrong somewhere. Some one hinted that their flags were farther apart than their opponents, but careful measurement disproved this. Finally it was decided to put their star player in goal and when the last half began Mr. Terrill stood smiling between the flags. The Review immediately went to work and put the puck through six times in rapid succession. The game finished with a score of ten "scoops" to 0 in favor of the Review.

Now to show the citizens of Peterborough that the newspaper staffs are not all shinny players, THE TIMES hereby challenges the winners in the above contest to a GAME OF HOCKEY. If they accept, the game will be a notable one for clean playing and good combination work, that is, as far as THE TIMES' players are concerned.

CURLING.

Skips Connal and Edmison played a match last night in the Kendry cup series with the following results:

O'Brien	Weller
Morrow	Rogers
Sallsbury	Peck
Connal, skip 7	Edmison, skip.....17

Port Hope is anxious to play the Peterboroughs a game of hockey. What audacity!

The [illegible] of Kingston will not play the Peterboroughs.

GENERAL SPORTS.

Frank Craig, the Harlem Coffee Cooler, who has been travelling about England for some time past looking for trouble, ran up against Frank Slavin, the Australian pugilist, in Central hall, Holborn, last night in a finish fight before an immense crowd of sports. The Coffee Cooler soon got his medicine, as Slavin knocked him cold inside of two minutes.

Both men sparred cautiously for half a minute after entering the ring, then Slavin tapped his antagonist lightly on the head. A rally followed, during which the Coffee Cooler got a couple of stiff punches in the ribs. Swinging with the right, just after the men broke away, Slavin caught Craig under the jaw and landed him stiff. He was counted out amidst great consternation.

J. A. Carroll, manager of the Mexican National club, has issued a challenge to Jack McAuliffe to meet him for the lightweight championship of America and England now claimed by Carroll. The National club of the City of Mexico has offered $6,000 for the combat.

"Wag" Harding has cabled to New York his acceptance of Gaudaur's challenge to row any man in the world for $2,500 a side. He stipulates that the contest take place in England.

The Inspectorship.

There are numerous applications pouring for the position of school inspector. Mr. Garvin's engagement expires on April 1st., and it is likely the appointment will be made at the next regular meeting of the Board of Education. Among the applicants are some very meritous ones. The Committee on Appointments will meet shortly and make a recommendation.

LITTLE LOCAL LINES.

Items of Interest Intelligently Presented for Busy Readers.

The market tolls will be auctioned on March 22.

The full judgment of the arbitration has not yet arrived.

The Ashburnham assessors have completed their rounds.

A special meeting of the council will be held some night this week.

It is about time the street inspector began to clear the ice off the streets.

Ashburnham has spent $100 this winter for snow shovelling outside of the regular tenderer.

Season tickets at the rink will expire on Friday. If the weather continues cold the rink will remain open a little longer.

The proprietors of billiard rooms will protest against the new bylaw, which compels them to close on the most profitable night of the week.

The Foley will case came up in court on Monday. In the Osgoode Hall reports the following reference was made: Re Foley. E. T. Malone, for trustees, moved on petition for advice of court. Trustees hold $13,500 of notes, secured by second mortgage on property in Denver, U. S. A., now valued at $20,000, encumbered by first mortgage of $10,000, and are asked to renew for one year, receiving as additional security an endorser and first mortgage upon the property. J. R. Cartwright, Q. C., for cestui qui trust. Thompson (Hamilton) for mortgagor. Order made authorizing renewal as asked.

INS AND OUTS.

No time should be lost in placing a heavy insurance upon the sewer.

Some people are tired of hearing of the outfall sewer matter. Its easy to guess who they are.

There is already some talk as to who will and who won't compose next year's council. It's sure betting betting on the "won'ts."

If the council had used as much caution in the outfall sewer matter as was exercised in the purchase of a typewriting machine for the clerk's office, the muddle would not have occurred.

Toronto is indeed a fortunate city with nothing to contend with except a million dollar fire every week or so, while Peterborough has her sewer muddle all the time and a threatened appeal as well.

The strange form which was seen on the streets several weeks ago at midnight and which was taken for a ghost is now thought to have been a policeman. No wonder several citizen's were frightened.

The town is moving slowly in the matter of offering inducements to certain manufacturing industries that would enrich the town if located in Peterborough. In some matters the Council is "penny wise and pound foolish." This is one of them.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Mr. N. P. Wesler, Montreal, is in town.

Mr. A. Levy, Hamilton, was at the Central yesterday.

Mr. W. R. Webster, Montreal, is registered at the Snowden.

Mr. W. Bradburn, of Omemee, was here on business yesterday.

Mr. Thomas Ellison, Garden Hill, was a guest at the Snowden yesterday.

Mr. R. G. Lamb, of Smith's Falls, is spending a few days in town.

Mr. T. H. Folliott, of Omemee, is in town registered at the Central Hotel.

Mr. Thomas Kimberley, of Smith Falls, is visiting friends in town.

Rev. J. E. Cooper, of Shanty Bay, is registered at the Grand Central.

Evangelistic Services.

George street church was crowded last night at the evangelistic services conducted by Rev. J. B. Moore and Mr. J. M. Whyte. A great deal of interest is being manifested and the visit of these evangelists will result in a great good. The singing last night was especially good. Rev. Mr. Moore delivered a strong and stirring exhortation.

A Metal Breadboard

THE WOMAN WHO HAS BEEN USED to kneading dough on the old fashioned wooden breadboard knows what a bother it is to get them clean and how cumbersome and heavy they are. When they begin to crack or check it is almost impossible to thoroughly cleanse them, and they may easily become dangerous conveyances of disease. It was left for a woman, of course, to remedy this state of affairs, and Mrs. M. M. Everhard, of St. Joseph, Mich., has patented a metal bread board, which is one of the greatest labor-savers imaginable. It is light, does not absorb grease, dough does not adhere to it, and while it possesses all the advantages of the marble bread board it is much cheaper and, of course, far lighter and easier to handle. If readers want to confer a favor upon their wives that will be forever appreciated, let them send $1 to the manufacturers, 101 Bay street, Toronto, for one of these boards.

LOOKS BAD FOR WELTER.

TWELVE DOCTORS AGREE THAT HENDERSHOTT WAS MURDERED.

His Wounds Could not Have Been Caused by a Falling Tree—Expert Medical Evidence—The Head not Exhibited in Court.

Special to The Times.

St. Thomas, March 13.

YESTERDAY afternoon the Crown's medical evidence was all put in, and the following doctors testified, in addition to Dr. Frank Lawrence, who performed the post mortem: E. W. Eustin, coroner and surgeon for G.T.R.; D. McLarty; W. E. Smith, M.C.R. surgeon; Robert Kains; James Fulton; C. Duncombe, S. Day, St. Thomas; John Cascaden, Dutton; Brock, West Lorne; C. C. Sinclair; J. J. Kingston, Aylmer.

It was expected the head of the deceased would be in Court after recess, but the Crown did not produce it.

The doctors thought that one heavy blow could not have caused the wounds, which were as follows:

Small triangular scar on bridge of nose, one third of an inch in length; small scar on left margin of lower lip; bruise three quarters of an inch in diameter on left frontal bone; two horizontal cuts on left cheek, about one inch in length, almost running into one another. The margins of these cuts were sharp and well defined. Scalp wounds four inches long beginning near outer end of eyebrow; top of left ear cut off; sharp cut, inch in length, extending from outer angle of right eye upwards; scalp wound to the right of the middle line of the head, and clean cut and sharp scalp wound on right side, one inch in length. wound 1½ inches long, running backwards and to the right from a point three inches above the outer angle of eye (probably fatal), scalp wound four inches in length, running in a zigzag direction transversely across head (probably fatal), wound 1½ inches in length on right side of back of head below previous cut. Fracture at base of skull; probably caused by blood over right eye.

The medical men underwent a rigid, severe cross examination by the counsel for the defence, but they agreed and said they didn't see how there could be any difference of opinion. Medical testimony will be adduced for the defence, and it is understood that several lumbermen will be called to swear that the wounds could have been produced by the branches of the falling tree.

MR. MACDONALD'S CONTENTION.

St. Thomas, March 13.—The case for the Crown having been closed, counsel for the defence this morning made a formal application for the discharge of John Hendershott, the elder prisoner, on the ground that sufficient evidence had not been produced to show his connection with the death of his nephew, William Hendershott. He was charged with being an accessory before the fact, but the Crown had failed to prove this. Mr. Macdonald, counsel for the prisoners, made a strong appeal to sustain his application, claiming there was nothing to show that John Hendershott had tried to dispose of any of the persons whom he wanted to insure.

HIS LORDSHIP REFUSED

the application, stating that the case must go to the jury, and they must decide whether evidence unfavorable to the prisoner had been produced.

The first witness examined today was Mary Lilly Hendershott, daughter of the elder prisoner and the affianced bride of the younger prisoner. The witness shows evidence of the severe strain upon her nerves by the terrible tragedy, and anxious but faithful watching over the prisoners' interests both before and after the commencement of the trial. She was dressed in deep black. The judge ordered that a chair be brought for her.

When the witness began her evidence every eye in the court room was rivetted upon her. She described her father's and lover's mode of life, and with her father when they left their home upon that fatal 14th of December, on their way to St. Thomas, Aylmer, Tilsonburg and Eden. The trip was made as a visit to friends and relatives, and had been contemplated for some time. Her father was scarcely out of her sight more than five minutes during the trip. They arrived at Aylmer at 1 o'clock, and reached Mr. Ostrander's at 5 o'clock, where Mr. Ketchabaw met them with the telegram, containing the news of the young man's death, but they did not know positively who was dead until they arrived at St. Thomas on their return trip.

SHE WAS POSITIVE

that William Henry Hendershott had quarrelled with his father over division of property. She also stated that before starting on their easterly trip she had heard the two young men talking of trading watches.

This part of the evidence was ruled out by the judge.

Her father and deceased had been out in the woods cutting timber during all the week.

Upon cross examination by Mr. Osler, witness said that William Welter slept in the same bed with her father for the past six months. The deceased William Hendershott slept upstairs. She knew nothing of her father's business affairs. She recited the conversation between her father and Mr. McGugan at the Penwarden House in St. Thomas.

Mr. Osler pointed out the discrepancies in her present evidence and that given by the witness in her examination at the Police Court, and tried to break down her evidence, but she stuck firmly to her statement that her father did not know whether his nephew or brother was killed until he reached the Penwarden House returning home.

AN ALIBI FOR HENDERSHOTT.

Albert Marlatt saw Hendershott in St. Thomas near the noon hour on Dec. 14.

Other witnesses are giving evidence to sustain an alibi in the case of John Hendershott, and it is believed that so far as he is concerned the crown's case has failed.

The interest in the case is still increasing and it is almost impossible to obtain an entrance to the court room.

ARRANGING THE SCHEDULE.

Eastern League Magnates in Session at New York.

NEW YORK, March 13.—The baseball magnates of the Eastern League are in session today at the Fifth avenue hotel.

The chief matter for consideration is the schedule of games for the coming season. If approved, this will be given out tonight.

Manager Charlie Maddocks and Director Inspector Stark are looking after Toronto's interests.

WILL LEAVE TORONTO.

The Massey-Harris Company will Remove to Niagara Falls Immediately if Proper Inducements are Held Forth—Toronto to Lose the Big Canadian Firm.

Special to the Times.

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., March 13.—There was a special meeting of business men held last night to consider a proposition from the Massey-Harris Company of Toronto, Brantford and Woodstock, Ont., which purposes to remove its factories to the United States, and is looking for cheap site and power and extensive shipping facilities. The company favors Niagara Falls, but in the face of the fact that other cities are offering bonuses for the removal of the plant thither, it was thought well to ask the business men of this city what they were willing to bid.

AN IMMEDIATE REMOVAL.

The Company represented that it was capitalized at $5,000,000, with $4,500,000 paid in; that it employed 1,200 men, and would immediately remove its works from Brantford to Niagara Falls, put up a plant costing $200,000 or more, and employ 400 men at the start if the business men would defray the cost of moving, which would be about $25,000.

Out of the 40 business men present at the meeting less than half at first favored the raising of a subscription fund to the amount named. Others argued that this city already offered natural inducements sufficient to have drawn other industries here, and that in the near future more would surely gravitate hither.

A CLEVELAND OFFER.

It was stated that Cleveland, Ohio, had offered $300,000 cash to the company if it would remove there. A good deal of discussion followed this and while the sentiments were not at all in accord with those of the company, there was a strong inclination prevailing to see what could be done.

A committee of 15 men was appointed to solicit subscriptions and report on Thursday afternoon. On this will depend the success of the company locating its immense plant here.

It was also stated that the Potters of this city had offered the concern 15 acres of valuable land for a site for its factory free. The land is just north of the New York Central railroad tracks and opposite the Carborundum Company building.

SHOT DOWN BY A MOB.

MORE LAWLESSNESS AND BLOODSHED IN NEW ORLEANS.

Colored Wharf Laborers Killed—Police Panic Stricken at the Sight of the Winchesters—An Englishman Shot.

Special to the Times.

NEW ORLEANS, March 13.—Another bloody riot occurred along the levee yesterday morning. The scene of the conflict was on the river front, between St. Anne's and Dumaine streets. Three men were killed outright, while a number were wounded. The killing was done by a mob of white men, numbering about 200, who were armed with pistols and Winchester rifles. The negroes were about to begin work on the steamer Engineer, lying at that point, when the white men approached from all directions. All were armed, and many took position behind box cars and poured volley upon volley into the negroes. The negroes were

GIVEN NO QUARTER

and were shot down like dogs, several innocent persons also suffering. Among those killed was Jules Olice Carabee, a shoemaker, who happened to be in the vicinity. James Bane, the purser of the Engineer, was standing on the levee near his ship when the attack was made and received four wounds, three in the head and another in the arm. He was fired on by several men and aimed over the heads of three policemen who were kneeling behind some freight cars on the edge of the wharf. His wounds may prove fatal. As near as can be stated, the shooting occurred a few minutes after 7 o'clock this morning. There was a dense fog prevailing, and this afforded the whites an excellent chance to do their bloody work. At the time there were only six policemen on the scene, and there were no arrests made, as the police were as badly frightened as the negroes. They were composed of two parties. A large number of men appeared at the corner of Dumaine street, and another mob came from the corner of St. Anne street. Corporal Devanney, who was in charge of the handful of policemen, ordered the mob to disperse, but no attention was paid to him, and every minute. Suddenly a shot was fired. This had a smarting effect on the men. The first report was followed by five or six shots, and then the firing became general. The smoke and the fog combined made the scene almost as dark as night. The negroes were on board the ship, and had just raised the tarpaulin off hatch No. 2 when the attack was made. They were taken completely by surprise, and their cries were pitiful. Many sought refuge aboard the ship, while some ran down the wharf and made their escape. One negro, it is said, jumped under the wharf. It is impossible to estimate the number of shots fired. It is said that there were about 200. After the shooting the men hurried off as fast as they had come. The mob fired recklessly on all sides, not caring whom they shot. After the departure of the rioters a large number of police, under the command of Sergt. Day, made their appearance on the scene and cleared the wharf of large crowds which had gathered.

THE MOB GREW LARGER

AFFECTS THE HYAMS CASE.

Chief Justice Meredith's Decision Regarding Evidence.

Special to the Times

TORONTO, March 13.—The decision of Chief Justice Meredith at St. Thomas that no evidence of previous applications by John Hendershott for insurance upon the lives of people other than those who are directly concerned in the case, as young W. H. Hendershott, the alleged murdered man, is admissible will have an important bearing upon the Hyams case, which comes up in the Police Court on Monday.

A considerable amount of evidence upon which Crown Attorney Curry hoped to make out a strong case against the prisoners will be excluded. Some testimony which was to have been given by Mrs. Hyams and Mrs. J. M. Pillows will not be received.

It is almost certain that an attempt to upset Chief Justice Meredith's ruling will be made shortly and a reserved case prepared for argument.

A CHURCH SLANDER CASE.

THE OUTCOME OF A TRIAL IS A SUIT FOR $10,000.

Calling His Wife Names is the Charge Against an Anglican Minister—The Case to Be Tried in Toronto.

Special to the Times.

TORONTO, March 13.

SOME grave charges of slander against Capt. Armstrong and Miss Janet McIntyre, of Lloydtown, have caused Barrister F. J. Roche to issue a writ for $10,000 damages. Mr. Roche is acting in behalf of Rev. E. W. Sibbald, the Anglican rector of the same village.

The suit also reveals the fact that an English trial has been going on at intervals in Toronto for a month past at the Synod office and ended only last evening. Rev. Mr. Sibbald was charged by his wife with calling her names and using improper language, etc.

ALL THE EVIDENCE.

The court which sifted the matter was composed of Rev. A. J. Brough ll, J. A. Worrell, Q. C., J. R. Cartwright, Deputy Attorney General, Rev. Septimus Jones and Rev. John Pearson. The taking of evidence was finished last evening, and the court will report to the Bishop when the finding is ready.

At the trial F. J. Roche and Allan Dymond appeared for Rev. Mr. Sibbald, and A. Bosworth Armstrong for Mrs. Sibbald and some of the parishioners.

DEFENDANTS WERE WITNESSES.

Capt. Armstrong and Miss McIntyre were among the witness against Mr. Sibbald. The present suit arises over statements they made in the witness box and previously in regard to Mr. Sibbald.

Mrs. Sibbald, since shortly before Christmas, has been residing with her mother, Mrs. Hungerford, of Belleville. She was married to Mr. Sibbald seven years ago when only 15. There are three children the youngest of which stays with Mrs. Sibbald.

A MUCH WRONGED MAN.

Mr. Sibbald and his friends say he is a much wronged man. He says his wife is laboring under a delusion. He still has the two oldest children with him and carries on the parish work.

The lawyers would say nothing about the matter on account of the final judgment not being given out.

Among witnesses from Toronto were Miss Daw and her father, a Grand Trunk engineer. They were acquaintances of Rev. Mr. Sibbard. The delivery of the judgment is anxiously awaited in Anglican circles.

BOB CODE TO GET IT.

The Young Barrister Likely to Defeat the Aged Knight.

Special to the Times.

OTTAWA, Ont., March 13.—Speculation is rife among Conservative politicians over the selection of representatives to be made at the convention next Tuesday. The fight has narrowed down to Sir James Grant and R. G. Code on the English side, with the chances strongly in favor of the latter. Three French applicants are in the field with Robillard again the favorite. A Hudson railway man has decided to stand for the city as an Independent.

GOVERN'T. HOUSE GRANTS.

THE MOTION TO ABOLISH THEM WAS OUT OF ORDER.

Yesterday in the Provincial Legislature—The Supplies Purchasing System Attacked by the Opposition.

Special to the Times.

TORONTO, March 13.—When the House assembled at 3 o'clock there were a few vacant seats in the chamber, but the galleries were all well filled.

On motion of Hon. Mr. Hardy that the Speaker, now leave the chair, Mr. Whitney moved, in amendment, seconded by Dr. Willoughby, that all the words after that be stricken out and the following substituted:

"That in the opinion of this House the maintenance of Government House and the establishment connected therewith, at the expense of the province, should after the expiration of five years from the appointment, or other earlier determination of the term of office of his Honor, the present Lieutenant-Governor, be discontinued."

Before Mr. Whitney had time to say anything to the amendment, Hon. Mr. Hardy rose to a point of order. He objected on the ground that there was a motion practically similar on the order paper, notice of which had been given by the hon. member from Frontenac. Mr. Hardy citied authorities to show that the amendment was not in order, and Mr. Speaker agreed with him.

SUPPLIES AGAIN.

In speaking to another amendment Mr. Marter attacked the Government vigorously for not purchasing their supplies for the provincial institutions through tender or public competitions. He named various articles used at these institutions and quoted prices paid, endeavoring to point out that the figures were higher than they would have been had the supplies not been purchased privately, but by tender.

Every year, he said, $300,000 worth of supplies were purchased privately when if they were secured through public competition thousands of dollars would be saved to the province and the institution.

There were cheers from the Ministerial benches when Hon. Mr. Gibson rose to respond to the leader of the Opposition. He did not think the hon. gentleman opposite had any right to accuse the Government of corruption in this matter unless he had evidence to bear out what he said. He instanced the Central prison and pointed out that they had done better buying privately than they could have hoped to have done by advertising for supplies at the first of the year. The bursars of these institutions could be called upon in committee and their evidence taken under oath.

This motion he looked upon as one of want of confidence and asked the members of the house to vote it down.

The Times.

PETERBOROUGH, MARCH 14, 1895.

Good morning!

Let Manitoba alone.

"Has the national policy made you rich?" asks the Globe. No, but it has evidently made our contemporary retch

The Town Clerk, following instructions from Councillor Cahill, chairman of the Manufacturers Committee of the Town Council yesterday, wrote the Howry Lumber Company, Fenelon Falls, with a view of inducing them to build the new mill which the firm propose to construct in Peterborough.

The Orange Grand Lodge for Ontario, opened in Toronto on Monday, at which Grand Master Hughes delivered a lengthy address. It was all pointed enough until he touched upon the Manitoba School question, when the grand master flunked. It is quite evident that Mr. Hughes is more of a politician than an orangeman.

Did Councillor Stone ever hear the story of the man who undertook to fix his own watch? He took the works of the timepiece apart, and when he had put them together again he found he had enough wheels and things left over to make another watch. Since that gentleman's journey out in the snow on a recent occasion, he has ample excuse for making another trip somewhere about the time the Council again assembles. This time he might induce Councillor Mills to accompany him.

The dramatic career of Lord Randolph Churchill is vividly narrated in the Review of Reviews for March. His latest portrait is given, and one or two of the more effective cartoons which appeared in his days of political ascendancy are reproduced. The frontispiece is a copy of of the painting by Mr. C. M. Hardie, exhibited in the Royal Academy, 1895, which represents a meeting of Burns and Scott in Sciennes House, Edinburgh, the residence of Prof. Adam Fergusson; Dugald Stuart. Adam Smith, and other eminent men of the day are members of the group in the foreground of the picture.

Hinton St. George, the Somersetshire estate of Earl Poulett, is offered for sale. The Earl is the lineal representative of Sir Amias Paulet, the jailor of Mary, Queen of Scots, and is father to Viscount Hinton, who grinds the organ in the London streets. The estate comprises over ten thousand acres; the old castellated manor-house lies in a park of 1,300 acres. It contains a picture gallery with 320 paintings, some by Rubens, Correggio, Murrillo, Rembrandt, and Vandyke. Everything on the estate is in perfect order, and for it all, pictures, firniture and heirlooms included $3,000,000 are asked.

In the Texas Legislature a bill has been introduced providing for the levying of a $50 annual tax upon all unmarried men of 30 years of age who under oath swear that they have not exerted due diligence in trying to get married. He shall be exempt from the fine, however, if he can produce evidence to show that he tried to get married. To be exempt from this act, however, if he remains single, he must produce the affidavit of some reputable woman that at least once a year he has made a proposal of marriage to her.

GENTLEMEN,—You ask me what results I had from the small advertisement I placed in THE TIMES under "want" head. I never saw anything like it. I must have had 50 or 60 replies the first two or three days after the advertisement appeared. It is a dangerous thing to advertise in THE TIMES, for one is liable to get a surplus of what he advertises for.

Frank Leslie's Popular Monthly For April.

The April number of FRANK LESLIE'S POPULAR MONTHLY contains a beautifully illustrated article, replete with personal interest and of real practical value, entitled "How to Become a Prima Donna." This paper, written by W. de Wagstaffe, embodies actual talks with four of the reigning operatic stars of the present season—namely, Mmes. Emma Eames, Lillian Nordica, Zelie de Lussan and Jessie Bartlett Davis. Other pictorial and literary features of this number are: a biographical sketch of Count Yamagata, the contemporary Japanese Von Moltke, written expressly for FRANK LESLIE'S POPULAR MONTHLY by Teiichi Yamagata, a near relative of the great Field Marshal; a charming and seasonable account of the account of the legendry of "Easter Eggs," by Mrs. Leicester Addis; an authoritative account of "The Eisteddfod in Wales and in the United States," by ex-Postmaster General Thomas L. James; entertaining reminiscences of some "Eccentric Dinners," by Howard Paul; "The World Awheel," being a chapter on the evolution of the bicycle and la Reine Bicyclette, by Henry Tyrrell; "Homes in Japan," by George Donaldson; "New York Newsboys," by Kathleen Mathew; "The Natural History of Cockfighting," by Ernest Ingersoll; and "Taxidermy as an Art," with illustrations by W. H. Drake, written by Frank A. Chapman, of the American Museum of Natural History. There are also a numher of good short stories and poems by distinctively popular writers.

BEULAH LAND.

We're getting on in years, Jane, we two who started out
So bravely on life's journey, when the world was blithe and gay;
I can hardly tell, my darling, how the thing has come about,
But I find myself beginning to live in yesterday.

There's a bald spot on my head, Jane, and the frost is sifting down
White as the drifting snow of winter on the fringe above my brow,
And your bonny locks are silver, that were once a golden brown,
Yet you never were so queenly, Jane, so beautiful as now.

But "Hurry up, old lady!" the car conductors say—
"Step lively, please, old gentlemen!" and young folks offer seats,
And we discover in ourselves, when treated in this way,
A cold and haughty anger, or quick resentful heats.

Then, we've learned to love a corner by the chimney's blaze at night;
We are not always ready for the sleighing or the ice,
That used to often call us forth, our faces smiling bright,
When mirth and frolic made for youth the flavor and the spice.

And we've caught the trick of looking with a half resentful awe
At the judges and the doctors whom we used to know in kilts;
And we blush at the admission, but our youngster's word is law—
She has but to nod her meaning, and our opinion wilts.

Then the small grandchildren rule us; pray do not deny it, Jane;
We would spoil them with indulgence if they lived beneath our roof,
When the question is of saying no, the little ones to train,
We, once so sternly resolute, just weakly stand aloof

Yes, we're getting on in years, but I like it very well,
This broad and pleasant upland to which our steps have climbed;
'Tis a restful Beulah country where delightful people dwell,
And the hour of our arrival has been very sweetly timed.

HOME, SWEET HOME.

REMOVAL OF THE REMAINS OF JOHN HOWARD PAYNE.

Brought From Tunis to His Native Land Pathetic Scene in the Little Protestant Church—Something About the Last Days of the Sweet Singer.

I chanced upon Mr. John Worthington the other day just after his return from Malta, where he has been United States consul since his appointment to that position by President Arthur in 1882. From time to time I have noticed extracts from his consular reports in the newspapers, but I particularly remembered his connection with the removal of John Howard Payne's remains to this country from Tunis at the instance of Mr. Corcoran of Washington.

Mr. Worthington said that one of the earliest and most interesting duties he had to perform as consul was to go to Tunis and exhume the body of John Howard Payne, the author of "Home, Sweet Home." This was on Jan. 5, 1883. Payne had been the American consul at Tunis and died there in 1852. His body lay in St. George's cemetery, in the heart of the town of Tunis, for 29 years, when Mr. Corcoran, the Washington banker, obtained permission from the state department to take it up and bring it to America.

"When I arrived at Tunis," Mr. Worthington continued, "it was noon—the exhumation was to take place at 1 o'clock. At the grave I found assembled Sir Thomas F. Reade (the British consul general), one or two gentlemen connected with the American consulate and about 20 other gentlemen, some of them Tunisians, dressed in the costumes of the country. Among the latter was Payne's old dragoman, who had been present at his death and funeral.

"There was nothing whatever left of the body except the skeleton, and in removing this skeleton from the grave to a coffin we had to put some of the earth in with it, as the coffin in which the body had been buried had crumbled away, the earth and bones becoming mixed.

"In stooping over the grave I noticed that the root of a tree—a pepper tree—had just begun to creep over the forehead. This I pulled away, and in so doing exposed a piece of bone as white as ivory, which, together with a branch of the pepper tree, I sent to Mr. Corcoran at Washington. I also obtained five or six brass buttons from the uniform in which Payne had been buried, one of which I sent to Mr. Corcoran, one to the secretary of state—in fact, I gave them all away, not keeping even one for myself.

"The body was then taken to the little English Protestant church at Tunis, where, the coffin having been covered with an American flag, we placed it on a table at the foot of the chancel and directly under a window which had been erected to Payne's memory by English and American residents, and on which was inscribed: 'To the memory of John Howard Payne, author of "Home, Sweet Home."'"

This was just about sunset. The ceremony which took place was of a simple nature. An English naval officer played the air of 'Home, Sweet Home' on a little American melodeon which stood there, and after considerable urging I induced my wife to sing the words. This she at last consented to do, and standing there in the beautiful twilight singing helped to make one of the most pathetic scenes I have ever witnessed. At first she sung in brave tones, but gradually, as she began to think how this little scene might some day become historic, her voice trembled and trembled—which only added pathos to the scene—until there was not a dry eye in the church. Arabs, foreigners and all were wiping away the tears. It was simply overwhelming.

"There we left the body all night. The next day, at noon, we again assembled, when the coffin containing all that was left of Payne was carried to the Mariana, whence it was put aboard a French ship bound for Marseilles. It was then transferred to a ship coming direct to the United States, where it was taken to Washington and buried.

"Over the grave in Washington Mr. Corcoran dedicated a handsome monument, with appropriate ceremonies.

"The people of Tunis, as I learned afterward, felt aggrieved that even the old tombstone which had covered the grave for 30 odd years had been taken away to America. This was done by a mistake. Mr. Corcoran wrote to me, and when he was informed of their feeling he at once authorized me to have a monument put up over the empty grave in Tunis. This I did, duplicating the one in Washington, except instead of putting a bust, as on the Washington monument, I had a little group of symbols cut for the top, one a ribbon, on which were carved the first few notes of 'Home, Sweet Home,' and the inscription (from Mrs. Ray Riley Smith's poem, 'Sometime') 'Then Be Content, Poor Heart,' and the others a lute and a book."

"I suppose, Mr. Worthington, you obtained considerable information regarding Payne's life in Tunis?"

"Yes, I did, particularly from a Mr. Alfred Chappillie, the present United States vice consul in Tunis. He knew Payne very well and was very kind to him. It was through Mr. Chappillie largely that Payne was enabled to receive the assistance which made his last days comfortable without Payne knowing that it was charity. He was proud, he fancied—and his friends led him to believe—that the money he was living on was his own, whereas, as a matter of fact, his friends were helping him. He supposed it was his money which had been saved for him out of his own income.

"Payne lived in a fine large house in Tunis, which he had succeeded in getting the bey to let him occupy in his capacity as a servant of the United States. As he began to fail he staid in the house a great deal, sitting in a large chair, well wrapped up, with a hot fire burning—this, too, in the hot climate to be found there—contenting himself with brandy and soda. He finally died from exhaustion from inability to eat or retain anything, living on brandy altogether during the last few days of his life."—Philadelphia Press.

RACE WAR DOWN SOUTH.

WHITES AND NEGROES KILLING EACH OTHER ON SIGHT.

There is Rioting all over New Orleans—White Screw Men on the Boats Kill the Colored Men Who Are Taking Their Places.

Special to the Times.

NEW ORLEANS, La., March 12.—This morning at 7 o'clock a gang of about fifty screw men came to the Harrison Cromwell line and fired upon the negroes as they came along. About twelve were instantly killed.

Rioting was resumed on the levee at an early hour. At the head of Josephine street one negro was killed by white screw men. In the vicinity of French market several negroes have been wounded.

In the rioting at the French market three negroes are reported to have been fatally wounded.

A DELIBERATE ACT.

The negro killed at the head of First street was walking along the levee when he was met by a crowd of 200 white men armed with shot gun, winchester rifles and revolvers. One of the men put a pistol to his head and blew out his brains.

Armed men are patrolling the levee and they threaten to shoot every negro they can find. The policemen are trying their best to keep the men in check. At the time the negro was killed a First street the best portion of the police force had gone to the French market where more rioting had occurred.

There is a thick fog hanging over the levee, and it is almost impossible to distinguish an object a foot away. At 9 o'clock everything was reported quiet, although it is expected that more trouble will occur.

WHITE MEN KILLED.

In the rioting down town, in the vicinity of the French market, Jules A. Carribbean, a shoemaker, was instantly killed, shot through the head. J. A. Bain, purser on the British steamship, Engineer, was shot three times through the head and will die. Robert Brooks, a white screw man, shot through the head and will die.

Two unknown negroes were shot through the head. They jumped into the river and were drowned. At Bienville street two unknown negroes are reported killed. At the Charity Hospital four men are reported to have died from their wounds.

PATRONS IN SESSION.

President Mallory Presents His Annual Address.

Special to The Times.

TORONTO, March 12.—When President C. A. Mallory, of the Grand Lodge of the Patrons of Industry, called that body to order this morning in Temperance Hall, over seventy-five delegates were present representing all parts of the province. The first order of business taken up was the report of the Credential Committee, which was approved of. Resolutions were then handed from the delegates of the different districts setting forth their views and requirements on various subjects of interest to their particular locality.

President Mallory then read his address, which was a review of the work and progress of the order during the past year. In referring to the finance of the order, which has been subject to so much comment recently by those whom he considers the enemies of the order, the president asked that a special committee be appointed to make a thorough investigation. He also suggested that a special committee be appointed to watch legislation.

Secretary Welch then presented his report, which was referred to the auditors.

On reassembling this afternoon the reports of the different committees was taken up and disposed of.

The action of the president in changing the time of the Grand Lodge meeting met with the entire approval of the members, as did the recent vote given by the Patron M.P.P. in the Local Legislature.

WILL SIGN A TREATY.

Humiliated China Concedes All the Demands of Japan.

Special to the Times.

NEW YORK, March 12.—A cable despatch to the World, dated Tokio, Japan, March 10, says: China has been informed in general terms of the conditions upon which Japan will consent to peace.

Japan has been notified that China is ready to accept these conditions and to sign a treaty.

INSURANCE RATES RAISED.

Another Advance of 25 Cents Made by the Underwriters Yesterday.

TORONTO, March 12.—A special meeting of the Board of Underwriters was held yesterday afternoon, at which every fire company doing business in Toronto was represented.

It was decided to advance the rates on all risks, other than private dwellings and contents, 25 per cent., and this new rate went into effect immediately the motion was carried.

In insurance parlance, this is a conflagration hazard and will remain in force until the city is properly equipped with fire appliances and enlarged mains. This rate applies to Toronto Junction, in addition to the city.

Oil in the Northwest.

WINNIPEG, March 12.—Immense fields of petroleum have been discovered 70 miles north of Fort Saskatchewan and the Dominion Government has promised to assist in their development.

$20,000 for Henry George.

LONDON, March 12.—The will of S. M. Burroughs, who died at Monte Carlo Feb. 6, bequeaths £4,000 to Henry George.

DRINK
SAUGEEN MINERAL WATER ONLY

The Water is from a Mineral Spring on the shores of Lake Huron, 1900 feet deep, and is recomended by all physicians as a sure cure for Dyspeptics. Not only that, but it is the most pleasant of all Canadian Mineral Waters to drink. It has not got that nasty salty taste the others have. It is aerated and sold in pint bottles, and is sold in all grocery stores and hotels in Ontario.

INDIAN GAMBLERS.

ALWAYS READY TO RISK THEIR ALL IN A GAME OF CHANCE.

Sometimes Whole Villages Are Impoverished by a Streak of Bad Luck—They Rely Upon Charms and Their Ability to Cheat—They Are Good Losers.

As eagerly as a duck flops into the water does an Indian jump into a game of chance. Unbounded belief in luck and perhaps the natural deviltry of the race make Indians inveterate gamblers. There is nothing in an Indian's possession that he will not readily wager on a game of chance. Nearly every noble red man is the possessor of an individual charm or fetich which enables him to do things that other Indians cannot do. This fetich is of value exclusively to the owner, and according to their belief would be of no use or advantage to any other Indian. No person besides the possessor knows what the fetich is and were it to become known it would immediately lose its power for good. No Indian will knowingly steal another Indian's fetich. Such theft vitiates the power of the thief's fetich and casts over him a hoodoo.

Having full faith in the ability of his charm to bring luck to him, the Indian never fails to place all his possessions in the balance when there is a bet on. If he loses, he takes it philosophically and attributes his bad luck to the greater power of his adversary's charm. If he wins, he has added faith in the power of his own charm. Indians have been known to wager all their earthly possessions, even to their squaws and children and tepees, on the fall of a stick in one of their games. Indian villages have become pauperized and dependent upon charity for months because the inhabitants bet everything they had on the result of games with other villages. Such occurrences were common several years ago, and were it not for the restrictions of government regulations would be so still.

Gambling is not a secret vice among the Indians. It is indulged in by all the members of the tribe, and the more expert the gambler the higher he stands in the estimation of his fellows. To have the fame of being a successful gambler causes an Indian to looked up to almost as much as if he were a successful warrior. There is no fear of shocking the morals of even the highest chief by proposing a game with him—in fact, the invitation pleases him. One point of advantage held by the red man over his white brother is in the fact that when he loses everything he possesses he is not much poorer than he was before, and he can readily recoup himself by making a raid upon some unfortunate white settler or upon a weaker tribe. The white man may commit suicide, but the Indian simply looks for a victim and seldom fails to find him.

Before the government tightened the moral lines on the Indians professional Indian gamblers were plentiful. Of late years their number has decreased rapidly. The most famous Indian gambler of today is Quelepah, a Comanche. His game is monte. He is about 30 years old, tall and straight, with a thin, narrow face. His eyes are sunken like those of a consumptive. He never smiles and seldom speaks. Like all Indian gamblers, his dress is rich in bright colors. He usually rides a white pony and is attended by two Apache Indians, both famous for deeds of prowess. He travels from village to village and from tribe to tribe. Everywhere he is well known. When his approach is made known, the Indians wait for him to appear, saving their money to play with him, for it is an Indian maxim that "in the game of Quelepah the play is honest, and the stakes are what you please."

Quelepah once appeared at the Cash creek village. He rode into the village shortly before sundown. One of his companions spread a bright red blanket on the ground. Quelepah knelt before it. As he settled down on his haunches and brought forth a new deck of Mexican monte cards the blanket was surrounded by Indians crouching three and four deep. And behind them stood other Indians eager for an opportunity to play. The long, lean fingers of Quelepah shuffled the cards with marvelous rapidity. The interest in the game waxed as the light waned. Candles were procured as night fell and were fastened in sharp pointed green twigs stuck in the ground.

By their flickering light Quelepah could be seen paying his losses and pocketing his gains. He was both dealer and banker. Behind him on his right and on his left crouched his two Apache followers. As dawn was breaking Quelepah looked about him. He had stripped all save two Indians. One of them was a heavy winner. Laying down $100 for each of them to cover, Quelepah announced that it was his last bet. The cards left were the queen and the deuce. Both Indians laid on the queen. The deuce won. Quelepah pocketed his money. The village, save for the two Indians, was penniless.

Squaws also are inveterate gamblers. It is a common sight to see a dozen squaws, young and old, their papooses lying neglected on the ground, crowded around an old shawl, busy over a 10 cent game of monte. Their play is persistent, and many of them are marvelously clever gamblers. But they seldom have money of their own sufficient to play for high stakes.

One peculiarity of Indian gambling games is their intricacy. In several tribes the writer has seen Indians playing games with sticks and stones for hours at a time. Notwithstanding the closest attention he has been unable to discover the system used, nor has he ever met a white man who could explain the game. There are several games of this kind, and among the Pacific coast tribes they are common.

In addition to his faith in his charm the Indian places great dependence on his ability to cheat. To the best cheat are accorded the highest honors when gambling is indulged in. There is never a thought of getting angry over deft tricks or unfair methods so long as the perpetrator is not caught in the act. If he is caught, he refunds his gains and is laughed at for clumsiness.

Since playing cards have become common, games taught by the whites and Mexicans are generally the favorites among the red men. Monte is played for large amounts. Sometimes an Indian with hundreds of dollars will become impoverished in a single evening by trying his luck against a skillful player. An especially deft monte dealer, more skillful even than Quelepah, has been known to go from tribe to tribe in the mountains of New Mexico and return home loaded down with his winnings. Many Mexican gamblers devote almost their entire time to traveling among the various tribes in the Sierras. They win large sums, but lose them again in Mexican cities.—Fort Sill (O. T.) Cor. New York Sun.

A CLERGYMAN'S LETTER.

Magnificent Work Accomplished in St. Anne's Parish

The Sick and Diseased Made Well by Paine's Celery Compound

Thousands in the Commercial Metropolis know what the Great Spring Medicine has done.

In the great archdiocese of Montreal, the parish of St. Anne's is one of the largest and most important. The parish is a populous one, and the work of a dozen or more clergymen who devote their time and talents to the spiritual and charitable interests of the people, is heavy and neverending.

In this thickly-settled and congested parish the sick and suffering are numerous, but christian help and consolation is ever near in the hour of danger. In scenes of sickness and disease this great parish has been blessed by an agency that has saved thousands of lives in other parts of the Dominion. We now refer to that marvelous medicine Paine's Celery Compound, so well and favorably known in every Canadian home.

The popular clergymen of St. Anne's have, from time to time, heard wonderful reports from their parishioners of the magnificent work accomplished by Paine's Celery Compound. Fathers, mothers, brothers and sisters, have been raised to health and strength. Those pronounced incurable by physicians have been snatched from the jaws of death.

The Rev. P. Rioux, one of St. Anne's most popular clergymen, knowing about the good work done by Paine's Celery Compound, and having experienced most satisfactory results from its use in his own case, writes as follows:—

"I am fully convinced both by personal experience and by the statements of many parishoners intrusted to my care, that the celebrated medicine Paine's Celery Compound deserves a high recommendation. I, therefore, willingly endorse the testimonials already given in its behalf."

His Father Denies It.

LONDON, March 12.—Lord Tweedmouth has requested the newspapers to contradict the report of his son's engagement to a Gaiety Theatre actress.

Miss Olga Nethersole.

Miss Olga Nethersole is one of the English women who believe in high thinking and simple dressing, for off the stage her gowns are almost Puritanical in their soberness of color and plainness of fashion. They are mostly tailor built, and, astonishing to relate to those women who have taken admiring note of her slender waist, straight back and well defined curve, she wears no corset.

A coutille waist that buttons in front is the nearest approach to that bulwark of the French dressmaker. Miss Nethersole thinks the corset is ungraceful, injurious and not quite neat, since her belief is that every article of one's underwear should pay a weekly visit to the washtub. Indeed her lingerie, if one can call it by that name, can easily be packed in a handkerchief box, for it is woven of silk and wool, a beautiful fabric, warm, fine and soft, leaving her body free for active movement. Miss Nethersole is a tremendous worker in and out of the theater, as much manager as actress, and her capacity for the daily achievement of her really tremendous labors she attributes to her sensible dressing. She fully recognizes that petticoats are part of a woman's life, unpleasant, yet impossible to avoid, but her effort is to mitigate their weight and bulk as far

The Books Were Shelved.

Here is a funny little story which is told of a would be literary young man whose face is familiar around the various newspaper offices and who aspires to be witty. Some time ago in course of conversation with a prominent magazine writer the subject of authors and their works was being discussed. The young man, after the manner of all would be literary young men, was criticising the various writers and among others Ouida, whose works he declared were being laid on the shelf. The journalist, punning upon the well known auburn hue of Ouida's hair, said, "Well, if her books are not read, her hair is."

This struck the would be literary young man as a most happy pun, and he resolved to appropriate it to himself at the first opportunity. A few evenings later while out in company he joyfully turned the conversation onto the same subject, and when the proper time arrived sprung the pun in this manner, "Well, she's got red hair if her books haven't."

He is still wondering why no one applauded the brilliant bonmot.

Physiology and Portness.

Mr. Veryfresh—I weigh 154 pounds, and do you know that in a person of that size analysis has shown that there are 96 pounds of water, 8 pounds of albumen, less than 1 pound of pure glue, 34½ pounds of fat, 8½ pounds of phosphate of lime, a pound of carbonate of lime, 3 ounces of sugar and starch, 7 ounces of fluoride of calcium, 6 ounces phosphate of magnesia and a little salt. What do you think of that?

Miss Keene—I think it is all right except in this instance in the matter of the last item.—Detroit Free Press.

A Rhine Custom.

A custom that has existed for several centuries is still maintained in some towns on the lower Rhine. On Easter Monday—auction day—the town crier or clerk calls all the young people together and to the highest bidder sells the privilege of dancing with the chosen girl, and her only, during the entire year. The fees flow into the public poor box.

WALLACE'S POSITION.

He Will Likely Disclaim Responsibility for the Acts of the Cabinet.

Special to the Times.

OTTAWA, March 12.—Hon. N. Clarke Wallace has gone west to attend the meeting of the Grand Orange Lodge, where it is expected to the Manitoba School question will make things lively.

Regarding this question he will take the position that it is premature for him to declare himself, inasmuch as the Government has not decided its course. Moreover, it is understood the Controller not being in the Privy Council he will disclaim responsibility for the acts of his colleagues in the determination of which he has no say.

BOWELL AT BELLEVILLE.

The City Gaily Decorated in Honor of the Premier's Visit.

Special to the Times.

BELLEVILLE, March 12.—The city is gaily decorated today in honor of the visit of Sir Mackenzie Bowell, who arrived on the noon train, accompanied by Hon. Sir A. P. Caron, Messrs. Daly, Curran, Wood, Ouimet and Senator Sanford.

They were met at the station by the Mayor and the various civic bodies and a procession was formed and marched through the principal streets to the residence of J. C. Jamieson, where luncheon was served.

At 3 o'clock the Premier was tendered a reception by the city at the Opera House. The Board of Trade will banquet him at the Hotel Quinte this evening.

MINE HORROR AT RAT PORTAGE.

Twenty Men in Danger, but Nineteen Are Rescued.

Special to the Times.

RAT PORTAGE, March 12.—Fire broke out in the shaft-house of the famous Sultana gold mine yesterday. The shaft was lined with timber, and as the airpumps were shut off there were grave fears of the 20 miners at work beneath being suffocated. Nineteen of the men were rescued and revived, the one exception being a foreigner, who succumbed.

FOR THIRTY SIX DOLLARS.

The Machinery and Plant of the Crescent Chemical Works Were Sold.

MONTREAL, March 12.—The machinery and stock of the Crescent Chemical Works, belonging to Harry P. Hyams, who is now standing trial in Toronto on a charge of murder, were sold at auction yesterday by sheriff's sale.

There was a large attendance of buyers. The whole stock was purchased by Paul Dubord for $36, a sum which will not pay the sheriff's costs.

Mr. Joseph M. Pillow, who acted as clerk for the past year, stated that the effects were worth from $300 to $400. He also stated that Hyams owes him about $250 for wages.

300 Killed.

BUENOS AYRES, March 12.—A despatch from Lima, Peru, says that the insurgents defeated the Peruvian troops in a battle near Calbannillas. Three hundred Government soldiers were killed.

What Toronto Batters will Have to Face.

NEW YORK, March 12.—Manager Chapman, of the Rochester Baseball Club, has signed George Harper, of California, who pitched for Nashville in the Southern League last season, winning 10 out of 13 games. After the Southern League disbanded he was secured by the National League club of Philadelphia, for which he won six of the eight games he pitched.

PETERBOROUGH, MARCH 14, 1895

OREGON'S ROUGH TRIP.

One of the Worst Passages Yet Encountered—A Succession of Gales.

Special to the Times.

HALIFAX, N. S., March 13.—The steamer Oregon, from Liverpool, docked at Richmond this morning. She experienced a very rough passage, one of the worst, the officers say, in their experience. A succession of gales was encountered all the way across. Some days the steamer would be only able to steam 120 to 140 knots per day. On the 6th the machinery broke down and the steamer rolled in the trough of the sea for six hours, when repairs were made and she proceeded. The worst gales were from the 5th to the 8th. One cattleman had his head cut and a seaman was considerably bruised by being thrown about the deck. The steamer brought 200 passengers in all. After landing her freight, passengers and mails, she proceeded for Portland, Me.

A LADIES TONSORIAL PARLOR."

It is Only for the Fair Sex, and Rude Men are Shown the Door.

Special to the Times.

NEW YORK, March 13.—The barber's pole can no longer be claimed by the male sex as their exclusive property. A regulation barber shop was opened yesterday on Sixth avenue, within a stone's throw of the Tenderloin Police Station, in a basement, with a red-and-white striped pole outside the door. The place is devoted exclusively to women.

No men were operated upon, although many found their way into it under the impression that it was the regulation article. They were shown the error of their ways. The place is designated "Ladies' Tonsorial Parlor."

Shaving is subordinated to hair-cutting, curling and frizzing.

PERISHED IN THE FLAMES.

A Child Burned to Death The Mother's Efforts at a Rescue.

Special to the Times.

ROSSEAU, Ont., March 13.—The residence of H. J. Strett, farmer and councillor of North Cardwell, was burned to the ground about nine o'clock this morning, and resulted in the death of his youngest son, Frank, aged 3 years, who was up stairs at the time the fire was discovered, but although they heard him calling lustily for help, the flames had gained too much headway to allow of his being rescued. The distracted mother tried to ascend the stairs with a blanket round her head, but was driven back by the fire. Wm. Guillatt also tried to reach the room, in which the boy was, through the window, but the flames and smoke burst in his face and caused him to also abandon the effort. Little or none of the contents were saved.

MUMIFIED BODIES IN A CAVE.

Supposed to Be Remains of the Aboriginal Race of the Ohio River Valley.

Special to The Times.

CINCINNATI, March 13.—John Bachelor discovered on the Dr. Terril farm, near Petersburg, Ky., today a small cavern in which were four mummified human bodies.

They were in a sitting posture, were small in statue and of dark complexion, and had been wrapped in bandages of some material resembling cloth, but which crumbled to pieces when touched.

Like other similar mummified remains which have been found in that region they are supposed to have belonged to a race which preceded the red Indians.

How the Clerk Was Caught.

QUEBEC, March 13.—Honore Morrisette, the mail clerk arrested yesterday, charged with having robbed several letters containing money, has secured the services of Mr. F. X. Lemieux for his defence. Mr. Bolduc Post Office Inspector, says that he has suspected Morrisette for some time and set a man to watch him. While assorting letters yesterday afternoon Morrisette was observed pocketing a couple of letters. These he gave up on being ordered by the Inspector. He was immediately placed in the hands of a police officer. Detective Patry searched Morrisette's residence and found $1,200 in a tin box. There was among that sum, $100, $50 and $20 bills. Morrisette's arrest has caused a great sensation here, as he was universally considered to be very honest and upright.

Timber Limit Sale.

OTTAWA, March 13.—The lumber interests of the capital and district were well represented in the rotunda of the Russell house yesterday afternoon when the Government offered for sale, by auction, the lease for ten years the privilege of cutting timber on an area of 60 square miles on the Indian reserve in the Lake Temiscamingue district. Mr. A. B. Macdonald was the auctioneer. Bidding was started at $5,000 and by degrees went up to $21,000, for which sum it was knocked down to Mr. George E. Kidd, barrister, representing, it is understood, a wealthy lumber concern.

Fire at New York.

NEW YORK, March 13.—The six-storey brick building, 33 and 35 South Fifth avenue, occupied by Gillies & Geoghehan, manufacturers of steam-heating apparatus, and Nicola Tesla, electrical supplies, was burned early this morning. Loss $100,000, covered by insurance.

SPRING FASHIONS.

The Proper Thing in Gloves and Fans This Summer.

THE canary color, stitched and finished with black, has superseded pearl white kid for demi toilette occasions. Sometimes the finish is of yellow, but black is more in favor. The buttons of all the smart gloves, whatever their color, are of mother of pearl, colored to harmonise with the color of the gloves.

Lavender, silver gray, cream and dead white still hold their own, but the novelty of the hour is the hand covering of pale yellow. Excellent gloves in any of these shades may now be purchased for $1.50, which is considerably cheaper than heretofore. A glove, both stylish and serviceable, is of a delicate dun, a kind of putty color, that goes well with any costume, and, while sufficiently effective in its lightness, does soil readily.

For street wear tan, just now, appears to be more popular than the long regnant red. A new and striking style is shown in heavy undressed kid of a muddy mustard color, stitched and finished after the fashion of dogskin. The same color also crops out in dogskin and is regarded as particularly chic when stitched in red. There is nothing, by the bye, so enduring or so satisfactory, in the long run, as this same dogskin, and in lighter quality it will be even more popular during the spring than it has been during the winter.

Nothing so graceful as the ostrich feather fan has ever been devised. These go almost as much to the opposite extreme in the matter of size as the Empire fan inclines towards the diminutive. There is nothing antique about the feather fan. It is as much the fan of the present period as the Empire fan is an emblem of the Napoleonic era.

Mrs. Langtry is said to be one of the first women who ever carried a feather fan. It was when she first appeared. From that time the fashion was established, and the demand for feather fans ever since has been steady.

The feather fan comes in two shapes. One is round, with a single stick. It is made of several long plumes with an aigrette or bird ornament, or a mass of small tips. In the centre a tiny mirror is sometimes inserted, around which is a rim of gold filigree. On others artificial flowers make a dainty centrepiece.

The fashionable feather fan which opens and closes is simply prodigious To be thoroughly stylish it should be as large as can conveniently be carried. As a thing of beauty, when the feathers are fine and selected, it has no peer. It puts the tiny Empire fan quite in the shade. Worn with a black velvet dress, nothing looks so well as a black feather fan with tortoise-shell or amber sticks. When the feathers are white the sticks should be mother-of-pearl. In the handle of the sticks jewels are frequently inserted.

The gauze fan, or, as it has been aptly called, the flirtation fan, is another of the the modern inventions. This fan holds its own, no matter what the incoming or outgoing fashions may be.

As a fan of practical usefulness it has no place, being too frail to create a breath of air. At the theatre or opera, however, it shades the eyes from the glare of the lights, besides making a most becoming foil for the face.

Plain colored gauze fans with carved sticks are extremely dainty when carried with dresses they match perfectly in color. Nor are they expensive either.

ROSEBERY WILL RESIGN.

And Parliament will be Dissolved After Easter.

Special to The Times.

NEW YORK, March 13.—The Herald's London correspondent says: Lord Rosebery owing nominally to the present state of his health, has determined to place his resignation in the Queen's hands. It is expected that dissolution of Parliament will take place immediately after the Easter recess.

The Daily News (Liberal) urges the claim of Mr. Courtney to the Speakership of the House of Commons in succession to Mr. Peel, who is about to resign. Mr. Courtney, an advanced Liberal, has held several positions under the Government, including that of Financial Secretary to the Treasurer.

They Say Hewson Was Murdered.

LONDON, March 13.—The inquest on the death of Robert Hewson, found dead on the C.P.R. track here on the night of February 25, was concluded last night, when the coroner's jury returned a verdict that the deceased met his death by being placed on the track, after being rendered insensible by some person or persons unknown.

A MINISTER'S DEATH.

Rev. D. G. Sutherland, Pastor of Central Methodist Church, Passes Away.

Special to The Times.

TORONTO, March 13.—Rev. Donald George Sutherland, M.A., LL.B., D.D., pastor of Central Methodist church, Bloor street, died at the parsonage Gwynne street, at 10.20 last night.

Deceased was a son of the late Captain Sutherland, who was killed in the Desjardins canal accident in 1857. He was born in 1839 in Toronto, educated at Victoria University and went in law partnership with Wm. Lester, Q.C., in Hamilton in 1862. In 1868 he became a minister. He has had charge of the circuits of St. Thomas, Kingston, Queen's avenue, London: Elm street, Toronto; Wesley church, Hamilton, and Central church.

MATTERS IN THE EAST.

Japan Delaying the Peace Parley so that Her troops May Reach Pekin.

Special to the Times.

NEW YORK, March 13.—A Special to the Herald from Shanghai says Although Li Hung Chang will doubtless, on reaching Japan, make an almost absolute surrender on behalf of China, opinion in high Japanese circles is sceptical as to the prospects of peace.

The Japanese army has set its heart upon reaching Pekin, and the adroitness with which Japan is concealing the diplomatic game that she is going to play is equal to the strategy she has displayed hitherto in hiding her military movements.

The Emperor of Japan is likly to see the Viceroy at Shimonoseki. In Japan the war party is in the ascendant, in China the peace party, and more than a temporary lull in the struggle is not expected until Russia's object in sending her warships into eastern waters has become plainer.

LONDON, March 13.—A despatch to the Globe from Hiroshima says the Chinese peace envoys will leave Tien Tsin on March 14. Two steamers will convey them.

ST. PETERSBURG, March 13.—A despatch from Tien-Tsin to the Novoe Vremya says the conditions imposed upon China by Japan for the conclusion to peace include the cession of Manchria, as far north as Moukden and the great wall.

Walker Gets His Liberty.

BRAMPTON, March 13.—John Walker, the one-eyed boy who was charged with William W. MacWherrell with murdering the old Williams couple on the Midd'e road in December, 1893, was yesterday released from custody at the instance of Crown Attorney McFadden, who said he had not sufficient evidence to offer on the charge on which Walker has been held.

Pedigree Books Lost.

The clerks in the Agriculture and Arts Department are hard at work trying to figure out a pedigree book for shire and heavy draught horses out of the fragments of leaves and debris picked up in the ruins of the association's building at the corner of Queen and Yonge streets. The records for both these classes were almost totally destroyed, and it is thought to be almost impossible to make up a complete list again. The secretary, Mr. Wade, has sent out a circular to all the breeders whose addresses he could remember, asking them to give returns of their pedigrees to him so as to aid in the work. He would like if all those whose addresses he has been unable to obtain would correspond.—Globe.

Cattle Regulations.

The Grand Trunk Railway, through the Vermont Central Railway, has succeeded in inducing the United States Government to so far relax the quarantine regulations as to allow of live stock being shipped to Britain via Portland, undergoing American Government inspection at Island Pond. Formerly sheep were allowed to be put aboard ship at New York, Philadelphia, Boston or Portland; under the new regulation they must be shipped from Portland only. These arrangements give the railways mentioned a monopoly of the land-carrying trade to Portland; as a result they charge 30 cents per head for cattle from Toronto to Portland, whilst their rate from Chicago to Portland, well nigh twice the distance, is only 28 cents. This is creating some grumbling among dealers there. One good effect of the new regulation will be the cheapening of ocean rates, because of the competition between vessels sailing from Halifax or Montreal and Portland. Dealers claim that some agreement for more considerate rates should be come at if the idea is to have Canadian cattle go through to the old country via Portland instead of by Halifax.

THE C. W. A. MEET.

The Board of Trade Will Make a Big Effort to Secure It Here.

PETERBORO' wants this year's meet of the Canadian Wheelmen's Association, says the Globe, and wants everybody interested to know of that desire. A neat circular, setting forth fifty facts about the town and giving reasons why the big gathering of wheelmen should be held there, has been sent to all the clubs, and the race is now on. Waterloo and Peterborough are the only entries so far.

Peterborough's chances of securing the "meet," which means a vast gathering of cyclists from all parts of the Province, are very good. In fact, they are bright. The Board of Trade has taken the matter in hand and is in communication with the Association.

As has been stated, a neat little pamphlet, setting forth "Peterborough's reasons why they should get the meet for 1895," has been issued. It contains the following pithy facts:

1. We have never had the meet.
2. Our membership this year will be as large as any club in the association.
3. We are located about the centre of the province, and the central district has only had the meet twice, viz., Belleville and Kingston.
4. We have 22 hotels with accommodation second only to large cities and at much lower rates.
5. Our track is first class. On August 16, 1894, we ran off 12 events in two hours, starting 19 men in one race and had no falls or accidents during the day, etc.
6. We have both the C.P.R. and G.T.R. and can get much better rates than a town with only one.
7. Our City Fathers are prepared to make a grant, to be used solely for the entertainment of the visiting members of the C.W.A.
9. We are prepared to make the association a straight offer for the meet.

Last. The boys all know what our lakes are for boating and fishing. Stoney Lake is known as the finest resort in the Dominion, and we have also Chemong Park.

A SNAP IN BUTTER.

Five Hundred Pounds Sold at 11 Cents Yesterday.

Several of Peterborough's grocers struck a snap in butter yesterday.

Early in the forenoon a queer looking outfit consisting of a dumpy hand-made sleigh drawn by a big horse, attracted by its oddity the attention of pedestrians, who gathered around the sleigh when it came to a standstill at the corner of George and Simcoe streets.

The occupants were a man and woman, bundled up in home spun clothing. The body of the sleigh was filled high with tubs of bright yellow butter.

The couple were settlers, and they had driven all the way from the back country somewhere in the vicinity of Shandos, fifty miles distant. They had come to town to dispose of their butter and when they offered it for sale at eleven cents per pound they had no trouble in disposing of all they had, which was about 500 pounds. In less than half an hour they were all sold out. The prevailing prices for butter yesterday were from 17 to 20 cents per pound. It was a snap for several grocers.

During the day the odd looking couple bought a new churn and a few parcels of groceries, which they loaded into their odd-looking sleigh, and at 5 o'clock they started homewards.

A LINDSAY RUNAWAY.

Mrs. Alex. Robinson, of Verulam, Thrown Out and Injured.

A horse attached to a cutter in which Mrs. Alex. Robinson, of Verulam, ran away yesterday morning in Lindsay.

Turning the corner of Lindsay and Kent streets the cutter stuck a telegraph pole. Mrs. Robinson was thrown out, her head striking a stone. Mrs Robinson was so injured that it is feared she cannot recover.

Mr. Robinson left his mother in the cutter while he went into the shop on business. Something frightened the horse and it ran away, coming in contact with a telegraph pole on the corner of Kent and Lindsay streets, throwing Mrs. Robinson out. Her head struck a stone. Mrs. Robinson was picked up unconscious and it was found her injuries were very severe and may prove fatal on account of her age.

HUNGRY AND COLD.

The Story of a Shantyman Who Walked From Fenelon Falls.

A gaunt and hungry looking man approached several persons at the C.P.R. station yesterday afternoon and asked them where he could get some assistance.

He said he had been discharged from a lumbering shanty the other side of Fenelon Falls, and the foreman refused to pay him his back wages. Without a cent in his pocket he started for Peterborough and had walked the entire distance without a morsel of food. He said he was nearly exhausted for want of food and from exposure. His looks did not belie his word.

He was directed to the Police Station and there was given a meal and a night's lodging.

W. B. CARMICHAEL'S FUNERAL.

His Life Cut Off Suddenly by Jumping from a Train at London.

The funeral of W. B. Carmichael, clerk in the Bank of Toronto, whose sudden death occurred at London Sunday morning, took place at Markham yesterday and was largely attended.

The deceased was the eldest son of the late Rev. James Carmichael, M.A., Presbyterian minister, of Norwood. He was 22 years old, having entered the bank five years ago. He leaves a mother and two brothers.

Many beautiful wreathes were received. The pallbearers were: Edward Hall, [illegible] Stephenson, Robt. Fleming, Stanley Robinson and H. Hall.

POPULAR SPORTS.

Down at the rink last night the curling ice was entirely deserted and there were no matches played. The season of ice sports is rapidly drawing to a close. The continuance of the cold weather still renders the ice in excellent condition.

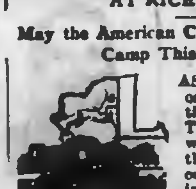
Silence, deep and significant, has been the only response so far from the shinny aggregation of the Review to the challenge of THE TIMES' hockey team, which was issued yesterday. The challenge still stands. THE TIMES' hockey team hasn't practiced this year but it is willing to play the Review stars for fun, money or marbles.

It is thought probable that Toronto will have a first class intermediate lacrosse team this summer. Efforts are now being made to secure ground at the corner of Queen and Abel streets. A meeting will be held on Friday evening at the Richardson House.

About 4,000 people saw the horses race on Kingston harbor yesterday afternoon. Golden Prince won the 2.40 contest, and Little Johnnie the combination race.

AT RICE LAKE

May the American Canoeing Association Camp This Summer.



LAST year the American Canoeing Association had an outing. The association is wide in its scope and the membership is composed of canoeists in all parts of Canada and the United States. By arrangement the annual outings are held alternately in Canada and the United States.

The northern division of the A.C.A. which includes Port Hope, Cobourg, Harwood, Peterborough and many other towns will hold an outing about the first of August, and the members of the association in Peterborough will make a determined effort to have Rice Lake selected as the locality for the camp.

The advantages of Rice Lake are many, and the reasons that can be advanced for having the association select it, are legion. For instance, it is centrally located in the territory that comprises the northern division, and is conveniently accessible for the major portion of the members, who will find the trip to Peterborough on either of the railroads and thence to Rice Lake via the Navigation Company's steamers, a cheap and delightful one.

Further than this, there is no better spot in Ontario, nor one abounding in more natural advantages for boating and camp life than Rice Lake. With so much to urge their claims, the canoeists of Peterborough should certainly succeed in their mission. Several hundred members will doubtless take in the outing.

The Grand Orange Lodge of West Ontario opened its convention at St. Catharines Tuesday. Grand Master J. L. He also said Orangemen would be willing to secularise education if by so doing Separate Schools could be abolished.

Oxygenator

The record of our remedy is remarkable, it having shown itself equally efficacious in every form of the disease, from the simplest first symptoms to the most aggravated type. We confidently believe that any person suffering from Catarrh who has vitality sufficient to keep him alive until Oxygenator is given time to impart its properties can be completely cured by its use. That all other remedies have failed is no evidence that it will not cure.

INTERESTING TO LADIES

SOMETHING FOR NOTHING

CAN YOU GET IT?

Many who should know better, are well pleased to get a good sized glass jar or tin of bulky alum, ammonia or other powerful but injurious mixture, for use as Baking Powder, at much less, perhaps even half the price, of the really good article, overlooking the fact that the amount thus APPARENTLY saved is of small moment in comparison with the real but not always immediately observed inevitable injury following the use of these articles. If in addition to the SEEMINGLY low prices there is attached some showy gift or prize to give the impression of extra value, the inferior or hurtful nature of the powder is lost sight of in the expectation (a vain one) of getting "something for nothing."

"LADIES' HOME" and "HAPPY THOUGHT" on the other hand, can always be depended on as articles of first class quality, and such as can be AND ARE guaranteed not only free from everything in the slightest degree injurious, but invariably sure, satisfactory and economical.

A Metal Breadboard

THE WOMAN WHO HAS BEEN USED to kneading dough on the old fashioned wooden breadboard knows what a bother it is to get them clean and how cumbersome and heavy they are. When they begin to crack or check it is almost impossible to thoroughly cleanse them, and they may easily become dangerous conveyances of disease. It was left for a woman, of course, to remedy this state of affairs, and Mrs. M. M. Everhard, of St. Joseph, Mich., has patented a metal bread board, which is one of the greatest labor-savers imaginable. It is light, does not absorb grease, dough does not adhere to it, and while it possesses all the advantages of the marble bread board it is much cheaper and, of course, far lighter and easier to handle. If readers want to confer a favor upon their wives that will be forever appreciated, let them send $1 to the manufacturers, 101 Bay street, Toronto, for one of these boards.

THE MOTION WAS LOST.

GOVERNMENT HOUSE ABOLITION BILL DEFEATED.

The Majority Against It Was Seven—Haycock Wanted to Do Away with It and Help the Poor—Sir Oliver's Reply—Rowland Voted with the Grits.

Special to the Times.

TORONTO, March 14.

THERE were few empty chairs on either side of the House yesterday afternoon when the Legislature assembled.

In introducing his resolution for the disestablishment of Government House at the expiration of five years, Mr. Haycock said he believed we had too expensive a Government machinery in this country and also too much of it.

Since Confederation, he said, $460,000 had been expended in the maintenance of Government House. What an enormous sum, nearly half a million dollars thrown away by this small Province in a huge luxury. The Patron leader eulogized the present Lieutenant Governor, and said he was eminently qualified for the position, but all that gentleman had to do was to open and close this Legislature once a year. Outside of that, Mr. Haycock contended, the position was an ornamental one.

Other countries were coming to realize that these institutions were too expensive, and Ontario could not do better than to decide upon abolition. As it is at present he pointed out that the salaries paid to governors in the different states were much less in proportion to population than what Ontario pays. Of course the province had nothing to do with the salary question, but it did have to do with the whole affair. The time had come when we were called upon to apply the pruning hook and cut off these vast expenditures.

WOULD NOT EAT HIS SALT.

Mr. Haycock could not see his way clear to be present at the Lieutenant Governor's banquet, but he and a friend walked past the place that night, saw the bright lights streaming from every window, listened to the enchanting music which flowed out from the spacious apartments within, and looked at the long, black line of carriages and coupes drawn up in front of the palace. It was all right if the man who lived there paid for this, but such was not the case. The speaker and his friend had just turned the first corner on their way back to the hotel when they met an old, gray-haired man who held out his hand and said he was hungry.

ESTABLISH ALMS HOUSES.

"Would it not be better," he asked "to apply the money expended on the Government house in providing a suitable place for the poor old men of the province?"

He believed this resolution would have the sympathy of the people of the province and a majority of the House, and for that reason he asked the members to support it.

SIR OLIVER ON HIS FEET.

The Attorney-General was the next speaker and admitted at the outset that this was a very important measure. He would like, however, if they could obtain in some authoritative way the full facts bearing upon the case. There were, no doubt ways in which the expenditure attached to the Government House could be modified and still retain the advantages which are afforded by the institution. The Lieutenant-Governor was not only a representative of the Queen but he was a representative of the people of the province. Some perhaps might consider the salary a large one but they had never had a lieutenant governor who could save anything out of it. He hoped the depression was only temporary and that his hon. friend would accept this suggestion to have a committee chosen from both sides of the House appointed to take evidence in the matter.

AN AMENDMENT.

He therefore moved in amendment to the effect that a committee be appointed in order that the House might become possessed of the full facts in the case.

Mr. Marter followed in support of Mr. Haycock's resolution, and Hon. Mr. Hardy closed the debate.

Some little concern was felt by the Ministerialists when the division was brought on, but they cheered loudly when it was announced that the amendment had been carried by 44 to 37.

The Patrons voted to a man with their leader, and the Conservatives also, with the single exception of Mr. Howland, who voted for the Attorney-General's amendment.

LOSS OF A SPANISH VESSEL

With Her Crew of Four Hundred Men.

Special to the Times.

GIBRALTAR, March 14.—The Spanish cruiser Renina Regente is believed to have foundered off Tangier, Morocco, during the recent gale. She had a crew of 421 officers and men. Pieces of one of her boats and semaphore flags are reported to have been picked up along the shore near Ceuta and Tarifa. The Reina Regente had just conveyed the returning Moorish mission to Tangier. She left that port on March 10 for Cadiz, and has not since been heard of. The absence of news from her is causing the greatest anxiety, and it is believed that she has been lost with all hands. The cruiser Isla de Luzon, of the Spanish fleet, sailed today from Algeciras in search of the missing cruiser.

A TERRIBLE HURRICANE.

It Ruined the Cocoanut and Banana Crops in the Fiji Islands.

Special to the Times.

VICTORIA, B.C., March 14.—Particulars have arrived by the Australian mail of a terrible hurricane which swept over the Fiji Islands a few weeks ago.

Several large vessels came to grief with lamentable loss of life and buildings in Suva, the capital of Fiji, suffering severely. The town is comparatively in debris, having been the center of the hurricane.

The most serious report of damage comes from plantations. The cocoanut plantations will take fully five years to recover, and the banana plantations have been totally ruined.

Fight With a Panther.

JUNO, Fla., March 14.—William Curry, of Illinois, and John Crawford of Pennsylvania, while hunting yesterday, shot a young panther and were engaged in skinning it when the mother panther sprang upon them from a tree. Curry received wounds which will prove fatal and one of Crawford's eyes was torn out before he managed to drive his hunting knife through the beast's heart.

INHUMANITY TO MAN.

Dastardly Attempt to Wreck a Train—The Miscreant Arrested.

Special to the Times.

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., March 14.—As West Shore train No. 1 was dashing along between Suspension Bridge and Niagara Falls, early yesterday morning, just behind the Chicago express on the New York Central, Engineer Wrench, of engine 45, attempted to slow down to let off his conductor, when he found his airbrakes would not work. He whistled for brakes, and by desperate means, reversing his engine, he narrowly avoided a rear-end collision.

An examination showed that the airbrake had been disconnected on the front end of the baggage car. The fireman then remembered that a New York Central switchman named Wilson Sine, who had been refused a ride on the engine up to the Falls, had jumped on to the baggage car just before the train left. Engineer Wrench was wild with anger, and, detaching his engine, secured orders to go to the bridge. He went down into the freight yards, and hunted around until he found Sine, and placed him under arrest. Sine fought and struggled, but Wrench overpowered him, placed him on his engine, and brought him to police headquarters.

The dastardly attempt at train wrecking of the young miscreant had become known and quite a crowd had collected, consisting of policemen and railroad men, when Engineer Wrench drew in with his prisoner. Sine was refused bail. The penalty for his crime is ten years in the State's prison.

DID HE KILL HIS WIFE?

THE INQUEST ON THE DEATH OF MRS. MARY DICKS.

The Accused Wife Murderer Refuses to Testify —The Story Told by the Son and Neighbors —The Prisoner's Agitation.

Special to the Times.

TORONTO, March 14.

AT the adjourned investigation into the death of Mrs. Mary Dicks at the Police Court last evening, Dicks' counsel, Mr. Allan Cassels, refused to allow him to give further evidence. Mr. Cassels said Dicks would have been glad to tell all he knew had he not been arrested, but as he would now be heard in another court, and as to testify now would disclose his defence, the lawyer declined to permit him to say anything further now. The coroner noted the prisoner's refusal to testify, and proceeded with the enquiry.

Arthur Edmund Dicks, the 13-year-old son of the prisoner, made a very good witness. On the night of the fire he went to bed about 8.30, with the other children. Most of the goods had been moved away to another house during the day. Mother went out driving that day with the prisoner, but witness did not know where. Never heard any talk of insuring his mother's life. Thought his own life was insured, as father had him examined by a doctor. Thought his brothers also were insured, as a man had come to see about it. At the time the fire happened prisoner came into the children's room and set baby down. Then witness and lamp smash. Prisoner ran back into the smoke, calling, "Mary," "Mary." He then returned, threw the mattress out of window and dropped the children on it. Father then sent witness to see if his mother had got safely away, but witness said she had not got out. The lad then aroused a neighbor named Tracey and stayed at their house. Prisoner came over shortly afterwards, sat down and buried his face in his hands. The father had not talked about the fire to witness but told him to keep up heart.

The lad gave way to tears at one part of his evidence, but he told what was thought to be a straightforward story throughout.

John Tracey, 15 Dora street, was the first neighbor to arrive at the scene of the fire, Dicks' children having come over and aroused him. Prisoner was sitting at a back window upstairs. Witness went into the house and got as far as the foot of the stairs, when the heat drove him back. Tracey told Dicks he and Dicks jumped down on the mattress. Dicks gave as an explanation of the fire witness, only hinting the furnace might have caused it. Witness admitted the furnace was old and dangerous. Prisoner and his wife lived on excellent terms. Tracey had burned the missing clothes of Mrs. Dicks that were scattered over the kitchen stove. Some of her husband's clothes were there too.

Fireman Richard Scholes said the alarm came in about 1.30 a.m., the reel being on the scene five minutes later. There was some fire in the hall, but mostly all in the shop. Dicks said his wife had and the firemen tried to save her, but could get no trace of the missing woman. There was no smell of coal oil, nor did witness see any oil can or waste lying about.

Firemen Taylor and Brennan told the circumstances of finding the body lying on her face in the shop.

Mr. Tracey, on being called said that he and a Mr. Collins found a broken lamp burner on the stairs the morning after the blaze.

Little Arthur Dicks was then called again. He said the family always kept a five gallon oil can in the house and the one produced by Detective Verney looked like it. He saw it the day before the fire at the northwest corner of the store, and it was last filled on, February 27. The detective found this can lying on the furnace.

The prisoner was neatly attired, but he appeared greatly agitated during the whole session, sitting almost all the time with his head resting on his hands. His old father stood close to the witness box the whole time, and listened intently to every word spoken by the witnesses. The inquest will be resumed on Tuesday evening next.

Fell Dead in His Pulpit.

DAYTON, O., March 14.—Rev. S. W. Hoover, pastor of the College street Dunkark church, and member of the firm of Hoover & Gaines, expired in his pulpit on Sunday night, while delivering his usual sermon. The pastor had just finished the words, "One by one they are passing over," when his head fell upon his breast and he was heard to murmur, "My mind is wandering." In another moment he fell dead in the pulpit. A tragic and pathetic scene followed, when the dead clergyman's wife endeavored to call her husband back to life.

BANK TELLER'S FLIGHT

WITH A SNUG PURSE STOLEN FROM A CANADIAN BANK.

John W. Patterson, the Acting Teller of the Traders' Bank at Strathroy Decamps with $4,000 of the Bank's Funds — A Carefully Planned Robbery.

Special to The Times.

STRATHROY, March 14.

AT this place on Saturday night, John W. Patterson, the acting teller of the Traders' Bank, left town, taking with him about $4,000 of the bank's funds. He took the 7.07 train for London that evening and remained there all Saturday night, and on Sunday took a ticket at the G.T.R. station for Port Huron and left the city on the Chicago express on 7 p.m. Sunday It has since been learned, however, that he went through to Chicago, paying his fare from Port Huron to the conductor on the train. The bank is understood to be fully protected. They hold a bond in the Guarantee Company of North America. Patterson was a steady, well educated young man of about 20 years of age, having the confidence of his superior officers, and his leaving in such a manner is a great surprise to his many friends. Mr. Alley, the inspector of the bank, visited Strathroy on Monday, and left for Chicago in the evening in search for the culprit. The manner in which the steal was accomplished seems to be that after balancing his cash on Saturday evening, he put it in a large tin box used for that purpose, and carried it into the vault, where it was his duty to lock it in the safe. He put the box in all right, but apparently dropped

THE FOUR THOUSAND ROLL

of bills under the safe, where it remained unnoticed until the vault was locked. Having a key of the bank and vault, it was no trouble for him to return when all had left, open the vault and secure the booty. Of course if the bills had been put in the safe they would have been quite safe, as it required the manager and teller together to open it. The young man is about 5 feet 7 inches in height, of a fresh and ruddy complexion, and was quite a favorite among his companions, no one ever thinking and all deeply regretting that he could be guilty of taking such a foolish and disgraceful step. It is of course an almost certain thing that he will be captured, as the most active steps have been taken to secure that end

THE HENDERSHOTT TRIAL

THE DEFENCE WILL TRY TO PROVE THAT THE TREE KILLED THE VICTIM.

Medical Testimony to the Effect that Limbs of a Tree Could Have Caused the Wounds on the Head—The Case of the Defense Will Probably End Today.

Special to The Times.

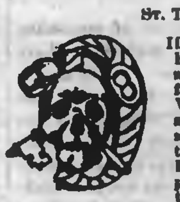
ST. THOMAS, March 14.



DID the tree kill John Hendershott? The main point in the defence of the prisoners William D. Welter and John Hendershott, charged with the murder of W. H. Hendershott, is to prove that the death the victim was caused by the fall of the tree and to this end Dr. Vanbuskirk, of this place, was put in the box yesterday afternoon.

He said: "I do not think the wounds on the head were made by an ax. I think they were caused by the branches of a tree except the injury on the occipital bone, that caused death, and that, I think, was caused by the tree hitting deceased. Had the tree struck the head when it was on the ground the head would have been crushed. He could, however, have been struck by the tree while he was upright or in attempting to rise after being struck down. That is the way I think Hendershott was killed."

SIX DIFFERENT LINES OF FORCE.

Dr. Wishart, surgeon of the London hospital, gave it as his opinion that the wounds were not caused by an ax, but admitted that it was a fair inference to judge that the wounds came from six different lines of force. Some of them came from an upward direction, others from a downward. A blow from the trunk of a tree would not cause the wounds found. An axe would cause many of them. The fatal blow on the top of the head might have been produced by two or three successive blows.

Although it was highly improbable, Dr. Nancrede, professor of surgery in Ann Harbor University, said that the wounds might have been caused by an axe. He admitted that he had no experience in injuries from falling trees.

THE DEFENCE NEARLY THROUGH.

At this morning's session Drs. Mason, St. Thomas, Going, Windsor, and Waugh, London, were examined. They inclined to the opinion that the wounds on deceased's head were caused by the falling tree and its branches, though they admitted that an axe could have caused the majority of the wounds, if not all.

The defence will close their case this afternoon. The Crown will offer evidence in rebuttal, and address by counsel commences tomorrow. It is probable the case will be given to the jury tomorrow night or on Saturday morning.

LI HUNG CHANG MISSING.

He of Yellow Jacket and Peacock Feather Fame Has Now Lost Himself.

Special to the Times.

WASHINGTON, March 14.—The whereabouts of Li Hung Chang, China's peace envoy, is a source of much speculation and no little concern in official circles here and at the Chinese and Japanese legations.

He left Pekin more than two weeks ago. He went to Tien Tsin, when he was to sail for Japan. There had been constant reports from Tien Tsin prior to that time, but then there has been absolute silence and not a word has been received as to Li's arrival at Tien Tsin, or his departure for Japan or his purposes.

Owing to the tremendous responsibilities imposed on Prince Li there is naturally great interest in his movement.

The Times.

PETERBOROUGH, MARCH 14, 1895.

Good morning!

There are many men of worth left in the world; but there can be no more women of Worth.

The Missouri Legislature has enacted that the plea of hypnotism as a defense in criminal cases in the State shall be barred.

The action of Premier Bowell in taking measures to secure the release of Volney Ashford is most commendable. The Hawaiian government acted most unjustly in imprisoning the Port Hope boy, and the Canadian authorities should not rest until that injustice is righted.

A monster petition 30 miles long, and containing four million signatures, is on its way to President Cleveland and members of his cabinet, after which it will be sent to the various heads of the civilized government throughout the world. The petition asks for the suppression of the liquor and opium traffic.

Colorado has the honor of possessing the first legislature in which women have assisted as law makers. And the experiment ventured upon by this western state has proved eminently successful in one particular, as the first measure presented to the assembly by one of the lady members was a bill to raise the age limit within which seduction is a criminal offence from sixteen to twenty-one years.

Mr. Little proposes to change the time of making assessments in rural municipalities from winter to summer. The proposal is a good one. If carried out it will enable assessors to give a fairer rating of farm property than is now possible, and also procure statistics relative to the area devoted to growing crops which may be used in making the reports of the Bureau of Industries much more interesting and reliable than they are now.

Japan has refused to receive the Chinese commissioners in February on the ground that they were not given full power to negotiate peace, but only to learn what the Japanese proposed and report it to the authorities at Pekin, Now comes the news that the Chinese have conceded the Japanese demand as to the powers which should be entrusted to their commissioners. There can be nothing further in the way of opening negotiations, but it does not follow that peace is near. The Japanese clearly wish to continue the war until their armies have entered Pekin, and it would be good policy for them to do so if any possible pretext can be found.

Our talented contemporary, the Hamilton Spectator, in referring to the fact that a number of journals are advocating a secret ballot in Parliament, says that they argue that if all votes in parliament were secret, the evils which arise out of the party system of government would be removed. But have they considered that under such a system of voting responsible government would be practically impossible; that the electors would have no check upon their representatives; and that the principal safeguard against secret corruption would be removed? Changes are not necessarily reforms. This is a fact that many people, cursed with an itching for constant change, cannot realise.

THE YOUNG CZAR.

Those who expected that the young Russian Emperor would voluntarily extend to his subjects constitutional government are beginning to find that they had formed an altogether mistaken estimate of his character. Nicholas II is not a Liberal. He is not disposed to depart from the traditions of his race. He succeeded to the throne of an absolute monarchy, and he is evidently determined that it shall not be his fault if it does not remain absolute. He made the assemblage of influential men who waited on him on the occasion of his marriage to understand this pretty clearly. Russia is to be governed in the old way. The Emperor and the people shall bear the same relation to each other as they have done since the earliest days of the empire. Brought up as he has been, and seeing what he has seen, it is not likely that the young man believes in popular institutions.

If is not likely that he is either a more liberal-minded or a more kind-hearted man than his father was, and we have read of the corruption that was practiced the injustice that was inflicted, and the cruelties that were perpetrated in his reign, and apparently with his sanction. The Emperor of Russia inherits a system of government firmly established, as well as an Empire, and he will be indeed a strong man who is stronger than that system. It was far too strong for Nicholas I, and the indications are that it will be too strong for Nicholas II. It seems just now that the Emperor of Russia, though not so self assertive and imperious in manner as his cousin the Emperor of Germany, is equally fond of power and equally determined to preserve his prerogative intact.

It is to be hoped that the young Emperor hat inherited his father's love of peace and his discretion in dealing with foreign nations. This will be known before very long. It is said that there is a great activity just now in both the navel and military departments of the Czar's Government. and there is some talk of Russia's interfering in the quarrel between China and Japan; and a rumor is aficat that the Czar is preparing to interpose for the protection of the persecuted Armenians. Nothing definite, however, is known respecting Russia's designs in those quarters. But it is clear that the Czar does not consider it is his duty to make political concessions to the people of Russia.

KEENE.

On Sunday night lastthe members of the Y.P.C.E., in connection with the Presbyterian Church, held a meeting which was very impressive and inspiring. Mr. Andrews pastor of the church expounded the lesson in an efficient manner. The prayer-meeting was conducted by Miss Eliza Launderville. The active members very willingly and reverently responded in prayer when called on. We congratulate the young people of Keene in their endeavors to advance the interests of this soul inspiring association.

The annual missionary meeting was held in the Presbyterian church on Monday night last and was a decided success. Missionary lectures were ably delivered by Revs. Mr. Torrance and McWilliams of Peterboro.

The skating rink is in good condition yet and the boys and girls are jubilant over the fact that they can court while skating as well as on the road to their respective homes.

By appearance the probabilities are that a couple in this village have serious intentions of becoming man and wife. They are very spooney at present. We trust that they will always remain so,

A report is in circulation that a young man fell into a deep slumber while addressing his sweetheart. She tiring of his snoring went to bed. Imagine his surprise in the morning when helped out of the house by the old man,

"THERE SHALL BE NO NIGHT THERE."

When I walk out beneath the starry skies,
And feel night's solemn beauty oe'r me steal,
I question ot what meaning underlies
The words that yet so much to us reveal:

"No night in Heaven?" No calm and silent night
To heal the fret and fever of the day,
Distil its balm upon the restless heart,
And bear us on sleep's shadowy wings away!

No far, mysterious stars; no changeful moon;
With light more grateful than the glare of noon.
"No night" to make the time when toil should cease,
And weary hands can lie in folded ease?

What wondrous realm is this that knows "no night,"
Where eyes grow never weary of the light,
Aud hearts that ache with sorrow and distress
Ne'er long to welcome sleep's forgetful ness.

What boon to blest immortals can be given
To take thy place, Oh night, sweet night, in Heaven?
The deepest meaning if I read aright,
Is that in Heaven they have no need of night.

IN THE LETTER BOX.

THINGS NEW YORKERS INADVERTENTLY TRY TO MAIL.

How They Are Recovered at the Postoffice—An Interview With a Man Who Is the Most Patient Listener and Explainer In the Metropolis.

"Dropped into a letter box by mistake?" the bureau of information man in the postoffice repeated. "Room 14, second floor."

"Is that the regular course for the public?" he was asked. "If any citizen drops an article into a letter box accidentally, must he go to room 14 to recover it?"

"Yes, sir. You're on the right track," the information bureau replied. "The man naturally comes here first to make inquiries, and I direct him to room 14, and there he finds out all about it and recovers his lost article."

Room 14 is under the charge of Mr. A. Firmin, who is probably the most patient listener to explanations and answerer of questions in the city of New York. He has need of great patience, for it is a poor business day when 100 persons do not open his door and ask how they are to recover something that has been dropped into a letter box. The number is more likely to be 200.

"It is absentmindedness that makes this department necessary," Mr. Firmin said, "absentmindedness on the part of the public. Give a busy man a cuspidor at one side of his desk and a wastebasket at the other side, and how many times a day will he throw his lighted match into the wastebasket and toss scraps of paper into the cuspidor? Possibly you may have noticed that with a bottle of red ink and a bottle of black ink before you side by side the black pen steals into the red bottle more than half the time. It is just so in mailing letters. A man holding in one hand a letter to be mailed and in the other hand carrying a small parcel to be taken home approaches a letter box. He is almost certainly thinking of something else, and he mails the parcel and walks off with the letter.

"That happens 50 times a day in this city," Mr. Firmin continued. "The first thought is that the parcel is irretrievably gone, for the letter box can be opened only by the carrier, but if it is a valuable parcel, worth the trouble of a journey to the postoffice, the absentminded man soon concludes that there must be some way to recover it. He applies at the bureau of information and is directed to me, and within a few hours he has his parcel again.

"You saw the account a few days ago of an office boy who accidentally dropped a $600 check belonging to his employer into a letter box? That was not an exceptional case at all. Such things are happening every day. The boy was frightened because he lacked experience. If it had been the employer himself, he would merely have come here and made his statement, confident that in a short time his check would be returned to him.

"We had a much more important case than that a short time ago. At 2:30 in the afternoon a carrier brought in a certified check for $10,000 that he had found loose in a letter box. Five minutes later an almost crazy man rushed in to see me. He explained as soon as he was able that he had carried the check in the same hand with a letter to be mailed and had thoughtlessly dropped them both into the box. He had no fear of losing the check. It was time that worried him. His affairs, he said, were in such a state that it was positively necessary for the check to be deposited in bank before the close of banking hours. He had then about 20 minutes left. He gave an accurate description of the check and identified himself fully, and he got it into the bank in time.

"One night a sailor who was doing the town found the Bowery whisky overcoming him and dropped his silver watch into a letter box for safe keeping. Soon afterward he was comfortably asleep in the gutter, but when he got through with the police court next morning he came down to the postoffice, described his watch and got it. Watches are frequently found in the boxes; so are rings and other articles of jewelry. Money is found oftener than anything else, except loose stamps. They drop out of letters that have been mailed. We average about ten letters a day that have been mailed without any address and 20 postal cards.

"Many inquiries are made for money supposed to have been lost in the mails that has never been mailed. It is a very easy matter to write 'inclosed please find so many dollars' and then forget to inclose the dollars. The addressee comes here post haste to make inquiry and complaint and often learns by the next mail that his money was not sent. These instances of absentmindedness, one would think, could not possibly happen in a metropolitan newspaper office, but the newspaper offices have to thank us for a great many lost articles returned. Work is done in a hurry in a newspaper's mailing room just before daylight, when the wrapped papers are flying into mailbags. Small articles must keep out of the way, or they are likely to be mailed with the papers. You would be surprised to see how many mucilage bottles, pairs of scissors, balls of cord, rulers, even hats, come to us every week in bags of newspapers from publication offices. But we know where they come from, and of course they are always returned.

"Recovering an article from a letter box is easily managed if application is made here at once before the carrier goes out again. Sometimes the article escapes even the carrier's eye as he pours the letters from the box into his bag. When the application is made in time, it is no trouble to warn the carrier of the route and have him recover the lost article. But when the application is made after the carrier has gone out and after the contents of his bag have become part of a few hundred tons of other mail matter the clerks are given a great deal of extra labor."—New York Times.

The National Game In Florida.

They were doing their best, certainly they made noise enough, but circumstances were against them. When the ball came to the ground, from no matter what height or with what impetus, it fell dead on the sand. If it had been made of solid rubber, it could not have rebounded. "Base running" was little better than base walking. Sliding was safe, but by the same token impossible. Worse yet, at every "foul stroke" or "wild throw" the ball was lost, and the barefooted fielders had to pick their way painfully about in the outlying saw palmetto scrub till they found it. None but true patriots would have the heart to try it. The first baseman certainly, who had oftenest to wade into the scrub, should have received a consulate at the very least.—"A Florida Sketchbook," Bradford Torrey.

SHOT DOWN BY A MOB.

MORE LAWLESSNESS AND BLOODSHED IN NEW ORLEANS.

Colored Wharf Laborers Killed—Police Panic Stricken at the Sight of the Winchesters—An Englishman Shot.

Special to the Times.

NEW ORLEANS, March 13.—Another bloody riot occurred along the levee yesterday morning. The scene of the conflict was on the river front, between St. Anne's and Dumaine streets. Three men were killed outright, while a number were wounded. The killing was done by a mob of white men, numbering about 200, who were armed with pistols and Winchester rifles. The negroes were about to begin work on the steamer Engineer, lying at that point, when the white men approached from all directions. All were armed, and many took position behind box cars and poured volley upon volley into the negroes. The negroes were

and were shot down like dogs, several innocent persons also suffering. Among those killed was Jules Olice Carabee, a shoemaker, who happened to be in the vicinity. James Bane, the purser of the Engineer, was standing on the levee near his ship when the attack was made and received four wounds, three in the head and another in the arm. He was fired on by several men and aimed over the heads of three policemen who were kneeling behind some freight cars on the edge of the wharf. His wounds may prove fatal. As near as can be stated, the shooting occurred a few minutes after 7 o'clock this morning. There was a dense fog prevailing, and this afforded the whites an excellent chance to do their bloody work. At the time there were only six policemen on the scene, and there were no arrests made, as the police were as badly frightened as the negroes. They were composed of two parties. A large number of men appeared at the corner of Dumaine street, and another mob came from the corner of St. Anne street. Corporal Devanney, who was in charge of the handful of policeman, ordered the mob to disperse, but no attention was paid to him, and every minute. Suddenly a shot was fired. This had a smarting effect on the men. The first report was followed by five or six shots, and then the firing became general. The smoke and the fog combined made the scene almost as dark as night. The negroes were on board the ship, and had just raised the tarpaulin off hatch No. 2 when the attack was made. They were taken completely by surprise, and their cries were pitiful. Many sought refuge aboard the ship, while some ran down the wharf and made their escape. One negro, it is said, jumped under the wharf. It is impossible to estimate the number of shots fired. It is said that there were about 200. After the shooting the men hurried off as fast as they had come. The mob fired recklessly on all sides, not caring whom they shot. After the departure of the rioters a large number of police, under the command of Sergt. Day, made their appearance on the scene and cleared the wharf of large crowds which had gathered.

THE MOB GREW LARGER

TELLTALE TEETH.

Their Mute Evidence Brings Punishment to the Guilty Ones.

Late one evening a man walking along a lonely highroad was attacked by a ruffian. A tussle followed, and the man in his despair bit his assailant's left hand, while his small dog took a mouthful of the man's calf. Thanks mainly to the efforts of the valiant terrier, the ruffian had to release his victim.

The latter immediately informed the police what had happened, and two days afterward a suspicious character was arrested on a charge of highway robbery. The man denied everything, and as the night of the attack had been pitch dark he could not be identified by his looks. But there was a small wound in his left hand which looked as if it were the mark of a tooth. No, it was not, the accused man said stolidly.

"If he is the man," the victim suggested, "he ought to have the mark of my terrier's teeth in his leg." Three tiny wounds were discovered in the man's calf. He still denied the charges and told the story of a large watchdog that had bitten him. But the terrier's teeth were examined and found to match the wounds exactly. Whereupon the man was convicted.

A man who was accused of murder had wounds in his left hand. On being examined they proved to have been caused by human teeth of a rather peculiar shape. The murdered man's mouth was opened, his teeth examined, and the murderer stood convicted.

When the corpse of the Widow Cremieux, who was murdered at Neully, was being examined, it was noticed that she had only one tooth in the upper and three in the lower jaw. A cast was taken of her mouth, and the four teeth were found to correspond exactly to the wounds in the left hand of the man who had been arrested on the suspicion of having committed the murder, but who so far had denied the charges brought against him.

When the mystery of the Gouffe murder was the one subject of conversation in Paris, a box arrived at the house of the murdered man's daughter at Lyons containing a corpse which was supposed to be that of Gouffe, but which was so far decomposed that it would have been impossible to identify it had not the daughter recognized her father by the unusual formation of his teeth.

A rich banker had been found murdered in his house at St. Petersburg. There was no clew whatever, but in the room where the murder had been committed was found a cigar mouthpiece containing part of a cigar of so expensive a kind that the detectives were led to believe the banker had been smoking it just before the crime had been committed. On closer examination it appeared that the mouthpiece was worn away at the end by the teeth of its owner.

The murdered man's teeth did not fit the curious indentation, but when the servants were one by one examined the cook was arrested on the strength of the hollows in the mouthpiece corresponding exactly to the formation of his front teeth. No suspicion had fallen on the man before this discovery was made, but he confessed to the murder soon after

MYSTERIOUS RUBY.

SOME PECULIARITIES PRESENTED IN ITS STRUCTURE.

Corundum Crystals Which Form the Bases of Many Gems—Extraordinary Facts Connected With the Color of the Ruby as Explained by Professor Judd.

In an address before the Royal Institution in London Professor Judd said that all the romance associated with famous jewels and their history is of insignificant interest compared with the fascinating actualities which science has discovered in regard to the wonderful gem family, the aristocrats of the mineral kingdom. Eight years ago England was excited over the annexation of Burma, and there were great expectations of what was to happen when the British capitalist got his hands on the celebrated ruby mines of that kingdom. Somehow or other these expectations have not been gratified.

The rubies are not forthcoming, but it is not to be presumed from this that Burma has enjoyed a false reputation for these remarkable stones of price. Professor Judd showed that, while the ruby and its near relations are found in many parts of the globe, it is in Burma alone that the gem is unearthed in its purest and most fiery form. The intense "pigeons' blood" color and peculiar "fire" of the Burmese ruby give it extraordinary value as compared with other red stones which come into rivalry with it, for under the name of "rubies" a great variety of gems not truly entitled to the name have in ancient and modern times passed muster.

The only substance which can truly be called "ruby" is pure, limpid, fiery red corundum. This mineral, corundum, is crystallized oxide of aluminium and forms the basis of nearly every gem (except, of course, the diamond) which we value for hardness, brilliancy and color. A crystal of pure red corundum we call a "ruby," a crystal of the blue variety is prized as a "sapphire," a green variety we know as an "emerald," and other tints are known as aquamarine, topaz and so on.

Corundum is found very widely distributed in the east, especially in Ceylon, Tibet and Afghanistan, and in the United States big masses of impure blood red corundum are found, from which isolated crystals can be cut and thus entitle the Americans to claim the ruby as a native product. There are a great many red rivals to the Burmese ruby, but with the exception of the red diamond none is so hard. They include the red spinel, the rose topaz, red zircon, rubellite—a form of tourmaline more prized in China than the ruby—and the various garnets. This quality of hardness is one of the most valuable features in the ruby, for it enables the gem to take a high polish. The diamond is of course harder, and it is interesting to note that one of the first products evolved from the electric furnace—a crystallized compound of carbon and silicon—is only less hard than the diamond itself.

The chief scientific interest of the ruby corundum flows from the extraordinary peculiarities of structure that it presents as well as from the mysterious qualities that determine its striking color. It is found in crystals of a great variety of shapes, but all having a tendency to the peculiar habit of growth known to crystallographers as "twinning." By testing crystals of corundum with polarized light its structure is found to be wonderfully complex, and under the microscope its exterior face is covered with a strange network of sculpture, indicative of molecular changes.

But probably the most interesting thing about the corundum crystal is the fact that it is nearly always found to have inclosed and surrounded some foreign body or other which lies imprisoned in it. Stranger still is the fact that these included foreign bodies lie generally disposed of in planes meeting each other at an angle of 60 degrees, the result being to produce the phenomenon of asterism, which is the term given to the white star of light which is observable on certain jewels cut with a rounded surface. Very frequently the imprisoned body is a minute bubble of gas or drop of liquid, containing sometimes little crystals of its own.

The microscopic cavities containing these things are often very numerous. For a long time the nature of the gas and fluid contained in the cavities remained a mystery. The English philosopher, Brewster, was induced to investigate the subject by hearing that a ruby which an Edinburgh jeweler had placed in his mouth had exploded while in that position, with unpleasant results. Other investigations followed, and it has now been made certain that the fluid is no other than liquid carbonic acid gas reduced to that condition by being under great pressure.

The color of the ruby is another of its mysteries, and one which Professor Judd was only able to touch upon slightly in his lecture. The color is distributed most irregularly, and some corundum crystals show in patches the tints of the ruby, the sapphire and the emerald all mixed up together. These colors are of course due to the special way in which the structure of the crystal deals with the light passing through it, the ruby absorbing all the rays except those which emerge to give it its characteristic color.

How greatly these colors depend on molecular and chemical changes going on in the crystal is obvious from the strange way some gems behave under light and heat. Professor Maskelyne mentions a diamond which, when taken out of the warm pocket and allowed to cool on the table, turned a beautiful red. Professor Judd startled his audience by declaring that the green glass panes used in the conservatories at Kew gradually changed through various shades of yellow to a distinct purplish hue under the prolonged action of light.

Rubies change their color in a curious way under the action of heat. Bluish rubies turn perfectly green, and on cooling regain their original tint. The blue sapphire turns white, and the yellow corundum crystal becomes green. Then there is the strange property of "pleochroism" in the ruby family and its kindred. They exhibit different tints, according to the size of the crystal you are examining.—Mineral Collector.

Will Know Better Hereafter.

It was Mr. Tankersley's first nomination for office, and he was unfamiliar with some of the time honored customs and traditions that pertained to the position he occupied before the community.

Hence it was that, when he had invited all the loungers in the saloon, numbering a dozen or so, to take a drink at his expense, he carelessly handed a $10 bill over the bar.

"Thank you, Mr. Tankersley," said the bartender, dropping the greenback into the till, placing his elbows on the counter and regarding the luckless candidate with amiable condescension.—Chicago Tribune.

WILL LEAVE TORONTO.

The Massey-Harris Company will Remove to Niagara Falls Immediately if Proper Inducements are Held Forth—Toronto to Lose the Big Canadian Firm.

Special to the Times.

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., March 13.—There was a special meeting of business men held last night to consider a proposition from the Massey-Harris Company of Toronto, Brantford and Woodstock, Ont., which purposes to remove its factories to the United States, and is looking for cheap site and power and extensive shipping facilities. The company favors Niagara Falls, but in the face of the fact that other cities are offering bonuses for the removal of the plant thither, it was thought well to ask the business men of this city what they were willing to bid.

AN IMMEDIATE REMOVAL.

The Company represented that it was capitalized at $5,000,000, with $4,500,000 paid in; that it employed 1,200 men, and would immediately remove its works from Brantford to Niagara Falls, put up a plant costing $200,000 or more, and employ 400 men at the start if the business men would defray the cost of moving, which would be about $25,000.

Out of the 40 business men present at the meeting less than half at first favored the raising of a subscription fund to the amount named. Others argued that this city already offered natural inducements sufficient to have drawn other industries here, and that in the near future more would surely gravitate hither.

A CLEVELAND OFFER.

It was stated that Cleveland, Ohio, had offered $300,000 cash to the company if it would remove there. A good deal of discussion followed this and while the sentiments were not at all in accord with those of the company, there was a strong inclination prevailing to see what could be done.

A committee of 15 men was appointed to solicit subscriptions and report on Thursday afternoon. On this will depend the success of the company locating its immense plant here.

It was also stated that the Potters of this city had offered the concern 15 acres of valuable land for a site for its factory free. The land is just north of the New York Central railroad tracks and opposite the Carborundum Company building.

How the Clerk Was Caught.

QUEBEC, March 13.—Honore Morrissette, the mail clerk arrested yesterday, charged with having robbed several letters containing money, has secured the services of Mr. F. X. Lemieux for his defence. Mr. Bolduc Post Office Inspector, says that he has suspected Morrissette for some time and set a man to watch him. While assorting letters yesterday afternoon Morrissette was observed pocketing a couple of letters. These he gave up on being ordered by the Inspector. He was immediately placed in the hands of a police officer. Detective Patry searched Morrissette's residence and found $1,200 in a tin box. There was among that sum, $100, $50 and $20 bills. Morrissette's arrest has caused a great sensation here, as he was universally considered to be very honest and upright.

The Uncomfortable Howdah.

The elephant's howdah is that bed of Procrustes in which one can neither sit nor stand with any approach to reasonable ease, and in which a recumbent attitude is impossible. Its advantages are (1) that, standing in it, a man can shoot on every side of him; (2) that it is convenient for the carriage of the occupant's paraphernalia, his guns on racks on either side, his ammunition in a trough in front, his other requisites in leather pockets here and there on the sides of the machine, or, as to that, bee blanket, on his seat, and (3) that in the hinder compartment an attendant can sit or stand to hold that monstrous umbrella over his head, or, when quick loading is required, take from his hand the gun just fired and recharge it. Those are advantages; otherwise the howdah is an abomination.—Blackwood's Magazine.

Unable to Negotiate.

"Do you wish to engage a competent instructor," asked the man at the door, removing his hat, "to give lessons to any members of your family in music or German?"

"No, sir," answered the housewife. "I think not."

"Perhaps," he suggested after a moment's pause, "you could make use of the services of a teacher of dancing and physical culture?"

"I don't think I could."

"Or a private tutor in elocution?"

"No."

"I have had considerable experience as a teacher of Delsarte. Possibly I might make some arrangement for imparting instruction in this fascinating branch of"—

"I don't think you could."

"Madam," said the man, with a regretful sigh, "I am sorry we are unable to place this matter on a business basis. I have exhausted the list of professions or vocations in which I consider myself fitted to engage as a means of gaining a livelihood. As there appears to be no opportunity to exercise any of them for the relief of present emergencies, I am compelled to ask you, madam, if you will be kind enough to give me a plate of warmed over victuals?"

"I will not."

"May I inquire, madam, if anybody has previously tried to work this game on you?"

"I don't remember that anybody has."

"Then I must have struck a thundering poor neighborhood," rejoined the man, putting on his hat and turning away. "This is the sixth house I've run against in this block without hitting anything."—Chicago Tribune.

In Akbar's Palace.

In the royal "hall of repose" Akbar's colossal bedstead of red sandstone, with sculptured pillars, still occupies its accustomed place. Like David of old, the great Mogul climbed up into his bed, a broad flight of stone steps assisting him in this gymnastic feat, though a final leap was required to land him safely in the gigantic four poster. External stairs ascend to the red arcades and fantastic kiosks of the level roof, where shadowy cloisters offer cool retreats from the burning sun and extensive views of the surrounding country. Indigo, poppy, jute and tobacco alternate with the pale green of springing corn and the vivid emerald of waving rice.

The metallic tints of castor oil plants glisten against the black belts of jungle, and innumerable tombs dot the wide expanse of rolling plain with gray domes and pillared porticoes, for northern India, like ancient Egypt, is thickly strewn with memorials of departed greatness. The blue waters of the Jumna flow in a shrunken current through a waste of sand, and the scene, though destitute of actual beauty, suggests the impressive idea of infinity which is only conveyed by a level landscape viewed from a lofty height.—All the Year Round.

PERISHED IN THE FLAMES.

A Child Burned to Death The Mother's Efforts at a Rescue.

Special to the Times.

ROSSEAU, Ont., March 13.—The residence of H. J. Strett, farmer and councillor of North Cardwell, was burned to the ground about nine o'clock this morning, and resulted in the death of his youngest son, Frank, aged 3 years, who was up stairs at the time the fire was discovered, but although they heard him calling lustily for help, the flames had gained too much headway to allow of his being rescued. The distracted mother tried to ascend the stairs with a blanket round her head, but was driven back by the fire. Wm. Guillatt also tried to reach the room, in which the boy was, through the window, but the flames and smoke burst in his face and caused him to also abandon the effort. Little or none of the contents were saved.

AFFECTS THE HYAMS CASE.

Chief Justice Meredith's Decision Regarding Evidence.

Special to the Times.

TORONTO, March 13.—The decision of Chief Justice Meredith at St. Thomas that no evidence of previous applications by John Hendershott for insurance upon the lives of people other than those who are directly concerned in the case, as young W. H. Hendershott, the alleged murdered man, is admissable will have an important bearing upon the Hyams case, which comes up in the Police Court on Monday.

A considerable amount of evidence upon which Crown Attorney Curry hoped to make out a strong case against the prisoners will be excluded. Some testimony which was to have been given by Mrs. Hyams and Mrs. J. M. Pillows will not be received.

It is almost certain that an attempt to upset Chief Justice Meredith's ruling will be made shortly and a reserved case prepared for argument.

THREE FIRE VICTIMS.

Guests Caught in a Virginia Hotel and Leap For Their Lives.

Special to the Times.

PARSONS, W.V., March 14.—A hotel fire in which three persons lost their lives and four more received injuries from which they will die, occurred at Mackeysville, six miles north of here, at one o'clock this morning. The dead are:—Squire Corley, Eng. Sisson and Homer Golletti. The following were severely and probably fatally burned: J. K. Williams, James Junkins, Jacob Confer, Wm. Wilson. The scene of what came near being a wholesale holocaust was Junkins' hotel. The fire started in the lobby, and is supposed to have originated from a defective flue. The flames spread so rapidly that the guests had scarcely any time to escape. The watchman was awakened by the smoke and fire, and made haste to give the alarm. Fifteen of the guests managed to reach the windows and then jumped to the ground receiving but slight injuries. The three men burned to death probably never awoke. The loss will not exceed $3000.

May Be an Astor and Is in Trouble.

BOSTON, March 12.—Two Harvard students amused themselves early this morning by smashing a large plateglass window in a store in Cambridgeport. They were arrested and fined $210. They gave the fictitious names of Howard Camp and Clarence Townsend, but one of them, it is said, is a relative of the Astors, of New York.

AILSA'S WONDERFUL SPEED.

She Defeats the Prince of Wales' Crack Yacht by 10 Minutes.

Special to The Times.

CANNES, France, March 14.—At the yacting carnival here today in the race for the Ogden-Goelet James Gorden Bennett Challenge Cup No. 1, the Ailsa defeated the Britannia, the present holder, by 10 minutes, after allowing her 1 minute and 13 seconds. She allowed the Corsair 19 minutes and 42 seconds, and defeated her.

Experts were astonished at the wonderful speed of the Ailsa in beating to windward. It put in the shade any burst of speed ever developed by the Vigilant on this side of the Atlantic.

The Egg Market.

BUFFALO, March 13.—Canada products on the market today were rather scant. The big recovery in eggs has stopped importations, and it is now likely that not many eggs will reach this country from Canada, until prices are advanced. The supply of eggs today was heavy. and values were still lower. Strictly fresh, in crates, sold 14c butter steady, unchanged to prices for fancy creamery 20c. from wholesalers. Potatoes continue active and one or two cars of Canada's were among the rest in good demand Fancy white 62c., good choice 56 to 58, red and mixed 52 to 56 per bushel in carloads, sweet potatoes 25 to 75 cents.

Battle With His Horse.

VINELAND, March 14.—Edward Allord, a farmer living in the outskirts of Vineland, was probably fatally injured last evening by a horse. Allord had returned from town and was preparing to unhitch, when the horse becoming impatient, reared suddenly, striking Allord to the ground. The farmer pluckily sprang at the horse and seized it by the bridle. A desperate struggle ensued, and Allord was dragged across the yard and pinned to the barn door by the wagon shaft, which was driven into his stomach. Allord extricated himself and again attempted to conquer the animal. He fell from exhaustion. The physicians considers his recovery doubtful.

Her Majesty off to Nice.

LONDON, March 13.—The Queen, accompanied by the Princess Beatrice, started from Windsor at 10 o'clock this forenoon, en route for Nice. Ex-Empress Frederick will occupy Buckingham Palace during the Queen's absence.

Must Give an Account of Herself.

LONDON, March 13.—The Government has ordered the gunboat Bustard to prevent a large two funnel steamer which is now lying at Gravesend from leaving British waters. There is a Japanese naval officer on board the steamer but he will not say for what place the vessel is destined.

Widows and Spinsters Case.

HALIFAX, March 14.—The bill to confer franchise on spinsters and widows, with property qualifications, was discussed in the House of Assembly yesterday, and, af er a very animated discussion, it was given a three months' hoist by a vote of 21 to 12.

I. O. G. T. Concert.

Last night a delightful concert was given by members of City Lodge, I. O. G. T., in their lodge room. From 8 o'clock to the closing hour nothing arose to create a penumbra of dissatisfaction.

A Painful Accident.

A painful and unfortunate accident happened to Miss Ettie Kindred of Hunter street on Wednesday night. Miss Kindred was carrying a lamp and in some way spilled the oil on her hands. This ignited and she was badly burned about the hands and face.

An $8,000 Incendiary Fire at Lindsay.

An incendiary fire in Sylvester Brothers' Agricultural Implement Manufactory at Lindsay on Wednesday night, caused $8,000 damages. The loss will be divided equally among the Royal, British America, Western, Phoenix, London and Lancashire, Millers and Manufacturers.

Concert and Lecture Tonight.

A grand concert and lecture will be given in the Opera House tonight under the auspices of the local lodge of the Sons of Ireland Protestant Association. Mr. Alex. Sproule, J. P., of Ballymena, Ireland, will lecture on the Home Rule. Miss Lola Ostrom will take part in the concert. The Opera House will doubtless be crowded and those who desire good seats will do well to secure seats at once. Admission 35 and 25 cents. 15a1t

Lecturer McEvoy.

The lecture at the Y. M. C. hall, by Mr. Bernard McEvoy, last night, was, indeed, a welcome treat. There are many in Peterborough who are artistically inclined, and the goodly number that was in attendance at the lecture, "Our Attitude Towards Art," was very gratifying. The renowned lecturer's discourse was received with close attention, and so captivating was it that one and all could have remained until sunrise without becoming æsthetically tired!

Good Friday.

Astronomers say that on Good Friday next, April 12th, the heavenly bodies which gravitate round the sun will be in exactly the same position they occupied in the firmament the day Christ died on the cross. It will be the first time such a thing has occurred since that great day, just 1,863 years ago. That was the thirty-third year of the Christian era, which dates from the birth of Jesus Christ. At 11.20 p. m. on April 11th, the moon will pass before Virginis (Spica), and hide that constellation for over an hour.

A Stray Deer.

Considerable interest was excited in Lakefield by the appearance of a yearling deer on Sunday morning, which had travelled down the Youngs Point road ahead of a cutter for some considerable distance, and which was captured after some trouble by Mr. Ben Robinson. Mr. Robinson released the animal on Monday, but it was evidently [illegible] terrified and exhausted, and after swimming the river near the sawmill was recaptured by Mr. W. Calder who now has it comfortably stabled and reports that it is doing well and becoming very tame.

Wives in Demand.

There is a chance for girls in the Yukon country, an isolated corner of Canada, bordering on Alaska, where men are growing wealthy from washing the sands of the Yukon river for placer gold. To reach the country one must travel 5,000 miles by water up along the Pacific coast to the Behring Sea and up the Yukon river. There are a lot of British subjects there, bachelors, who are in want of wives. A commissioner from Yukon stated in Ottawa, the other day, that if a hundred and fifty girls were sent to Yukon he would guarantee that within six weeks they would be married to good husbands. This is an opportunity that ought not to be lost sight of.

Items of Interest Intelligently Presented for Busy Readers.

A meeting of the Street and Bridge Committee was held last night.

A concert was given in Lakefield last night by Mr. G. W. Mulligan and some of the members of St. Andrews' choir.

Mrs. Ashford of Port Hope has written to Premier Bowell regarding her sons, Clarence and Volney, who have been imprisoned on a charge of complicity in the recent trouble at Hawaii.

It has been a busy season for the delivery of saw logs, the premises of the Rathbun mill being now strewn with more than four thousand. The greater number of these were cut within a range of three or four miles of Campbellford.

The vernal equinox will occur on Thursday next, 21st inst., when the sun on its journey northward will cross the equator. It is then half way between the winter and summer solstices, and will make the day and night of equal length here and the world over.

On Tuesday of last week, Mr. D. Black shipped from Campbellford station to Peterborough 95 live hogs and 15 dressed; and the same day he made a shipment to Montreal, of 83 live hogs, 12 cattle and 8 calves. Two days ago he followed this up with the movement of 110 live hogs and 4 cattle.

It has been reported that a man of Peterborough will lease the Victoria hotel if a license is granted to Mr. Geo. William, the proprietor, but this is untrue. The preference will be for some one in Campbellford or vicinity. Several applications for it have already been made.—Campbellford Herald.

There were two divisions in the Ontario Legislature yesterday. By a majority of seven the question of the maintenance of the Government House was referred to a committee. The second vote was on the system of purchasing supplies for the public institutions. The Government was sustained by a majority of 16.

The editor was dying but when the doctor placed his ear to the patient's heart and muttered sadly, "poor fellow, circulation almost gone!" he raised himself up and gasped: "'Tis false, we have the largest circulation in the country!" Then he sank back on his pillow with a triumphant smile upon his features. He was consistent to the end—lying about his circulation.

Many persons continue to complain of newspapers being sent to them from different parts of Canada and the United States without an order having been given for same. The simple rule in every case of this kind is to refuse to take them from the postoffice. No publisher can compel a person to pay for a paper any more than he can for a coal mine, provided he has not ordered the paper or taken it from the office.

WINTER LINGERS.

Some Facts About the Weather and What May be Expected.

WHAT winter is lingering in the lap of spring is evidenced by the cold snap which struck this vicinity last Sunday. People, naturally, are wondering when the cold weather is going to give way for the warm sunshine of budding spring. This is what the Observatory men in Toronto have to say:

"Cold? Yes! and we'll get another cold day or two yet," said the outliner of weather today. His co-labourer groaned as he thought of the remnants of la grippe that still nursed aches in various out-of-the way corners of his anatomy.

There is a storm center down on the middle Atlantic coast that has been doing some rapid development during the last few hours. Storm signals have been ordered up and it will begin with rain, possibly turning to snow and accompanied by a fierce east wind. Torontonians need not expect much storm here and the weather will probably be fair.

The following are some of last nights temperatures. They are all below zero records: Parry Sound, 12; White River, 18; Southampton, 6; Winnipeg, 16; Calgary, 10; Medicine Hat, 12; Qu'Appelle, 10; Port Arthur, 10. Toronto was lucky enough to get off with zero.

The Rocky Mountain region on Wednesday was visited by a cold wave and snowfall. Eastern Colorado and Western Kansas suffered from a blizzard which caused some delay to trains, and poorly protected people and stock suffered severely."

We may expect a considerable amount of pleasant weather during April and May, as the prevailing winds will blow from a warm quarter, and it may be safe to predict an early spring. The first half of March kept up a wintry character, without any break to rain, and it is presumed there will not be an excessive rainfall when spring opens. Present indications point to a period of balmy weather from the last week in March, and rainfalls will not be frequent.

A CLEVER SCHEME.

The Man with the "Lightning" Liniment is a Fraud

An enterprising fakir has been working a cunning trick on a number of unfortunates in different parts of the county. He travels about peddling a liniment that promises to cure many ailments, deafness being one of them, and when he finds a person affected with partial deafness he asks to try, free of charge, his "lightning" liniment.

He carries two watches, one a very loud ticker, and the other a very weak ticking one. Before applying the remedy he holds the weak ticker to the ear of the patient, who, of course, can hear no sound. Putting it into his pocket, he rubs his ear with the liniment for a while, then holds the loud ticker to his victim and asks if he can hear it tick.

Deceived by the similarity of the watches and able to hear the sound of the last one to which he listens, the deluded person imagines his hearing has been benefitted, if not restored, and at once buys several bottles at a big price. The trickster has been quite successful with his scheme in several localities and is making money by his deception of the gullibility and misfortune of others.

A POST OFFICE BURNED

And all the Contents Destroyed—Destructive Fire at Hilton.

A dispatch from Brighton of March 14, says: This morning between 7 and 8, a fire destroyed the post office and general store at Hilton, four miles north of this place. The building was owned by A. A. Becker and occupied by S. J. Paks, general merchant and the post office.

Paks lost everything; insured for $600. Everything belonging to the post office was destroyed. The insurance on building was $800.

A small building adjoining, belonging to Marshall Nicholls and occupied by Widow Chatterson was also burned. The contents were saved.

CURLING NOTES.

Two Rinks Contest for Silk Hats—The Innes Medal.

On the rink yesterday afternoon skips Ed. Brown and G. W. Hatton played a game of curling, the conditions of which were that the losing skip should purchase a silk hat for the eight gentlemen composing the two rinks. It was a hotly contested match and resulted in a victory for Skip Hatton. The rinks and scores were as follows:

T. H. Boddy	Capt. Eaden
P. Henry	R. H. Fortye
W. H. Robertson	H. LeBrun
Ed. Brown, skip..13	G. W. Hatton, skip.19

On the first warm spring day each of the above gentlemen will appear with new shining beaver hats. They wont be the only ones, though, for several curling matches have been played for hats of late, and purveyors of headgear are in high glee.

The following rinks contested in the Innes' medal series last night:

Jefferys	O'Brien
Hall	Morrow
Sailsbury	Allen
Boucher, skip....19	Smith, skip 10

Skips Ray and McNeil pitted their rinks with the following results:

Kenner	LeBrun
Brown	Drope
Pentland	Stanger
Ray, skip.........18	McNeil, skip...... 16

The last draw in the Kendry Cup contest was played yesterday morning:

J Wylie	D Hall
E B Clegg	J S Knapman
D Davidson	R B McKee
W G Ferguson, sk..19	R S Davidson, skip..8

The challenge issued by THE TIMES' hockey team to the Review team has not yet been accepted. There is only one conclusion to be taken from this silence. If the Review staff will not play THE TIMES' team hockey, will they play carpet ball? Anything for a contest.

CORBETT STILL TALKING.

Champion Jas. J. Corbett arrived in New York from Newark yesterday. Regarding his coming battle with Fitzsimmons, Corbett told a reporter he had no doubt it would take place in Jacksonville, as per agreement. "Now that Oklahoma has opened its gates to boxers," said Mr. Corbett, "I am not averse to arranging a meeting with Jackson to take place there. He said he would meet me any place in America north of the Mason-Dixon line. If he was sincere when he made that statement Oklahoma is the place for our battle."

Touching on the coming fight between his sparring partner, Steve O'Donnell, and Jake Kilrain, Corbett says that his views on the question had been misrepresented. "I never stated that O'Donnell would knock Kilrain out," said the champion. "It took Sullivan more than two hours to beat him. I don't know if anybody had a greater reputation as a knocker-out than John L. Sullivan. O'Donnell is a very clever fighter, and I think he will outpoint Kilrain, but I may be mistaken. I never saw O'Donnell fight but I know what he can do, having sparred with him many times. Some men box well in friendly set-to's in private, but go all to pieces in a fight before a large crowd of people. Whether O'Donnel will perform as well in a fight as he does in practice remains to be seen."

A Very Aged Couple.

On the south-east corner of lot 20 in the 10th concession of the township of Percy, reside a couple whose combined ages amounts to 173 years, and whose unbroken married life covers 62 years. These, without doubt, are the oldest couple in this section. Jacob Weese was born in the 2nd Town, County of Lennox, on the 20th Nov., 1808. His wife, Elizabeth Scriver, was born in the township of Sophiasburgh, County of Prince Edward, in 1812. They were united in marriage on the 31st of March, 1833, the nuptial knot being tied by the Rev. Thos. Demorest, father of Dr. Demorest, of Warkworth. The witnesses were John Howell and Mary Robertson. Both for such an age are in very good health. Mrs. Weese, to keep herself busy and mind occupied, has during the past year, pieced a quilt that contains 4,500 pieces. They have lived 38 years in the township of Percey. They are in dependent circumstances.—Hastings Star.

A New Cheese Factory.

On Tuesday the framework of a new cheese factory was raised at Stanwood, and it will be completed by the 1st of April. Its size is 30 by 50 feet, and it is being built by Mr. Jas. W. Johnston on a plot of two acres which he recently purchased from off the south half of lot 20 in the 14th concession, now owned by Mr. Chas. Stephens. Mr. Johnston will manufacture the cheese for the patrons during next summer at a certain price per pound as may be agreed upon. Milk will be supplied by 40 or 42 patrons. The building when completed and finished will cost about $1,200. The nearest factory to this one is at Rylstone, 4 1-2 miles distant.

Removing to Campbellford.

The Campbellford Herald says: The store vacated by Tully & Co., next door north of Mr. McCrea's drug store, has another occupant. Mr. E. W. Elcomb, of Peterborough, is the new comer, and he will do a general grocery trade. He is just now busy in fitting up the premises and making them attractive for his stock of goods, a part of which has arrived. Mr. Elcomb has had three years' experience in the grocery business, and he is, therefore, alive to the best interests of the trade.

INTERESTING TO LADIES
SOMETHING FOR NOTHING
CAN YOU GET IT?

Many who should know better, are well pleased to get a good sized glass jar or tin of bulky alum, ammonia or other powerful but injurious mixture, for use as Baking Powder, at much less, perhaps even half the price, of the really good article, overlooking the fact that the amount thus APPARENTLY saved is of small moment in comparison with the real but not always immediately observed inevitable injury following the use of these articles. If in addition to the SEEMINGLY low prices there is attached some showy gift or prize to give the impression of extra value, the inferior or hurtful nature of the powder is lost sight of in the expectation (a vain one) of getting "something for nothing."

"LADIES' HOME" and "HAPPY THOUGHT" on the other hand, can always be depended on as articles of first class quality, and such as can be AND ARE guaranteed not only free from everything in the slightest degree injurious, but invariably sure, satisfactory and economical.

Can Catarrh Be Cured?
MOST POSITIVELY SO BY THE USE OF
Oxygenator

The record of our remedy is remarkable, it having shown itself equally efficacious in every form of the disease, from the simplest first symptoms to the most aggravated type. We confidently believe that any person suffering from Catarrh who has vitality sufficient to keep him alive until Oxygenator is given time to impart its properties can be completely cured by its use. That all other remedies have failed is no evidence that it will not cure.

Obtain precise but simple directions how to use it from head office, and we will guarantee you splendid results with the first jar you start with. Chronic cases desired.

PERMANENT RESULTS GUARANTEED

Put up in Gallon Jars, Price $1.50; or Two Jars for $2.50; and sold only direct from the factory to the consumer.

A Metal Breadboard

THE WOMAN WHO HAS BEEN USED to kneading dough on the old fashioned wooden breadboard knows what a bother it is to get them clean and how cumbersome and heavy they are. When they begin to crack or check its almost impossible to thoroughly cleanse them, and they may easily become dangerous conveyances of disease. It was left for a woman, of course, to remedy this state of affairs, and Mrs. M. M. Everhard, of St. Joseph, Mich., has patented a metal bread board, which is one of the greatest labor-savers imaginable. It is light, does not absorb grease, dough does not adhere to it, and while it possesses all the advantages of the marble bread-board it is much cheaper and, of course, far lighter and easier to handle. If readers want to confer a favor upon their wives that will be forever appreciated, let them send $1 to the manufacturers, 161 Bay street, Toronto, for one of these boards.

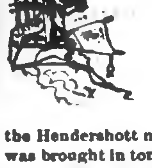
Welter and Hendershott Found Guilty of Murder.

A VERDICT OF GUILTY.

Chief Justice Meredith Immediately Sentences Them To Be Hanged in June —Closing Scene of the Trial—Counsels' Addresses and the Judge's Charge — Chief Justice Meredith's First Death Sentence.

Special to the Times.



ST. THOMAS, March 15.

KILLED by William D. Welter and John Hendershott, was William Hendershott, the victim of the Middlemarch tragedy.

Such was the verdict of the twelve good men and true, who composed the jury in the Hendershott murder trial. The verdict was brought in tonight and was announced amid breathless silence in the crowded court room. Chief Justice Meredith immediately passed the sentence upon the prisoners. It was that, in June next, they both be hanged by the neck until they were dead.

THE JUDGE'S CHARGE.

ST. THOMAS, March 15.—At 8 o'clock this morning, or one hour and a half before the opening of the court, the space in front of the entrance door to the court house was crowded with a multitude of excited men, women and children, struggling to obtain an entrance to hear the address of counsel for the Crown and the Judge's charge to the jury in the Hendershott murder trial.

When the outer doors were opened at 9 o'clock women and children mingled with the men in their frantic efforts to reach the court room.

Directly the prisoners were placed in the box they were surrounded by a group of relatives and intimate friends principally women and dressed in black and all weeping, profusely. Both prisoners were strongly affected by the scene, the elder one bowing his head on the support of the front of the box and the younger one crying bitterly.

About ten o'clock Norman McDonald, the prisoners' counsel, commenced his address to the jury. In a calm, clear and deeply earnest voice he went over the evidence sustaining the alibi in favor of Hendershott and in a scathing manner he denounced the attempts of witnesses, some of them near relatives of the prisoner, to ruin the reputation and perhaps take away the life of an innocent man by repeating conversations which had occurred months ago.

Mr. McDonald closed his address at twelve o'clock, after speaking over two hours. His address has evidently made a strong impression upon the jury in favor of the prisoners, and is considered one of the ablest addresses ever given in this court room.

Mr. Osler commenced his address for the Crown at 12.30 and spoke for half an hour until adjournment for lunch. He resumed again at 1.30 and is now presenting his case in the ablest manner. His side of the case presents some terribly strong and condemmatory points against the accused. He will probably speak for two or three hours, and the judge's charge will follow. Immediately after the case will be placed in the jury's hands.

The verdict of the jury will be in this evening.

PARNELL'S LOVE AFFAIRS.

One of them Brought to Light by the Death of the Lady.

Special to The Times.

PROVIDENCE, R.I., March 15.—The death of Mrs. Abbie Frances Woods Abbott, which took place here on Monday, has brought to light the story of romantic relations which formerly existed between that lady and the late Charles Stewart Parnell. The famous Irish leader, it is alleged, was at one time engaged to marry Miss Woods, but the proposed alliance was positively forbidden by the lady's father, Marshall Woods, the well known millionaire, of this city and Newport. When Mr. Parnell first visited the United States he was entertained at the Woods villa at Newport. Mr. Woods contributed largely to the Irish fund, and paid much attention to his distinguished guest. The next year the engagement was made. Later the engagement was broken by cable.

NAPANEE FIREBUGS.

They Attempt to Burn the Presbyterian Manse Early this Morning.

Special to the Times.

NAPANEE, March 15.—Fire broke out in the kitchen of the Presbyterian manse here about 2 o'clock this morning, but was extinguished before much damage was done.

There was a strong smell of coal oil on the premises when the fire brigade arrived and every indication that the fire was of incendiary origin.

Knew Nothing About It.

COBOURG, March 15.—Mr. Gifford of this place states that Mrs. Gifford did not accompany her sister to Toronto on the occasion of her marriage to Mr. A. O. Geiger in Holy Trinity church on March 4th, Miss Mack's relatives being entirely ignorant of her intention.

WENTWORTH'S TREASURER

Is $8,800 Short in His Accounts—The Deficiency Made Up.

Special to the Times.

HAMILTON, March 15.—A hurriedly called meeting of the Wentworth County Council was called for 10 o'clock this morning but only a caucus was held.

It was given out, however, that John Stock, the County Treasurer, is in difficulties. His accounts, he admitted, are about $8,800 short. His sureties have made up the amount and he will sell out his business in Waterdown, reimburse his sureties and move into the city.

He expects to straighten up everything and retain his position. The Council has confidence in him and the shortage is not attributed to any dishonest motive.

FOUND HER NOT GUILTY.

Josephine Begin Acquitted of the Charge of Murder.

Special to the Times.

SHERBROOKE, Que., March 15.—Yesterday Mr. White, Q.C., addressed the jury in the Begin case, making an able and clear plea on the criminal law of the country.

At 2 p.m. Mr. Justice Brooks began his charge, explaining to the jury that their verdict could be murder or manslaughter, and pointing out the difference between the two crimes.

At about five o'clock the jury retired, and after 30 minutes' deliberation they brought in a verdict of not guilty, and Josephine Begin was discharged, acquitted of the murder of Butcher Hebert.

IS THE VIGILANT AFRAID?

She will not Tackle the New English Racing Yacht Ailsa.

Special to the Times.

CANNES, France, March 15.—All the members of the Royal Yacht Squadron agree that the Ailsa is a wonderful boat and that she is superior in all points to the Britannia.

They are of the opinion that Mr. Herreshoff will undoubtedly improve on the Vigilant, but that he will have a difficult task to surpass the Ailsa.

The British yachtsmen were astonished when they heard that the Vigilant would not take part in the Clyde races previous to her return to the United States as that would give the Americans the truest comparison with Ailsa's form.

EXPLOSION ON A SHIP.

NEAR 200 JARS OF SULPHURIC ACID EXPLODES ON A FRENCH LINER.

A Hungarian Tragedy—Mrs. Colinsky and Her Daughter Found Assassinated—The Lear Divorce—Collision at Amherst—Telegraphic Intelligence.

Special to The Times.

CONSTANTINOPLE, March 15.

THE French steamer Armenia, which left Marseilles February 27, has arrived here. The Armenia had on board 166 jars of sulphuric acid, which was stored in the deck saloon. While rounding Cape Matapan during a gale, the Armenia was struck by a heavy sea, which swept over her decks and broke 97 of the jars of acid. A frightful explosion followed, demolishing the deck house. The cabins were filled with the fumes of the acid and two passengers died from suffocation. Four others were seriously injured.

GREENSBURG, Pa., March 15.—Saturday last, Mrs. Colinsky and her daughter started to walk from Mammoth mine to Mount Pleasant, where they intended to purchase tickets for Hungary. They had $500 in their possession when they left Mammoth. Yesterday the bodies of mother and daughter were found concealed in a bush at the roadside. They had been robbed and frightfully beaten. It is supposed that they were followed and assaulted by two Hungarians who knew of their having the money. The suspected men have disappeared. The husband and father of the murdered women was killed in a mine disaster at Mammoth some time ago.

THE LEAR DIVORCE.

HALIFAX, N. S., March 15.—The Lear divorce case was heard before Judge Graham to day. Rev. Dr. Macrea, of St. John, stated that he married Percy Lear to his wife in May, 1893, in the office of Mr. Stockwell, a barrister. Wm. Mitchell, druggist, swore that he saw Mrs. Lear and the co-respondent Don McDonald together in his store the night Mrs. Lear and McDonald put up as man and wife at the Albion Hotel. The manager and porter of the Albion Hotel testified that the couple registered as Mr. and Mrs. Donald McDonald, of Toronto, and were assigned a room for the night. The clerk at the Queen's proved that the night previous Mrs. Lear registered at the Queen's as Mrs. J. Dixon. License Inspector Banks swore that he was detailed by Lear to find his (Lear's) wife, and he discovered her at the Queen's Hotel under an assumed name, and also ascertained that she and McDonald roomed together at the Albion. Mr. Percy Lear is a commercial traveller, well known in St. John, Halifax and Montreal. McDonald is a Toronto man.

COLLISION NEAR AMHERST.

HALIFAX, N.S., March 15.—As the C.P.R express on the Intercolonial was crossing the "points within a hundred yards of Amherst station at 11.45 last night, the engine ran into two freight cars. One car was completely wrecked, the other damaged. The engine received slight injuries. No one was hurt. The passengers, several of whom were Montreal people, got a good shaking. The train was delayed some hours. John MacEachern, the fireman, belonging to Moncton, was bruised on the shoulder.

WHITEWAY NO BETTER.

ST. JOHNS, Nfld., March 15.—Sir William Whiteway, the Premier, who has the grippe, is no better this morning. He passed a poor night last night. The doctors think that perfect quiet is absolutely necessary and they advise a total cessation from all attempts at business for many days. It is stated that the attack of grippe is complicated by other ailments affecting other vital parts of the sick man's organization.

An Alleged Firebug.

TORONTO, March 15.—Siddey was arraigned in the Police Court this morning charged with having set fire to 361 Gerrard street east. Evidence was offered showing that the door was locked against the fireman and they had to burst it open although Clark was in the house at the time. The case was adjourned till Monday.

450 MAY BE DROWNED.

NO TRACE OF THE MISSING SPANISH SHIP REINA REGENTE.

Almost a Certainty That Ship and Crew are Lost—A Searching Steamship Finds no Trace—Wreckage Found.

Special to the Times.

TANGIER, March 15.

THE wires are hot with anxious inquires from friends of the passengers on the missing Spanish cruiser Reina Regente, in the hope that she had taken refuge in some Moorish port not having telegraphic communication with this city.

A Moorish steamer in search of the Reina Regente has returned and reported that she found no trace of that vessel.

GIBRALTAR, March 13.—A French steamer which has arrived here reports that she saw a big vessel, supposed to be the Spanish cruiser Reina Regente, ashore in Aceituños Bay. She was unable to assist the vessel on account of the heavy weather prevailing. Several British warships have left in search of the missing vessel.

FEARS SHE IS LOST.

MADRID, March 15.—The Government was questioned in the Chamber of Deputies as to the information it had regarding the Reina Regente. Prime Minister Sagasta said that he feared that the vessel had been lost.

Senor Garvajal, Republican, asserted that if the warship had foundered the disaster was due to the fact that she was overweighted forward by her big guns.

The belief is hourly growing stronger that the vessel will never again be heard from. In Cadiz and Carthagena, where most of the crew belong, the excitement and anxiety are intense.

PART OF HER WASHED ASHORE.

LONDON, March 15.—A despatch to the Standard from Madrid says that flags, a compass box, and other wreckage belonging to the Reina Regente have been washed ashore at Tarifa.

A FIRST-CLASS SHIP.

NEW YORK, March 15.—Of the Reina Regente during her visit to New York the following was said: "Next to the Blake, the most efficient flagship of the many present will be the Reina Regente, Spain's representative. The Reina Regente is an English built cruiser, and, aside from the little torpedo boat Cushing, the Reina Regente will undoubtedly be the fastest war craft in New York harbor. This vessel has made a speed of twenty-two knots an hour, which, taking into consideration that her displacement is 5,000 tons, is little short of marvellous. When Spain ordered the construction of of the Regina Regente she aimed at obtaining a warship that could overtake the fastest cruiser afloat. It was not sufficient, however, that the Regine Regente should be able to overhaul her enemy; it was also necessary that she should carry a battery fully able to silence the fire of an enemy once she came within range. The vessel is in command of a full captain in the Spanish navy, and the officers under this commander are said to have been selected by the Spanish Minister with especial regard to their attainments and general ability. In other words, the officers and men of the Reina Regente represent the flower of the Spanish navy. The Reina Regente has a displacemedt of 5,000 tons, which is a little larger than that of our own Chicago. Her construction is of steel. The vessel can carry in her coal bunkers over 1,100 tons of coal. For continuous steaming, day in and day out, the Spanish cruiser can be depended on as long as her coal lasts to make 19 knots an hour. On a spurt, under forced draught, she can readily raise this speed to 22 knots."

THE CHICORA'S FATE.

Part of Her Wreckage Coming Ashore at St. Joseph, Mich.

Special to the Times.

ST. JOSEPH, Mich., March 15.—Wreckage from the steamer Chicora, lost on Lake Michigan this winter, has begun coming ashore at this port. Parts from the engine room have been found. This is the first wreckage found.

The chair which Engineer McClure used has also been found. Many are now advancing the theory that she went down not far from this port. The ice is breaking up, allowing the wreckage which has been under it to rise.

About Time He Was Hanged.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., March 15.—Thomas Smith, one of the most notorious desperadoes of the Eastern Kentucky mountains, was found guilty of murder at Jackson, Breathitt county, yesterday, and condemned to be hanged. The crime for which he was on trial was the murder of J. E. Rador, but this was only one of his many killings. He was a professional murderer and was at the call of anyone who wanted a man to do a job that they dare not do. For years he was in the employ of J. C. Eversole, whose feud with B. F. French cost over 20 lives. Smith has been credited by him with killing 20 men, but he acknowledged only 8.

Women to Vote in California.

SACRAMENTO, Cal., March 15.—The State Senate has adopted a constitutional amendment giving women the right to vote. The amendment has already been adopted by the Assembly and will now be submitted to the voters of the State.

Death of Sir Robert Duff.

SYDNEY, N.S.W., March 15.—Right Hon. Sir Robert William Duff, Governor of New South Wales, died here today. Governor Duff recently arrived from Hobart, Tasmania, where he had attended the Australian conference. He was ill before leaving Hobart, and was in a prostrate condition when he arrived. He was born in Scotland in 1835.

Hugh Wilson will Recover.

VALLEYFIELD, March 15.—Hugh Wilson who was wounded three times by Shortis and who afterwards gave the alarm which resulted in the capture of the murderer, is now out of danger. He was able to sit up for the first time yesterday. Recovery is regarded as certain.

How Smallpox Was Spread.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., March 15.—There are 14 cases of smallpox at Lexington, Ky., brought by race horse people from Roby, Ind., and 153 cases in St. Louis and Maryville, Mo. Of these cases 140 originated from a stable boy from Madison, Ill.

DID HE KILL HIS WIFE?

THE INQUEST ON THE DEATH OF MRS. MARY DICKS.

The Accused Wife Murderer Refuses to Testify —The Story Told by the Son and Neighbors —The Prisoner's Agitation.

Special to the Times.

TORONTO, March 14.

AT the adjourned investigation into the death of Mrs. Mary Dicks at the Police Court last evening, Dicks' counsel, Mr. Allan Cassels, refused to allow him to give further evidence. Mr. Cassels said Dicks would have been glad to tell all he knew had he not been arrested, but as he would now be heard in another court, and as to testify now would disclose his defence, the lawyer declined to permit him to say anything further now. The coroner noted the prisoner's refusal to testify, and proceeded with the enquiry.

Arthur Edmund Dicks, the 12-year-old son of the prisoner, made a very good witness. On the night of the fire he went to bed about 8.30, with the other children. Most of the goods had been moved away to another house during the day. Mother went out driving that day with the prisoner, but witness did not know where. Never heard any talk of insuring his mother's life. Thought his own life was insured, as father had him examined by a doctor. Thought his brothers also were insured, as a man had come to see about it. At the time the fire happened prisoner came into the children's room and set baby down. Then witness and lamp smash. Prisoner ran back into the smoke, calling, "Mary," "Mary." He then returned, threw the mattress out of window and dropped the children on it. Father then sent witness to see if his mother had got safely away, but witness said she had not got out. The lad then aroused a neighbor named Tracey and stayed at their house. Prisoner came over shortly afterwards, sat down and buried his face in his hands. The father had not talked about the fire to witness but told him to keep up heart.

The lad gave way to tears at one part of his evidence, but he told what was thought to be a straightforward story throughout.

John Tracey, 15 Dean street, was the first neighbor to arrive at the scene of the fire, Dicks' children having come over and aroused him. Prisoner was sitting at a back window upstairs. Witness went into the house and got as far as the foot of the stairs, when the heat drove him back. Tracey told Dicks he and Dicks jumped down on the mattress. Dicks gave as an explanation of the fire witness, only hinting the furnace might have caused it. Witness admitted the furnace was old and dangerous. Prisoner and his wife lived on excellent terms. Tracey had burned the missing clothes of Mrs. Dicks that were scattered over the kitchen stove. Some of her husband's clothes were there too.

Fireman Richard Scholes said the alarm came in about 1.30 a.m., the reel being on the scene five minutes later. There was some fire in the hall, but mostly all in the shop. Dicks said his wife had and the firemen tried to save her, but could get no trace of the missing woman. There was no smell of coal oil, nor did witness see any oil can or waste lying about.

Firemen Taylor and Brennan told the circumstances of finding the body lying on her face in the shop.

Mr. Tracey, on being called said that he and a Mr. Collins found a broken lamp burner on the stairs the morning after the blaze.

Little Arthur Dicks was then called again. He said the family always kept a five gallon oil can in the house and the one produced by Detective Verney looked like it. He saw it the day before the fire at the northwest corner of the store, and it was last filled on February 27. The detective found this can lying on the furnace.

The prisoner was neatly attired, but he appeared greatly agitated during the whole session, sitting almost all the time with his head resting on his hands. His old father stood close to the witness box the whole time, and listened intently to every word spoken by the witnesses. The inquest will be resumed on Tuesday evening next.

LI HUNG CHANG MISSING.

He of Yellow Jacket and Peacock Feather Fame Has Now Lost Himself.

Special to the Times.

WASHINGTON, March 14.—The whereabouts of Li Hung Chang, China's peace envoy, is a source of much speculation and no little concern in official circles here and at the Chinese and Japanese legations.

He left Pekin more than two weeks ago. He went to Tien Tsin, when he was to sail for Japan. There had been constant reports from Tien Tsin prior to that time, but then there has been absolute silence and not a word has been received as to Li's arrival at Tien Tsin, or his departure for Japan or his purposes.

Owing to the tremendous responsibilities imposed on Prince Li there is naturally great interest in his movement.

BANK TELLER'S FLIGHT

WITH A SNUG PURSE STOLEN FROM A CANADIAN BANK.

John W. Patterson, the Acting Teller of the Traders' Bank at Strathroy Decamps with $4,000 of the Bank's Funds — A Carefully Planned Robbery.

Special to The Times.

STRATHROY, March 14.

AT this place on Saturday night, John W. Patterson, the acting teller of the Traders Bank, left town, taking with him about $4,000 of the bank's funds. He took the 7.07 train for London that evening and remained there all Saturday night, and on Sunday took a ticket at the G.T.R. station for Port Huron and left the city on the Chicago express on 7 p.m. Sunday. It has since been learned, however, that he went through to Chicago, paying his fare from Port Huron to the conductor on the train. The bank is understood to be fully protected. They hold a bond in the Guarantee Company of North America. Patterson was a steady, well educated young man of about 30 years of age, having the confidence of his superior officers, and his leaving in such a manner is a great surprise to his many friends. Mr. Alley, the inspector of the bank, visited Strathroy on Monday, and left for Chicago in the evening in search for the culprit. The manner in which the steal was accomplished seems to be that after balancing his cash on Saturday evening, he put it in a large tin box used for that purpose, and carried it into the vault, where it was his duty to lock it in the safe. He put the box in all right, but apparently dropped

of bills under the safe, where it remained unnoticed until the vault was locked. Having a key of the bank and vault, it was no trouble for him to return when all had left, open the vault and secure the booty. Of course if the bills had been put in the safe they would have been quite safe, as it required the manager and teller together to open it. The young man is about 5 feet 7 inches in height, of a fresh and ruddy complexion, and was quite a favorite among his companions, no one ever thinking and all deeply regretting that he could be guilty of taking such a foolish and disgraceful step. It is of course an almost certain thing that he will be captured, as the most active steps have been taken to secure that end

Battle With His Horse.

VINELAND, March 1a.—Edward Allord, a farmer living in the outskirts of Vineland, was probably fatally injured last evening by a horse. Allord had returned from town and was preparing to unhitch, when the horse becoming impatient, reared suddenly, striking Allord to the ground. The farmer pluckily sprang at the horse and seized it by the bridle. A desperate struggle ensued, and Allord was dragged across the yard and pinned to the barn door by the wagon shaft, which was driven into his stomach. Allord extricated himself and again attempted to conquer the animal. He fell from exhaustion. The physicians considers his recovery doubtful.

Her Majesty off to Nice.

LONDON, March 13.—The Queen, accompanied by the Princess Beatrice, started from Windsor at 10 o'clock this forenoon, en route for Nice. Ex-Empress Frederick will occupy Buckingham Palace during the Queen's absence.

Must Give an Account of Herself.

LONDON, March 13. — The Government has ordered the gunboat Bustard to prevent a large two funnel steamer which is now lying at Gravesend from leaving British waters. There is a Japanese naval officer on board the steamer but he will not say for what place the vessel is destined.

Widows and Spinsters Case.

HALIFAX, March 14.—The bill to confer franchise on spinsters and widows, with property qualifications, was discussed in the House of Assembly yesterday, and, after a very animated discussion, it was given a three months' hoist by a vote of 21 to 12.

THERE'S DANGER AHEAD!

Disease Neglected at this Season Brings Fatal Results

In Spring the Wise and Prudent Use Paine's Celery Compound.

A Montreal Lady Speaks About Paine's Celery Compound —Her Doctor Failed to Cure Her—Her Sufferings from Indigestion, Headache and Nervousness, banished by the Great Medicine—She Says: "I am Completely Cured."

Miss Bridges, 22 Dorchester St., Montreal, actuated by a sincere desire to do good to suffering humanity, gives public testimony regarding Paine's Celery Compound, which raised her from a condition of suffering, alarming and dangerous, to complete health and increased bodily vigor and strength.

She tells us of her disappointments with patent medicines and her failures with one of the best city physicians.

In her hour of peril Miss Bridges' attention was directed to that never failing spring medicine, Paine's Celery Compound, the great disease-banisher and health-giver. She joyfully and gratefully tells of her success, and gives unstinted praise to a medicine that is blessing thousands every day.

Sufferer, do not for a moment delay the work of purifying the blood and strengthening the system. The Spring season with its variable weather, demands that you look after your health.

Miss Bridges writes as follows regarding her cure by Paine's Celery Compound.

"I consider it a pleasure as well as a duty to put on record what Paine's Celery Compound has done for me. I suffered for years from indigestion, headache, pains in the back and side, and from a nervous tired feeling. I used many patent medicines without any good results. I was also attended by one of the best doctors, and used his medicines, but could not get cured.

"I saw Paine's Celery Compound advertised and decided to try a bottle. It gave such good results that I used six bottles, and I found myself altogether a new person. I have used it both Spring and autumn since 1890, and I can say with pleasure that all my troubles are banished; my nerves are strong, my sleep is good and appetite splendid.

"I would therefore strongly recommend Paine's Celery Compound to all who suffer as I did; they are sure and certain of good results."

INHUMANITY TO MAN.

Dastardly Attempt to Wreck a Train—The Miscreant Arrested.

Special to the Times.

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., March 14.—As West Shore train No. 1 was dashing along between Suspension Bridge and Niagara Falls, early yesterday morning, just behind the Chicago express on the New York Central, Engineer Wrench, of engine 45, attempted to slow down to let off his conductor, when he found his airbrakes would not work. He whistled for brakes, and by desperate means, reversing his engine, he narrowly avoided a rear-end collision.

An examination showed that the airbrake had been disconnected on the front end of the baggage car. The fireman then remembered that a New York Central switchman named Wilson Sine, who had been refused a ride on the engine up to the Falls, had jumped on to the baggage car just before the train left. Engineer Wrench was wild with anger, and, detaching his engine, secured orders to go to the bridge. He went down into the freight yards, and hunted around until he found Sine, and placed him under arrest. Sine fought and struggled, but Wrench overpowered him, placed him on his engine, and brought him to police headquarters.

The dastardly attempt at train wrecking of the young miscreant had become known and quite a crowd had collected, consisting of policemen and railroad men, when Engineer Wrench drew in with his prisoner. Sine was refused bail. The penalty for his crime is ten years in the State's prison.

AILSA'S WONDERFUL SPEED.

She Defeats the Prince of Wales' Crack Yacht by 10 Minutes.

Special to The Times.

CANNES, France, March 14.—At the yacting carnival here today in the race for the Ogden-Goelet James Gorden Bennett Challenge Cup No. 1, the Ailsa defeated the Britannia, the present holder, by 10 minutes, after allowing her 1 minute and 13 seconds. She allowed the Corsair 19 minutes and 42 seconds, and defeated her.

Experts were astonished at the wonderful speed of the Ailsa in beating to windward. It put in the shade any burst of speed ever developed by the Vigilant on this side of the Atlantic.

A reciprocal trade treaty has been entered into between South Australia and New South Wales.

THE MOTION WAS LOST.

GOVERNMENT HOUSE ABOLITION BILL DEFEATED.

The Majority Against It Was Seven—Haycock Wanted to Do Away with It and Help the Poor—Sir Oliver's Reply—Howland Voted with the Grits.

Special to the Times.

TORONTO, March 14.

THERE were few empty chairs on either side of the House yesterday afternoon when the Legislature assembled.

In introducing his resolution for the disestablishment of Government House at the expiration of five years, Mr. Haycock said he believed we had too expensive a Government machinery in this country and also too much of it. Since Confederation, he said, $469,000 had been expended in the maintenance of Government House. What an enormous sum, nearly half a million dollars thrown away by this small Province in a huge luxury. The Patron leader eulogized the present Lieutenant Governor, and said he was eminently qualified for the position, but all that gentleman had to do was to open and close this Legislature once a year. Outside of that, Mr. Haycock contended, the position was an ornamental one.

Other countries were coming to realise that these institutions were too expensive, and Ontario could not do better than to decide upon abolition. As it is at present he pointed out that the salaries paid to governors in the different states were much less in proportion to population than what Ontario pays. Of course the province had nothing to do with the salary question, but it did have to do with the whole affair. The time had come when we were called upon to apply the pruning hook and cut off these vast expenditures.

WOULD NOT EAT HIS SALT.

Mr. Haycock could not see his way clear to be present at the Lieutenant-Governor's banquet, but he and a friend walked past the place that night, saw the bright lights streaming from every window, listened to the enchanting music which flowed out from the spacious apartments within, and looked at the long, black line of carriages and coupes drawn up in front of the palace. It was all right if the man who lived there paid for this, but such was not the case. The speaker and his friend had just turned the first corner on their way back to the hotel when they met an old, gray-haired man who held out his hand and said he was hungry.

ESTABLISH ALMS HOUSES.

"Would it not be better," he asked "to apply the money expended on the Government house in providing a suitable place for the poor old men of the province?"

He believed this resolution would have the sympathy of the people of the province and a majority of the House, and for that reason he asked the members to support it.

SIR OLIVER ON HIS FEET.

The Attorney-General was the next speaker and admitted at the outset that this was a very important measure. He would like, however, if they could obtain in some authoritative way the full facts bearing upon the case. There were, no doubt ways in which the expenditure attached to the Government House could be modified and still retain the advantages which are afforded by the institution. The Lieutenant-Governor was not only a representative of the Queen but he was a representative of the people of the province. Some perhaps might consider the salary a large one but they had never had a lieutenant-governor who could save anything out of it. He hoped the depression was only temporary and that his hon. friend would accept this suggestion to have a committee chosen from both sides of the House appointed to take evidence in the matter.

AN AMENDMENT.

He therefore moved in amendment to the effect that a committee be appointed in order that the House might become possessed of the full facts in the case.

Mr. Marter followed in support of Mr. Haycock's resolution, and Hon. Mr. Hardy closed the debate.

Some little concern was felt by the Ministerialists when the division was brought on, but they cheered loudly when it was announced that the amendment had been carried by 44 to 37.

The Patrons voted to a man with their leader, and the Conservatives also, with the single exception of Mr. Howland, who voted for the Attorney-General's amendment.

LOSS OF A SPANISH VESSEL

With Her Crew of Four Hundred Men.

GIBRALTAR, March 14.—The Spanish cruiser Reina Regente is believed to have foundered off Tangier, Morocco, during the recent gale. She had a crew of 420 officers and men. Pieces of one of her boats and semaphore flags are reported to have been picked up along the shore near Ceuta and Tarifa. The Reina Regente had just conveyed the returning Moorish mission to Tangier. She left that port on March 10 for Cadiz, and has not since been heard of. The absence of news from her is causing the greatest anxiety, and it is believed that she has been lost with all hands. The cruiser Isla de Luzon, of the Spanish fleet, sailed today from Algeciras in search of the missing cruiser.

A TERRIBLE HURRICANE.

It Ruined the Cocoanut and Banana Crops in the Fiji Islands.

Special to the Times.

VICTORIA, B.C., March 14.—Particulars have arrived by the Australian mail of a terrible hurricane which swept over the Fiji Islands a few weeks ago.

Several large vessels came to grief with lamentable loss of life and buildings in Suva, the capital of Fiji, suffering severely. The town is comparatively in debris, having been the center of the hurricane.

The most serious report of damage comes from plantations. The cocoanut plantations will take fully five years to recover, and the banana plantations have been totally ruined.

Fight With a Panther.

JUNO, Fla., March 14.—William Curry, of Illinois, and John Crawford of Pennsylvania, while hunting yesterday, shot a young panther and were engaged in skinning it when the mother panther sprang upon them from a tree. Curry received wounds which will prove fatal and one of Crawford's eyes was torn out before he managed to drive his hunting knife through the beast's heart.

Fell Dead in His Pulpit.

DAYTON, O., March 14.—Rev. S. W. Hoover, pastor of the College street Dunkark church, and member of the firm of Hoover & Gaines, expired in his pulpit on Sunday night, while delivering his usual sermon. The pastor had just finished the words, "One by one they are passing over," when his head fell upon his breast and he was heard to murmur, "My mind is wandering." In another moment he fell dead in the pulpit. A tragic and pathetic scene followed, when the dead clergyman's wife endeavored to call her husband back to life.

Intercolonial Rail'y
OF CANADA.

THE DIRECT ROUTE BETWEEN THE West and all points on the Lower St. Lawrence and Baie des Chaleur, Province of Quebec, also for New Brunswick, Nova Scotia, Prince Edward and Cape Breton Islands, Newfoundland and St. Pierre.

Express trains leave Montreal and Halifax daily (Sunday excepted) and run through without change between these points.

The through express train cars of the Intercolonial Railway are brilliantly lighted by electricity and heated by steam from the locomotive, thus greatly increasing the comfort and safety of travellers.

Comfortable and elegant buffet, sleeping and day cars are run on all through express trains.

The popular summer sea bathing and fishing resorts of Canada are all along the Intercolonial, or are reached by that route.

Canadian European Mail and Passenger Route.

Passengers for Great Britain or the Continent leaving Montreal Friday morning will join outward mail steamer at Halifax on Saturday.

The attention of shippers is directed to the superior facilities offered by this route for the transport of flour and general merchandise intended for the Eastern Provinces, Newfoundland and the West Indies, also for shipments of grain and produce intended for the European market.

Tickets may be obtained and all information about the route, also freight and passenger rates, on application to

LOCAL AND DISTRICT HAPPENINGS OF THE DAY.

The Oakville Gold Cure.

Information regarding the above will be given with pleasure to all parties desiring such information. A. H. MELVILLE.

A Painful Accident.

A painful and unfortunate accident happened to Miss Ettie Kindred of Hunter street on Wednesday night. Miss Kindred was carrying a lamp and in some way spilled the oil on her hands. This ignited and she was badly burned about the hands and face.

An $8,000 Incendiary Fire at Lindsay.

An incendiary fire in Sylvester Brothers' Agricultural Implement Manufactury at Lindsay on Wednesday night, caused $8,000 damage. The loss will be divided equally among the Royal, British America, Western, Phoenix, London and Lancashire, Millers and Manufacturers.

A. O. F. Concert.

The Ancient Order of Foresters held a concert and social Wednesday in Unity Hall. A large attendance and a splendid program of vocal and instrumental music, readings and recitations made the affair pleasant and successful. Addresses were made by the chairman, D. C. R. Bro. Howden, and P. C. R. Bro. A. H. Webb.

License-Holders' Convention.

The Ontario License-Holders' Protective Association will hold its second annual convention in Toronto on Wednesday and Thursday of next week. Between 300 and 400 delegates will be present, and it is expected that a deputation will wait upon the Government with reference to amendments to the License Act.

Rev. J. C. Speer Complimented.

Toronto Globe: At the February meeting of the Broadway Methodist Tabernacle Quarterly Official Board, the much-esteemed pastor, Rev. J. C. Speer, was complimented on the excellent work done during the present year, and was by a standing vote unanimously invited to remain during the next conference year. Mr. Speer thanked the board and accepted the invitation. Mr. Speer is a brother of Mrs. R. A. Hamilton, Harvey street, and has many friends in Peterborough.

Lecturer McEvoy.

The lecture at the Y. M. C. hall, by Mr. Bernard McEvoy, Thursday, was, indeed, a recherche treat. There are many in Peterborough who are artistically inclined, and the goodly number that was in attendance at the lecture, "Our Attitude Towards Art," was very gratifying. The renowned lecturer's discourse was received with close attention, and so captivating was it that one and all could have remained until sunrise without becoming æsthetically tired!

Good Friday.

Astronomers say that on Good Friday next, April 12th, the heavenly bodies which gravitate round the sun will be in exactly the same position they occupied in the firmament the day Christ died on the cross. It will be the first time such a thing has occurred since that great day, just 1,862 years ago. That was the thirty-third year of the Christian era, which dates from the birth of Jesus Christ. At 11.20 p. m. on April 11th, the moon will pass before Virginis (Spica), and hide that constellation for over an hour.

True Blues Concert

Queen's Own Lodge, Loyal True Blues, gave a splendid concert Tuesday night in Unity Hall, which was largely attended. The chairman opened with an address, in which he dealt with the objects of the Society. The program consisted of vocal and instrumental music, reading and recitation. Mr. Walter English was the accompanist. Those who participated were: Messrs. Kingscote, Hayden, Varnes, Morphet, Hopkins, Sabine, Beach, Sharp, Mein, Roadhouse, Corbin, Blackstock, Sutherland, Millar, Gray, Miller, Hetherington, Hudson and Owens.

Pedigree Books Lost.

The clerks in the Agriculture and Arts Department are hard at work trying to figure out a pedigree book for shire and heavy draught horses out of the fragments of leaves and debris picked up in the ruins of the association's building at the corner of Queen and Yonge streets. The records for both these classes were almost totally destroyed, and it is thought to be almost impossible to make up a complete list again. The secretary, Mr. Wade, has sent out a circular to all the breeders whose addresses he could remember, asking them to give returns of their pedigrees to him so as to aid in the work. He would like if all those whose addresses he has been unable to obtain would correspond.—Globe.

A Stray Deer.

Considerable interest was excited in Lakefield by the appearance of a yearling deer on Sunday morning, which had travelled down the Youngs Point road ahead of a cutter for some considerable distance, and which was captured after some trouble by Mr. Ben Robinson. Mr. Robinson released the animal on Monday, but it was evidently much terrified and exhausted, and after swimming the river near the sawmill was recaptured by Mr. W. Calder who now has it comfortably stabled and reports that it is doing well and becoming very tame.

Wives in Demand.

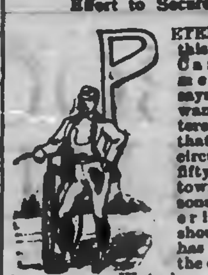
There is a chance for girls in the Yukon country, an isolated corner of Canada, bordering on Alaska, where men are growing wealthy from washing the sands of the Yukon river for placer gold. To reach the country one must travel 5,600 miles by water up along the Pacific coast to the Behring Sea and up the Yukon river. There are a lot of British subjects there, bachelors, who are in want of wives. A commissioner from Yukon stated in Ottawa, the other day, that if a hundred and fifty girls were sent to Yukon he would guarantee that within six weeks they would be married to good husbands. This is an opportunity that ought not to be lost sight of.

Cattle Regulations.

The Grand Trunk Railway, through the Vermont Central Railway, has succeeded in inducing the United States Government to so far relax the quarantine regulations as to allow of live stock being shipped to Britain via Portland, undergoing American Government inspection at Island Pond. Formerly sheep were allowed to be put aboard ship at New York, Philadelphia, Boston or Portland; under the new regulation they must be shipped from Portland only. These arrangements give the railways mentioned a monopoly of the land-carrying trade to Portland; as a result they charge 30 cents per head for cattle from Toronto to Portland, whilst their rate from Chicago to Portland, well nigh twice the distance, is only 25 cents. This is creating some grumbling among dealers there. One good effect of the new regulation will be the cheapening of ocean rates, because of the competition between vessels sailing from Halifax or Montreal and Portland. Dealers claim that some agreement for more considerate rates should be come at if the idea is to have Canadian cattle go through to the old country via Portland instead of by Halifax.

THE C. W. A. MEET.

The Board of Trade Will Make a Big Effort to Secure It Here.



PETERBORO' wants this year's meet of the Canadian Wheelmen's Association, says the Globe, and wants everybody interested to know of that desire. A neat circular, setting forth fifty facts about the town and giving reasons why the big gathering of wheelmen should be held there, has been sent to all the clubs, and the race is now on. Waterloo and Peterborough are the only entries so far.

Peterborough's chances of securing the "meet," which means a vast gathering of cyclists from all parts of the Province, are very good. In fact, they are bright. The Board of Trade has taken the matter in hand and is in communication with the Association.

As has been stated, a neat little pamphlet, setting forth "Peterborough's reasons why they should get the meet for 1895," has been issued. It contains the following pithy facts:

1. We have never had the meet.
2. Our membership this year will be as large as any club in the association.
3. We are located about the centre of the province, and the central district has only had the meet twice, viz., Belleville and Kingston.
4. We have 22 hotels with accommodation second only to large cities and at much lower rates.
5. Our track is first class. On August 16, 1894, we ran off 12 events in two hours, starting 19 men in one race and had no falls or accidents during the day, etc.
6. We have both the C.P.R. and G.T.R. and can get much better rates than a town with only one.
7. Our City Fathers are prepared to make a grant, to be used solely for the entertainment of the visiting members of the C.W.A.
9. We are prepared to make the association a straight offer for the meet.

Last. The boys all know what our lakes are for boating and fishing. Stoney Lake is known as the finest resort in the Dominion, and we have also Chemong Park.

MARRIED IN HASTE.

Very Quiet Wedding—A Lucky Organist He.

A despatch from Cobourg says: Quite a sensation spread here on Saturday evening when it became known that Arthur O. Geiger, organist of St. Peter's Episcopal church here, was married on Monday last at Holy Trinity church, Toronto, to Miss Mabel Buck, of this place.

Monday last, Miss Buck, accompanied by her sister, Mrs. Gifford, left Cobourg for Toronto to take a course of Turkish baths for rheumatism. Mr. Geiger and Mr. George M. Stevens also went to the Queen City, and they were married the same day.

Mr. Geiger had been a good deal in the company of Miss Buck of late, but no one had any idea they were married until Saturday evening. Then Mr. Geiger called at the Buck residence and said to Mrs. Buck: "It's no use beating around the bush any longer. Mabel and I are married!"

Miss Buck belongs to one of the oldest families in the town and moves in the best of society, and the news of her marriage to Geiger was a great surprise to her friends and a subject of wondering comment to the public. Both of the contracting parties are well known in Peterborough.

ASHBURNHAM COUNCIL.

Village Solons in Session—Accounts and Communications.

The Ashburnham Council met in regular session Tuesday night. There were present, Reeve Burnham and Councillors Smith, Rutherford, Craig and Calcutt. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved.

A communication was received from W. Blackwell, C.E., who had examined the town hall and reported that when the frost went out of the ground the building would go back to position. He didn't think any repairs were necessary.

ACCOUNTS.

On motion of Councillor Calcutt, seconded by Councillor Smith, the following accounts were ordered paid:

Examiner Co.	$ 6 00
Dickson Co.	4 50
A. H. Statton & Co	1 70

Pay sheet No 2	43 83
Pay sheet No. 3	1 88
Chas. Cassels	90
J. T. Wright, postage	98

St. Luke's church was granted the use of the town hall free of rent.

On motion of Councillor Smith, seconded by Councillor Rutherford, D. Law was paid $9 for keeping Mrs. McNairn.

On motion of Councillor Smith, seconded by Councillor Calcutt, the following taxes were remitted.

Mrs. Foster	$ 6 78
Mrs. J. Milliken	6 78
Mrs. W. H. Mitchell	8 70
F. Packenham, poll tax	1 00
D. McGregor	1 00

Several minor matters were discussed and the Council adjourned.

A CLEVER SCHEME.

The Man with the "Lightning" Liniment Is a Fraud

An enterprising fakir has been working a cunning trick on a number of unfortunates in different parts of the county. He travels about peddling a liniment that promises to cure many ailments, deafness being one of them, and when he finds a person affected with partial deafness he asks to try, free of charge, his "lightning" liniment.

He carries two watches, one a very loud ticker, and the other a very weak ticking one. Before applying the remedy he holds the weak ticker to the ear of the patient, who, of course, can hear no sound. Putting it into his pocket, he rubs his ear with the liniment for a while, then holds the loud ticker to his victim and asks if he can hear it tick.

Deceived by the similarity of the watches and able to hear the sound of the last one to which he listens, the deluded person imagines his hearing has been benefitted, if not restored, and at once buys several bottles at a big price. The trickster has been quite successful with his scheme in several localities and is making money by his deception of the gullibility and misfortune of others.

Removing to Campbellford.

The Campbellford Herald says: The store vacated by Tully & Co., next door north of Mr. McCrea's drug store, has another occupant. Mr. R. W. Elcomb, of Peterborough, is the new owner, and he will do a general grocery trade. He is just now busy in fitting up the premises and making them attractive for his stock of goods, a part of which has arrived. Mr. Elcomb has had three years' experience in the grocery business, and he is, therefore, alive to the best interests of the trade.

A SNAP IN BUTTER.

Five Hundred Pounds Sold at 11 Cents Yesterday.

Several of Peterborough's grocers struck a snap in butter Wednesday.

Early in the forenoon a queer looking outfit consisting of a dumpy hand-made sleigh drawn by a big horse, attracted by its oddity the attention of pedestrians, who gathered around the sleigh when it came to a standstill at the corner of George and Simcoe streets.

The occupants were a man and woman, bundled up in home spun clothing. The body of the sleigh was filled high with tubs of bright yellow butter.

The couple were settlers, and they had driven all the way from the back country somewhere in the vicinity of Shandos, fifty miles distant. They had come to town to dispose of their butter and when they offered it for sale at eleven cents per pound they had no trouble in disposing of all they had, which was about 500 pounds. In less than half an hour they were all sold out. The prevailing prices for butter yesterday were from 17 to 20 cents per pound. It was a snap for several grocers.

During the day the odd looking couple bought a new churn and a few parcels of groceries, which they loaded into their odd-looking sleigh, and at 5 o'clock they started homewards.

HUNGRY AND COLD.

The Story of a Shantyman Who Walked From Fenelon Falls.

A gaunt and hungry looking man approached several persons at the C.P.R. station yesterday afternoon and asked them where he could get some assistance.

He said he had been discharged from a lumbering shanty the other side of Fenelon Falls, and the foreman refused to pay him his back wages. Without a cent in his pocket he started for Peterborough and had walked the entire distance without a morsel of food. He said he was nearly exhausted for want of food and from exposure. His looks did not belie his word.

He was directed to the Police Station and there was given a meal and a night's lodging.

ON SOCIAL WORK.

Mrs. Commandant Booth Addresses the Local Corps of the Salvation Army.

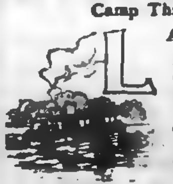
Mrs. Commandant Booth visited the local Salvation Army corps Tuesday night and was tendered a banquet at the barracks, after which she addressed a mass meeting. The Army gave her a great ovation and after a testimony meeting and several solos by Mrs. Booth, the wife of the leader of the Canadian forces of the Army, commenced her talk.

She denounced the criticisms of certain people on the modes of the Army and she upheld them and showed how they were utilized for good. The greater part of her speech was devoted to a description of the work in the rescue homes for fallen women and drunken women. They had several of these homes and they were doing much good and many lost women had been reclaimed and started on the right road. Mrs. Booth's address was touched up with several good illustrations.

The meeting was enthusiastic and was carried through in true Salvation Army style.

AT RICE LAKE

May the American Canoeing Association Camp This Summer



LAST year the American Canoeing Association had an outing. The association is wide in its scope and the membership is composed of canoeists in all parts of Canada and the United States. By arrangement the annual outings are held alternately in Canada and the United States.

The northern division of the A.C.A. which includes Port Hope, Cobourg, Harwood, Peterborough and many other towns will hold an outing about the first of August, and the members of the association in Peterborough will make a determined effort to have Rice Lake selected as the locality for the camp.

The advantages of Rice Lake are many, and the reasons that can be advanced for having the association select it, are legion. For instance, it is centrally located in the territory that comprises the northern division, and is conveniently accessible for the major portion of the members, who will find the trip to Peterborough on either of the railroads and thence to Rice Lake via the Navigation Company's steamers, a cheap and delightful one.

Further than this, there is no better spot in Ontario, nor one abounding in more natural advantages for boating and camp life than Rice Lake. With so much to urge their claims, the canoeists of Peterborough should certainly succeed in their mission. Several hundred members will doubtless take in the outing.

A POST OFFICE BURNED

And all the Contents Destroyed—Destructive Fire at Hilton.

A dispatch from Brighton of March 14, says: This morning between 7 and 8, a fire destroyed the post office and general store at Hilton, four miles north of this place. The building was owned by A. A. Becker and occupied by J. J. Pake, general merchant and the post office.

Pake lost everything; insured for $500. Everything belonging to the post office was destroyed. The insurance on building was $300.

A small building adjoining, belonging to Marshall Nicholls and occupied by Widow Chatterson was also burned. The contents were saved.

A New Cheese Factory.

On Tuesday the framework of a new cheese factory was raised at Stanwood, and it will be completed by the 1st of April. Its size is 30 by 80 feet, and it is being built by Mr. Jas. W. Johnston on a plot of two acres which he recently purchased from off the south half of lot 20 in the 14th concession, now owned by Mr. Chas. Stephens. Mr. Johnston will manufacture the cheese for the patrons during next summer at a certain price per pound as may be agreed upon. Milk will be supplied by 40 or 42 patrons. The building when completed and finished will cost about $1,200. The nearest factory to this one is at Rylstone, 4 1-2 miles distant.

A Very Aged Couple.

On the south-east corner of lot 20 in the 10th concession of the township of Percy, reside a couple whose combined ages amounts to 173 years, and whose unbroken married life covers 62 years. These, without doubt, are the oldest couple in this section. Jacob Weese was born in the 2nd Town, County of Lennox, on the 26th Nov., 1808. His wife, Elizabeth Scriver, was born in the township of Sophiasburgh, County of Prince Edward, in 1812. They were united in marriage on the 31st of March, 1833, the nuptial knot being tied by the Rev. Thos. Demorest, father of Dr. Demorest, of Warkworth. The witnesses were John Howell and Mary Robertson. Both for such an age are in very good health. Mrs. Weese, to keep herself busy and mind occupied, has during the past year, pieced a quilt that contains 1,600 pieces. They have lived 38 years in the township of Percy. They are in independent circumstances.—Hastings Star.

WINTER LINGERS.

Some Facts About the Weather and What May be Expected.

THAT winter is lingering in the lap of spring is evidenced by the cold snap which struck this vicinity last Sunday. People, naturally, are wondering when the cold weather is going to give way for the warm sunshine of budding spring. This is what the Observatory men in Toronto have to say:

"Cold! Yes! and we'll get another cold day or two yet," said the outliner of weather today. His co-labourer groaned as he thought of the remnants of la grippe that still nursed aches in various out-of-the-way corners of his anatomy.

There is a storm center down on the middle Atlantic coast that has been doing some rapid development during the last few hours. Storm signals have been ordered up and it will begin with rain, possibly turning to snow and accompanied by a fierce east wind. Torontonians need not expect much storm here and the weather will probably be fair.

The following are some of last nights temperatures. They are all below zero records: Parry Sound, 12; White River, 18; Southampton, 6; Winnipeg, 16; Calgary, 10; Medicine Hat, 12; Qu'Appelle, 10; Port Arthur, 10. Toronto was lucky enough to get off with zero.

The Rocky Mountain region on Wednesday was visited by a cold wave and snowfall. Eastern Colorado and Western Kansas suffered from a blizzard which caused some delay to trains, and poorly protected people and stock suffered severely."

We may expect a considerable amount of pleasant weather during April and May, as the prevailing winds will blow from a warm quarter, and it may be safe to predict an early spring. The first half of March kept up a wintry character, without any break to rain, and it is presumed there will not be an excessive rainfall when spring opens. Present indications point to a period of balmy weather from the last week in March, and rainfalls will not be frequent.

CURLING NOTES.

Two Rinks Contest for Silk Hats—The Innes Medal.

On the rink Thursday afternoon skips Ed. Brown and G. W. Hatton played a game of curling, the conditions of which were that the loosing skip should purchase a silk hat for the eight gentlemen composing the two rinks. It was a hotly contested match and resulted in a victory for Skip Hatton. The rinks and scores were as follows:

T. H. Boddy	Capt. Eaden
P. Henry	R. H. Fortye
W. H. Robertson	H. LeBrun
Ed. Brown, skip..13	G. W. Hatton, skip 19

On the first warm spring day each of the above gentlemen will appear with new shining beaver hats. They wont be the only ones, though, for several curling matches have been played for hats of late, and purveyors of headgear are in high glee.

The following rinks contested in the Innes' medal series last night:

Jefferys	O'Brien
Hall	Morrow
Sallsbury	Allen
Boucher, skip....19	Smith, skip 10

Skips Ray and McNeil pitted their rinks with the following results:

Kenner	LeBrun
Brown	Drope
Pentland	Stanger
Ray, skip.........18	McNeil, skip......16

The last draw in the Kendry Cup contest was played yesterday morning:

J Wylie	D Hall
E B Clegg	J S Knapman
D Davidson	R B McKee
W G Ferguson, sk..19	R S Davidson, skip..8

The challenge issued by THE TIMES' hockey team to the Review team has not yet been accepted. There is only one conclusion to be taken from this silence. If the Review staff will not play THE TIMES' team hockey, will they play carpet ball? Anything for a contest.

CORBETT STILL TALKING.

Champion Jas. J. Corbett arrived in New York from Newark yesterday. Regarding his coming battle with Fitzsimmons, Corbett told a reporter he had no doubt it would take place in Jacksonville, as per agreement. "Now that Oklahoma has opened its gates to boxers," said Mr. Corbett, "I am not averse to arranging a meeting with Jackson to take place there. He said he would meet me any place in America north of the Mason-Dixon line. If he was sincere when he made that statement Oklahoma is the place for our battle."

Touching on the coming fight between his sparring partner, Steve O'Donnell, and Jake Kilrain, Corbett says that his views on the question had been misrepresented. "I never stated that O'Donnell would knock Kilrain out," said the champion. "It took Sullivan more than two hours to beat him. I don't know if anybody had a greater reputation as a knocker-out than John L. Sullivan. O'Donnell is a very clever fighter, and I think he will outpoint Kilrain, but I may be mistaken. I never saw O'Donnell fight but I know what he can do, having sparred with him many times. Some men box well in friendly set-to's in private, but go all to pieces in a fight before a large crowd of people. Whether O'Donnel will perform as well in a fight as he does in practice remains to be seen."

LITTLE LOCAL LINES.

Items of Interest Intelligently Presented for Busy Readers.

Mrs. Ashford of Port Hope has written to Premier Bowell regarding her sons, Clarence and Volney, who have been imprisoned on a charge of complicity in the recent trouble at Hawaii.

It has been a busy season for the delivery of saw logs, the premises of the Rathbun mill being now strewn with more than four thousand. The greater number of these were cut within a range of three or four miles of Campbellford.

The vernal equinox will occur on Thursday next, 21st inst., when the sun on its journey northward will cross the equator. It is then half way between the winter and summer solstices, and will make the day and night of equal length here and the world over.

On Tuesday, of last week, Mr. D. Black shipped from Campbellford station to Peterborough 95 live hogs and 15 dressed; and the same day he made a shipment to Montreal, of 53 live hogs, 12 cattle and 8 calves. Two days ago he followed this up with the movement of 110 live hogs and 4 cattle.

It has been reported that a man of Peterborough will lease the Victoria hotel if a license is granted to Mr. Geo. William, the proprietor, but this is untrue. The preference will be for some one in Campbellford or vicinity. Several applications for it have already been made.—Campbellford Herald.

The editor was dying but when the doctor placed his ear to the patient's heart and muttered sadly, "poor fellow, circulation almost gone!" he raised himself up and gasped: "'Tis false, we have the largest circulation in the country!" Then he sank back on his pillow with a triumphant smile upon his features. He was consistent to the end—lying about his circulation.

PETERBOROUGH, MARCH 14, 1895.

Good morning !

Let Manitoba alone.

There are many men of worth left in the world; but there can be no more women of Worth.

The strongest test of the stability of the Salvation Army is to come. Can it stand prosperity ?

"Has the national policy made you rich ?" asks the Globe. No, but it has evidently made our contemporary retch

The Missouri Legislature has enacted that the plea of hypnotism as a defense in criminal cases in the State shall be barred.

The talk of removing Trinity College School to Cobourg, unless Port Hope offers inducements for it to remain, is an example of the evils of the municipal bonus system in another form.

The Czar of Russia has just directed that the knout be abolished as inhuman. The Senate of New York, at the instance of a "humane" society, has just directed that the use of the knout be established in this state.

The business men of the town evidently have no confidence in the police force as it is at present managed, else they would not hire and pay, by private subscription, a special night-watchman to guard their places of business at night.

The Liberals of West Peterborough are apparently in no haste to put up their candidate in West Peterborough. Whether this is due to difficulty in securing a man or to other causes, is not known. Mr. Peter Hamilton is spoken of, as is also Mr. Richard Hall, Dr. King and Dr. Goldsmith.

The action of Premier Bowell in taking measures to secure the release of Volney Ashford is most commendable. The Hawaiian government acted most unjustly in imprisoning the Port Hope boy, and the Canadian authorities should not rest until that injustice is righted.

A monster petition 30 miles long, and containing four million signatures, is on its way to President Cleveland and members of his cabinet, after which it will be sent to the various heads of the civilized government throughout the world. The petition asks for the suppression of the liquor and opium traffic.

Colorado has the honor of possessing the first legislature in which women have assisted as law makers. And the experiment ventured upon by this western state has proved eminently successful in one particular, as the first measure presented to the assembly by one of the lady members was a bill to raise the age limit within which seduction is a criminal offence from sixteen to twenty-one years.

Mr. Little proposes to change the time of making assessments in rural municipalities from winter to summer. The proposal is a good one. If carried out it will enable assessors to give a fairer rating of farm property than is now possible, and also procure statistics relative to the area devoted to growing crops which may be used in making the reports of the Bureau of Industries much more interesting and reliable than they are now.

THE YOUNG CZAR.

Those who expected that the young Russian Emperor would voluntarily extend to his subjects constitutional government are beginning to find that they had formed an altogether mistaken estimate of his character. Nicholas II is not a Liberal. He is not disposed to depart from the traditions of his race. He succeeded to the throne of an absolute monarchy, and he is evidently determined that it shall not be his fault if it does not remain absolute. He made the assemblage of influential men who waited on him on the occasion of his marriage to understand this pretty clearly. Russia is to be governed in the old way. The Emperor and the people shall bear the same relation to each other as they have done since the earliest days of the empire. Brought up as he has been, and seeing what he has seen, it is not likely that the young man believes in popular institutions.

If is not likely that he is either a more liberal-minded or a more kind-hearted man than his father was, and we have read of the corruption that was practiced the injustice that was inflicted, and the cruelties that were perpetrated in his reign, and apparently with his sanction. The Emperor of Russia inherits a system of government firmly established, as well as an Empire, and he will be indeed a strong man who is stronger than that system. It was far too strong for Nicholas I, and the indications are that it will be too strong for Nicholas II. It seems just now that the Emperor of Russia, though not so self assertive and imperious in manner as his cousin the Emperor of Germany, is equally fond of power and equally determined to preserve his prerogative intact.

It is to be hoped that the young Emperor hat inherited his father's love of peace and his discretion in dealing with foreign nations. This will be known before very long. It is said that there is a great activity just now in both the naval and military departments of the Czar's Government. and there is some talk of Russia's interfering in the quarrel between China and Japan ; and a rumor is afloat that the Czar is preparing to interpose for the protection of the persecuted Armenians. Nothing definite, however, is known respecting Russia's designs in those quarters. But it is clear that the Czar does not consider it is his duty to make political concessions to the people of Russia.

THE NEW SILVER PARTY.

The formation of the new free silver party in the United States with the influential leadership it possesses can hardly fail to force the hand of one or the other of the old parties. This is probably what it is intended to do. The silver men feel themselves to be strong in the West and South, and are in no mind to be played with longer by the politicians. It is generally claimed that they constitute a majority of the Democrats and a minority of the Republicans ; so that they naturally look to win the former party rather than the latter to their standard. And if they should get a straight free silver declaration from the Democrats, old party lines would be tangled up in a marvelous manner. "Silver" would at once become the chief issue of the campaign, and new party aligaments would ensue.

The Philadelphia Bulletin looks to the coming international conference to save American politics from this wholesale smash, It hopes that an agreement will be reached there that will impose a scientific bi-metallism on the financial world "If this hope shall be disappointed," it continues, "the struggle over the silver issue in the United States will, undoubtedly, be preciptated into the Presidental campaign, and new party aligaments will be almost certain to result from it. It is apparent to thoughtful observers that the existence of the Democratic party as a distinct organization, as well as the unity of the Republican party as now constituted, may depend entirely on the outcome of the coming conference."

This is probably the exact condition of things that the silver party has been formed to produce. It stands ready to lead the silverites into a new camp if both the old parties shirk the issue ; thus threatening the party leaders with the loss of their silver supporters in case they continue to dodge the question. Heretofore they have kept their silver men if they did not declare against free silver; now it is the purpose of this new party to make a positive declarition for "free silver" necessary if the silver states are not to be lost. All this will be very uncomfortable for the old leaders, who will now pin their hopes to the soothing effect of the international Conference.

Hinton St. George, the Somersetshire estate of Earl Poulett, is offered for sale. The Earl is the lineal representative of Sir Amias Paulet, the jailor of Mary, Queen of Scots, and is father to Viscount Hinton, who grinds the organ in the London streets. The estate comprises over ten thousand acres ; the old castellated manor-house lies in a park of 1,300 acres. It contains a picture gallery with 320 paintings, some by Rubens, Correggio Murrillo, Rembrandt, and Vandyk Everything on the estate is in perfect order, and for it all, pictures, furniture and heirlooms included $3,000,000 are asked.

Market Reports.

PETERBOROUGH.

The market has been brisk this week, especially in grain. Peas and oats have advanced in prices, and are still advancing Sheep and hog markets on Monday and Tuesday of next week, respectively. A good market may be expected to-day, as the demand for all kinds of produce, etc., is good, and the roads are in a fair condition for travel.

LIVE STOCK MARKET.

March 15.—Live stock markets are dull all over, and the local markets are not behind others in point of inactivity. At the point there is a fair business doing, but the market lacks the snap necessary to sustain prices. Cattle are easy and good butchers' stock can be obtained at a very reasonable figure. There was a fair quantity offered this morning, and 2½c to 3½ can be considered a fair range of values. Sheep ranged from 3½c to 4c, with very little demand even at the inside. The offerings at the East End Abattoir this morning included 350 head of cattle, 500 calves, 50 sheep and 20 spring lambs. The butchers were in fair attendance for this season, and on the whole trade in cattle was very brisk. Prices showed an upward tendency. A few of the best cattle sold at about 4c per lb, with pretty good stock at from 3½c to 3½c and half fatted beasts at from 2½c to 3½c. Good calves were in good demand, but very few of this stock reach this market, and the bobs are getting too numerous. A lot of ten young critters sold at $9 50 for the lot.

THE LIME JUICE CLUB.

REGULAR WEEKLY MEETING OF THIS CHASTE SOCIETY.

The President Delivers one of his Characteristic Speeches—He Refuses to Enter Parliament—A Strange Letter From Lindsay—Adverse Reports—Remarkable Poetical Effusion—Other Important Business.

When the club was called to order last night, the Hall of Wisdom was filled to the doors. Henroost Bell assisted the Janiter is seating the large crowd, while Cripes Mulcahey officiated in a similar capacity in the visitors' gallery. Councillor Stone was telling Bro. Frank Fairen how, one wintery night when the Town Council's themometer registered 40 below zero, he got stuck fast in the snow while driving in the country but found even a chillier atmosphere in the North Ward on his return to town, and Councillor Mills was explaining to Bro. Ed. Brown how his by-law to place the police under commissioners at higher salaries, was sidetracked through the vigilance of THE MORNING TIMES.

THE PRESIDENT'S SOLEMN WORDS.

"I knew an old man who died the other day without religion,' said the President, as he opened the meeting. "Some of the people who stood around his death bed and saw the smile on his face as he sunk away in death, could not make him out. He belonged to no church—he worshiped with no congregation, and they wondered that he died content.

"No, this old man had no religion according to the way the Christians put it, but I knew him long and well. In the first place he was honest. All the money in Peterborough would'nt have been a temptation to him. In the next place he was forgiving and conscientious ; if people wronged him he would excuse and forgive them. If he wronged anybody he would go down on his knees to make it right.

"This old man paid his honest debts. To him a debt was as sacred as holy writ. He had kind words for all. Never was a man so bad that this old man could not say something good of him. He respected the law, he upheld all that was moral and virtuous ; he was without envy.

"And as the April sun sunk low in the heavens the old man's time had come. He said goodbye to the world in a whisper, and he was not afraid. The setting sun poured its beams of glory through the window over his old wrinkled face, and it lighted up with such radiance that we stood there and held our breaths. It was the end of a man who called no man his pastor and took no church for his guide, but when the last minute came the joys of heaven were so plainly seen in his face that we shouted for glory.

"And so he died and such was the end of what the world calls a sinner. Although I believe in going to church, and hope you all do, yet we have amongst us scores of church members and praying men. I am wondering how many of us will sink away to rest as calmly and confidentily as that old man whose name never appeared on a church roll. I've been wondering if we don't pray too much and hang off about our debts too long ; if we don't sing with so much zeal that we haven't enough left to speak kindly to our neighbors ; if we ain't so sure of our own salvation that we don't care about anybody else. Let us look into this and find out where we stand. There is religion and religion. The sort that sends a member of this club down on his knees at the Wednesday night prayer meeting, and allows him to walk off with someone else's umbrella here on Friday night, is the sort I want to keep clear of."

GRATEFULLY REJECTED.

The secretary announced the following from Port Hope :

Sir Richard McBride,

DEAR SIR,—You will find enclosed twelve cents, the net proceeds of an entertainment given to start your campaign fund for the approaching election. The people in this section not only take a deep interest in your work of social and general reform, but will never rest until you are a member of the House of Commons. Prof. Allfired Lane and Lemonade Adams suggested the idea of helping you in a pecuniary way. A Committee of Arrangements was formed, and the result was beyond our greatest expectations.

Yours truly,
LIMBER SMITH,
Secretary of Committee.

"The twelve cents will be returned to the sender with my compliments," replied the President. "Such sudden outbursts fall on my heart like a July rain upon dry grass, but I must indulge in the hope that no further steps will be taken by any lodge or society. I have too much regard for my valued friend, the present member, to deprive him of his honors."

THEY ARE ALL RIGHT.

The secretary read the following letter :

LINDSAY, March 14, 1895.

DEAR PRESIDENT,

Some months ago some unhung villain entered our hall and stole the charter which was granted by the Lime Juice Club. We have been running along ever since without this document. What I want to know is, are we now a legally constituted branch of the club, or are we orphans ? An answer in the TIMES will be spelled out by our secretary.

JEHU MAY.

"The secretary will answer that the Lindsay branch is all right," replied the President. "We will prepare a new charter and have it sent as soon as the roads improve. The treasurer will see that Bro. Fortypercent Duncefort's boots are properly half soled, and the necessary document sewed in the lining of his coat for safe keeping before he starts."

ADVERSE REPORT.

The chairman of the Committee on Astronomy reported adversely on the case of Mrs. Lord John White, of Keene, who appealed to the club to lend he $150 with which to erect a monument over her deceased husband's grave. On motion of Henroost Bell, the action of the committee was sustained and Sir Richard said : "The secretary will write her a letter tendering our sympathies and suggesting that a member of this club who gets a $20 slab set up at the head of his grave is always tickled half to death."

HARMONY.

The Harmony Club secured the floor, and rendered the following original verses, composed by the club's own poet :

The people's going to have their way,
In spite of men like Stone can say ;
There will be flowers and fish in May
As usual !

In spite of all the ring has got—
The crooked ways in which they're sot,
July and August will be hot
As usual !

In spite of Kendry's deadly aim,
We'll have our innings just the same,
And Sproule and others will be game,
As usual!

In spite of each in spite of all,
With costly sewers and actions small,
The ring will quake when comes next fall,
As usual !

Then shout your loudest hallelu !
The outlook is not quite so blue,
We'll fire the crowd right up the flue,
As usual !

During the excitement which followed Councillor Mills was seen to slide out through the museum door and disappear in the darkness, while Fortypercent Duncefort coughed up a fish bone which he had swallowed in 1848.

FIRST SPRING POEM.

A letter received from Millbrook, signed Melodious Scott, stated that the writer was familiarly known as "Melodious Tennyson" of Millbrook. He had 28 years experience in the poetry business and would like to have the advertisement of being adopted as the poet of the Lime Juice Club. In return for the honor he would dash off many little gems in the course of the year without charge. Presuming that Peterborough had a spring season, the same as Millbrook, he forwarded the following, which he composed in exactly seven minutes :

ODE TO SPRING.

TO BE SUNG WITH DEEP PATHOS.

Oh, the season has arrove when the robin is assigning,
And the farmer gets his plow to furrow up the ground ;
The notes of the robin through the forests are a-singing,
And the mule sticks his ears up at every little sound.

The grass is looking green along the edges of the meadow,
And the turtle-dove is cooing in the maple on the hill ;
And the gander and his mate are walking in love's shadow,
And the roving little schoolboy goes a-wading by the mill.

The secretary said there were three more verses, but they had been so nibbled by the rats that he could not make them out

Bro. Pedagogue Kenner moved that the club honor the poet as suggested. He had read and listened to the reading of billions of poems in his day, but he never remembered of being so deeply affected before.

Bro. Poet Carlon would support the motion. He had heard poetry read more or less all his life, but this was the first time the reading of a poem had made him forgive a man for clubbing his dog.

Bro. Ed. Brown had always scoffed at poetry, and on two occasions had assisted to lynch poets, but the reading of those verses had worked a mighty change in his heart.

Bro. Henroost Bell had wiped his eyes on an old blue mitten, and was about to ask that the club read this poem at his funeral, when the President had motioned him to sit down and said :

"The secretary will write to Mr. Scott, that we wish him well and hope that he will make a barrel of money, but we can't grant his request. If we once open the doon to this sort of thing it can't be shut until we not only have the poet to the Lime Juice Club, but the brickmaker, the shoemaker, the carpenter and all other trades. It is now time to precolate the meeting and go home."

BEULAH LAND.

We're getting on in years, Jane, we two who started out
So bravely on life's journey, when the world was blithe and gay ;
I can hardly tell, my darling, how the thing has come about,
But I find myself beginning to live in yesterday.

There's a bald spot on my head, Jane, and the frost is sifting down
White as the drifting snow of winter on the fringe above my brow,
And your bonny locks are silver, that were once a golden brown,
Yet you never were so queenly, Jane, so beautiful as now.

But "Hurry up, old lady !" the car conductors say—
"Step lively, please, old gentleman !" and young folks offer seats,
And we discover in ourselves, when treated in this way,
A cold and haughty anger, or quick resentful heats.

Then, we've learned to love a corner by the chimney blaze at night ;
We are not always ready for the sleighing or the ice
That used to often call us forth, our faces smiling bright,
When mirth and frolic made for youth the flavor and the spice.

And we've caught the trick of looking with a half respectful awe
At the judges and the doctors whom we used to know in bibs ;
And we blush at the admission, but our youngster's word is law—
She has but to nod her meaning and our opinion wilts.

Then the small grandchildren rule us ; pray do not deny it, Jane ;
We would spoil them with indulgence if they lived beneath our roof,
When the question is of saying no, the little ones to train,
We, once so sternly resolute, just weakly stand aloof

Yes, we're getting on in years, but I like it very well,
This broad and pleasant upland to which our steps have climbed ;
'Tis a restful Beulah country where delightful people dwell,
And the hour of our arrival has been very sweetly timed.

"THERE SHALL BE NO NIGHT THERE."

When I walk out beneath the starry skies,
And feel night's solemn beauty o'er me steal,
I question of what meaning underlies
The words that yet so much to us reveal :

"No night in Heaven ?" No calm and silent night
To heal the fret and fever of the day,
Distil its balm upon the restless heart,
And bear us on sleep's shadowy wings away !

No far, mysterious stars ; no changeful moon ;
With light more grateful than the glare of noon .
"No night" to make the time when toil should cease,
And weary hands can lie in folded ease ?

What wondrous realm is this that knows "no night,"
Where eyes grow never weary of the light,
And hearts that ache with sorrow and distress
Ne'er long to welcome sleep's forgetfulness.

What boon to blest immortals can be given
To take thy place, Oh night, sweet night, in Heaven ?
The deepest meaning if I read aright,
Is that in Heaven they have no need of night.

The citizens would be pleased to have Counciller Cahill's opinion of the Town Solicitor, in view of the recent decision in connection with the outfall sewer.

OUR ELIGIBLE BACHELORS

SOME GOOD CATCHES IN NORTH MONAGHAN EXPOSED.

Also Another Batch of Peterborough's Lonely Men—A Good Assortment of Catches, Wealthy, Handsome and Desirable.

FACT it is that one of the most prosperous and fertile sections in the prosperous county of Peterborough is the township of North Monaghan. There may be found hundreds of acres of rich land, divided up into prolific and paying farms. The soil yields an abundant return for careful and judicious cultivation, and in consequence the residents of that section are prosperous, well-to do, contented and happy. There are many happy homes in the township and scores of cheerful firesides, around which the glum spectres of want never gather, for a full cellar and a well-stocked larder makes a bright fireside and insures happiness. There might be more such homes as these if some of the sons of Monaghan, who are now living lone, selfish lives, would marry. They are all good men and well able to support wives. Little wonder the belles of the township are rebelling, and have sent THE SATURDAY TIMES a list of names for our list of eligibles. They appear in the appended list:

NORTH MONAGHAN.

Smith, George C.—28 years of age; $5,000. Mr. Smith is an expert gardener and generally is lucky enough to get his crops safely harvested before the Frost King make his blighting descent. He is a typical Englishman, very calm in his manners and a well doing and saving little man. He has the symptoms and it is said before the wheat once more turns to gold, will take unto himself a wife.

Rightmeyer, W. C.—31 years of age; $5,000. Here is another gardener, and a good one too, for he can tell the difference between a beet and a mangle wurzle at 50 yards. Mr. Rightmeyer is a great catch and will make a good husband. He is the blessed owner of a span of mottled greys, and as he is something of a dude, cuts quite a dash with his stylish turnout.

Rightmeyer, Harry—25 years of age; $5,000.—This gentleman is also a prosperous gardener and is considered to be a good catch, being well able to support a wife. His would be a happy home, for he is an accomplished violinist and a very sweet singer.

Brown, Frank—43 years old and looks it—$15,000. Mr. Brown is a confirmed bachelor and his marriage would set township society in a titter. His is not a hopeless case, though and THE SATURDAY TIMES has faith in certain signs which have appeared of late. Mr. Brown is the superintendent of the R. C. cemetery, is genial, well-off and has a most happy disposition. He is a decided catch.

Thompson, George—41 years; $7,000. This gentleman runs the H. S. mark, which means hard shell. He is a confirmed bachelor and a hopeless case, for it is safe to bet he will never marry. He is held up as a warning to some who are fast emulating him. Mr. Thompson would make a good match, however, if some young lady could only get around him.

Whitfield, William—35 years of age; $10,000. Now, if there ever was a man who needed a housekeeper, it is Mr. Whitfield. At present he is living with old people. He is well-off and considered to be one of the solid yeomanry of the township. Marriage to him would mean many happy things and a much happier existence than he is now living. He can support a wife "out of sight," and some nice girl should look after him.

Hunter, Councillor—35 years of age; $10,000. Councillor Hunter is a well known and very popular farmer, looked up to and respected by his neighbors. He owns one of the best farms in North Monaghan, and located upon it is a nice cosy little house, which lacks nothing essential to happiness but a helpmate. It is said that the genial councillor is matrimonially inclined, and now that the outfall sewer matter has been settled, will have the required time to prosecute his attentions in certain quarters.

Bennett, George W.—31 years of age; $7,000. Mr. Bennett is an extremely handsome and distinguished looking man, and is considered to be "the eligible" of the township. He is a graduate of a military school. He is well known and respected in his own community and holds the position of clerk of the township. Mr. Bennett is quite a lady's man and it wont be long until he is snapped up. He has many friends in Peterborough.

Moncrief, Foster—34 years of age: $4,000. This gentleman is a good farmer and is amassing a snug little sum for the proverbial rainy day. He has been exhibiting strong matrimonial symptoms of late, and his marriage at any time will not be unexpected.

Brown, Thomas—35 years old; $10,000. Here is a big mellow plum for any girl. He is a tasty farmer, a famous stock breeder and can make things exceedingly comfortable for his wife. Several are after him, but he is a good dodger, and only delicate angling will land him in the matrimonial arena.

PETERBOROUGH.

A great pile of names of eligibles was sent in this week. They will be picked over and published as soon as practical. This week's instalment of "desirables" is given below:

Calcutt, Capt. Clare—28 years of age; $5,000. This is one of Ashburnham's most popular young men. It is no secret that he is very popular with the ladies. Capt. Clare is partial to those fair dreams of feminine loveliness who come camping in the summer, and his conquests are legion. It is safe to predict that he will not long remain in the single state, nor should he. He is good looking, genial and has in him the makings of future greatness. We trust this young navigator will soon anchor in the matrimonial harbor.

Henry, Thomas—25 years of age; $5,000. He is with Henry Bros., grocers. He looks younger than 25 but isn't. Mr. Henry is a very nice young man and would make a good hubby if not left too long. His present peculiarity is bashfulness, but a clever wife would soon take that out of him.

Report says he is considerable of a night hawk. He is an ardent reader of the New York World, especially the Woman's Page, which is a good sign.

Morrow, Fred—25 years of age; $5,000. Mr. Morrow is a son of the County Registrar. He is a very estimable young man, full of admirable traits, and would make some girl happy if he would marry. But he has never been seen in the company of any lady, and it is feared he will become a hard shell if he doesn't soon change his ways.

Might, Fred—27 years of age; $500. He is quite a ladies' man, especially milliners. He is well liked, a good clerk and would make a fair-to-middling husband.

Martin, Harry—29 years of age; $5,000. Mr. Martin is foreman of the Review bindery. He is a most estimable young man and would make some nice girl a good husband. He is very popular, is a Y.M.C.A. worker and possesses all necessary qualifications to befit him for the responsible duties of married life.

Fisk, H. O.—32 years of age, $5,000. Mr. Fisk is superintendent of the Light and Power Company. He is very fond of camping and it is said that as a result of a few week's outing at Stoney Lake last summer, he is mortgaged. We hope it is so. Mr. Fisk would make a corking good hubby and he should lose no time in getting hitched.

Snowden, Herbert—26 years of age; $10,000. He is the son of the proprietor of the Snowden House and is a capital fellow when you get acquainted. Mr. Snowden is intensely popular. He has a great fondness for ladies and no fears are entertained but he will select some particular one, before many moons. He is a great hunter and many deer have fallen beneath his unerring aim.

Stenson, Fred—27 years of age; $7,000. He is the son of Mr. J. T. Stenson, shoe merchant. Mr. Stenson is quiet, but very fond of the girls. He would make a first class husband, and if signs go for anything, it will not be long before the cards are out.

Thompson, Wm.—34 years of age; $5,000. Billy is older than he looks and we may be out in his age as given above, but his rating is all right. Mr. Thompson is with Cox & Davis. He is a capital fellow every inch of him. It is rumored that he has tender leanings towards Toronto, but this that doesn't reconcile with the fact he attends all the Lakefield carnivals. However, between the two, he is sure to be nabbed soon.

Miller, J. N.—35 years of age; $4,000. Here is a hustler. Mr. Miller is the Canadian agent for the Chickering Piano Company and travels from Atlantic to Pacific. He is without a partner to share his joys, but his friends are expecting him to take a tumble as he seems to be doing considerable business at Campbellford.

Davidson, Geo.—27 years of age; $5,000. A perfect type of man. Mr. Davidson is well known around town, and is particularly friendly with the ladies and his joining the ranks of the benedicts in the near future may be expected. We are in receipt of a letter from a Winnipeg lady asking us to publish his rating.

Green, Frank—33 years of age; $1,000. Here is a gentleman badly in need of a wife. He has a house on Dublin street which report says is furnished. He is quite a musician playing the slide trombone in the orchestra. Mr. Green is reported to have tender leaning towards Bridgnorth. The only fault he has is that he goes to bed late and rises too early (!).

Emil Baumner—25 years of age, $16,000. Here is a young man whom we make known to the people of the town. He is the son of a German count, and has been living here for over a year. He is a very steady young man and is very fascinating in the presence of ladies. He contemplates leaving town, but before he does some of our ladies ought to catch on.

Weir, Sidney B—24 years of age; $3,000. He is the son of Mr. Robt. Weir, the well-known merchant tailor. In disposition he is very quiet, but very cunning as far as the fair sex is concerned. He is an ardent McCarthyite. He is a catch.

White, Gus—24 years of age; $5,000. Gus is son of Mr. Robt. White, proprietor of the White House. He is very fond of fast horses and cuts quite a dash sometimes. He is a good fellow and a good catch.

Brien, Wm—28 years of age; $2,000. This popular member of the fire brigade is a beaut. He is tall and handsome and dividing his time pretty equally between the ladies and his moustache. He has a handsome moustache. It is said that Billy has interests in Port Hope. This is confidentially. He would be mortally offended were it mentioned in his presence.

Dingman, John—25 years old; $5,000. He is the assistant superintendent of the Dickson Company. Mr. Dickson has shown slight symptoms on one or two occasions, but they have been false alarms so its pretty hard to forecast Mr. Dingman's fate. He is a very nice gentleman, handsome and courtly and would make a good husband.

Wright, Charles E.—30 years of age; $4,000. Careful enquiry has revealed the sad fact that Mr. Wright, who is lumber inspector of the Dickson Company, is a confirmed woman hater. It is the duty of some fascinating young miss to overcome his prejudices and marry him forthwith. It would be a victory for the sex and a good thing for the subject of this sketch.

Croly, Louis—32 years old. $5,000. Mr. Croly is stenographer for the Dickson Company. He is a plum and a snap for any young lady. Mr. Croly is a member of the Y.M.C.A. and a leading man in the Baptist church. It is said he has big property interests in Toronto.

Caldwell, Dr.—45 years of age, $100,000. Cupid has hunted this popular and genial gentleman high and low, but has failed to pierce the leather covering of his heart with one of his arrows. Dr. Caldwell is one of the most eligible of the eligibles, and it is marvelous that he has so long withstood the allurements of matrimony. He is wealthy and well able to support a wife. Is it possible that he will remain invulnerable to the end? We voice the sentiments of many when we say we hope not. Dr. Caldwell is a member of the School Board and takes a great interest in all public affairs. He is an elegant catch.

Waldron, Frank A.—28 years of age—looks fully forty—$10,000. This gentleman is the accountant of the Dickson Co. He has 15 or 20 girls on the string and is particularly interested in one in Guelph. This is a pointer for the others. Mr. Waldron sings in St. Andrews choir. He is an excellent catch.

Lang, James—20 years of age; $1,000. He is in Nugent's drug store and is quite a ladies' man. One of his peculiarities is that he is very fond of pastry—particularly cold tarts. He will go one of these days.

NOTES.

—Another petition from old maids was presented last night. It might as well be stated that petitions will have no affect in preventing the publication of the list of old maids, which will appear shortly.

HARRY HAYWARD'S FATE

MISS GING'S SLAYER CONDEMNED TO THE SCAFFOLD.

Will be Executed in Three Months—Girls Engage in a Riot—A German Boy Kills His Father

MINNEAPOLIS, March 12.—"Hanged by the neck until you are dead!" The words fell heavily on the ears of the listeners as Judge Smith pronounced the doom of Harry Hayward.

It was 10.30 o'clock when the judge arose and motioned that the defendant be brought before him.

"Have you anything to say," he asked, "why sentence should not be pronounced?"

Hayward cleared his throat and with an effort he replied, "Nothing sir, except that I am innocent in spite of the twelve jurors."

Judge Smith then began. "It is the most painful duty that ever devolved on me," he said, "to pronounce the sentence of the law upon you at this time. You have had, in my judgment, a fair trial. You have been assisted in the defence by remarkable legal talent.

"The jury have been carefully guarded and kept from the public, so that there was no possible chance that they should have been contaminated. I instructed them not to discuss among themselves the guilt or testimony in advance of the final charge and I am confident that they obeyed that order of the court. They were 12 men carefully chosen and of upright honesty and they have found, each in his own mind, independent of the others' opinion, that you are guilty. In the judgment of this court this was a conscientious verdict of this jury. Although I am not favorable to capital punishment, as I told the jury in the charge, I am not responsible for it. I am here to obey the law in reference to it. It is with a feeling that I wish I could avoid, that I pronounce this sentence. It is ordered that you, Harry Hayward, receive punishment for murder in the first degree, of which you have been convicted, that you be taken from here to the county goal and, after the lapse of a period of three calendar months from this day, shall thereafter be taken to a place of execution fixed by the Government of Minnesota and at a time this warrant sets, be hanged by the neck until you are dead."

Harry Hayward sat down unmoved, and was immediately taken back to the gaol.

A Bad Case of Hydrophobia.

BUFFALO, March 14.—John C. Rogers, of Salem, Mass., was brought into police station No. 1 this morning, suffering from what was thought to be delirium tremens, but which soon proved to be hydrophobia. Soon after he was put in a cell he began choking and gasping, and water was offered him, when his spasms became tenfold more violent. Foam flecked his lips, while he snarled and barked and tore with his teeth at his coat lapels. His contortions were hideous to witness, and his suffering was evidently most acute. It took the combined strength of two stalwart bluecoats to keep him from biting himself or doing injury to others. A physician applied opiates, and after the patient's nervousness had quieted he told this story:—He is the son of the manager of the Mosler Safe Company, at Salem, Mass., and one day started out hunting, when he was attacked and bitten by a savage dog, which tore a piece out of one of his legs. He was confined to the house for five weeks, and since then has had two attacks of paroxysms like that which he had just experienced. He has been under treatment at the Pasteur Institute at New York.

The Hypnotised Woman.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 14.—Mrs. Mary Martin was taken to San Quinten Penitentiary seven months ago on a stretcher, and for five months she was ill. During that time she is said to have hypnotised Mrs. Murry, an attendant, whom it became necessary to remove from her influence. Mrs. Murry was not of a strong constitution and lost her mind. Mrs. Martin was locked in a cell, but in a short time the matron noticed that several women were acting strangely and seemed to have something on their minds. Mrs. Werner, who attempted to set fire to the penitentiary two weeks ago, was also one of Mrs. Martin's victims. She made a full confession to Warden Hale, telling him how she vainly tried to free herself from Mrs. Martin's influence.

The Begin Case.

SHERBROOKE, March 14.—In the Begin case the two lawyers for the defence finished their addresses, after an effort lasting over three hours, Mr. Belanger in French and Mr. Roderick in English. Their statement of the case and appeal to the jury was of a most melting character. They were followed by Mr. Mulvena for the Crown, in a forcible address in French. The court then adjourned. It will open again, when Mr. White will address the jury in English.

Quiet in the Southern City.

NEW ORLEANS, La., March 14.—All is quiet here today. Governor Foster, however, is still in town, and preparations are being made to resume work along the river front under the protection of the military.

At attempt will be made at noon to have the laborers resume work at the Harrison line, the scene of the recent rioting, under guard of the police and military. The attempt will probably be successful. In the meantime, efforts are being made to settle the trouble, which is a breach between the ship agents and the screw men.

It is not likely that the car strike will take place at present.

May Be an Astor and is in Trouble.

BOSTON, March 12.—Two Harvard students amused themselves early this morning by smashing a large plateglass window in a store in Cambridgeport. They were arrested and fined $210. They gave the fictitious names of Howard Camp and Clarence Townsend, but one of them, it is said, is a relative of the Astors, of New York.

KEENE.

On Sunday night last the members of the Y.P.C.E., in connection with the Presbyterian Church, held a meeting which was very impressive and inspiring. Mr. Andrews pastor of the church expounded the lesson in an efficient manner. The prayer-meeting was conducted by Miss Eliza Launderville. The active members very willingly and reverently responded in prayer when called on. We congratulate the young people of Keene in their endeavors to advance the interests of this soul inspiring association.

The annual missionary meeting was held in the Presbyterian church on Monday night last and was a decided success. Missionary lectures were ably delivered by Revs. Mr. Torrance and McWilliams of Peterboro.

The skating rink is in good condition yet and the boys and girls are jubilant over the fact that they can court while skating as well as on the road to their respective homes.

By appearance the probabilities are that a couple in this village have serious intentions of becoming man and wife. They are very spooney at present. We trust that they will always remain so.

A report is in circulation that a young man fell into a deep slumber while addressing his sweetheart. She tiring of his snoring went to bed. Imagine his surprise in the morning when helped out of the house by the old man.

YOUNG'S POINT.

(From our our own correspondent.)

Mr. H. J. Kearney, of Chicago, who has been spending a couple of months with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Kearney, left for the windy city a few days ago.

Miss Maddie Young, who has been visiting friends in Peterborough and Campbellford for the last few weeks, has returned home.

Miss Mary Pope, who has been visiting friends here, has returned to her home in Peterborough.

Mr. Alphonse Fobert, of Chemong, has returned home after spending a few weeks with friends here.

Mr. F. Condon, of Chicago, who has been spending a few weeks with friends here, left last week for Peterboro.

Mrs. Keane, of Peterboro, who has been the guest of Mrs. P. P. Young, for the past few weeks, has returned home.

Miss E. McCracken of Dummer, and Mr. F. McCracken of Brussels are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Kearney.

BEFORE THE DAYBREAK.

Before the daybreak shines a star
 That in the day's full glory fades;
Too fiercely bright is the great light
 That her pale-gleaming lamp upbraids.
Before the daybreak sings a bird
 That stills her song at morning light,
Too loud for her is the days stir,
 The woodland's thousand-tongued delight.

Ah! great the honor is to shine
 A light wherein no traveller errs;
And rich the prize, to rank divine
 Among the world's loud choristers.
But I would be that paler star,
 And I would be that lonelier bird,
To shine with hope while hope's afar,
 And sing of love when love's unheard.

THE HYAMS REMANDED.

OUT OF CONSIDERATION FOR THE ILL-HEALTH OF THEIR COUNSELL, MR. JOHNSON.

The Prisoners Look Intensely Relieved When They Heard of the Long Respite—Proceedings Will be Resumed Next Saturday.

TORONTO, March 9.—"What about the Hyams' case?" asked Col. Denison in the Police Court this morning after the other cases on the docket had been cleared off.

"Bring up the Hyams," called Deputy Chief Stewart and presently the two brothers appeared, looking somewhat pale and anxious. Dallas in particular glanced from counsel to the magistrate in a restless and nervous manner. Harry was somewhat more composed.

A long discussion took place between Crown Attorney Curry, Lawyers E. F. B. Johnston and Barrett, and the magistrate as to when the investigation should be resumed.

Owing to the ill health of Mr. Johnston, it was decided to formally remand the case for a week and then fix a date.

The long respite granted them was evident very agreeable to the two prisoners. They looked immensely relieved and even smiled gayly as they bade good bye to their counsel.

Abandon the Church.

ROCHESTER, March 14.—The vestry and members of the Church of the Good Shepherd have given up their fight against Bishop Coxe, and they have abandoned the church. It is now in the hands of the Bishop, to do with as he pleases.

THE HENDERSHOTT TRIAL

THE DEFENCE WILL TRY TO PROVE THAT THE TREE KILLED THE VICTIM.

Medical Testimony to the Effect that Limbs of a Tree Could Have Caused the Wounds on the Head—The Case of the Defense Will Probably End Today.

Special to The Times.

ST. THOMAS, March 14.

DID the tree kill John Hendershott? The main point in the defence of the prisoners William D. Welter and John Hendershott, charged with the murder of W. H. Hendershott, is to prove that the death the victim was caused by the fall of the tree and to this end Dr. Vanbuskirk, of this place, was put in the box yesterday afternoon.

He said: "I do not think the wounds on the head were made by an ax. I think they were caused by the branches of a tree except the injury on the occipital bone, that caused death, and that, I think, was caused by the tree hitting deceased. Had the tree struck the head when it was on the ground the head would have been crushed. He could, however, have been struck by the tree while he was upright or in attempting to rise after being struck down. That is the way I think Hendershott was killed."

SIX DIFFERENT LINES OF FORCE.

Dr. Wishart, surgeon of the London hospital, gave it as his opinion that the wounds were not caused by an ax, but admitted that it was a fair inference to judge that the wounds came from six different lines of force. Some of them came from an upward direction, others from a downward. A blow from the trunk of a tree would not cause the wounds found. An axe would cause many of them. The fatal blow on the top of the head might have been produced by two or three successive blows.

Although it was highly improbable, Dr. Nancrede, professor of surgery in Ann Harbor University, said that the wounds might have been caused by an axe. He admitted that he had no experience in injuries from falling trees.

THE DEFENCE NEARLY THROUGH.

At this morning's session Drs. Mason, St. Thomas, Going, Windsor, and Waugh, London, were examined. They inclined to the opinion that the wounds on deceased's head were caused by the falling tree and its branches, though they admitted that an axe could have caused the majority of the wounds, if not all.

The defence will close their case this afternoon. The Crown will offer evidence in rebuttal, and address by counsel commences tomorrow. It is probable the case will be given to the jury tomorrow night or on Saturday morning.

THREE FIRE VICTIMS.

Guests Caught in a Virginia Hotel and Leap For Their Lives.

Special to the Times.

PARSONS, W.V., March 14.—A hotel fire in which three persons lost their lives and four more received injuries from which they will die, occurred at Mackeysville, six miles north of here, at one o'clock this morning. The dead are:—Squire Corley, Eng. Sisson and Homer Colletti. The following were severely and probably fatally burned: J. K. Williams, James Junkins, Jacob Confer, Wm. Wilson. The scene of what came near being a wholesale holocaust was Junkins' hotel. The fire started in the lobby, and is supposed to have originated from a defective flue. The flames spread so rapidly that the guests had scarcely any time to escape. The watchman was awakened by the smoke and fire, and made haste to give the alarm. Fifteen of the guests managed to reach the windows and then jumped to the ground receiving but slight injuries. The three men burned to death probably never awoke. The loss will not exceed $3000.

COLLEGE PIE.

Dedicated to the Graduates of the Harmon Ladies' College, Ottawa, and the Kingston Ladies' College.

Give me a spoon of oleo, ma,
  And the sodium alkali,
For I'm going to make a pie, mamma,
  I.m going to make a pie.
For John will be hungry and tired, ma,
  And his tissues will decompose—
So give me a gramme of phosphate,
  And the carbon and cellulose.

Now give me a chunk of caseine, ma,
  To shorten the thermic fat ;
And hand me the oxygen bottle, ma,
  And look at the thermostat ;
And if the electric oven's cold
  Just turn it on half an ohm,
For I want to have supper ready
  As soon as John comes home.

Now, pass me the neutral dope, mamma,
  And rotate the mixing machine,
But give me the sterilised water first
  And the oleomargarine,
And the phosphate, too, for now I think,
  The new typewriter's quit
And John will need more phosphate food
  To help his brain a bit.

On Tuesday March 5th, 1895, a meeting of the Directors of the Smith, Ennismore and Lakefield Agricultural Society was held in the town hall, Lakefield, for the purpose of revising the prize list. He leaves a wife and family who will receive the sympathy of the community.

The Light Went Out.

During a heated discussion at the Council meeting last night the electric lights in the chandelier suddenly went out. For nearly an hour the discussion was carried on in total darkness. The incident was the occasion of many facetious remarks on the part of the councillors who thought there had been enough "gas" to supply light for the balance of the evening. One councillor was accused of being entirely in the "dark" in the matter under discussion and he had to admit it.

Mr. Ed. Brown's friends are having quite a laugh at his expense. Mr. Brown received yesterday a poster announcing the horse races at Arden. It was sent to him by Mr. Charles Stapleton, the genial agent for Reinhardt's "Salvador." The poster was accompanied by a note requesting Mr. Brown to bring his horse down and win all the events and the big purse. A glance at the poster revealed the fact that the combined purses amounted to only $45. The idea of him entering his trotter for that amount appeared to his friends to be very laughable. Mr. Brown says the joke is on Mr. Stapleton.

Jailed for Stealing.

About ten days ago, a young man named Marshall, of Harvey, visited Lindsay, and when about to go home, entered the Royal hotel and purloined a heavy overcoat, leaving an old ulster in place thereof. The latter had been borrowed in Bobcaygeon and upon reaching that classic city, Marshall left the coat, which he had borrowed so unceremoniously. A complaint was lodged with Chief Bell, who notified the authorities at Bobcaygeon and soon located Marshall and the stolen coat. A warrant was issued for his arrest, and sent to Constable Nicholls, at Bobcaygeon, when Marshall was brought to Lindsay. He appeared before P. M. McIntyre on Saturday last and was sentenced to one month in goal and $14.65 costs in default of payment of which he will serve two months.—Lindsay Watchman.

Death of Mrs. Leonard.

The death of Mrs. Catharine Leonard, relict of Thomas Leonard, occurred yesterday morning. In the demise of Mrs. Leonard Peterborough loses one of her oldest and most respected residents, deceased having resided here for over 50 years. She was born in Enniskillen, County Cavan, Ireland, in 1820, therefore being 74 years of age at the time of her death. In 1831 she came to this country with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John McKernan. For four years she lived in Montreal, in Kingston two years and then residence was taken up in this county. On August 14, 1842, she was joined in wedlock to Mr. Thomas Leonard. Ten children were the result of the union, six of whom survive her, three sons and three daughters. One of her sons, Mr. Alf. Leonard has been connected with THE TIMES composing rooms for a number of years. Deceased was widely and favorably known and many friends mourn her death. The funeral will take place tomorrow afternoon from "River Lawn," Dublin street.

WILL APPEAL THE AWARD

COUNCIL DECIDES TO APPEAL THE ARBITRATOR'S JUDGMENT.

Best Available Counsel to be Employed—The Question of a Footbridge Over the Otonabee at Auburn Shelved for One Month.

At a special meeting of the Town Council held last night the members occupied three hours' time in discussing the question of erecting a foot bridge across the Otonabee river at Auburn. The Auburn Woollen Company is willing to grant the right of way to the railroad for a foot bridge, and in the event of a highway bridge being erected instead of the foot bridge would give to the town a right of way from street to street of 66 feet. The advisability of erecting the highway bridge in preference to a foot bridge was discussed exhaustively pro and con.

It was deemed advisable to let the matter lie in abeyance for one month and a motion to that effect was carried.

Incidental business came up as follows:

COMMUNICATIONS.

From Canadian Fire Underwriters Association re communication sent by the town regarding Peterborough's fire appliance. The communication was considered satisfactory pending re-inspection. Received.

From M. Connors, asking for remittance of income tax. Court of Revision.

From James Peacock, asking for extension of time in which to pay his taxes. Court of Revision.

From Louis F. Heyd, notifying the town that he would issue a writ for damages against the corporation on behalf of Mrs. M. S. Chrysler. Received.

From County Clerk re anchor pier at Pigeon Creek. Referred to Joint Committee.

From S. A. brass band asking for a grant of $50 to improve and increase the band. Finance Committee.

From County Clerk inclosing a resolution of county council re memorial. Received.

ACCOUNTS.

The following accounts were referred to the Finance Committee:

Sailbury & Co.	$ 9 55
Mrs. Wm. Ballen	7 00
Dickson Co.	8 00
E. A. Machachtan	116 35
TIMES Printing Co.	3 50
T. J. Michiel	6 00
J. P. Hurley	1 00

On motion of Councillor Cahill the Clerk will order 300 copies of the auditor's report to be printed at once.

WILL APPEAL THE CASE.

The full judgment of the arbitrator in the outfall sewer matter was received yesterday by the Town Solicitor, who presented it to the Town Council last night. It is a voluminous document, and owing to a rush of other matter is not published in this issue. Immediately after its reading Councillor Stone moved, seconded by Councillor Brady, "That the town solicitor be instructed to appeal against the sewer award and to employ the best counsel available to argue both in it and in the Mason case."

The motion was carried unanimously and the appeal will be entered at once. The full Council board was present.

A TRAIN DITCHED.

The C. P. R. Express from Owen Sound Derailed Near Caledon.

FRIDAY morning the engine of the regular C. P. R. express from Owen Sound jumped the track three miles north of Caledon, derailing the train. The engine and the front end of the express car were completely wrecked. Among the 60 passengers on board, none of whom were injured beyond a severe shaking up, were: R. G. Davidson, traveller for Rice Lewis & Son; J. D. Walker, traveller for Warren Bros. & Boomer; C. Munroe and Miss Mable Davidson, champion skater of the world, of Toronto.

Engineer William Childs and his fireman had to be pulled out of the windows of the cab of the engine. They were unhurt.

Conductor Hassard was in charge of the train.

THE IRISH QUESTION

Ably Discussed by Mr. A. H. R. Sproul—A Very Successful Concert.

The first public entertainment held in Peterborough under the auspices of Peterborough Lodge Sons of Ireland took place last night at the Opera House and was successful in every way but financially. As is usually the case in Peterborough people do not appreciate a good thing, and such was the case last night, the entertainment was first-class throughout and certainly deserved a much larger house.

The concert opened by an address from the chairman, Mr. W. H. G. Armstrong, who dealt with the aims and objects of the Sons of Ireland Protestant Association in a very able manner. The instrumental selection by Messrs. Corbin & Roadhouse were very fine and were loudly applauded. The vocal duets rendered by Messrs. Kingscote & Hayden were good, both gentlemen being in good voice. As is usually the case Miss Lola Ostrom took the audience by storm with her recitations. The singing of Miss Lily Jackson met with appreciative applause, as did the Irish songs by Mr. R. J. Hillier. The recitation by Miss Patterson were the event of the evening. This young lady has a very clear delivery and very original poses. She made a decided hit. The drum solo by Mr. Robt. Beach was well rendered. Miss K. Hurley acted as accompanist.

The lecture on the Irish Question by Mr. A. R. H. Sproule was ably taken up. He dealt with all the prominent places connected with the matter but it was impossible to do it justice in the limited time allowed him. He stated that it would take over two hours to deal with the subject properly.

A GREAT MATCH.

Skips Rutherford and Kells Tie in Four Ends.

One of the most exciting and remarkable curling matches of the season was played on the rink last night between Skips Rutherford and Kells. When the 16 end had been played the game was a tie. Two more ends were played and both rinks scored three points. Another end was played and each side scored one shot. Things began to get exciting and quite a crowd gathered around. The 19th end was then played when Skip Rutherford scored two shots to Skip Kell's one. The game was for medals. The rinks were:

C LeBrun	J S Knapman
K Rutherford	D Belleghem
G Brown	J Stanger
T Rutherford, sk..20	R C Kells, skip.....19

On Tuesday night a hockey match will be played between the grocery clerks and dry goods clerk, with or without skates.

LAST NIGHT'S FIRE

Mr. William Faint's Woollen Factory Damaged—The Loss About $500.

FIRE broke out in the picking room of Mr. William Faint's woollen factory about 7.30 last evening.

The factory is located on Elizabeth street, Ashburnham, just east of the bridge on the south side of the street. The picking room is a small addition to the factory proper on the west and south end. The fire started, it is presumed, in a carding machine, and spread to the roof by means of a wooden spout which projected through it for several feet. This was soon ablaze and to spectators on this side of the river gave the fire the appearance of an immense conflagration.

The firemen were soon on the scene with the steamer, but had difficulty in getting it in working order. A delay, which would have been fatal to the factory had there been any wind, occurred. The fire, however, burned slowly, and by the time a line of hose had been laid from a hydrant east of the Morgan House, had not made much headway. It was soon under control.

The damage will be about $500, which is covered by insurance.

Several years ago Mr. Faints' factory was completely consumed.

A LETTER.

Editor of The Times.

A few days ago a telephone message was received at police headquarters, asking for protection in a row at the Italian colony. Chief Roszel (alone) responded to the call, and to his consternation saw with his own eyes, a subject of the Sunny South blandishing a dagger and placing life and limb in danger. Did he arrest him? Did he have the courage to arrest him? Did he show any disposition to arrest him? Did he try by any persuasion to make the Sunny desperado subside into perfect quiet? These are questions I would like answered. In addition he might, while answering the above questions answer the following: Why did he not arrest the desperado on the spot? Why did he issue a warrant for his arrest, and ask a subordinate to carry it into execution? How does he reconcile the above facts with a sense of duty—a duty which ought at all times to be exhibited with that degree of courage necessary to the true fulfillment of the position of chief of police.

Yours Sincerely,
"BRAVERY."

LAKEFIELD NEWS.

THE CANAL.

Mr. Hogan, a member of the firm who put in the lowest tender on the previous survey, has been up looking over the ground again. In his opinion the change to the river route is a good one from a financial point of view resulting in a considerable saving of expense. Several other contractors are preparing tenders.

PULP WOOD.

A large quantity of pulp wood and cheese box material has been purchased by Mr. R. Griffin for shipment to the U. S. and will furnish employment for some of the idle cars on the G. T. R. shortly.

MECHANICS INSTITUTE.

Arrangements are being made for an instructive course of lectures in connection with this institution. The first lecture of the course will be announced shortly. The President (Rev. G. Warren) and the Secretary (Mr. C. J. Blomfield) are endeavoring to increase the membership so as to obtain the Government grant and thus enable the Directors to add to the library.

COUNCIL MEETING.

At the regular meeting of the Council on Monday 11th inst the following business was transacted: The Auditors and Finance Committee's reports were received; a special committee was appointed to enquire into and report on additional fire protection; a grant of $15 was made to assist in circulating a pamphlet among residents in India and elsewhere; a by-law was passed to raise $500 for current expenses, an amendment to the by law relating to renting the Town Hall was ordered to be prepared, and the clerk instructed to correspond with the council of the Township of Douro respecting an island—the property of the corporation. An application for a grant of $30 for description of Lakefield in the Toronto guide was laid over.

SIGNS OF SPRING.

INTERESTING TO LADIES
SOMETHING FOR NOTHING
CAN YOU GET IT?

Many who should know better, are well pleased to get a good sized glass jar or tin of bulky alum, ammonia or other powerful but injurious mixture, for use as Baking Powder, at much less, perhaps even half the price, of the really good article, overlooking the fact that the amount thus APPARENTLY saved is of small moment in comparison with the real but not always immediately observed inevitable injury following the use of these articles. If in addition to the SEEMINGLY low prices there is attached some showy gift or prize to give the impression of extra value, the inferior or hurtful nature of the powder is lost sight of in the expectation (a vain one) of getting "something for nothing."

"LADIES' HOME" and "HAPPY THOUGHT" on the other hand, can always be depended on as articles of first class quality, and such as can be AND ARE guaranteed not only free from everything in the slightest degree injurious, but invariably sure, satisfactory and economical.

Can Catarrh Be Cured?
MOST POSITIVELY SO BY THE USE OF
Oxygenator

The record of our remedy is remarkable, it having shown itself equally efficacious in every form of the disease, from the simplest first symptoms to the most aggravated type. We confidently believe that any person suffering from Catarrh who has vitality sufficient to keep him alive until Oxygenator is given time to impart its properties can be completely cured by its use. That all other remedies have failed is no evidence that it will not cure.

Obtain precise but simple directions how to use it from head office, and we will guarantee you splendid results with the first jar you start with: Chronic cases desired

TO THE ELECTORS

—OF—

East Peterborough

GENTLEMEN,—Having some time ago been nominated by the Patrons of Industry, and lately by the Liberal party, as a candidate for the representation of East Peterborough in the House of Commons at the approaching Dominion Elections, I have decided to accept the candidature as an Independent Liberal, and if elected I shall support, to the best of my ability, the following policy:—

1. Maintenance of British Connection.
2. Public lands for the actual settler and none for the speculator.
3. Independence of Parliament and economy in the public expenditure.
4. The abolition of the Canadian Senate.
5. Tariff for revenue only and to be levied principally on the luxuries and not the necessaries of life.
6. Reciprocal trade between Canada and any other country in the world if it can be obtained on fair terms.
7. Repeal of the Dominion Franchise Act and a return of the voters' lists made out by our municipal officers.
8. That electoral districts conform as nearly as possible to county boundaries.
9. Responsible government in practice as well as theory.

As it will be impossible for me to call on you all personally during the short time at my disposal, I take this means of placing my views before you an soliciting your support. I shall also endeavor to hold as many public meetings as possible in the several municipalities, at which I hope to have an opportunity of presenting my views more fully before you. I beg to remain, gentlemen,

Your humble servant,
JOHN LANG.

A Metal Breadboard

THE WOMAN WHO HAS BEEN USED to kneading dough on the old fashioned wooden breadboard knows what a bother it is to get them clean and how cumbersome and heavy they are. When they begin to crack or check its almost impossible to thoroughly cleanse them, and they may easily become dangerous coveyances of disease. It was left for a woman, of course, to remedy this state of affairs, and Mrs. M. M. Everhard, of St. Joseph, Mich., has patented a metal bread board, which is one of the greatest labor-savers imaginable. It is light, does not absorb grease, dough does not adhere to it, and while it possesses all the advantages of the marble bread-board it is much cheaper and, of course, far lighter and easier to handle. If readers want to confer a favor upon their wives that will be forever appreciated, let them send $1 to the manufacturers, 101 Bay street, Toronto, for one of these boards.

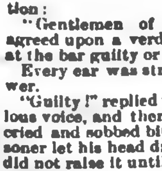
WELTER'S CONFESSION.

CROWN IN POSSESSION OF ALL THE FACTS OF THE KILLING.

Welter Tells a Friend the Whole Facts and Outlines the Details of a Most Cold-Blooded and Outrageous Murder—Hendershott Killed on His Knees While Drinking From a Pool.

Special to the Times.

St. Thomas, March 16.



DEATH on the gallows will be the fate of Welter and Hendershott on June 18.

It took nearly two hours for Chief Justice Meredith to deliver his charge. He summed up the evidence at length, bringing out all the strong points to the defence as well as for the Crown. He instructed the jurors to start out with the presumption of the innocence of the prisoners and then to return a verdict according to the evidence.

A VERDICT OF GUILTY.

The jury went out at 5.30 and a short while after 10 announced that they were prepared to bring in a verdict. An expectant hush fell over the court room as His Lordship took his seat on the bench and the jury filed into the room. Immediately the clerk arose and asked the formal question:

"Gentlemen of the jury, have you agreed upon a verdict? Are the prisoners at the bar guilty or not guilty?"

Every ear was strained to catch the answer.

"Guilty!" replied the foreman in a tremulous voice, and then women shrieked and cried and sobbed bitterly. The older prisoner let his head drop on his breast and did not raise it until sentence was imposed on him. Welter sat as stolid as a rock. He never showed the least sign of fear.

SENTENCED TO DEATH.

In sentencing the prisoners the Chief Justice dispensed with the black cap. He asked the prisoners if they had anything to say.

"Nothing," answered both.

He then sentenced them to death on Tuesday, June 18th. The prisoners were immediately removed to the jail and the death watch put on them.

The jurors were unanimous on the first ballot. After discussing the evidence thoroughly a ballot was taken and every man voted "guilty."

WELTER'S CONFESSION.

It has been learned that the prosecution is, or considers itself to be, at length in possession of all the facts attending the killing of William Henry Hendershott on Friday, December 14th last. The facts have been obtained from a man to whom young Welter confessed the whole crime, and it is given to the Crown on condition that he is not brought into the witness box. This condition, accordingly, renders it impossible for the Crown at this court to bring the facts out.

STRUCK WHILE DRINKING.

It seems from this information that young Hendershott was murdered in the most cold-blooded manner, and the first assault was made on him when he was at a disadvantage. The murder was committed in the morning, before John Hendershott left for Eden, and he was present and took part to doing the unsuspecting young fellow to death. Young Hendershott was on his hands and knees when the first blow was struck. He had knelt down to drink out of the pool in the woods in which subsequent to the murder the axe and the hands of the slayers were washed.

Just when he placed his lips to the water he received the blow from the axe on the right temple. He was not stunned, but rose and attempted to run. The men, having begun their bloody work, followed it up. They went after their victim, and finally one of the men grabbed him by the wrists, while the other struck at him again and again with the axe. One other fatal blow was delivered, namely, that on the back of the skull, but the remaining blows were weak and ineffectual, owing to the horror, probably, which had seized upon the man who wielded the weapon

BOTH CARRIED THE BODY.

When this deed of blood was done the body was taken and placed where the tree which figured in the case was expected by the men to fall when cut, for it had not yet been chopped down. Owing, however, to the fact that the tree leaned and was rotten at the centre, it fell otherwise than as they thought it would, and it had to be removed to where it was when found by those to whom Welter first brought the the news. The place where it was put at first was where the crotch of the tree fell, and where a large pool of blood was found.

After having accomplished the deed to their satisfaction, they washed themselves and the axe in the pool and hid the instrument, with which they had murdered their victim, between the bark and the wood of the hollow log. The arrangements were then made for Hendershott's trip to Eden, for the sending of the telegram to him there containing the news that his nephew had been killed by the falling of the tree, his return next day to St. Thomas, where Welter met him by arrangement, and all the subsequent details.

A PRINTER ARRESTED.

John F. Howden Charged with Stealing Trinity Examination Papers.

Special to the Times.

Toronto, March 16.—John F. Howden, of 113 Shuter street, was charged in the Police Court with stealing Trinity Medical examination papers from Rowell & Hutchinson and in complicity with William Terry selling them to a student for $75.

Through Lawyer H. H. Macrae he deferred pleading and electing until Monday.

He was allowed out on bail on giving three sureties, himself in $500 and two others in $250. William Staneland, of 258 Yonge street, and his father, John Howden, were his bondsmen.

Dean Geikie said that the authorities discovered the fact in time to change the examination papers.

CABINET COUNCIL.

Discussing the Schools Question—Meet Again on Thursday.

Special to the Times.

Ottawa, March 16.—Sir Charles H. Tupper, Minister of Justice, was much better today, but did not move out until this afternoon, when he went to the Cabinet meeting. The school question will only be discussed today. On Thursday next the Cabinet will again meet, when it is almost certain the long pending decision about an election or session will be arrived at. Everybody here expects a session.

WORKING A BLUFF ON SPAIN.

The United States Warships Being Prepared for a Possible War.

Special to the Times.

New York, March 16.—That Uncle Sam is determined not to be caught napping in the controversy with Spain over the firing upon the steamer Alliance by a Spanish warship in the Caribbean Sea, is shown by the orders which were received by Commander Sicard at the Brooklyn Navy Yard yesterday.

He was ordered to lose no time in preparing all the warships in the yard for sea service and the work was at once begun with a large force of men on the Maine, the Puritan and the Terror.

The Vesuvius, which has been blowing up derelicts, is ready, and every warship on the Atlantic will be ready in a month.

Admiral Meade is now at Trinidad with the flagship Newport and the cruisers Columbia and Cincinnati.

The Monitor Miantonomah is in Philadelphia, and orders have been given to get her in readiness.

Captain Rogers of the Brooklyn Navy Yard says that every warship on the Atlantic Coast will be ready for service in a month, and if Spain feels like fighting Uncle Sam will meet her more than half way.

BIG STRIKE IN BRITAIN.

An Army of Shoe Operators Idle—Employers Not Anxious.

Special to the Times.

London, March 16.—The strike of bootmakers has been extending throughout the week, until today there are 200,000 idle operatives in that branch of industry. The strike affects all the factories in England except those in Stafford, Norwich and Bristol. Some of the London trade unions are granting ten shillings a week to the strikers.

The employers are not in the least anxious, declaring that they have enormous stocks yet unsold. Nevertheless, they are preparing to protect themselves by the employment of labor-saving machinery.

SMASHED THE BOXES.

Letter Receptacles Wrecked in Ottawa—A Queer Outrage.

Special to the Times.

Ottawa, March 16.—The Post Office Department is today endeavoring, with the aid of local detectives and police, to trace the perpetrators of a wholesale wrecking of city letter boxes, which occurred throughout Ottawa last night. Already six of her Majesty's deposit boxes in the central and outlying districts have been reported smashed by vandals. The carriers found them open, and their contents scattered on the streets. It is impossible to ascertain if robbery was the motive, or if anything of value is missing, but it is whispered in the department that no trouble will be experienced in tracing the miscreants, who are thought to be employes.

WIMAN IS OVERJOYED.

THE SUPREME COURT ALLOWS HIM A NEW TRIAL.

Judgment Against Him Reversed—Two Judges Concur, One Dissents—Overwhelmed with Congratulations.

Special to the Times.

New York, March 16.—The General Term of the Supreme Court has reversed the judgment convicting Erastus Wiman of forgery in the second degree, on which he was sentenced to five years and six months in State Prison. Judge Vanbrunt wrote the opinion reversing judgment, which Judge O'Brien concurred in, Judge Follett dissenting from it. Mr. Wiman will have a new trial.

HE IS CONGRATULATED.

Mr. Wiman came to New York this morning on the 8.40 o'clock boat from Staten Island. He received the congratulations of many friends on the boat with a smile and a clasp of the hand all round, and then hurried to his office at 1 Broadway, only to be well nigh swamped there with letters and telegrams of congratulations. Several callers were there too, who had come in to offer congratulations on his escape from Sing Sing, and Mr. Wiman received them as he looked over his mail. He also talked freely about his case.

"I am more than happy," he said, "over the result of the appeal to the General Term, though it was no more than I expected. I had been expecting the decision, knowing that the Justices hand down their papers on the third Friday in each month, and, as the case had been argued in January, yesterday was the right time for decision.

HE IS OVERJOYED.

"I went to the offices of Tracy, Platt & Boardman, my counsel, to hear the news. It came about 4 o'clock in the shape of a telephone message from the court. Of course, I was overjoyed. Then a copy of the decision came, and Mr. Boardman read it to me. After that I hurried home to tell my family the good news.

"Had the decision been against me we were prepared to take the case at once to the Court of Appeals at Albany. However, I had such confidence in the magnificent justice of the State of New York's judiciary that I expected no other outcome than a reversal of the judgment of conviction.

WON TWO OR THREE CHANCES.

"I had the three good chances—the trial, the certificate of reasonable doubt, and the appeal to the General Term. I lost the first. The other two I won. The jury had nothing else to do but to convict me. The court's charge left nothing else. I was and I am still, satisfied with their treatment of me, for I have known that some of them would have strained a point to have granted an acquittal had the court allowed them.

"I now see there is a chance in this country for a man to make a mistake and yet redeem himself. I have no future plans for my case, and I do not know whether or not it will go any further. That rests with the District Attorney."

"The judgment will make no difference in my plans for the improvement of Staten Island and I will go on as usual."

THE JUDGMENT OF REVERSAL

leaves several things for the prosecution to do. The District Attorney may appeal to the Court of Appeals or he may demand a new trial or he may drop the case entirely. In case Mr. Wiman's counsel won the appeal at Albany it would settle the case forever. A new trial might result in acquittal. Lawyers generally today were of the opinion that Justice Van Brunt's decision had settled the case beyond a doubt. If the prosecution decides to go on with the case a new man will have to prepare and try it. Assistant District Attorney Wellman, who prosecuted the case last year, has since resigned. No one now in the office of the District Attorney is familiar with it.

A $1,500,000 FAILURE.

MEREDITH & O'BRIEN, BROKERS, GO INTO LIQUIDATION.

Heavy Losses by Speculators—The Stock Exchange Being Unfairly Treated by the Banks.

Special to the Times.

Montreal, March 16.

MEREDITH & O'Brien, bankers and brokers, went into liquidation today with liabilities aggregating $1,500,000 for much of which collateral security was given.

The Quebec bank took out writs for seizures of securities, and served notices on the Bank of Hochelaga, the City and District Savings Bank, the Merchants' Bank of Canada and the Merchants' Bank of Halifax, to prevent them delivering $243,000 stock held by them on advances. Later they made a demand of assignment.

The stock exchange was closed early yesterday because one bank wanted to unload about a million and a quarter of stock. The president of the exchange complains that some of the banks are not treating it fairly. There have been very heavy losses by speculators lately. One broker has put up $60,000 in margins on C. P. R. stock.

A GUARDIAN APPOINTED.

Montreal, March 16.—A. W. Stevenson has been appointed provisional guardian of the estate of Meredith & O'Brien, stock brokers. Mr. Stevenson has taken charge of the books and will make up a statement within three days.

BUDGET FROM OTTAWA.

THE LATEST DEVELOPMENTS IN THE POLITICAL SITUATION.

The Trade Returns For the Month of February Very Satisfactory—A Session Most Likely.

Special to The Times.

Ottawa, March 16.—Owing to the non-arrival of Hon. Mr. Foster and Hon. Mr. Costigan and the confinement to his house on account of a bad cold of Sir C. H Tupper the meeting of Council, which was to have taken place today, was not held. There will be a meeting Monday if the Minister of Justice is well enough to attend. Whether the Manitoba school question will be considered, however, is doubtful, but it most probable that it will be. It is also expected that the question of dissolution or session will be settled Monday if there is a meeting of Council, but again there is no certainty of the matter coming up. There is a growing impression that this question is already practically settled and that a majority of the ministers are now disposed to favor the holding of a session before an election, as there would scarcely be time now to have an election and then a session, so that the estimates could be passed before the 30th June. The session idea gains strength every day and some even go so far as to fix the Thursday after Easter, April 18, as the date of the opening of Parliament.

IMPORTS AND EXPORTS.

The trade returns for the month of February, which appears in the Canada Gazette, are the most satisfactory which have been published for some time, and seem to indicate that exports have about reached minimum, while imports show a very pronounced and marked improvement. The total exports were $8,658,401; entered for consumption, $7,769,287, and duty collected, $1,479,319. Compared with same month last year this shows a decrease of $49,115 in exports, an increase of $709,877 in goods entered for consumption, and a decrease of $18,948 in duty collected. For the eight months of the fiscal year the exports have been $80,936,949, as compared with $85,904,499 for same period last year. The total entered for consumption amounted to $69,246,990, and duty collected $11,506,600, showing a decrease in the former of $7,179,986, and of duty collected, $1,790,980.

MINOR NOTES.

The circulation of Dominion notes increased about $100,000 during February, and the amount outstanding at the end of the month was $21,441,313, against which there was held in gold $9,670,221, which is about $3,000,000 in excess of the amount required by law.

Deposits in the Government savings bank during February were $315,311, and the withdrawals $194,600.

A New Prize Ring Code.

New Orleans, March 16.—Prof. John Duffy, the referee of the Olympic Club, has just drafted a new code of rules by which the ring battles to be given by that organization in the future will be given. The principal innovation is in the length of rounds and intermissions, which will probably affect the style of fighting. The rounds will be of four minutes' duration, with two minutes' intermission, instead of three minutes' rounds and one minute intermission, as formerly. Duffy does not think one minute between rounds sufficient, as it does not enable the contestant to either get his wind or become thoroughly dried. The rules also enable the contestants to remain down 15 seconds instead of 10. The ring provided is 24 feet, or as near that as possible. The pivot blow is barred. If the Corbett-Fitzsimmons fight is secured it is not thought that new code will apply, as both men are anxious to fight under the Marquis of Queensberry rules, but it will govern all other contests.

Diphtheria in Kingston.

Kingston, March 16.—During the past few days diphtheria has increased to such an extent that the situation has become alarming. Two or three deaths were reported this morning. A number of residences are placarded and some cases are in the hospitals for treatment.

Armenian Outrages.

London, March 16.—The Daily Telegraph has a despatch from Mecah at a date not given and forwarded from Kars yesterday. It says: The commission has learned that the Armenian priest Hatchadoor and his son were told by gendarmes to sign a document ascribing the massacre to the Kurds and clearing the Turks of all blame. The Hatchadoors refused to do so. The gendarmes then placed heated triangles around their necks. The commission desire to see the two victims but the latter are too ill. The correspondent quotes an instance of villagers virtually naked and subsisting on millet seed.

The Times.

PETERBOROUGH, MARCH 14, 1895.

Good morning!

By a large majority the Nova Scotia legislature has voted down a resolution in favor of French female suffrage. A year ago a similar resolution was defeated by only three votes. Evidently the influence of the New Woman is on the wane in New Scotland. Perhaps the rights of the babies of the province will receive better recognition during the next few months than they received while the babies' mothers were absorbed in agitating for their own "rights."

The action of the Council in appealing against the sewer award does not surprise us. Mr. Edwards, the Town Solicitor, who seldom or ever met with success in the courts when the corporation was interested, as usual recommended this course, Here is a matter that could have been settled practically without expense, had Mr, Edwards used the commonest kind of horse sense. But his overbearing and dictatory manner during the first arbitration actually goaded the townships into a determined fight. The result will be a further bill of costs of enormous proportions, with no corresponding advantages.

It is probable that in the near future homing pigeons will be used by big ocean steamers to convey news of accident or delays, such as have occured to several of the trans-Atlantic liners of late. The plan has been discussed in shipping circles ever since the accident to the machinery of the Gascogne. Among those well posted on the subject of water flying is D. E. Newell, a lumber dealer in New York. He has had lofts for his private amusement for thirty years, and during that time has flown birds over sea and land in many contests. "I calculated," said Mr. Newell, "that if the Gascogne were enabled to send out homing pigeons after a fierce storm had abated, news of her safety would have reached this port three days before it did." On the Saturday before she was reported she was only 500 miles from New York, and that distance could have been covered by a homing bird in seven or eight hours. There are pigeons that have records of 700 to 1,000 miles a day, and this usually despite adverse weather.

Pall Mall Budget: Mr. and Mr. Gladstone at church at Cannes have edified newspaper readers everywhere. Bur what is this shocking story communicated from a "private source" to a weekly literary paper? "They were sitting near the pulpit, but when the sermon began Mr. Gladstone turned to his wife and said irritably, "I can't hear!" "Never mind, my dear," she replied, in a whisper loud enough to reach the pulpit, "never mind, go to sleep it will do you much more good." The literary paper might have paused to make the record, had it been familiar, as a literary paper ought to be, with its Swift. "Opium," the Dean complains, "is not so stupefying to many persons as an afternoon sermon." All other forms of indifference in church goer the preacher could palliate, but not this—which, after all touches the preacher most personally, "What arguments shall we use to the sleeper?" asked Swift, in despair. "What method shall we take to hold open his eyes? Will he be moved by considerations of common civility. We know it is reckoned a point of very bad manners to sleep in private company." But then in private conversations, people do not make comparisons so incomplete as that, for instance. The preacher has advantages over his hearers denied to all other speakers. If he presumes too much upon them, his hearers cannot hiss, or expostulate, or refute, or flee. Their only refuge is to doze.

AN APPOINTED JUDICIARY.

The Governor of New Jersey has twice within a year vetoed a bill making the state judiciary elective instead of appointive. This italicises a fact that we Canadians are apt to forget in talking of the judicial system of our neighbors to the south—i.e., that the system of choosing judges by popular election is not universal across the line. At present seven states of the Union have an appointive judiciary— Massachusetts Maine, New Hampshire, Delaware, New Jersey Mississippi and Louisiana; and in Massachusetts, New Hampshire and Delaware the judges hold office during good behaviour. Six other states—Connecticut, Rhode Island, Vermont, Virginia, South Carolina and Georgia—permit the Legislature to choose judges. We in Canada have found the system of appointing our judges to work so exceedingly well that the prospect of losing this advantage is one of the most effective bug-e-boos for the frightening of annexationists nonsense out of any of our grown children who may chance to catch it. A judge is so pre-eminently an official to be chosen with great care and then to be raised above the reach of private spite or personal apprehension of any kind, that it seems a part of the established and natural order of things that he should be selected by a Government responsible to the whole nation, and then guaranteed in his position for life or good behaviour. We in Canada would not think of relaxing this provision for a fraction of an inch. When the Patrons of industry introduced a plank into their platform proposing that most of the county offices be removed from the appointive list, they specially excluded the judges from the sweep of their proposal; for they knew right well that the present method of selection was far better than any local choice.

DEPARTMENTAL STORES.

It is a preposterous resolution which has been introduced into the Illinois Legislature for the suppression of the big department stores that have been established in Chicago and other cities of the State. Under the constitution of Illinois the Legislature does not possess the power to suppress them, and under the constitution of the mercantile business in our times it is wholly powerless against them.

We suppose it is true that they "depreciate the value of real Estate" in some localities, but they increase its value in other localities. If they are disadvantageous to some traders, they are beneficial to others. If they cheapen goods the buyer will not complain, and if they draw custom from the small retail stores, that is the affair of the customers. The Legislature cannot compel people to purchase the supplies from small dealers. No explanation is given of the statement in the resolution before the Illinois Legislature that big department stores are "injurious to public morality." We do not see how customers can be demoralized in those of them that deal honestly, if the clerks are polite.

There are people in Ontario as well as in Illinois who desire legislation oppressive to the department houses. They cannot obtain it, and it cannot be enacted in this country or any other. They might as well seek the suppression of all those other great combinations for production, transportation, and exchange which have already become so powerful in the world of business. The irresistible tendency of our times is toward business concentration and economy, and toward the reduction of manual labor. Forces have been set agoing over which legislation has no control, and all of us must try so to arrange our affairs that they will inure to our benefit.

"IF HE SHOULD DIE."

"If he should die?"—Should die!
I had not thought of that,
Why there would be
No baby in the world. To cry,
You say, and trouble me?
No baby in the world—that's all I say—
One baby out of it, but hush, I pray.

Blue flowers, and white, and red,
Would bloom. I know. But would I care?
They would be sweet! Above the dead
Some birds would fly, somewhere?
Only in lonesome leaves that, green or brown,
Would shadow one baby's grave and waver down.

PARNELL'S LOVE AFFAIRS.

One of them Brought to Light by the Death of the Lady.

Special to The Times.

PROVIDENCE, R.I., March 15.—The death of Mrs. Abbie Frances Woods Abbott, which took place here on Monday, has brought to light the story of romantic relations which formerly existed between that lady and the late Charles Stewart Parnell. The famous Irish leader, it is alleged, was at one time engaged to marry Miss Woods, but the proposed alliance was positively forbidden by the lady's father, Marshall Woods, the well known millionaire, of this city and Newport. When Mr. Parnell first visited the United States he was entertained at the Woods villa at Newport. Mr. Woods contributed largely to the Irish fund, and paid much attention to his distinguished guest. The next year the engagement was made. Later the engagement was broken by cable.

NAPANEE FIREBUGS.

They Attempt to Burn the Presbyterian Manse Early this Morning.

Special to the Times.

NAPANEE, March 15.—Fire broke out in the kitchen of the Presbyterian manse here about 2 o'clock this morning, but was extinguished before much damage was done.

There was a strong smell of coal oil on the premises when the fire brigade arrived and every indication that the fire was of incendiary origin.

Knew Nothing About It.

COBOURG, March 15.—Mr. Gifford of this place states that Mrs. Gifford did not accompany her sister to Toronto on the occasion of her marriage to Mr. A. O. Geiger in Holy Trinity church on March 4th, Miss Muck's relatives being entirely ignorant of her intention.

Death of Sir Robert Duff.

SYDNEY, N.S.W., March 15.—Right Hon. Sir Robert William Duff, Governor of New South Wales, died here today. Governor Duff recently arrived from Hobart, Tasmania, where he had attended the Australian conference. He was ill before leaving Hobart and was in a prostrate condition when he arrived. He was born in Scotland in 1835.

Hugh Wilson will Recover.

VALLEYFIELD, March 15.—Hugh Wilson who was wounded three times by Shortis and who afterwards gave the alarm which resulted in the capture of the murderer, is now out of danger. He was able to sit up for the first time yesterday. Recovery is regarded as certain.

How Smallpox Was Spread.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., March 15.—There are 14 cases of smallpox at Lexington, Ky., brought by race horse people from Roby, Ind., and 159 cases in St. Louis and Maryville, Mo. Of these cases 140 originated from a stable boy from Madison, Ill.

An Alleged Firebug.

TORONTO, March 15.—Siddey was arraigned in the Police Court this morning charged with having set fire to 261 Gerrard street east. Evidence was offered showing that the door was locked against the firemen and they had to burst it open although Clark was in the house at the time. The case was adjourned till Monday.

STRAUSS AND HIS DOG.

A Story of the Waltz King, a Retriever and His Feminine Admirers.

"The Strauss jubilee," said a New York impresario to a reporter, "reminded me of an incident of the visit of the great composer to Boston at the time of the Gilmore jubilee which I do not remember ever to have seen in print. At that time Johann was in the full blaze of his glory, and the 'Blue Danube' waltzes were as well known in this country as 'Yankee Doodle,' and so when the composer was found to be a handsome, dapper little man, with lovely eyes and a mass of wavy black hair that was almost as extravagantly long as Paderewski's, the Boston musical women went wild over him. He was courted and caressed and feted and followed until it is a wonder his head—hair and all—was not turned, but Strauss had too much good business tact to lose control of himself, and he accepted everything—civility and compliment—with a smile that was as comprehensive as it was stereotyped.

"Strauss was a great dog fancier at that time and was accompanied by a magnificent black retriever. Toward the last of the great concert days some enthusiastic young woman sprung the idea of getting a lock of Strauss' hair for her locket—lockets were worn by everybody in those days, you remember. The fashion grew into a fad, and from a fad blazed up to fury, and with his comprehensive smile Johann promised every applicant a memento. And in due time the locks were distributed—how many hundreds of them I don't know—each one accompanied by the compliments of the waltz king. Some statistical cuss said that enough hair had been cut off and distributed to make Strauss look as though he had been sandpapered, yet when he left Boston for New York his locks were as bushy and profuse as ever. It was remarked, however, that when Johann's beautiful black haired dog was put into the baggage car the poor creature looked like a shorn poodle."—

A Cool Man.

"He was a cool man, was the colonel of my regiment," remarked a long legged old chap to a militia youth in a great display of uniform. "I never seen his like."

"Was it in the late war?" inquired the youth.

"The same, and he was the dandyfiedest little feller you ever see. That's the reason I don't laugh when I see you fellers," added the old one encouragingly. "Clothes ain't no sign of what kind of a soldier is inside of them."

"Thanks."

"Don't mention it. As I was saying, my colonel was the coolest man you ever see. Down there before Richmond once, when he was only a captain, he had his company covering a hill that was in the range of the enemy's shells, and they was dropping them there thicker'n potaters. He had on a brand new uniform and was looking like a beau on parade, but he stood right out where the shells was plowing up the ground all around him and throwing dust over everything, but he never moved except to knock the dirt off his clothes about every minute. After awhile the general in command sent for him to come back out of range behind the hilltop.

"'What do you think of it?' asked the general, meaning the outcome of the fight, I suppose.

"'It's perfectly outrageous, general,' says the captain, 'and I don't see why in thunder they don't throw whisk brooms along with their shells.'"—Detroit Free Press.

FISHING FOR COD.

A TRAMP PRINTER'S VOYAGE TO THE BANKS OF NEWFOUNDLAND.

Fog and Fish Were Plentiful—Weird Sensations Experienced Alone In the Mist. The Dangers of Setting the Trawls Are Many and Serious.

There are few situations in life, however strange and precarious, in which the tramp printer is not to be found; but, save myself, I know of none that has been fool enough to try his luck as a "roustabout" on a banker or fishing craft bound for the "stormy Georgias."

One day, weary of the monotony of typesetting, I went on board the 103 ton sloop Trident lying off Spruce street wharf and was hailed by Captain Sam Macy, a tall, bony Yankee in red cap and rubber boots.

"Want to ship for the grand banks fur cod? Ever tried fishing, hey? Well, I want a 'gutter' and will give $23 a month. Get yer plunder aboard. We sail tonight."

So on a very cold and windy night the sloop passed Black light with a stiff wind astern. We had a crew of seven men, four of them Finns. After standing my watch I went into the little fo'cas'le. Going to bed on a banker means lying down on some one else. After a minute's trial I crawled from under a big Finn and finished my 40 winks on the wet deck, the waves flying over our low rail. For four days we did nothing but hold on, and after three days more jumping the seas the Trident anchored in Machias harbor, Maine.

Here we bought bait, caplin and menhaden, broken up and barreled, and these covered our deck. Next it was "Ho, for the Grand banks!" and on the 30th of March the cry was "The banks on the lee bow!"

A cloud of gray mist, and this our vessel entered as through a gateway, and then it closed, so thick that the man at the wheel could not see the jib, 30 feet away. Groping our way, we anchored in 30 fathoms. Around us the toll of ship bells is plainly heard, and soon comes a hail. We are 40 yards away from old friends and yet cannot see them. Around us is one gray waste of water, breaking into short waves. The fog thickens, and in the northeast it is getting black, and by night the storm comes on, and for 40 hours we are fairly pinned to the deck by the wind.

It was my task to toll the bell. I grew dead weary and pulled the cord mechanically. How sweet to close one's eyes and dream! The sloop rises and falls with a lulling motion, and I am a thousand miles away. Suddenly a deep boom awakens me. All the crew rush on deck and unite in one loud yell, "What's the matter?" I see a huge black wall hanging over the sloop, a glare of scorching light and a rush like a million of Tartar cavalry. It is gone. Captain Macy walks aft and says: "A close call. You must keep your eyes open. That was a Cunarder, blast her!" An ocean liner had swept by us 50 feet to leeward.

And now we commenced fishing for cod. Each man had three lines, and these were pulled every minute, the fish released with a jerk and the hook baited and thrown in. The cook and I opened the fish and put a handful of salt inside, while the captain packed them away. The cold was intense, and so we worked for 18 hours, and then came dinner and supper in one. I was too tired to eat, although the food was good and plenty of it.

Then came laying the trawls, the most dreaded work of all. Two men get into a dory—double bowed skiff like a big dish—and lay out a mile of line baited and hooked every two feet. Ten feet from the sloop the mist closed around us like a pall. We had a compass, a keg of water and biscuit. After six hours' work we found the sloop and next day started again to overhaul the trawl—most exhausting work. One man hauls into the heaving boat the line. Halibut weighing 200 pounds are on the hooks, and these must be gaffed and as the boat rises hauled in, the boat gun'le under water. Often she upsets and then good by. Sometimes men lose their bearings, and ships often find the dories drifting in midocean, with the shrunken and blackened remains of the occupants in the bottom. For 28 days we worked, the only intermissions being when the storm swept down on us. Once a steamer passed so close that her wake dashed the white water over our boat. Every day hails came to us through the blinding fog. "Ahoy! Seen anything of our dory?" Captain Macy had lost three sons and a nephew on one voyage two years before and in the terrible "Lord's day gale," August, 1878, 200 of the New England fishing fleet were dashed to pieces.

On Sundays we rested, mended our clothes, smoked, spun yarns and slept. Nothing was more surprising to me than the strange shapes taken by the mist when blown by a gale. It rolled up like ranks of women with floating garments and trailing hair or swept by for hours the semblance of an army of horsemen breaking, uniting and again forming in ranks.

Our Finns were very superstitious and full of curious old sea lore. Every move of the fog and wind had a significance, and once the whole crew was raised to listen to the wail of women far off to the windward. Heard in the silence of night it was very impressive. It was seals coming from the north on floating ice.

Our cruise had been very successful, and our hatches were locked down over a splendid catch of halibut. So one morning we raised our anchor, struck our bell three times—the signal of departure—and this was answered, and under a chorus of goodbys the jib and mainsail were sheeted home, and in 20 hours the Trident entered Gloucester harbor. Our destination was New York, but I had had enough of it, so the captain paid me, remarking graciously "that I wasn't as big a fool as I looked."—Philadelphia Times.

Telegraphic Abbreviations.

Soon after the advent of typewriting machines in telegraph offices about five years ago senders of news messages began to abbreviate, and the manager of one of the news associations invented a code of abbreviations which is almost as intricate as the sign code itself. For instance, the sender telegraphs "hag," and the receiver writes it on his typewriting machine "in consequence of." Likewise "pes" means principles, "ay4" means anywhere, "anohy," authenticity; "sum," sales unimportant; "sigum," small business, prices unchanged; "fpsked," full prices asked, but no demand; "xr," exercise; "wam," with amendment; "uic," under the circumstances; twp," tomorrow afternoon; "pop," presented a petition; "ogt," on the ground that; "scotus," supreme court of the United States; "haw," adjourned sine die; "ehv," either of which; "ckz," committed suicide; "cbi," covered by insurance.—Troy Press.

INDIAN LANGUAGES.

UNIQUE LIBRARY OWNED BY A WASHINGTON ETHNOLOGIST.

Evidences of Early Printing Done In Some of the Indian Tongues—Syllabary Produced by a Half Breed Cherokee—A Periodical Published by a French Priest.

Perhaps the most remarkable small library in this country is the property of James C. Pilling, the well known ethnologist of Washington. It is the largest existing collection of books in Indian languages, and of these languages there are no less than 55 in North America north of Mexico. All of them are distinct tongues, as different from one another as Chinese and English.

More than one-half of the 500 dialects into which the 55 languages referred to are divided are preserved in books. It is believed that the first book printed on this continent was in the Indian language—the "Nahuatl," published at the City of Mexico in 1539. The first Bible printed in America was in the Indian tongue—the celebrated Eliot Bible. This is one of the most costly of all rare books. About 40 copies of it were specially prepared, with a dedication to Charles II. One of these, in good condition, is now worth about $2,000.

The first printing done west of the Rocky mountains was in the Nez Perce language. It was a primer for Indian children, turned out from the mission press at Clearwater, Ida., in 1839. The press that did the work had been brought by the missionaries all the way from the Hawaiian Islands.

The first book printed in Dakota was a dictionary of the Sioux language, produced in 1866 at Fort Laramie. It was prepared by two officers of the United States army, Lieutenants Hyde and Starling, to pass away the weary hours during a long and cold winter at that lonely outpost of civilisation. They were aided in the work by an intepreter and by the Indians who loafed about the fort. The type was set up by the soldiers, and 50 copies were struck off on a crude hand press. Only two copies are now known, one of them belonging to General Starling of New York, a brother of the author, and the other to Mr. Pilling.

The only existing alphabet that is the product of one man's mind and in which a literature has been printed was the invention of a half breed Cherokee Indian. His name was Se-quo-yah, and he had no education whatever, but it occurred to him that he could express all the syllables in the Cherokee tongue by characters. Finding that there were 86 syllabic sounds in the language, he devised for each one of them a peculiar mark. For some of the marks he took characters of our own alphabet, turning them upside down. With these symbols he set about writing letters, and by means of them a correspondence was soon maintained between Indians of his race in Georgia and their relatives 500 miles away.

At present this alphabet, or, more properly speaking, syllabary, is in general use among the Cherokees. In no other language can the art of reading be learned so quickly. Whereas a fairly bright child learns to read well in English in 2½ years, a Cherokee youngster is able to acquire fluency in reading books written in this syllabary within 2½ months. In 1827 the American board of foreign missions defrayed the cost of casting a font of type of the characters. The literature composed with them is now very extensive, numerous books and some of the newspapers of the Cherokees being published in the syllabary.

Later, in 1840, an improved syllabary was devised by the Rev. James Evans, a missionary among the Crees. It was phonetic, and the characters were simpler, being composed of squares and parts of squares and circles and parts of circles. The zealous clergyman cut his type out of wood and made castings from the original blocks with lead from tea chests, which he begged from officers of the Hudson Bay company. He manufactured ink out of soot and on a hand press of his own construction printed many little tracts and leaflets for the benefit of the Indians. With some modifications his characters have come into general use not only with the Crees, but also among many tribes of the northwest which speak languages in no wise akin to that of the Crees, and scores of books have been printed in them.

The queerest periodical in existence is a weekly now published by a French priest at Kamloops, British Columbia. It is called the Kamloops Wa-Wa, which means "writing," and is in the Chinook jargon. This jargon is a sort of international speech, composed of half a dozen different Indian tongues, mixed with fragments of English, French and German. It is the language of trade intercourse among all the people of the sparsely settled northwest as far as Alaska.

The mission field of the holy father who publishes this periodical extends over about 500 square miles. Much of his time is spent in making long journeys between distant settlements, and during his pauses for rest on the way he amuses himself with editorial work. The weekly is written in three columns—the first column in jargon, the second in shorthand characters and the third in English. The matter is current news of the mission, sermons, prayers, etc. It is multiplied by the mimeograph and distributed among the priest's widely scattered parishioners. The paper on which the printing is done is blue, green, pink or yellow, according to the taste of the people who give it to the good father. The periodical is delivered free of charge, Mr. Pilling being in all probability the only paying subscriber.

The jargon was started by the early white explorers who visited the Pacific coast. Lewis and Clark, the first adventurers in that direction, were followed by the people of the American Fur company, sent out by John Jacob Astor. The passing of these commercial travelers among the tribes of Indians resulted in a composite vocabulary, which is now used by people who speak 20 different languages, not one of them like unto another. Yet they understand this common business tongue, which in a manner corresponds to the Asiatic "pigeon English." Every Washington and Oregon man talks Chinook.

THE CHICORA'S FATE.

Part of Her Wreckage Coming Ashore at St. Joseph, Mich.

Special to the Times.

ST. JOSEPH, Mich., March 15.—Wreckage from the steamer Chicora, lost on Lake Michigan this winter, has begun coming ashore at this port. Parts from the engine room have been found. This is the first wreckage found.

The chair which Engineer McClure used has also been found. Many are now advancing the theory that she went down not far from this port. The ice is breaking up, allowing the wreckage which has been under it to rise.

About Time He Was Hanged.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., March 15.—Thomas Smith, one of the most notorious desperadoes of the Eastern Kentucky mountains, was found guilty of murder at Jackson, Breathitt county, yesterday, and condemned to be hanged. The crime for which he was on trial was the murder of J. E. Rador, but this was only one of his many killings. He was a professional murderer and was at the call of anyone who wanted a man to do a job that they dare not do. For years he was in the employ of J. C. Eversole, whose feud with B. F. French cost over 30 lives. Smith has been credited by him with killing 20 men, but he acknowledged only 8.

THE BAGGAGE FIEND.

He Who Makes Travel a Terror and Sends Everything to Smash.

There are two of them—the one who flits from station to station and dumps your poor dumb trunk with force enough to drive piles in a government breakwater, and the one who loiters around the depot watching for his chance to shatter your baggage. The depot baggageman is the most culpable of the two species. In his long and dark career of smashing trunks he has knocked the hoops off his conscience, and there is no remorse brave, foolhardy and reckless enough to tackle his heartstrings and play on them.

The cowboy ropes the Texas steer for fun, but the baggageman ropes your trunk for a quarter of a dollar. No matter though your trunk be shod with half inch strap iron and armed with solid steel corselets on the corners and double locked with a burglar proof combination, the station baggageman wants to rope it all the same, and usually he terrifies all the passengers into letting him have his own way. He approaches you with a smile, goes away with 25 cents and ties up your bruised and battered kister with a tow string.

The strong, iron bound chest of the drummer and the aristocratic though fragile frame of the Saratoga meet on a common level, and when they do meet the splinters fly, and while the owner of the Saratoga is wringing her lily white hands and tucking stray bits of lace, ruffling and birdseye linen into the fractured corners the drummer is using the most vigorous and spiritual language he can command, and a great deal of it, warming up with the eloquent brilliancy of his discourse. As the prayers of the wicked avail naught, so neither do the tears of the belle nor the curses of the commercial gentleman. The time table of the railroad is not changed in the least, and the sympathetic passengers are obliged to go abroad. The wounded trunks are thrown into the ambulance—baggage car—and whirled away to the next slaughter house farther up the road. And the dear, sweet dude, and the starchy old deacon, and the grand and impressive member of the legislature are all alike powerless in the hands of the fiend of the check ring. Tyre and Sidon have passed away, and so will our trunks. The Goths and Vandals swarmed down upon Rome, and it fell. Verily, so do the Goths and Vandals of the modern railroad prey on our baggage, and it is all broken up.—Texas Siftings.

A Little Too Quiet.

Jersey and Guernsey are gardens, says a recent French visitor to the Channel islands. The fields are so neat, so carefully kept, that they seem rather like garden plots. The least corner of earth is cultivated—the roadsides, every little hollow, and even "an inch of earth on the end of a rock."

But these Edens are silent, the traveler goes on to say. Now and then people on the islands smile, but no one ever laughs. Laughter is unbecoming, and to laugh aloud would be scandalous.

The birds sing, but not the people. Even the children are sober—little men and women rather than children. The trees are yews, cypresses and weeping willows.

When the people go to walk, they take to the cemeteries. Lovers exchange vows upon tombstones, and houses that are near graveyards rent more readily and at better prices on that account.

"We are admirably situated in our new house," said a young Jersey woman to the French writer. "We are right opposite the cemetery, and I can see the tombs from the windows of my bedroom. In the moonlight the view is lovely."

And still the Frenchman has to admit that there is something very attractive in this solemnity and stillness. The longer he remained in the islands the less he felt like coming away.—Youth's Companion.

Delaware's Hundreds.

In the days when the Saxons dominated England, prior to the coming of William of Normandy, the people were formed into divisions of hundreds. This was done mainly for military purposes and the convenience of assembly upon the summons of the powerful earls and barons to whom the people owed allegiance. These hundreds usually consisted of ten families, each family being computed at a minimum of ten persons. In time the families increased in membership, but did not lose their individual identity nor change the designation of organization. In the natural order of events these hundreds expanded into communities and ultimately into geographical divisions and took on geographical designations.

Some of the American colonists adopted this form of geographical division, and thus we still have hundreds in Delaware and Virginia, although in the latter state that form of designation is but seldom used. But in Delaware hundred is universally used to describe the divisions of a county and is equivalent to the township in Pennsylvania and other states.—Philadelphia Ledger.

WENTWORTH'S TREASURER

Is $8,800 Short in His Accounts—The Deficiency Made Up.

Special to the Times.

HAMILTON, March 15.—A hurriedly called meeting of the Wentworth County Council was called for 10 o'clock this morning but only a caucus was held.

It was given out, however, that John Stock, the County Treasurer, is in difficulties. His accounts, he admitted, are about $8,800 short. His sureties have made up the amount and he will sell out his business in Waterdown, reimburse his sureties and move into the city.

He expects to straighten up everything and retain his position. The Council has confidence in him and the shortage is not attributed to any dishonest motive.

FOUND HER NOT GUILTY.

Josephine Begin Acquitted of the Charge of Murder.

Special to the Times.

SHERBROOKE, Que., March 15.—Yesterday Mr. White, Q.C., addressed the jury in the Begin case, making an able and clear plea on the criminal law of the country.

At 2 p.m. Mr. Justice Brooks began his charge, explaining to the jury that their verdict could be murder or manslaughter, and pointing out the difference between the two crimes.

At about five o'clock the jury retired, and after 30 minutes' deliberation they brought in a verdict of not guilty, and Josephine Begin was discharged, acquitted of the murder of Butcher Hebert.

IS THE VIGILANT AFRAID?

She will not Tackle the New English Racing Yacht Ailsa.

Special to the Times.

CANNES, France, March 15.—All the members of the Royal Yacht Squadron agree that the Ailsa is a wonderful boat and that she is superior in all points to the Britannia.

They are of the opinion that Mr. Herreshoff will undoubtedly improve on the Vigilant, but that he will have a difficult task to surpass the Ailsa.

The British yachtsmen were astonished when they heard that the Vigilant would not take part in the Clyde races previous to her return to the United States as that would give the Americans the truest comparison with Ailsa's form.

TWO HUNDRED MINERS

Imprisoned Below the Earth—An Explosion the Cause.

Specia lto The Times.

TOPPAU, Austrian Silesia, March 16.—At the time of an explosion of fire damp which took place in the Hohenegge mine there were 250 miners below.

Of this number 80 have been rescued slightly injured. Strong hopes are entertained that the remaining 200 will be rescued.

Later in the day eighty more of the miners were rescued but the remaining 120 are imprisoned in the galleries, which are blocked with debris. The bodies of several of the imprisoned miners have already been extracted from the debris.

HORSEWHIPPED A CONSUL.

Guatemala's Minister of War Assaults Joseph Duran, the British Consul.

Special to The Times.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 16.—A story has just reached this city that Prospero Morales, Minister of Public Works and War of Guatemala, on Feb. 1s, invited to his house Joseph F. Duran, the English Consul at Guatemala, and on his refusal to retract a publication struck him several times with a cowhide, while three of his aids stood in the next room with drawn pistols. Mr. Duran is a graduate of the Middle Temple, London, one of the leading lawyers of Central America and a brother of the Consul-General of Guatemala in this city. The trouble arose over an attempt to boycott a transportation company in which Duran is interested.

SAVED FROM DEATH.

A Young Girl's Narrow Escape From Being Run Over by a Car.

Special to The Times.

LONDON, March 16.—Jennie Hetherington, of Pall Mall street, a girl about 16 years of age, had a very narrow escape this morning at the Waterloo street crossing of the C. P. R. A long freight train was being shunted, and Miss Hetherington stood between the rails of the track adjoining that on which the freight cars were moving. A "jigger" was coming from the east on this track, two men propelling it at a very rapid rate. The operators of the jigger were watching the freight car, and did not see Miss Hetherington. One of the on-lookers realized the situation and rushed to where the girl stood, and, throwing both arms about her, dragged her off the track just in the nick of time.

Cuban Rebels Routed.

HAVANA, March 16.—Maj. Sagarra reports from Cobre that he was overtaken, attacked and dispersed a band of 200 rebels under Gesaire Bacca at a place called Juan Wilson. The rebels lost heavily in killed and wounded. The government troops lost one killed and two wounded. The bulk of the scattered band are proceeding toward Hongolosongo.

NEW ORLEANS RIOT.

No Additional Outbreaks—The Militia Still on Guard.

Special to the Times.

NEW ORLEANS, March 16.—The riot of Tuesday morning is now being investigated by the grand jury. There were no disturbances today. The consensus of opinion is that there will be no outbreak of lawlessness so long as the militia is kept on guard, but it is also generally agreed that the grievances of the white screw men are great, and the determined spirit of their sympathizers already displayed will show itself again as soon as the State troops are relieved of duty. Numbers of arrests have been made of persons who participated in the rioting, but it is extremely doubtful if a jury can be drawn which will convict them.

WENTWORTH MEN ANGRY.

At their County Council for Whitewashing Treasurer Stock.

Special to The Times.

HAMILTON, March 16.—Although the County Council passed a unanimous resolution whitewashing Treasurer John Stock, after mildly censuring him, the county ratepayers are indignant that his shortage of $5,988 should be thus passed over.

A deputation of them have got legal advice as to prosecuting the members of the County Council for compounding a felony but they will not say what action they mean to take.

William Hutton a colored scavenger, is trying to stop his team of runaway horses this morning was knocked down and run over. He had both thighs broken and received internal injuries.

THE ORIENTAL WAR

Li Hung Chang Sails on His Peace Mission To Japan.

Special to the Times.

SHANGHAI, March 16.—Li Hung Chang, Chinese peace envoy, sailed for Japan this evening with his suite of forty persons.

LONDON, March 16.—A despatch from Shanghai to a news agency in this city says Gen. Sung, commander-in-chief in Manchuria, has been killed by a fall from his horse.

An Art School Scandal.

PHILADELPHIA, March 16.—There is a tremendous stir in art circles in this city. At the Drexel Institute yesterday, Prof. Thomas Eakins, the art lecturer, introduced a completely nude model of a boy 15 years old to a class composed entirely of young lady students. The professor warned the young ladies of his intention, but they, thinking the boy would at least be dressed in the costume of the Arabs of the desert, stayed on, and the result is a scandal of the first water. The professor, who always uses entirely nude models in his classes at the National Academy of Design in New York, which are attended by both men and women, has been suspended and will deliver no more lectures at the Drexel Institute.

Justice Will be Satisfied.

LONDON, March 16.—The Morning Post learns from Buenos Ayres that the British Vice Consul will start for Salta with a government order to the local officials to surrender Jabez Spencer Balfour to his custody. Other reports tend to confirm the Post's despatch.

Not Guilty of Murder.

BRANDON, Man., March 16.—A verdict of not guilty was given last evening at the Brandon assizes in the case of Thos. Webster, arraigned on the charge of murdering a man named Bole in November last.

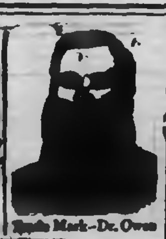
The Owen Electric Belt



The only scientific and practical Electric Belt made, for general use, having batteries that generate a strong current of electricity that is under perfect control and can be applied to any part of the body, for the cure of

Nervous Diseases

Thousands of people suffer from a variety of Nervous Diseases, such as Seminal Weakness, Impotency, Lost Manhood, etc., that the old modes of treatment fail to cure. There is a loss of nerve force or power that cannot be restored by any medical treatment, and any doctor who would try to accomplish this by any kind of drugs is pursuing a dangerous practice. Properly treated, these diseases can be

Positively Cured

Electricity, as applied by the Owen Electric Belt and Suspensory, will most assuredly do so. It is the only known power that will supply what is lacking, namely nerve force or power, impart tone and vigor to the organs and arouse to healthy action the whole nervous system. It will most assuredly cure,

Without Medicine,

Varicocele, Nervous Prostration, Rheumatism, Sciatica, Kidney Disease, Lumbago, Lame Back and Dyspepsia.

CITY AND COUNTY NEWS

LOCAL AND DISTRICT HAPPENINGS OF THE DAY.

The Weather.

Probs: Fair weather; not much change in temperature.

The Oakville Gold Cure.

Information regarding the above will be given with pleasure to all parties desiring such information. A. H. MELVILLE.

Jury Sittings Tomorrow.

Mr. Justice Street will preside at the Spring Jury Sittings tomorrow. The docket is very light and the session will be short.

Will Meet Here.

At the closing session of the Grand Lodge of the Sons of England in Woodstock on Friday night, it was decided to hold the next meeting of the Grand Lodge in Peterborough.

Lost His Coat.

Fireman John Montgomery lost his heavy frieze overcoat at the fire on Friday night. At present he is wearing one which Mr. James English loaned him but he wants his own mighty bad and the finder will kindly leave it at the fire hall.

A Liberal Convention.

As a result of a meeting of the Liberals of West Peterborough riding, a committee was appointed to arrange for the holding of a convention to take place some time in April, or as soon as the government decides either on dissolution or a session. Hon. Wilfrid Laurier will be invited to address the electors, and every effort will be made to secure his presence.

The C. W. A. Meet.

This is what the Belleville Intelligencer has to say of Peterborough's chances of securing the C. W. A. meet: Peterborough is after the C. W. A. meet this year, and if there is anything in good reasoning they should get it. The town has a large club, a good fast track, and good hotel accommodation. The other competitor for the meet is Waterloo, and the matter will be decided at the annual meeting on April 12th.

Return the Martini-Metford Rifles.

Col. Otter has issued the following order to all regiments in the second district: "In accordance with instructions received from headquarters, the Martini-Metford rifles lately issued to your corps for experimental purposes, together with all unexpended ammunition, are to be returned to the superintendent of stores, Toronto, without delay. You will forward the above by freight, notifying me of the date of shipment.

Death of Miss Alice Cocks.

The death of Miss Alice Cocks, only daughter of Mr. W. S. Cocks, in her 19th year occurred on Saturday morning. Deceased was a member of St. John's congregation and an earnest worker in the church. Her many warm friends will be pained to learn of her untimely demise. Her parents and relatives have widespread sympathy in the loss of their only and dearly beloved daughter. At 3 o'clock this afternoon the funeral will take place from the family residence, 616 Aylmer street.

Highest Prices Paid.

All persons having good sound horses to dispose of cannot do better than bargain with Mr. W. J. Pearson, the noted horse buyer of Montreal, whose reputation for fair dealing is universally acknowledged. He will visit this locality on the following dates:—Cavanagh's Hotel, Peterborough, Wednesday, Thursday and Saturday, March 20th, 21st and 23rd; Bradburn House, Omemee, Friday March 22nd. Bear in mind this fact: "Mr. Pearson offers the highest prices obtainable in the country.'

License Commissioners.

At a meeting of the East Peterborough license commissioners on Saturday the application of Frank Arkles, inquiring if a six months' license would be granted him for a hotel at Victoria Park, (Hale's Bridge), Otonabee, without the usual petition from the electors, the Inspector was instructed to notify Mr. Arkles that while in any event a petition would be necessary, the Commissioners were not favorable to granting such a license for the hotel in question. In respect to the application of William Dineen for a hotel license in Havelock, the Inspector was instructed to notify the applicant that inasmuch as the Havelock council had passed a bylaw limiting the number of licenses in that village, and as there were already three hotels in Havelock the Commissioners declined considering further applications.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY.

Young Emeralds Attend Mass—Evangelists at St. Mark's—At the Gaol.

ST. Patrick's day dawned bright and clear yesterday morning. It coming on the Sabbath this year, there was not the usual street celebration, nor much of a display of the shamrocks and green.

The local Irish Associations observed the occasion. At 8 o'clock yesterday morning The Young Emeralds attended mass at the cathedral. There were a goodly number present at this solemn Catholic function. The Irish Protestants also attended divine worship and listened to eloquent discourses appropriate to the memory of the Patron Saint.

In the evening in the Cathedral, Rev. Father Scollard lectured on "Ireland's Faith, the greatest triumph of Christendom." The sermon was deeply interesting and largely attended.

EVANGELISTIC SERVICES.

The evangelists, Messrs. Moore and Whyte, held services yesterday morning in the Mark street Methodist church, Ashburnham. The congregation was very large. Rev. Mr. Moore delivered an earnest exhortation, while the musical part was well rendered.

SERVICES AT THE GAOL.

At 4.15 yesterday afternoon, Rev. J. C. Davidson, of St. John's church, attended the county goal and preached an eloquent sermon to the prisoners, which was listened to with deep attention and very much appreciated.

POPULAR ICE SPORTS.

Skaters Out in Force—Hockey Match Saturday Night.

IN large numbers were skaters in attendance at the skating rink on Saturday night. The ice was in splendid condition, and a good evening of skating was enjoyed. Perhaps the unusual large attendance was due to the fear that good ice will not be available much longer. When warm weather does set in, it will likely come suddenly, and come to stay.

Before the rink was open to skaters on Saturday night a fast and interesting hockey match was played between the Collegiate team and the bankers. The Collegiates had it all their own way from the start and easily defeated their opponents in a score of five goals to one. The teams were lined up as follows:

COLLEGIATE		BANKERS.
Hamilton	Goal	Crane
Poussette	Point	Thompson
Adams	Cover Point	Parsons
Belleghem Goldsmith Lewis King	Forwards	Montgomery Wonham Taylor McGill
W. Stocker	Umpires	Walter English

Lee Dunsford, referee.

On Tuesday night the grocery and dry goods men will play hockey. It will be an exciting and amusing game.

GENERAL SPORTS.

In the first race at San Francisco on Saturday, Jockey Kinney was thrown and instantly killed.

At Sarnia Saturday the home team defeated London by 54 to 33 in a friendly two rink curling match.

In a ten round fight at Memphis, Tenn., on Wednesday evening "Kid" McCoy defeated "Shadow" Maher, the Australian.

Vicar of Wakefield is now quoted at to 1 for the Queen's Plate. Millbrook is 3 to 1, Bonniefield 4 to 2, Confectioner 6 to 1, Thorncliffe 7 to 1, and Kiltie, Ranlima and Fedelia 10 to 1.

At Perth last week a hockey match for the championship of Ontario was played between the ladies of that town and Carleton Place. An immense crowd witnessed the match, which was hotly contested, Carleton Place finally winning by a score of 2 goals to 1.

INS AND OUTS.

The little sprig of green, which adorned Councillor Cahill's coat lappel on St. Patrick's morning, was not the "rale shamrock" but a three leaf clover plucked at the mouth of the outfall sewer.

It is rumored that those two good Irishmen, Councillors Cahill and Dawson, spent "St. Patrick's day in the marnin'" talking over old times, and discussing how outfall sewers are built in Ballyhooliae in the land where the shamrocks grow.

Councillor Dawson opposes a highway bridge at Auburn. The man who has walked the one plank or shortsightedness in municipal life, would doubtless be satisfied with one plank across the Otonabee for this and future generations to cross upon.

Councillor Stone thinks the appeal will cost $100. He fathered a motion in council authorizing the town solicitor to engage outside counsel. Messrs. Christopher Robinson and D'Alton McCarthy were spoken of. It is not likely that either of these gentlemen would touch the case for $100.

Hymn Books Are Free.

Acting Commissioner of Customs Kilvert has sent out a memorandum to collectors throughout the Dominion, respecting hymn books. The instruction reads: "It having been ascertained that a want of uniformity exists at the different ports of entry throughout the Dominion in regard to the classification and rating of hymn books, you are hereby instructed that hymn books, whether the hymns they contain are set to music or not, are properly entitled to enter free of duty, under the provision of item No. 515 of the tariff. Great care must, however, be taken to prevent the free entry as hymn book, of books which cannot be rightly classified under such item."

Militia Force May Die.

The militia force of Canada will go out of existence if the House of Commons does not pass the militia estimates before the 30th of June. So declared an M.P. supposed to be versed in the matter. "That simply means, doesn't it, that there will be no annual drill in June?" "Not at all. It means that the force will die outright. It will not even exist on paper. To resurrect it every battalion would have to be commissioned over again and every officer reappointed, or somebody else gazetted in his place. There would be just one advantage in that. The Government could get rid of all the undesirable ones without actually firing them." "Suppose the Liberals carried the country in the meantime?" "Then it would be a snap for them. They could appoint all their own friends. But after all I don't suppose anybody is lying awake nights worrying whether Canada has a militia force or not.—Toronto News.

INTERESTING TO LADIES
SOMETHING FOR NOTHING
CAN YOU GET IT?

Many who should know better, are well pleased to get a good sized glass jar or tin of bulky alum, ammonia or other powerful but injurious mixture, for use as Baking Powder, at much less, perhaps even half the price, of the really good article, overlooking the fact that the amount thus APPARENTLY saved is of small moment in comparison with the real but not always immediately observed inevitable injury following the use of these articles. If in addition to the SEEMINGLY low prices there is attached some showy gift or prize to give the impression of extra value, the inferior or hurtful nature of the powder is lost sight of in the expectation (a vain one) of getting "something for nothing."

"LADIES' HOME" and "HAPPY THOUGHT" on the other hand, can always be depended on as articles of first class quality, and such as can be AND ARE guaranteed not only free from everything in the slightest degree injurious, but invariably sure, satisfactory and economical.

Can Catarrh Be Cured?
MOST POSITIVELY SO BY THE USE OF
Oxygenator

The record of our remedy is remarkable, it having shown itself equally efficacious in every form of the disease, from the simplest first symptoms to the most aggravated type. We confidently believe that any person suffering from Catarrh who has vitality sufficient to keep him alive until Oxygenator is given time to impart its properties can be completely cured by its use. That all other remedies have failed is no evidence that it will not cure.

Obtain precise but simple directions how to use it from head office, and we will guarantee you splendid results with the first jar you start with. Chronic cases desired.

PERMANENT RESULTS GUARANTEED

TO THE ELECTORS

—OF—

East Peterborough

GENTLEMEN,—Having some time ago been nominated by the Patrons of Industry, and lately by the Liberal party, as a candidate for the representation of East Peterborough in the House of Commons at the approaching Dominion Elections, I have decided to accept the candidature as an Independent Liberal, and if elected I shall support, to the best of my ability, the following policy:—

1. Maintenance of British Connection.
2. Public lands for the actual settler and none for the speculator.
3. Independence of Parliament and economy in the public expenditure.
4. The abolition of the Canadian Senate.
5. Tariff for revenue only and to be levied principally on the luxuries and not the necessaries of life.
6. Reciprocal trade between Canada and any other country in the world if it can be obtained on fair terms.
7. Repeal of the Dominion Franchise Act and a return of the voters' lists made out by our municipal officers.
8. That electoral districts conform as nearly as possible to county boundaries.
9. Responsible government in practice as well as theory.

As it will be impossible for me to call on you all personally during the short time at my disposal, I take this means of placing my views before you an soliciting your support. I shall also endeavor to hold as many public meetings as possible in the several municipalities, at which I hope to have an opportunity of presenting my views more fully before you. I beg to remain, gentlemen,

Your humble servant,
JOHN LANG.

A Metal Breadboard
THE WOMAN WHO HAS BEEN USED to kneading dough on the old fashioned wooden breadboard knows what a bother it is to get them clean and how cumbersome and heavy they are. When they begin to crack or check its almost impossible to thoroughly cleanse them, and they may easily become dangerous conveyances of disease. It was left for a woman, of course, to remedy this state of affairs, and Mrs. M. M. Everhard, of St. Joseph, Mich., has patented a metal bread board, which is one of the greatest labor-savers imaginable. It is light, does not absorb grease, dough does not adhere to it, and while it possesses all the advantages of the marble bread-board it is much cheaper and, of course, far lighter and easier to handle. If readers want to confer a favor upon their wives that will be forever appreciated, let them send $1 to the manufacturers, 101 Bay street, Toronto, for one of these boards.

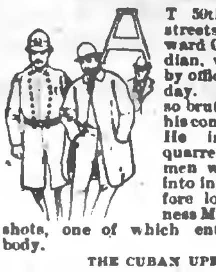
CANADIAN SHOT ABROAD.

EDWARD GORMAN KILLED BY A POLICEMAN.

A Millionaire's Labor Views—How to Get Along With Employees—The Cuban Rebellion—Government Troops Beaten by the Rebels.

Special to The Times.



CHICAGO, March 18.

AT 50th and Halsted streets yesterday Edward Gorman, a Canadian, was fatally shot by officer Mansfert today. The officer was so brutally beaten that his condition is critical. He interfered in a quarrel between four men who kicked him into insensibility. Before losing consciousness Mansfert fired two shots, one of which entered Gorman's body.

THE CUBAN UPRISING.

PORT TAMPA, Fla., March 18.—The S. S. Olivette arrived from Cuba this evening, bringing news of a battle between the insurgents and government troops, in which the latter were compelled to retreat. The leading spirit of the movement received a letter Friday from Gen. Maso, stating that he with 2,000 troops had attacked 3,500 government troops under Gen. Saldo, who were on their way from Manserallo to Rayamo.

The engagement lasted two hours, and the Government troops were compelled to retreat into the town of Bayamo, with the loss of 300 men killed and wounded. The insurgents' loss is reported to have been less than 70 killed and wounded. The troops, said Gen. Maso in his letter, will not follow up their advantage, preferring to remain quietly under arms until after the crops are harvested in June, when a more general uprising is expected.

A semi-official report current in Havana, regarding the firing on the Alliance by a Spanish war vessel, is to the effect that a steam launch was seen to leave the Allianca's side before the warship signalled her to heave to. Havana papers are silent on the subject.

FLOUR COMBINE.

GRAND FORKS, N.D., March 18.—The flour millers of the Red River Valley, Western Dakota, and Montana, combined yesterday for an association for the purchase of wheat and the sale of their products. The combination includes 21 mills.

THE ALLIANCA INCIDENT.

MADRID, March 18.—The Minister of Foreign Affairs announced to Congress yesterday that the United States had addressed to Spain a courteous remonstrance in the case of the Allianca, which was said to have been fired upon by a Spanish cruiser off the East end of Cuba. Deputies Villanueua, Diase and Moru, spoke at length concerning the American note. They insisted that as the Allianca was in Cuban waters, the Commander of the Spanish cruiser acted within his rights. The Minister eventually promised that a full enquiry should be made into the incident and that the government would not neglect to fulfil the demands of justice. As yet, he said, the government had received no official report of the affair.

MILLIONAIRE VS. LABOR.

BROOKLYN, March 18.—John D. Crimmons, the millionaire contractor of New York, took the witness stand in Brooklyn today and explained to the assembly strike investigation how he manages to get along so pleasantly with his employer and employees.

"A confidential relation should always exist between employer and employed," he testified, "and that is the attitude I assume to my men. I believe in arbitration; whether it should be compulsory or not, lawyers will have to say. I believe though, if there were somebody to take evidence as to the controversy involved in a strike and decide which side is right, it would be an excellent thing. Such a decision would influence public people and go far towards settling the trouble." "Is it not a fact that two-thirds of all railway employees of New York and Brooklyn got their places through political influence," he was asked, "Yes, that is the truth," answered Mr. Crimmins.

Chauncey M. Depew and Chief Arthurs of the Brotherhood of the Locomotive Engineers were also subpoenaed, but they did not appear.

"SPANIARDS FROM SPAIN."

Uncle Sam Still Hanging Up that Bluff—Alleged Attack at Sea.

Special to The Times.

NEW YORK, March 18.—The Herald's special from Key West, Fla., says: Passengers on the steamer which arrived from Havana Saturday bring news of reports in circulation there of further depredations by Spanish cruisers on American vessels along the Cuban coast. The latest report is that the Spanish gunboat Arcedo fired into and sunk an American schooner off Peurto Padre.

WASHINGTON, March 18.—According to the official bulletin of the navy intelligence office, there is no Spanish vessel in Cuban waters named the Arcedo.

The Spanish cruiser Infanta Isabel, Capt. Duenas, has sailed for Havana. It is believed she has withdrawn on account of the Allianca affair.

JAPO-CHINESE WAR.

Prince Komatsu Made Commander-in Chief of the Japs.

Special to the Times.

LONDON, March 17.—The Central News correspondent in Tokio says Marshall Prince Komatsu has been ordered to proceed at once to the front as commander-in chief of all the Japanese armies. Premier Counto Ito will proceed to Semonaseki tomorrow to prepare for the reception of the Chinese peace envoys. Mr. Mutau, Minister of Foreign Affairs, is already there.

MINISTERS MEET.

But What They Said They Keep to Themselves as Yet.

Special to The Times.

OTTAWA, March 18.—The Cabinet met at 11 today, and sat until 1 o'clock, when an adjournment was made for lunch. They met again at 1.30 o'clock.

The Ministers refused to give the slightest information of what transpired.

Fire at North Augusta.

NORTH AUGUSTA, Ont., March 18.—About 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon, fire broke out in the barns of Moses Bissett, at Algonquin, six miles south of here, and burnt all his outbuildings, stock, machinery, etc. Loss, $2,500. Partly insured.

THE HYAMS CASE.

The Prisoners Once More in the Dock Investigation Continued in the Police Court Today—A Crowd of Listeners on Hand.

Special to the Times.

TORONTO, March 18.—That public interest in the trial of Harry and Dallas T. Hyams is undiminished was evident this morning in Court street. It was expected that the investigation would be resumed at 10 o'clock. Long before that hour a great crowd gathered in front of the Police Court building, seeking upon one pretext or another to gain admittance. The careful doorkeeper jealously guarded the portal, and only those who could show cause were allowed to enter. Extra officers were on duty along the upper corridors and in the court room proper.

POSTPONED UNTIL TWO.

While Magistrate Denison was busily engaged with his usual Monday morning docket Mr. G. W. Murdoch requested that the investigation be not resumed until the afternoon, since Messrs. Wellman and Gooch, of New York, the associate counsel for the prisoners, could not get here until noon. The request was granted and the hour fixed at 2 o'clock.

A few minutes before that the New York lawyers came in and pleasantly greeted the court officials and members of the press, Messrs. John Agnew and W. W. Perry, stenographers for the defence, and Mr. Butcher, the official court reporter for the Crown, were on hand. Mr. Curry, who has been hard at work on the case since the adjournment two weeks since, was on deck and had a pleasant chat with the New York lawyers. Messrs. E. F. B. Johnston, Murdoch and Horn appeared for the prisoners.

Of course the greatest interest centered in the prisoners. They came up into the dock dressed as before. They warmly shook hands with their counsel from New York and chatted cheerfully with Mr. Gooch for a few minutes. They do not bear evidence of their confinement, and, so far, show no traces of that nervous excitement before noticeable. They seem composed and cheerful.

Mr. Renshaw, special correspondent of the New York World, is again present in the interests of his paper.

THE FIRST WITNESS.

"Are you ready in this case, Mr. Curry?" asked the Magistrate.

"Yes, your Worship."

"Call the first witness."

He came up in the person of John Thomson, sailmaker by trade. He said he received an order from Fensom, elevator builder, for a hook to be used in the Colborne warehouse. He bought one of Rice, Lewis & Son.

SADIE'S CONFESSION.

It is Read to the Jury—The Murder of Montgomery Gibbs.

Special to the Times.

BUFFALO, March 18.—The trial of the Robinsons was resumed this morning. Police Superintendent Bull testified to the confession made by Sadie to him at police headquarters and swore positively that no threats or promise had been made to cause her to confess.

The confession was then submitted and read to the jury. It related with hideous details the story of the murder of Montgomery Gibbs and during the reading Clarence's face became deathly pale, while Sadie sank lower in her chair and riveted her eyes upon the judge.

The confession states that Clarence fired all three shots while he in his statement charges Sadie with firing the third and fatal shot.

When recess was taken at noon, Superintendent Bull was under cross examination but all efforts to shake his testimony were fruitless.

A TIFF WITH THE JUDGE.

D'Alton Denies that Any Threat to Commit Him for Contempt Was Made.

Special to the Times.

OTTAWA, March 18.—It was rumored in Ottawa yesterday that on Saturday Chief Justice Strong had threatened to commit D'Alton McCarthy for contempt of court, owing to a dispute that arose in the hearing of a case.

Mr. McCarthy, when interviewed last night, said: "The rumor that the Chief Justice threatened to commit me is untrue. We did have an argument, however. I desired to read an authority in connection with the hearing of the case of Lewis vs. Alexander, and his Lordship said with much rancor that he would not permit it. I questioned his right to make a decision, and a dispute ensued, but he did not go so far as to threaten a commitment.

"With a younger barrister the effect of the incident might have been to break up his argument."

SLAIN BY HIGHWAYMEN.

A Wealthy Hebrew Pedlier Murdered by a Gang.

Special to the Times.

UNIONVILLE, Pa., March 18.—Developments in connection with the murder of Max Samuels, the wealthy Hebrew peddler of Pittsburg, at Bradford, last night indicate he was slain by a band of highwaymen.

There were six masked men in the gang, all heavily armed, two of which carried axes. The band's operations early last evening and extended their raid depredations for eight miles along the route of Pittsburg, McKeesport and Youghiogheny Valley Railroad.

All the track people and several other people along the stretch of the road were held up and relieved of their money and valuables.

Friday was pay day on the road and the robbers reaped a rich harvest. The depredation extended to several farmhouses also, from which food and valuables were taken. One hour after the highwaymen had passed over the Broadford bridge they met the peddler. Samuels was found between the tracks, his head split open, and every particle of valuables missing. All trace of the robbers disappeared at the bridge. Those who report encounters with them seem unable to give an accurate description of the men, beyond the fact of their wearing masks and being heavily armed.

Now for the "Kerry Dancing."

SIOUX CITY, Ia., March 18.—Jack Kerry, a gambler, has received notice that by the death of his father, he falls heir to an estate of £60,000 in Ireland. Kerry ran away from home 14 years ago.

County Council Won.

OTTAWA, March 18.—In the Supreme Court today the case of Wilson vs. the Corporation of Elgin was argued. The question involved was whether a County Council could detach a township or village from a High school district. Judgment was given in favor of the County Council by their Lordships.

REMEDIAL LEGISLATION.

THE FEDERAL GOVERNMENT WILL GRANT IT FULLY.

French Journals Say that Clarke Wallace Must Withdraw—A Session More than Probable—Cabinet Meeting Yesterday.

Special to The Times.

OTTAWA, March 18.

THE Privy Council met at 11 o'clock this morning for an all-day wrestle with the school question. It is given out that today's meeting is to be a fight to a finish, no matter what the result may be.

The impression among the Ministers is that there has been too much delay already, and that the delay is too costly to the Government. Sir Frank Smith arrived this morning to attend Council.

Hon. Mr. Costigan went to Kingston last night, feeling confident that his absence would not materially change the probable settlement.

It is understood that the report of the Minister of Justice was referred to a sub committee which has prepared a report on the subject.

REMEDIAL ACTION.

It recommended remedial action of the most complete kind. That such will be the result of today's meeting does not admit of a doubt, though it must result in the withdrawal of Hon. N. Clarke Wallace from the Government. Since he is committed to oppose remedial action, it is regarded as impossible for him to remain in his present position.

Should the order be passed today it cannot leave for Manitoba earlier than Tuesday. This means that it will reach Winnipeg on Thursday night. On Friday the Legislature will prorogue, so that, so far as Manitoba is concerned, nothing can be done this year.

A SESSION NOW SURE.

In the furore that this action will create the Government cannot go to the country. There will certainly be a session before an election, and some contend that there should be two sessions.

"EXPEL CLARKE WALLACE."

MONTREAL, March 18.—The Minerve, the senior French Conservative organ, demands that Hon. N. Clarke Wallace be expelled from the Government for the part he took in the meeting of the Orange Grand Lodge at St. Catharines. After reviewing the resolution adopted, it says: "We perhaps would have kept silent on all this if a member of the Mackenzie Bowell Ministry had not taken an active part in the discussion and adoption of these resolutions. Hon. Mr. Wallace has placed himself in a situation which will oblige the first Minister to demand of him the most complete explanations of his conduct in the matter. Either Mr. Wallace has disclosed without authorization the policy of the Government, of which he is a member, with regard to the Manitoba school question, and by so doing has been guilty of an act which makes a demand for his expulsion imperative, or Mr. Wallace has anticipated the views of the Cabinet on the question, and not only has not expressed their opinion, but has proclaimed the profound dissent which separates him from his colleagues and then his guilt is quite as grave, and ought to be punished with the same penalty. Mr. Wallace had no right to take part in deliberations of which the object could not have been anything but the criticism of the Ministry of which he was a member but even if he did so, the most elementary principles of decency and loyalty would surely call upon him to either defend his colleagues or else to place his resignation in the hands of the Prime Minister before participating in the discussion. In any case, Sir Mackenzie Bowell must require from Mr. Wallace a clear and complete explanation of his conduct."

HEIR TO A FORTUNE.

An Octogenarian Proves Her Right to Thousands.

Special to the Times.

CHICAGO, March 18.—Margaret Dawson McCaffrey is in Chicago to prove she was the wife of John McCaffrey, who died at Brighton Park last June, and to take possession of a large estate as the legal heir. At the time of Mr. McCaffrey's death much mystery was attached to his previous marital relations. Mrs. McCaffrey gave testimony yesterday before Judge Kohlsee, which tended to conclusively show she was the wife referred to by the testator, who, in a codicil to his will, said he did not know the names of three of his children by his first wife. When McCaffrey died he left an estate valued at $500,000. Owing to the peculiar reading of the will, after his death a hunt was instituted for his heirs, which resulted in the finding of Mrs. Margaret Dawson McCaffrey at Georgetown, D. C. She was brought to Chicago a few days ago, and yesterday she met her sister, Ann Jane Riley, whom she had not seen for nearly fifty years. Mrs. McCaffrey is nearly 80 years old.

RELATIONS STRAINED.

Rumours of Impending War Between Mexico and Guatemala.

Special to the Times.

WASHINGTON, March 18.—Minister Romero said tonight that so far as he had been advised there was no change in affairs between Mexico and Guatemala respecting the reports that relations between the two countries were more strained just now than at any previous time, and that war was believed to be imminent. Senor Romero said he had no news which would justify or confirm these statements.

Rosebery Must Resign.

LONDON, March 18.—The Morning of today says: Lord Rosebery's health is the subject of the gravest anxiety. He suffers still from insomnia, and his doctor says he is absolutely in need of rest. The Premier will have to resign, which is all the more probable as he feels deeply his isolation and the fact that he is ignored by his colleagues in the Commons. If he retires, Sir William Harcourt will succeed him, asking the present Ministers to remain in office.

A Distinguished American.

NEW YORK, March 18.—"Dan" Noble, who was one of the most notorious bank burglars of this country 25 years ago, will soon be on his way back to this city, after having served 20 years in an English prison. When he arrives in New York there may be bloodshed, for he has declared he will kill the person to whom he entrusted his share in the proceeds of the Northampton and other bank robberies.

The Times.

PETERBOROUGH, MARCH 14, 1895.

Good morning!

In Chicago the taxgatherer's hand has been laid on the bicycle, two dollars a year having been demanded from every wheel. This illustrates the objectionable policy of taxing everything which popular use makes noticeable. Why should bicycles be taxed rather than hats or shoes?

Grand Master Hughes says the people of Manitoba were not justified in destroying a dual educational system created by their own Legislature. This is a most peculiar position for a man to take who has, over and over again, urged the people of Ontario to insist on the removal of all additions made to the Separate School system of the Province by our Legislature.

An investigation by the State Board of Health of New York has settled the controversy which has arisen over the question whether or not the germs of typhoid fever can be conveyed in an oyster. It has been determined that oysters, planted in certain parts of Long Island Sound, the waters of which are contaminated with sewage, are filled with the germs of typhoid fever, and it is asserted that persons eating such oysters are likely to be infected with the disease.

A new self-recording indicator, marking mechanically every order signalled from the bridge of a steamer to the engine-room, consists of a drum, which revolves once in 12 hours, around which is placed a chart, containing a column for each word of command on the indicators in use, and ruled to show the fraction of a minute. When the order is given it is marked at once on the chart. The instrument does away with the possibility of conflicting evidence between captain and engineer in case of accident.

The American people may truly boast that the traffic of their "Soo" canal is nearly on a par with that of Suez in amount of tonnage. On the upper lakes their vessels cut a large figure. But in center-ocean commerce there is a vast difference. The United States consul at Cairo reports that during all of last year not a single American flag went through the Suez canal on a mercantile ship, although 3,352 vessels passed through the canal during that period. The only American vessels that went through were either war vessels or pleasure yachts, and of these only numbered five. The statement caused considerable surprise, but on investigation it was found to be correct, as many American cargoes are taken to the old world in English bottoms.

Dr. Lapponi, the Pope's physician, has just made a communication to the medical faculty regarding the health of Leo XIII. The Pope is now 85 years of age. Dr. Lapponi says that Leo's health is for his age perfect, as it has been nearly the whole of his long life; his eyesight is so good that he can read without glasses; he looks fragile, but is stronger than might be imagined; he needs but little sleep, not more than three or four hours a night; his mind and memory are in the best condition; he is indefatigable worker, attending to the details of his world-wide duties every day of the year. What Dr. Lapponi says about the Pope's habits of living is the point. He is exceedingly abstemious in his diet. For breakfast, a cup of coffee with bread; for dinner, soup, a modicum of meat, and a vegetable, with a small glassful of Bordeaux wine; for supper, soup with bread, and the same quantity of wine. This has been the Pope's usual daily regimen for twenty years, probably longer, and throughout his life he has been rigidly temperate.

LAW REFORM.

The Barrie Advance has some timely observations on law reform. Some steps, it says, should be taken to lessen what is called the "glorious uncertainity" of the law itself. One judge interprets the law to-day, and and another judge, presumably quite as learned as his brother judge, gives an exactly opposite interpretation of the same law to-morrow. One judge, a little while ago, decided that when a tenant put in any fixtures in a rented house for his own comfort and convenience he has no right to take such things away on the expiration of his lease. Another judge, the other day, decided that he has. A judge declares that a chattel mortgage given under certain conditions is valueless and cannot be enforced, while another declares that such an instrument under the conditions is perfectly good. To come nearer home, one judge says, it is not necessary to observe the statutory provision in giving notice of objection in revising the Voters' List. He says the words "not qualified" are sufficient, whe the law expressly provides that the "grounds of objection" shall be specified in the notice. Another judge decides that the statutory wording must be observed. In this construction he has the example of the Lord Chief Justice of England, "other judges concurring," yet there ar extra judicial judges, or persons who would like to be thought of as judges, who accept the former ruling as both law and gospel. Then our Barrie contemporary is in favor of lessening the number of appeal cases. One court says a judgement is just and right; a second court to which an appeal is carried says it is not; a third court reverses the judgment of the second, and a fourth may reverse the judgment of the third, and when the case has been taken to the court of final appeal what guarantee is there that its judgment is any nearer right than any of the others who judgments have been reversed? But how to make the reform called for? One way that is recommende is to sweep out of all legal instruments the vast amount of verbal trash they contain, the writing and printing of which is attended with cost to the litigant or transferrer of property. These opposite judgments are caused in many cases, by the obscurity of the language of the law. The remedy is plain enough. Express the law in language so simple that the wayfaring man, though a fool, need not mistake it.

KEENE.

It is an undisputed fact that a tattler and mischief maker is the most contemptible wretch in existence. They are a terror to a neighborhood and are always the possessors of selfish, deceptive, and inquisitive spirits. I have been acquainted with individuals who were so curious to become acquainted with other peoples' affairs that they took the unwonted liberty of reading their employers' letters in their absence, but, alas, how modest and reverent they conducted themselves in the presence of their master and mistress. We trust that our respectable village is not, or ever will be, contaminated with such disreputable characters, but if the cap happens to fit any person in our midst we extend a cordial invitation to accept of it and wear it as a momento of dishonor for past gossip and labor.

Mr. William Carter has men engaged to deliver material for a house which he intends to erect next summer in our village. We are pleased to see our village increase in population.

Mr. John Gall, our genial hotelkeeper, is also making preparation to build a dwelling house. It is his intention to retire from the hotel business and live a quiet life the remainder of his days.

The Keene Hockey Club drove to Lakefield last Friday afternoon top lay a game with the boys of that village but they were defeated. The game scored 7 to 4 in favor of Lakefield. The boys pronounce that they we treated kindly by the citizens of that enterprising village.

The Y.P.S.C.E., in connection with the Presbyterian Church of this place meets every Monday night in the basement of the church. All are invited and welcome to attend.

A limited number of young men in our village who are favored with a few hairs on their upper lips are so enhanced over the idea of sporting a mustache that they spend the greater part of their time in front of a looking-glass training it into proper shape. We would suggest to them to apply cream and a cat to lick it after which a little wax will be beneficial.

We are glad to learn that the young man who fell asleep while courting a young lady in the parlor of a certain house one evening last week is rapidly recovering from the injuries he received from the old man. The poor fellow feels so indignant over the occurrence that he has not made himself conspicuous on our streets since. It is is intention however to get even with the old man at some future time.

WEARY IN WELL-DOING.

I would have gone? God bade me stay:
  I would have worked; God bade me rest;
He broke my will from day to day,
  He read my yearning unexpressed,
    And said them nay.

Now I would stay; God bids me go;
  Now I would rest; God bids me work;
He breaks my heart, tossed to and fro,
  My soul is wrung with doubts that lurk,
    And vex it so.

I go, Lord, where thou sendest me;
  Day after day I plod and moil;
But, Christ my God, when will it be
  That I may let alone my toil—
    And rest with Thee?

THE LITTLE BOY WAS SAVED

A MOTHER'S WORDS

A grateful and happy mother writes as follows :—

"Lactated Food saved our little boy. We had tried seven different kinds of prepared foods, besides the various ways of giving oatmeal, lime water, and almost everything else. He was as thin as it was possible for a child to be, and we have since learned that the doctor expected he would die. Another doctor recommended Lactated Food. We hesitated about making a change, as he was so low. We used Lactated Food, however, and it saved his life. He is now two years old, fat and perfectly well."

No other food known to physicians and mothers can do the life saving work that Lactated food does from day to day.

DECEPTIVE APPEARANCES.

To Look at He Was Not Much of a Lawyer, but Then—

Said a gentleman who is well acquainted in the mountain countries: "I noticed in the city an attorney from an eastern Oregon county who came here to appear before Judge Fee in chambers. He wore a felt hat, with no less than five inches of brim. His neckgear was by no means such as would be furnished by a city outfitter. His coat was a miserably poor fit, and, as for pantaloons, they were decidedly picturesque. The bag in these pants hung out conspicuously four or five inches below the knee, and the dust of the street was swept by the lower edges trailing along behind him. The mustaches worn by this attorney were and of course are yet such as to lend a particularly fierce appearance to an otherwise unique figure. As the lawyer passed along the streets toward the courthouse some one inquired who the person was and was informed he was a disciple of Blackstone. I thought there was an amused expression on the inquirer's face.

"Now, I wish he could have gone with me to the lawyer's house in one of the mountain towns. He would have been greeted by the lady of the house in the most cultured manner. Entertainment would have given evidence of the presence of refinement. A library would have been at the visitor's disposal composed of some of the rarest volumes extant. And these volumes would be found to be as familiar to my friend, the attorney, as Mother Goose's melodies to the average person. In the mind of this attorney could be found a wonderful store of valuable information; facts digested, and with the meaning and bearing on men and events extracted therefrom—in short, one of the most remarkable minds I have ever met. And then I would enjoy watching the face of the inquiring man as that attorney went before a jury and poured out a matchless and convincing eloquence. Educated liberally, trained in West Point Military academy and for years a captain in the regular army, later thoroughly educated in the law, that tall, peculiarly accoutered lawyer would prove a most agreeable surprise to one who came in contact with his disciplined and well filled mind. The name of this personage will occur to all members of the bar. It is the same as the title to one of Sir Walter Scott's best known novels."—Pendleton East Oregonian.

Lord's Prayer In Thirty-two Languages.

The Russians now have possession of the Mount of Olives, the spot where the Lord's Prayer was first uttered. The apex of the mount is nearly 200 feet above the hill upon which Jerusalem is built, 2,700 feet above the level of the Mediterranean and about 3,980 feet above the sluggish waters of the Dead sea. On this elevation, upon the exact spot which, tradition says, the prayer was first spoken, the Carmelite Sisters have, through the kindness of Mme. de la Tour d'Auvergne, who furnished the necessary funds, built a large convent. The exact, or what is claimed to be the exact, spot pressed by our Saviour's feet on that celebrated occasion is marked by a pure white polished marble cross, and the walls of the convent have the prayer inscribed upon them in 32 different languages. In some instances the letters forming the prayer are engraved in marble panels; in others they are letters of wood glued to backgrounds suitable to their colors. The Russian portion of this wonderful collection of inscriptions is said to be in letters of pure gold, each capital stem being 6¼ inches long and four-fifths of an inch in width. Among the languages which one would hardly expect to find represented are the Hebrew, the Chinese, the Coptic, the Tartarian and the Japanese. The Arabian, as it had been a task to relinquish Mohammedanism, ends with "Great is Christ."—St. Louis Republic.

Millionaires and Their Sons.

On the average great fortunes in America have probably done more good and less harm than might have been expected. They have undertaken enterprises which could not otherwise have been undertaken and tried experiments which could not otherwise have been tried. The luxury and display of their owners are limited by the conditions of democratic society, which among other things preclude large establishments of servants such as are kept by the magnates of Europe, since in America one domestic will not take orders from another. Besides men who have made their own fortunes commonly retain the simplicity of their early habits of life.

The worst sin of the millionaires as a class probably has been the corruption of politicians in the interest of railways or other commercial concerns, and even here they have acted largely on the defensive. In politics they take little part, desiring only to be let alone. The worst of them is that they die and leave their wealth to idle and worthless sons. We give up the jeunesse dorée of the great American cities without reserve to Mr. Stead's apostolic severity, though we cannot go so far as to say with him of men convicted of no actual crime that "any well regulated community would be justified in sinking them in the nearest bog till the breath had left their bodies.

CABINET COUNCIL.

Discussing the Schools Question—Meet Again on Thursday.

OTTAWA, March 16.—Sir Charles H. Tupper, Minister of Justice, was much better today, but did not move out until this afternoon, when he went to the Cabinet meeting. The school question will only be discussed today. On Thursday next the Cabinet will again meet, when it is almost certain the long pending decision about an election or session will be arrived at. Everybody here expects a session.

HUNTING THE SEA LION.

Herds of Them Driven For Miles to the Slaughtering Ground.

At the close of the fur seal killing season the natives proceed to lay in their winter's supply of meat. A number of picked men go to Northeast point, steal down to the shore in the dead of night and crawl along at the water's edge until a line of men is disposed between the sleeping herd and the water. At a given signal the men all spring to their feet, yell, discharge pistols and terribly frighten the sleeping sea lions. Those that lie with their heads toward the water plunge forward and quickly disappear, but those headed landward naturally enough start forward away from the uproar. Being continually urged on, they soon find themselves fairly inward, with all chance of escape cut off.

The groups of from 20 to 50 caught thus each night are driven up on to the level ground and held until from 300 to 500 are taken, when the grand drive begins. Then the whole herd is actually driven ten miles overland to the village. According to the condition of the weather the drive requires from six days to three weeks, but in the end every sea lion who does not die of heat and exhaustion on the road actually carries his own carcass to market.

This animal yields about the same class of products as the walrus, and its flesh forms the principal food of all the natives of the fur seal islands. The skin is thickly covered with coarse, stiff hair of a brownish yellow color, but it is destitute of "fur," and hence is of no value in our market.

Steller's sea lion is about twice the size of the fur seal, the old male being from 10 to 11 feet in total length, from 8 to 9 feet in girth, and it weighs on an average about 1,200 pounds. The females are not quite half as large in actual bulk as the males. Although cowardly in their disposition toward man, the males are among themselves the fiercest fighters in the world. It is hard to obtain an old specimen whose neck is not crisscrossed all over by long deep gashes or old scars, made by the powerful teeth of jealous rivals.—St. Nicholas.

A STRATEGIC SON-IN-LAW.

How He Brought About an Exchange of Prisoners and Peace.

"One of the funniest experiences I remember of my boyhood times was that of a couple in our neighborhood who ran away and got married," said Newt Moore. "After the bridal tour was over the couple went to the young lady's home to make peace with the old folks. The young lady's father met them at the door, and taking his daughter by the arm thrust her into a room and locked her up, and gathering up the shotgun ordered his son-in-law off the place and threatened his life if he ever returned. The young man went home and sat down and did some hard thinking.

"Finally he sent word to the young lady's mother to come and get her daughter's clothes and and everything that belonged to her. She did so, and the young man held his mother-in-law as a prisoner and hostage for the return of his wife. He, too, took a shotgun and stood guard.

"The second day after the father of the young lady came over to negotiate a surrender of prisoners. As soon as he came in sight he waved his white handkerchief in token of a truce. The result was there was a mutual exchange of prisoners. The young man made such a good impression upon his mother-in-law during her captivity that all differences were patched up, and the hatchet was buried."—St. Joseph Herald.

A Great Well.

At Bourne, in Lincolnshire, at a depth of 66 feet, water impregnated with iron was encountered, but this chalybeate liquid was excluded as the tubes were carried deeper. Some 12 feet lower the main spring was tapped, and the water rose very slowly up the tube, and it was 24 hours before the water overflowed. As the depth increased so did the volume of the ascending current, and by the time the well had reached the depth of 100 feet the flow was 1,300 gallons per minute, or 1,872,000 gallons per day.

Although this was an enormous flow, yet the engineers thought that by going a little deeper a still larger supply would be available. Numerous cases are on record where, under similar circumstances, the deepening of the well has resulted in complete failure. It will be readily understood that in such instances increased boring has carried the well through the nonporous rock upon which the water bearing layer rested, thus allowing the water to escape. With the Bourne well, however, the deepening of the bore hole had the desired effect, for at a depth of 120 feet the outflow increased to 1,800 gallons per minute, or no less than 2,592,000 gallons per day.—Chambers' Journal.

First Use of Potatoes In Ireland.

In the garden adjoining his house at Youghal Raleigh planted the first potatoes ever grown in Ireland. The vegetable was brought to him from the little colony which he endeavored to establish in Virginia. The colonists started in April, 1585, and Thomas Harriot, one of their number, wrote a description of the country in 1587. He describes a root which must have been the potato:

"Openauk are a kind of roots of round form, some of the bignesse of walnuts, some farre greater, which are found in moist & marish grounds growing many together one by another in ropes, as though they were fastened with a string. Being boiled they are very good meat."

The Spaniards first brought potatoes to Europe, but Raleigh was undoubtedly the first to introduce the plant into Ireland.

Edison's Fun.

Edison is a great lover of practical jokes. Once upon a time when the phonograph was more of a novelty than it is at the present time he hid one of these machines in a grandmother's clock which stood in a guest chamber. One night as a friend was preparing to get into bed he suddenly heard a voice exclaim, "Eleven o'clock; one hour more." He crept into bed and lay perfectly still, frightened out of his life and hardly daring to breathe. At midnight he heard the same voice again exclaim, "Twelve o'clock; prepare to die." This was more than mortal flesh could stand, and springing out of bed, with a shriek, he flew out of the room into the arms of Edison and another friend, who had been sitting up awaiting his appearance.

INDIAN JUDGES.

The Sioux Have Three of Them, and They Have Some Funny Cases.

Sioux Indians in North Dakota have a court of their own, in which three judges dispense justice. They hold court in a large tepee emblazoned with many colored pictures of horses, owls and eagles. Big Mane, Black Elk and Sam White Bird are the judges. They wear store clothes, and Judge Mane sports a watch and chain. They are at liberty to call court for any hour of the day they see fit. When a session of court is called, the Indian agent sends out Indian policemen to notify witnesses to appear in court at the appointed time. If, when court meets, it is found that some of the witnesses summoned have failed to put in an appearance, Indian police are again sent out, and they never return without bringing in the person or persons they were sent after. The judges themselves examine the witnesses, displaying considerable ingenuity in drawing from the reluctant and bashful witness his or her testimony.

When the examination has been completed, the tent is cleared, and the judges consult until they arrive at a decision. All offenses against common law as well as tribal laws, sun, scalp or war dances and the practicing of medicine men come before them for adjudication. A record of each case is carefully kept after the following fashion: "Chasing Crane was arrested by police for stealing Solomon Yellow Hawk's wife. Was sent up for 30 days at hard labor."

Bull Talker had a row with Mrs. White Deer, and she gave him an unmerciful drubbing. He was exceedingly crestfallen at being whipped by a woman, but his wife was not to be trifled with and was not disposed to see her husband imposed upon and thrashed by Mrs. White Deer, so she had the amazon arrested on the charge of "fighting and beating my husband." The trial was held in due time, the charges were sustained, and Mrs. White Deer was required to serve ten days in the agency jail.—New York Advertiser.

ON A CHERRY STONE.

A Talented Convict Carves There His Petition For a Pardon.

Gesa Berger, the actor and newspaper man, has a picture in calligraphy that has a remarkable history. It is in size 30 by 42 inches and is the work of Joseph Loew, the most noted counterfeiter that the Austrian government ever knew.

When an application is made for a pardon in Austria, the red tape policy of that country compels the applicant to address the emperor with all his titles. Emperor Ferdinand had about 40 titles. Loew engraved all of these names, together with his petition for a pardon, on a cherry stone.

The letters were so fine that it required the aid of a powerful microscope to decipher them. One day, when the emperor visited the prison, Loew in person presented a cherry stone to the emperor and told him what it contained. The emperor made an examination and was so amazed at the work that he gave him an unconditional pardon. Not only did he pardon him, but gave him a position as a detective to trail down counterfeiters. Loew was a well informed man in all the arts and rascalities of counterfeiters, and in less than two years after his pardon he ran to the earth almost every counterfeiter in Austria and died a few years ago covered with detective honors. The picture, although made 50 years ago, is in a remarkable state of preservation.—Chicago Times.

Egypt's Cotton Crop.

Eight or ten years ago Egypt was insolvent. Today she is bristling with prosperity. The position of the fellaheen is constantly improving. The corvee is abolished, and the people have no more compulsory labor, except to keep the Nile within bounds at high flood, for which they are paid. The land taxes are gradually being reduced, and extortion and corruption seem to have been stamped out. She sells cereals enough to pay for the imported articles necessary to maintain her simple standard of life. I can't help thinking that cotton—or the money it produces—has played a part of no small importance in the work of administration that has brought all these blessings.

A birdseye view of the area of cotton cultivation would give the outline of a half opened fan. From the point of the delta near Cairo it stretches nearly to Port Said on the northeast and beyond Alexandria on the northwest, this simile being helped by the great arc curving into the Mediterranean, the narrow strip devoted to cotton along the Nile from Cairo, 100 miles southward, forming the handle. This area is veined with innumerable canals, branching from the Rosetta and Damietta arms of the Nile, which distribute the vitalizing waters.—North American Review.

How Samson Would Fight Corbett.

Some one in the crowd asked Strong Man Samson if he had ever had a setto with a boxer.

"I never have," said the athlete, "but I thought one time of challenging Corbett, and for three months I hatched a theory of attack and defense. My family objected to my engaging in any such contest, and I abandoned the idea. My idea of conquering the champion pugilist was to reverse the tactics of all fighters, which is to keep out of reach of their opponent's arm, and to keep so close to him in the battle as to render it impossible for him to strike with his full power at arm's length. At the same time my scheme was to play on his arm and wrist and to disable him with a few well directed blows at those points. I thought of putting myself in training for three months or more under the direction of a competent trainer. I'll guarantee that, if an experienced fighter will adopt my tactics, he can beat Corbett. I don't claim to be a pugilist, and a good boxer could undoubtedly knock me down despite my strength."—Washington Post.

Poor Tommy.

Belle—Why doesn't Tommy get married?

Nell (contemptuously)—Can't afford it.

Belle—Well, he and his wife could live on "bread and cheese and kisses," couldn't they?

Nell—Yes, they might, but Tommy hasn't been able to find any girl who could provide the necessary bread and cheese as yet.—Somerville Journal.

When the common earthworm is cut in two, to the tail there grows a head and to the head there grows a tail, and two animals are formed. As the wound heals a small white button is formed, which afterward develops into rings and a perfect extremity.

"Lecturettes" is the latest addition to our language. It comes from the land of "lady mayoresses and lady paintresses," and seems to mean an informal talk—sort of froth of a lecture perhaps.

ARE YOU CLEANSED?

WITHOUT CLEANSING THERE IS NO TRUE LIFE.

PURE BLOOD MEANS HEALTH AND STRENGTH

Paine's Celery Compound the World's Best Spring Medicine "Makes People Well."

In Spring time nature commences to don a fresh attire. She puts on new garments and decks herself with fresh beauties. She throws aside the dull and dead condition of winter with its accumulated impurities, and is infused with a new and vigorous life.

In like manner, at this season, should all men and women banish the weights and burdens of impurities with which the system is filled. The blood is filled and clogged with poison and disease; the nerves are weak; the muscles are flabby and relaxed. The whole system is like a disordered house; it requires cleansing and setting in order, that all the machinery may work safely and harmoniously.

Thousands who have been cleansed and made strong by Paine's Celery Compound, willingly support the assertion that this medicine cleanses and rejuvenates the human system in spring time, in a way that no other medicine can do. It gives new life, fresh red blood, vigor and strength to the weak, nervous, rheumatic and dyspeptic, and makes the skin of those suffering from blood diseases as soft and clean as that of a little child.

Mr. D. McMahon, of Peterboro, Ont., thankful for new and fresh blood and renewed health, writes as follows:

"I have great pleasure in testifying to the fact that Paine's Celery Compound has caused a remarkable change in my condition. I was troubled with a very bad type of Eczema on my face, and in patches over my body for four years; and was under treatment of three doctors at different periods. I have also tried other remedies, but all proved useless. At last I bought a bottle of Paine's Celery Compound, and put in Iodide of Potassium, as recommended on the label. The one bottle did me so much good that I bought five bottles more, and now am happy to say I am perfectly cured, and completely free from the troublesome disease."

Cuban Rebels Routed.

HAVANA, March 16.—Maj. Sagarra reports from Cobre that he was overtaken, attacked and disposed a band of 200 rebels under Guaire Barta at a place called Juan Wilson. The rebels lost heavily in killed and wounded. The government troops lost one killed and two wounded. The bulk of the scattered band are proceeding toward Ilongolasonge.

WEAKNESSES OF GENIUS.

Great Men Who Have Been Conspicuously Deficient In Mental and Moral Health.

Dr. James Weir observes that mechanical geniuses, or those who deal mainly with material facts, do not, as a rule, show any signs of mental degeneration. In proof of this one need only instance Darwin, Galilei, Edison, Maxim, Watt, Rumsey, Howe, Morse, etc. It is only the genius of æstheticism, the genius of the emotions, that is generally accompanied by unmistakable signs of degeneration. Swinburne's poems show the mental bias of their author, who is described as peculiar and eccentric. Many of the men who have aided in making the world's history were victims of epilepsy, as was Julius Cæsar, military leader, statesman and author. Many men of genius have suffered from spasmodic and choreic movements, notably Lenau, Montesquieu, Buffon, Dr. Johnson, Santeuil, Thomas, Campbell, Napoleon and Socrates.

Suicide, essentially a symptom of mental disorder, has carried off many a man of genius, including such immortals as Chatterton, Blount, Haydon, Clive and David. Alcoholism and morphinism are now recognised as evidences of degeneration and have had as victims Coleridge, Sheridan, Steele, Addison, Hoffman, Charles Lamb, Burns and many others. In men of genius the moral sense is sometimes obtunded or absent. Sallust, Seneca and Bacon were suspected felons; Rousseau, Byron, Forcola and Caresa were grossly immoral, while Casanova, the gifted mathematician, was a common swindler.—London Public Opinion.

Patti's Romance.

A distinguished instance of a complete revulsion of feeling over one's first impression is said to be afforded in the case of Mme. Adelina Patti. Some years ago she took a pronounced dislike to a French tenor, allowing her unfavorable impression to influence her professionally to the degree that she refused to sing with him. Gradually, however, she grew able to tolerate, then grew fond of and finally, when she added Nicolini to her name, married him.

Author of a Famous Song.

The author of the well known song, "The Sweet By and By," which has been sung in almost every language on earth, is a physician at Pueblo, and his name is S. Fillmore Bennett.—Chicago Record.

Unsound Teeth.

The belief that unsound teeth belong only to a highly civilized state of life seems to be a prevalent one. But J. Howard Mummery informs us that a very different conclusion was reached by his father more than 20 years ago after an inquiry extending over more than a decade. Over 2,000 skulls were examined, including all the available collections in Great Britain. Among 36 skulls of ancient Egyptians there were 15 with carious teeth; among 76 Anglo-Saxon skulls, 12; among 146 skulls of Romano-Britons, 41, and among 44 miscellaneous skulls of ancient Britons, 9. Several other collections gave like results. Examining skulls of savage races, 27.7 per cent of Tasmanians were found to have dental caries, 20.45 per cent of native Australians, 24.98 per cent of the natives of east Africa and 27.96 per cent of the natives of west Africa.—Nature.

TWO HUNDRED MINERS

Imprisoned Below the Earth – An Explosion the Cause.

Special to The Times.

TOPPAU, Austrian Silesia, March 16.—At the time of an explosion of fire damp which took place in the Hohenegge mine there were 280 miners below.

Of this number 80 have been rescued slightly injured. Strong hopes are entertained that the remaining 200 will be rescued.

Later in the day eighty more of the miners were rescued but the remaining 120 are imprisoned in the galleries, which are blocked with debris. The bodies of several of the imprisoned miners have already been extracted from the debris.

HORSEWHIPPED A CONSUL.

Guatemala's Minister of War Assaults Joseph Duran, the British Consul.

Special to The Times.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 16.—A story has just reached this city that Prospero Morales, Minister of Public Works and War of Guatemala, on Feb 18, invited to his house Joseph F. Duran, the English Consul at Guatemala, and on his refusal to retrack a publication struck him several times with a cowhide, while three of his aids stood in the next room with drawn pistols. Mr. Duran is a graduate of the Middle Temple, London, one of the leading lawyers of Central America and a brother of the Consul-General of Guatemala in this city. The trouble arose over at attempt to boycott a transportation company in which Duran is interested.

SAVED FROM DEATH.

A Young Girl's Narrow Escape From Being Run Over by a Car.

Special to The Times.

LONDON, March 16.—Jennie Hetherington, of Pall Mall street, a girl about 16 years of age, had a very narrow escape this morning at the Waterloo street crossing of the C. P. R. A long freight train was being shunted, and Miss Hetherington stood between the rails of the track adjoining that on which the freight cars were moving. A "jigger" was coming from the east on this track, two men propelling it at a very rapid rate. The operators of the jigger were watching the freight car, and did not see Miss Hetherington. One of the on-lookers realized the situation and rushed to where the girl stood, and, throwing both arms about her, dragged her off the track just in the nick of time.

NEW ORLEANS RIOT.

No Additional Outbreaks—The Militia Still on Guard.

Special to the Times.

NEW ORLEANS, March 16.—The riot of Tuesday morning is now being investigated by the grand jury. There were no disturbances today. The consensus of opinion is that there will be no outbreak of lawlessness so long as the militia is kept on guard, but it is also generally agreed that the grievances of the white screw men are great, and the determined spirit of their sympathizers already displayed will show itself again as soon as the State troops are relieved of duty. Numbers of arrests have been made of persons who participated in the rioting, but it is extremely doubtful if a jury can be drawn which will convict them.

The delivery was accomplished by means of a dummy revolver made of wood.

The Wahlberg Released.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., March 18.—The schooner Wahlberg, alleged to have been engaged in carrying arms to the Royalists in the Hawaiian Islands, was again released by the customs officials at midnight and sailed within an hour and a half on a guano expedition, for which clearance papers were taken some days ago.

Cowboys and Cattle Thieves Fight.

WICHITA, Kan., March 18.—Information has been brought here from railroad men from Woodward, Okla., to the effect that, in a fight between cowboys and cattle thieves, "Chip" Baxter and Ed. Burwell were killed by the outlaws, and James Byron, a cattleman, was badly wounded. Fourteen men participated in the fight.

The Fatal Falling Tree.

BETHANY, March 18.—On Friday, while Richard Fitch and his two brothers-in-law, William and John Sisson, were engaged in felling trees in the woods, Fitch was struck on the head by a falling tree. He died 48 hours later.

Died in Exile.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., March 18.—Arthur P. Peterson, Attorney General of Hawaii, under the monarchy, died in exile in this city last night.

Bad News for the Father.

QUEBEC, March 18.—Sergt.-Major Smith, superintendent of militia stores at Quebec, was informed yesterday that his two sons, David and Robert, aged respectively 30 and 28 years, had perished in a snowstorm on the prairies while on a pleasure excursion from Calgary, N.W.T., where they were employed.

Banker Arrested.

St JOHN'S, Nfld., March 16.—Henry Cook, ex-Manager of the Defunct Commercial Bank of this city was arrested this evening and lodged in jail. He will be arraigned for examination tomorrow.

New Companies.

Under the Ontario joint stock companies act the following new companies have been incorporated:—The Diehl Manufacturing Company of Toronto, capital $30,000, to manufacture mantels, furniture, etc., the Sultan Sole Leather Company, capital $25,000, to manufacture trunks, bags, etc., the Waterloo Grand Stand Company, capital $1,500, to erect a grand stand in West Park in Waterloo.

Police Court Notes.

John Devine, Pembroke; James Young, London; and Patrick Curry, Montreal; were up before the Magistrate yesterday charged with vagrancy. All pleaded guilty, but at the request of Chief Roszel they were all remanded until Friday next. The trio have been "doing" the town since Friday. They claim to be steel workers from Homestead, Pa., and had been thrown out of employment.

Provincial Appointments.

The following Provincial appointments have been gazetted:—Henry Charles Varin, to be Sheriff of Nipissing; James Somerville of Lucknow, Clerk of the Eleventh Division Court of Bruce; John Alexander Benton of Chesley, to be Clerk of the Twelfth Division of Bruce; Wm. James Little of Lucknow, to be Bailiff of the Eleventh Division Court of Bruce; James E. Cass of Chesley, to be Bailiff of the Twelfth Division Court of Bruce; Eugene Parent of Curselman, to be Bailiff of the Eleventh Division Court of Prescott and Russell; Richard G. Murphy of the village of Elgin, to be a notary public.

LOST HIS SHEEP.

It Toppled Over and Died While Being Weighed.

A very extraordinary incident occurred on the market yesterday. It was sheep day and the bleating of the wool-bearers was plaintive if not musical.

A farmer from Cavan named Mead brought in several sheep and had sold one of them to a town purchaser for $6. The sheep was taken over to the market scale and weighed, tipped the beam at 159 pounds. The purchaser was in the act of counting out the purchase money, when the sheep toppled over and died.

Both buyer and purchaser were dumbfounded and are still at a loss to account for the sudden demise of the animal which was finally sold for 75 cents for its hide.

FIRE AT LINDSAY.

Gough Bros' Stock Completely Damaged by Fire and Water.

FIRE broke out in the sample rooms in the Benson House, Lindsay, at 2.45 o'clock yesterday afternoon and did considerable damage before the flames were subdued. Several commercial travellers lost their samples and others had their goods damaged by smoke and water.

Messrs. Hurley and Brady, grocers, suffered severely from the immence quantities of water which flooded their premises. They are well insured.

Gough Bros., clothiers, are heavy losers They, too, suffered severely from the over zeal of the fire department. Their stock is utterly ruined by water and smoke. The firm carry $12,000 on stock.

Braund's fancy story will have a small loss and is well insured. The Benson House will do business as formerly and is now running as usual.

The insurances are as follows: Benson House—contents insured in London & Lancashire, Manchester and Western. Gough Bros., insured for $12,000 in the Manchester, London & Lancashire, Sun, Liverpool London & Globe, Northern, North British, and Ætna; building insured in the Norwich Union. Hurley & Brady—insured in Manchester for $3,000, London & Lancashire, $1,000.

Messrs. Richard and A. G. Gough left on the 5 o'clock train yesterday afternoon for the scene of the fire.

LITTLE LOCAL LINES.

Items of Interest Intelligently Presented for Busy Readers.

The jingle of the sleigh bells will not be heard much longer.

Merchants are predicting a good, brisk spring trade. The outlook is bright.

The last issue of the Ontario Gazette contains notice of numerous changes in the militia.

The Young People's Association of St. John's church held their regular meeting last night.

Dr. Bell delivered a lecture on "Health" to a large audience in St. Luke's church last night.

In a pool match between J. J. Proctor, of Toronto, and George Green, town, yesterday, the latter won easily.

The Troubadour Minstrels will meet for rehearsal at Mr. Jackson's store tomorrow night. A full attendance is requested.

The decorations in the Opera House last night, which created favorable comment, were put in by Messrs. J. J. Turner & Sons.

The Belleville people are endeavoring to arrange for a reunion of A. Co., Midland Battalion, in that city on May 12. If the citizens could only arrange for the company to parade in the same uniform that they wore when they returned from the North-west, no doubt the reunion would be quite interesting.

The following license inspectors have been appointed: For West Hastings, Henry Bleecker, Frankford; James W. Clark, Belleville; Henry Farley Young, Trenton. For Lennox, James C. Huffman, Napanee; Henry L. Davy, Odessa; M. S. Madole, Napanee. For West Lambton, Archibald McLean, Sarnia; David Trotter, Petrolea, and James S. Symington, Sarnia.

Toronto commission men who have studied the egg situation for the past few weeks believe that we are in for an egg famine or something very near it. The large shipments of eggs to the United States that have been going on for some weeks have pretty well exhaused supplies of fresh and limed eggs held in Ontario, and as the weather and bad roads have been against any material increase in the offerings of new laid eggs, supplies are now lower than they have been for many months.

DEATH'S HARVEST.

Demise of Mr. Wm. Lang, Mr. Chas. Eastland and Mr. Thos. Edminson.

Yesterday morning Mr. William Lang, of London street, succumbed to a brain affection from which he has suffered for some months. Deceased was in his 71st year at the time of his death. Over 60 years ago he left his native place in Scotland and settled in North Monaghan where he resided continuously until seven years ago when he removed to Smith township. Last fall he came to Peterborough. A widow and fourteen children survive him. The funeral will take place from the family residence, 177 London street, at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

DEATH OF MR. CHAS. EASTLAND.

The death of Mr. Charles Eastland, for some years a resident of Peterborough, occurred on Sunday. Deceased was a native of Yorkshire, England, and came to this county 60 years ago, settling in South Monaghan. Early in life he was married to Miss Hannah Foster and nine children were the result of the union, eight of whom survive. The sons are Alfred in Creemore, Thomas and Herbert in Winnipeg and Fred in town—and the daughters are Mrs. Turner, Michigan; Mrs. Mulner, Charlotte, N. Y.; Mrs. Morvin, Toronto, and Miss Bertha Eastland at home. At 2.30 this afternoon the funeral will take place to the Little Lake Cemetery.

MR. THOMAS EDMINSON DEAD.

The grim reaper removed an old resident of the county yesterday morning in the person of Mr. Thomas Edminson, who for over 50 has been a resident of Smith. Deceased was in his 89th year. He was well and widely known as a consistent Methodist and an upright, honorable man. Two sons, only, survive him, his wife having died about six months ago.

PLENTY OF MONEY

And in Blowing It in He was Arrested and Locked Up.

A young man of florid complexion and hair as red as an autumn sunset reposed in the cells at the police station last night and this morning will appear before Police Magistrate Dumble on a charge of disorderly conduct.

The individual referred to, arrived in town from the shanties one day last week, whither he had toiled the long winter through, consequently he had quite a "roll" of money. This he proceeded to get rid of with all possible haste, and both he and his companions have been having a convivial time.

Yesterday afternoon he hired a stylish cutter and horse and with two feminine friends, went driving. The pace at which he drove was quite as fast and as reckless as the pace at which he has been going himself since he struck town. In consequence, at the corner of Brock and George streets the cutter was upset and the trio were dumped out into several inches of slush. At this juncture the police took a hand, put an end to the pleasant drive and took the young man into custody.

CONCERT AND LECTURE.

Sixth Annual Concert of the E.B.A.—A Crowded House.

CONSIDERABLE interest was manifested in the sixth annual concert given under the auspices of St. Peter's Branch, No. 21, Emerald Beneficial Association in the Opera House last night which materialized in a large audience that packed the Opera House.

A splendid program of varied excellence was ably rendered and delighted those present. After Part I, a most intellectual exposition on Home Rule and affairs pertaining to Ireland was delivered by Mr. C. P. Devlin, M.P. The program was as follows:

PART I.

Selection of Irish airs . Miss K. Hurley
Recitation—"Erin" . . . Convent Pupils
Song—"Come Into the Garden, Maude" Miss Annie Dunn.
Irish Jigs and Reels . . . Mr. D. Simons
Song—"Terrence's Farewell to Kathleen" Miss Lilly Jackson.
Song—"Pauline" . . . . Mr. M. Dunn
Comic Song—"Clancy's Trotter"—Mr. M. Donoghue.
Instrumental—Mandolin and Mouth Organ Messrs. Hickey and Ricketts.
Lecture . . . . . . C. R. Devlin, M.P.

PART II.

Song—"Remember Me" . Mr. M. Dunn
Song—"Barney O'Hea" . Miss L. Jackson
Comic Song—"There Goes Major Casey" Mr. D. Donoghue.
Song—"Something Tell Me So"—Miss Annie Dunn.
Instrumental—Mandolin and Mouth Organ Messrs. Hickey and Ricketts.
Pantomime Act (Original)—Messrs. Simons and Connors.

AN APOLOGY TO CHIEF ROSZEL.

In Saturday's issue of "THE TIMES" a letter appeared, signed "Bravery," referring to a row at the Italian Colony, in which it is stated that Chief Roszel, in response to a telephone message, proceeded to the spot, and, although "to his consternation he saw with his own eyes a subject of the Sunny South brandishing a dagger and placing life and limb in danger," he made no arrest. The letter in other respects reflects upon the Chief's conduct on that occasion. While our columns are open to the public for any fair criticism of the Town's officials, we would not willingly allow defamatory matter to be published. We find upon enquiry that the statements made in the letter referred to are wholly without foundation, so far as they contain any imputation upon Chief Roszel's courage or conduct on the occasion referred to; and we regret exceedingly that the letter appeared. It was received late at night and was printed and published without the knowledge or authority of the proprietor or chief editor, neither of whom saw it until after the paper was issued. So far as we are concerned, we fully retract every imputation that the letter contains against Chief Roszel, and tender him a sincere apology for its publication.

THE JURY SITTINGS.

They Will Open This Afternoon—Three Cases Only.

KINDRED cases will come before Mr. Justice Street, who will preside at the jury sittings of the High Court of Justice which will open this afternoon. There are no cases on the criminal docket, and as the civil docket is short the court will not likely require more than two days to finish the business before it. The cases to be heard are as follows:—

Murray vs. Bell Telephone Co.—This is an action brought by Thomas Murray, a farmer residing in Douro, against the Bell Telephone Company claiming $1,000 for injuries received by coming in contact with a wire owned by the Bell Telephone Company causing injuries to Mr. Murray so that he has been unable to perform any labor and had to solicit medical advice and assistance. The injuries were received on Sept. 11th, 1894, on Hunter street. W. H. Moore for the plaintiff and Edwards & Murray for the defendants.

HENDERSON VS HENDERSON.—An action brought by David Henderson and John Henderson, of Otonabee. David Henderson sr., who died in February, 1894, willed to the plaintiffs the west half of lot number 12, in the nineth concession of Otonabee, but the defendant, after the death of David Henderson, sr., entered into possession of the said lot. The plaintiffs claim possession of the lot; $800 for mesne profit of the premises since the death of David Henderson, sr. The defendant denies the allegations made by the plaintiffs. Hall & Hayes for the plaintiffs, Edwards & Murray for the defendants.

McPherson vs. Brown et al.—The plaintiff, T. J. McPherson, of Warkworth, alleges in this action that the defendants did wrongfully pull down a pile of wood and erect an engine and engine house on land leased from the defendants, and he asks $300 damages and an injunction ordering the defendants, their agents or servants to desist from committing any nuisance. D. J. Lynch, Campbellford, for the plaintiff; E. B. Stone for defendants.

HOCKEY AND CURLING.

Collegiates Defeat a Combined Team of the Review and Examiner.

THE combined hockey teams of the Review and Examiner played a match yesterday evening with the Collegiate champion team, and succeeded in getting a good walloping, which, considering that the Collegiates are champions, and also that King and Davidson of the Peterboroughs, played with them, is not a surprise.

The game was certainly interesting, very fast and not entirely devoid of good playing on the part of the newspaper men. They secured 3 goals, which certainly speaks very creditably for them considering the skill of their opponents. The match resulted in ten goals to three in favor of the Collegiates. The illustration in the "initial cut," executed by Mr. Vernon McGill, is a fair representation of the players at frequent stages of the match. The prominent figure in the foreground is Umpire Buchanan getting out of the way of a "rush," while the figure in a reclining posture is L. King who took this method of stopping the puck from shooting through the Collegiate's goal. The teams lined up as follows:—

COLLEGIATE		REVIEW-EXAMINER.
J. Hamilton	Goal	C. Hubbs
C. Ponsette	Point	R. Glover
R. Davidson	Cover Point	G. Heap
L. King	Forwards	Alf. Terrill
B. Belleghem		Fred Dobbin
N. Lewis		L. McWilliams
P. Goldsmith		L. McWilliams
Vernon McGill	Umpires	W. Buchanan

Referee, Walter Phalen.

There were two curling contests on the ice last night. The rinks were:

C. LeGros	—. Waddell
G. Morrow	J. A. Cameron
J. B. McBee	H. M. Allen
J. McClelland, skip. 12	D. W. Dumble, skip. 18

H. R. Kenner	J. Wylie
C. N. Brown	E. Clegg
J. B. Pentland	D. Davidson
S. Ray, skip. 10	W. G. Ferguson, skip. . 23

Tonight the grocery and dry goods men will play a friendly game of hockey.

INTERESTING TO LADIES
SOMETHING FOR NOTHING
CAN YOU GET IT?

Many who should know better, are well pleased to get a good sized glass jar or tin of bulky alum, ammonia or other powerful but injurious mixture, for use as Baking Powder, at much less, perhaps even half the price, of the really good article, overlooking the fact that the amount thus APPARENTLY saved is of small moment in comparison with the real but not always immediately observed inevitable injury following the use of these articles. If in addition to the SEEMINGLY low prices there is attached some showy gift or prize to give the impression of extra value, the inferior or hurtful nature of the powder is lost sight of in the expectation (a vain one) of getting "something for nothing."

"LADIES' HOME" and "HAPPY THOUGHT" on the other hand, can always be depended on as articles of first class quality, and such as can be AND ARE guaranteed not only free from everything in the slightest degree injurious, but invariably sure, satisfactory and economical.

Can Catarrh Be Cured?

MOST POSITIVELY SO BY THE USE OF

Oxygènator

The record of our remedy is remarkable, it having shown itself equally efficacious in every form of the disease, from the simplest first symptoms to the most aggravated type. We confidently believe that any person suffering from Catarrh who has vitality sufficient to keep him alive until Oxygenator is given time to impart its properties can be completely cured by its use. That all other remedies have failed is no evidence that it will not cure.

Obtain precise but simple directions how to use it from head office, and we will guarantee you splendid results with the first jar you start with: Chronic cases desired

PERMANENT RESULTS GUARANTEED

Put up in Gallon Jars, Price $1.50; or Two Jars for $2.50; and sold only direct from the factory to the consumer.

TO THE ELECTORS

—OF—

East Peterborough

GENTLEMEN,—Having some time ago been nominated by the Patrons of Industry, and lately by the Liberal party, as a candidate for the representation of East Peterborough in the House of Commons at the approaching Dominion Elections, I have decided to accept the candidature as an Independent Liberal, and if elected I shall support, to the best of my ability, the following policy:—

1. Maintenance of British Connection.
2. Public lands for the actual settler and none for the speculator.
3. Independence of Parliament and economy in the public expenditure.
4. The abolition of the Canadian Senate.
5. Tariff for revenue only and to be levied principally on the luxuries and not the necessaries of life.
6. Reciprocal trade between Canada and any other country in the world if it can be obtained on fair terms.
7. Repeal of the Dominion Franchise Act and a return of the voters' lists made out by our municipal officers.
8. That electoral districts conform as nearly as possible to county boundaries.
9. Responsible government in practice as well as theory.

As it will be impossible for me to call on you all personally during the short time at my disposal, I take this means of placing my views before you an soliciting your support. I shall also endeavor to hold as many public meetings as possible in the several municipalities, at which I hope to have an opportunity of presenting my views more fully before you. I beg to remain, gentlemen,

Your humble servant,
JOHN LANG.

A Metal Breadboard
THE WOMAN WHO HAS BEEN USED to kneading dough on the old fashioned wooden breadboard knows what a bother it is to get them clean and how cumbersome and heavy they are. When they begin to crack or check it is almost impossible to thoroughly cleanse them, and they may easily become dangerous conveyances of disease. It was left for a woman, of course, to remedy this state of affairs, and Mrs. M. M. Everhard, of St. Joseph, Mich., has patented a metal bread board, which is one of the greatest labor-savers imaginable. It is light, does not absorb grease, dough does not adhere to it, and while it possesses all the advantages of the marble bread-board it is much cheaper and, of course, far lighter and easier to handle. If readers want to confer a favor upon their wives that will be forever appreciated, let them send $1 to the manufacturers, 101 Bay street, Toronto, for one of these boards.

420 PERISHED

Wreck of the Spanish Man-of-War the Reina Regente.

NOT FAR FROM GIBRALTAR.

The Ship Had Been Missing for a Week and was found by the Spanish Cruiser Alfonzo XII.

Special to the Times.

CADIZ, March 19.

THE Spanish cruiser—Alfonzo XII—has returned here, after a search for the missing cruiser, Reina Regente, and reports having found the latter vessel sunk near Bajo Aceitanos not far from the Straits of Gibraltar. Only twenty inches of the Reina Regente's masts were above the water.

The Alfonza XII, has returned to the scene of the wreck with a number of divers and diving appliances in order to rescue the bodies of the crew of the sunken warship.

MISSING FOR A WEEK.

The Reina Regente was reported missing on March 13. She had just conveyed from Cadiz to Tangier the returning Moorish mission to Spain. The cruiser left Tangier on March 10 for Cadiz and her whereabouts has not been definitely ascertained until today.

Pieces of one of her boats and semaphore flags were reported to have been picked up along the shore near Ceuta and Tarifa. She carried a crew of 420 officers and men, and all hands are believed to have perished.

SIGHTED BY A FRENCH BOAT.

So soon as the reports of the disaster became current a number of Spanish and British warships put to sea in search of her. A French steamship, on March 14, arrived at Gibraltar and reported having seen a big vessel, supposed to have been the Reina Regente, ashore in Aceitunos bay. The commander of the French craft added that he was unable to assist the warship on account of heavy weather.

DID NOT ASK FOR ASSISTANCE.

On March 15 the steamer Mayfair arrived at Barcelona and reported sighting a vessel supposed to be the Spanish cruiser Reina Regente, on the morning of March 10, between Tarifa and Cape Espantel. The warship had lost her funnels and bridge and was laboring heavily in the high seas and fierce gale which prevailed.

Although she was apparently unmanageable, the cruiser did not ask for assistance, and, therefore, the Mayfair did not offer her any. But the captain of the Mayfair added that he was of the opinion that she could not long have survived the storm in the condition in which she appeared to be at the time he saw her.

HER ARMAMENT WAS TOO HEAVY.

Later—The Spanish cruisers Isla de Luzon and Alfonzo XII. returned to Cadiz after having searched the Spanish and African coasts and the straits without any news of the missing warship. Deputy Dias Moreu, who was formerly an officer in the Spanish navy, in the Chamber of Deputies during the evening of March 14, read the statement of a former commander of the Reina Regenta in which the writer described the cruiser as a vessel unable to weather a great storm, owing to the increased weight of her armament.

In the Senate, Admiral Beranger, formerly Minister of Marine, said that the Reina Regenta was one of the best ships in her class. She was well appointed in every way, he added, and if she was lost, believed she must have collided with another vessel or have gone ashore.

Subsequently in an interview in regard to the statement made by Deputy Dias Moreu, in which a former commander of the Reina Regenta alleged that she was top-heavy, Admiral Beranger said the overweight of the cruiser's deck guns was rectified two year ago, by his orders, when he was Minister of Marine.

GREAT PUBLIC EXCITEMENT.

The uncertainty as to the fate of the Reina Regenta caused great public excitement in Madrid, and the Government was accused of keeping back news of the ship and of having ordered the detention by the censors of all telegrams giving information about her. But when a number of flags, a compass box and other wreckage, known to belong to the Reina Regenta, were washed ashore at Tarifa, she was given up for lost.

TOWED THE CARAVELS.

NEW YORK, March 19.—The Reina Regenta, about two years ago, visited New York as one of the Spanish squadron which escorted across the Atlantic the Columbus caravels.

The Infanta Isabel, now reported to have sunk an American schooner off the coast of Cuba, and the Neuva Espana were the other ships of the Spanish squadron.

The latter arrived at Fortress Monroe on April 21, 1893, the Reina Regenta having the caravel Santa Maria in tow; The Pinta was in tow of the Infanta Isabel and the Nina was towed by the Nueva Espana.

All three of these Spanish warships took a conspicuous part in the great Columbian naval parade in New York harbor on April 27 of the same year.

EIGHT YEARS IN COMMISSION.

The Reina Regenta was launched in 1887 and was one of three second class deck protected cruisers of the same build, her sister ships being the Alfonso XII. and Lepanto, all of 4,800 tons, 12,000 horse-power, and expected to steam 20 knots. The wrecked cruiser was 320 feet long, and had 50 feet 6 inches beam and a draught of 20 feet 4 inches. She was propelled by twin screws. Her protected deck was 4½ inches thick on the slopes, her conning tower had five inches of armor, and her gunshields were three inches thick.

The armament of the Reina Regente consisted of four 9½ inch Hontoria guns, one on each side forward of the central superstructure, one on each side aft; six 4¾ Hontoria guns in broadside, the forward and after pair in sponsons, middle pair in recessed ports, and 15 rapid-firing and machine guns. She was also fitted with five torpedo tubes.

DEATH OF REV. DR. DAVIES.

The Well Known Clergyman and Bursar of Trinity Passes Away.

Special to the Times.

TORONTO, March 19.—The death of Rev. H. W. Davies, D.D., bursar of Trinity University, occurred at 12.15 o'clock today at the residence of his son, H. P. Davies, No. 2 May Place, Rosedale. Deceased was attacked by diabetes last September and this was the immediate cause of his death.

The news of the demise of Dr. Davies will be heard with much regret in Toronto and throughout the diocese.

Dr. Henry William Davies was born in Ogdenburg, N.Y., 61 years ago. He was educated at Trinity College, from which he graduated with high honors. After he had finished his course he went to Cornwall, Ont., where he took charge of a church. Some time afterwards he removed to Toronto and was appointed principal of the Normal school. This position he held for 19 years. He resigned the principalship of the school about 12 years ago. Dr. Davies filled the office of treasurer of Bishop Strachan's school for a number of years. About twelve months ago he was selected for the bursarship of Trinity College.

The deceased was a well known member of the Masonic fraternity, being directly associated with Ionic lodge, of this city, and past grand chaplain of the Grand Lodge.

A widow, two sons, H. P. and Carlton, and a daughter are left to mourn the loss. The funeral will take place on Thursday.

STILL NO NEWS.

The Cabinet is Discussing the Manitoba School Case.

Special to the Times.

OTTAWA, March 19.—The Cabinet assembled today again at three o'clock, and resumed discussion on the Manitoba appeal. It is understood some decision will be reached before adjournment, but just what the verdict will be is a puzzle to the Government's most intimate friends. Should a remedial order be granted, there is no doubt but an agreement as to the session or dissolution will be concurred in at the same time.

The end has not been reached in the selection of North Bay as the county town of Nipissing. Protests are being filed from several quarters of irregularity at the polls the first of which came to hand today in a suit for $1,800. Thomas Gorman is plaintiff and Norman Phelps, editor of the North Bay Tribune, defendant. Of the amount $1,000 is claimed for false arrest, and four sums of $200 each from defendant, who was a deputy returning officer, for not administering the oath to voters whom plaintiff claims were impersonators. The result of the election will depend on the outcome of the suits.

A DISASTROUS FIRE.

THE IRON BLOCK AT BEAVERTON ENTIRELY CONSUMED.

Other Buildings Went up in Smoke—A High Wind Blowing—Several Other Serious Conflagrations.

Special to The Times.

BEAVERTON, March 19.—

FIRE broke out here about half past nine this morning in the "Iron Block" belonging to A Hamilton.

Nearly the whole block was destroyed, the buildings consumed being the harness shop of G. Williamson the residence of Mrs. McDonald and five vacant shops. The greater part of the contents were saved.

The two adjoining buildings were also burned to the ground. One was owned by John Cameron, the lower flat being occupied by Jas. Birchard as a carriage showroom, and the upper flats as a dwelling by G. McEwen. The other was a dwelling, owned and occupied by James McRae. V. J. Birchard's blacksmith shop and D. H. McRae's livery stables had a narrow escape.

The fire orginated from the chimney of Mrs. McDonald. There being a high wind, the firemen had great difficulty in controlling the flames. The loss cannot be estimated at present.

A FIRE AT BALA.

BALA, Ont., March 19.—The residence of A. Jackson, of this place, was entirely destroyed by fire on Saturday evening, very little being saved. There was no insurance. Mr. Jackson and family were sitting down to tea at the time. There was a high wind and the frame building burned very fast.

OVER A QUARTER MILLION LOSS.

BURLINGTON, Vt., March 19.—A fire destroyed the lumber mills of J. R. Booth this morning doing $300,000 damage.

A $3,500,000 FIRE AT TRINIDAD.

NEW YORK, March 19.—The fire which swept away a large portion of Trinidad was a very destructive one, entailing a loss of 750,000 pounds sterling. It was only through the efforts of the marines of the American men-of-war New York, Cincinnati and Raleigh that a terrible loss of property and life was averted.

NEWFOUNDLAND'S FUTURE

May be Settled at the Approaching Conference.

Special to The Times.

LONDON, March 19.—In the House of Commons this afternoon Mr. Sydney Buxton, Parliamentary Secretary to the Colonial Office, in answer to Sir George Baden-Powell, said he understood that the approaching conference at Ottawa between the members of the Dominion Government and Sir William Whiteway, Premier, with other representatives of the Island of Newfoundland, would fully consider the proposal for the entry of the island into the Canadian confederation as a province.

Mr. Buxton further said that a reply had been received from Newfoundland in answer to the Imperial Government's offer to relieve the prevailing distress on the island out of the public funds, and Sir Herbert Murray would shortly start for Newfoundland as her majesty's commissioner to carry out that object.

Pneumonia in Canadian Cattle.

LONDON, March 19.—Thomas Waring, Imperialist member for Down County North, asked what truth there was in the report that two ship loads of cattle from Canada that had arrived at Antwerp had been found to be suffering from pleuropneumonia. Sir Edward Grey replied that communications to that effect had been received by the Board of Agriculture.

OUTRAGED AND LYNCHED.

FOUND WITH A ROPE AROUND HER NECK.

A Brutal and Dastardly Crime—Students Expelled at Kingston—Killed in the Woods—Pulled a Horse's Tongue Out.

Special to the Times.

BUTTE, Neb., March 19.

TERRIBLE details of an awful crime have just come to light. Mrs. Wolton, living in Keyapaha county, near Brucksburg, was outraged and lynched on Thursday last and her body was discovered yesterday. The crime is supposed to have been committed by rustlers of the anti-vigilance committee, who suspected her of giving testimony which led to the conviction of cattle thieves. Her body was found lying in a room with a rope around her neck and there was evidence that she had been outraged also. She was living alone at the time, her husband having been sent to the insane asylum. The crime occurred near the scene of Barrett Scott's tragedy. There is great excitement and threats of lynching. No arrests have been made yet.

STUDENTS EXPELLED.

KINGSTON, March 19.—On Saturday judgment was pronounced on four students who were proved to have been connected with the recent thefts of books in Queen's University. The evidence was especially conclusive with regard to two of them, and these were summarily dismissed from the University. Another was suspended for the remainder of the present session, and the fourth, who was accused of concealment of the knowledge of several offences of this nature, escaped with a severe warning.

A HOTEL ON FIRE.

YARMOUTH, N. S., March 18.—About 2.30 yesterday morning fire was discovered in the Globe hotel a three-storey wooden building, situated on Hawthorn street. Before the flames were extinguished the building was destroyed, the roof and west end being completely burnt off. A gale was blowing at the time, but the fire was confined to the hotel. The building was owned by William Jones, who was absent at the time in Argyle.

KILLED IN THE WOODS.

BETHANY, Ont., March 19.—On Friday last while Richard Fitch and his two brothers-in-law, William and John Sisson, were engaged in felling trees in the woods, Richard Fitch was struck on the head by a falling tree. He lived for forty-eight hours, when death terminated his sufferings.

PULLED A HORSE'S TONGUE OUT.

KINGSTON, March 19.—Joseph Theobald, who was formerly proprietor of a barber shop in this city, was on Saturday at Watertown, N. Y., convicted of pulling the tongue out of a balky horse and sent to gaol for six months and fined $50.

THE REPORT DENIED.

HAMILTON, March 19.—The reports from Hamilton stating that Mr. Buchanan, the independent candidate for the Commons, attempted to get endorsation of the Christian Endeavor societies and that the attempt was voted down, is untrue and misleading. The simple truth is that the District Union adopted a resolution urging Christian Endeavorers to support only Christian temperance candidates. One member suggested that Mr. Buchanan's name should be endorsed, but Mr. J. C. Harris, secretary of Mr. Buchanan's central association, was the first to object to naming any candidate and the majority agreed with him. There was no opposition shown to Mr. Buchanan, and no member believes he had anything to do with the motion.

Several Lives Lost and an En[illegible]ous Amount of Property Destro[illegible]

Special to the Times.

GADSDEN, Ala., March 19.—News comes from several sections of the State of great losses in horses and cattle by the big rains and strong winds prevailing the past few days.

A cyclone struck Pronto and wrecked the house of W. E. Copeland. The house was torn from over the heads of the Copeland family and six members of it are more or less injured.

Lucy Haversham, a 9-year-old girl, was blown some distance and struck a tree, breaking her arm and leg and several ribs.

The worse fatalities occurred on Coosa river, 20 miles above this place. A waterspout burst and the river rose out of its banks, dislodged the house of Jacob Anderson and carried him and his wife and baby down the stream. The house was wrecked on a rock and the three inmates drowned. A negro servant saved his life by catching the limb of a tree as the house sped down stream. Hundreds of cattle were drowned and 50 to 100 barns were wrecked. Three men who were logging on the Coosa river have not been seen since the storm and are thought to have been lost.

HARMONY IN THE IRISH PARTY.

Justin McCarthy Says There is Neither Division Nor Faction in the Party.

LONDON, March 19.—Justin McCarthy presided this evening at the annual Nationalist banquet in London. He said in his speech that there was neither division nor faction in the party; that all were pledged to secure Ireland's autonomy and to nothing else. John Dillon, T. P. O'Connors and others uttered somewhat similar sentiments.

Died an Hour After Quitting Work.

GUELPH, March 19.—George G. Lynn, C. P. R. baggageman, took suddenly ill last night after going home from work after 8 o'clock and died in an hour or two. Affection of the heart was the cause.

To Cheat the Insurance Companies.

WINNIPEG, March 19.—Simon Goldtaub, merchant, of Plum Coulee, was burned out last week and put in his claim to insurance companies for the loss of his stock. Insurance people were suspicious and found large quantities of goods from Goldtaub's store packed away in a stable and covered with hay. Goldtaub is now in jail.

Smokers Don't Salute.

LONDON, March 19.—A Berlin despatch to the Post says that Emperor William has forbidden the officers and men of the Berlin garrison to smoke on the principal streets of the city, because of irregularities in the salutes offered to royal personages.

The Times.

PETERBOROUGH, MARCH 20 1895.

Good morning!

A permanent peace in the Orient is what the Japs claim to be fighting for. There is reason to believe that the claim is well founded. It is a permanent piece of China that the Japs are after, and are pretty sure to get.

China can give more civilized countries points in insurance. The robbers of Canton, China, have organized an insurance company which, in consideration of fixed payments, insures the subscribers immunity from robbery and plunder for one year.

There are signs of a reaction against the Trilby crave. There hangs in a photographer's cabinet outside his shop a picture of the author of that much-discussed book, with the legend "Du Maurier, the Trilby fiend."

The latest scientific dictum regarding the planet Mars is to the effect that there certainly is not an atmosphere surrounding that interesting sphere, which would permit the existence of living creatures like ourselves. A popular hope of sometime establishing communication with the red planet must therefore be given up, and it becomes more than ever probable that this earth is the only place in the universe where Grit politicians have the privilege of denying the national benefit of wise tariff regulations.

A correspondent of the New York Sun, who says he has had exceptional opportunity to study the negro race, both in the South and in the West Indies, writes to that paper that the negroes on the islands have no musical talent, sing nothing but a few hymns they have been taught by the missionaries, have no plantation dances, and no musical instrument but the gumba drum, which is still used in Africa. This writer infers from the lack of musical developement among the people, who have been free for many years, and little exposed to white influence, that musical developement in the negro is merely imitative; that the southern negroes of this country have it because they have lived with white men, that their songs are really nothing but modifications of Scotch, French and Italian airs, and that Dr. Dvorak has made a serious mistake in accepting them as in any sense national.

The opening of the Baltic canal, connecting the Baltic with the North sea, will be the occasion of an imposing demonstration on the part of Germany, signalizing, as it will, the establishment of direct water communication between that country's principal naval station and the great oceans that are ploughed by the navies of other nations. The building of this canal was begun in 1887, and now at the end of eight years and at an expense of $40,000,000 its originators and builders are about to witness the crowning of their work. The entire length of the canal is 61 miles, its width 200 feet at the surface and 85 feet at the bottom, and its average depth of 28 feet is sufficient for the easy movement of the largest ships in the German navy. Provided with double locks, spanned by two fixed bridges and lighted by an elaborate electric system, it is pronounced by engineers to be as perfectly adapted as anything of the kind can be to both commercial and naval purposes.

WHERE IS THAT "CONFESSION?"

We agree with the Toronto Telegram in stating that the stories crediting the younger of the St. Thomas prisoner with confessing the crime for which he has been convicted are too opportune to be true.

Why was not the confession used at the trial? The confession was not good enough to influence the jury, and is used now to influence the public in favor of a verdict which Chief Justice Meredith did not endorse.

It is important that murderers should be punished, and it is just as important that the right of every man in this country to fair trial should be upheld. The appearance of an unverified confession story is an admission that the verdict rendered by the jury at St. Thomas cannot stand alone in the strength of the evidence for the prosecution. If the Crown authorities had knowledge of a confession, why did they not use that knowledge in the trial? And if there be no confession, the story is an outrage even upon a convict under sentence of death.

THE NEW SENATE.

Of the three legislative deadlocks which threatened to compel the new American Senate to begin work short-handed, two have been broken and now but one—that in Delaware—remains. Oregon elected a Republican of doubtful currency views; and Idaho chose an out-and-out silver Republican. In Delaware the struggle between Higgins and Addicks, both Republicans, is still in progress. It was decided by the Senate in the case of Lee Mantle, the gentleman whom the Governor of Montana appointed to represent that State in the Senate when the Legislature had failed to elect a man, that no such appointment is valid; so if the Legislature of Delaware fails to elect, the Senate will be one short of the complement. This will be of importance to the Republican party, for it will leave them with one short of half the Senate; thus giving a combination of the Democrats and Populists an actual majority. Such a combination may not seem very likely under present conditions, but politics across the border are in a state of flux and no one can tell just how the lines will be drawn in the new Congress.

A LIBERAL VICTORY.

The restrictive policy on which Germany embarked with the accession of Prince Hohenlohe to the Chancellorship, and which has expressed itself in the orders prohibiting the admission of cattle and meal from foreign countries and in the Anti-socialist Bill, has, it seems, not been permitted to go to the wild length of stopping Hebrew immigration and making it difficult for Germans to emigrate and for foreigners to acquire German citizenship. On Wednesday resolutions aiming at both objects were defeated, after a session of the Reichstag of unusual excitement and bitterness. The Conservatives were the active supporters of the proposals, and they vociferously cheered the offensive and vulgar attacks of the loud-mouthed anti-Semite agitators. The votes were in a sense a defeat for the Government, for the Imperial Secretary of the Interior admitted that he was not opposed to hampering the acquisition of German citizenship.

The sentiment against Hebrews in Germany is strong. Otherwise it would have been impossible to have stirred up such a scene in the Reichstag. It comes about through the success of the people of that race in commercial and other lines. The Hebrews stand for commercial enterprise and they have made their way with wonderful success. The Conservatives, who live upon the land mainly and see the prestige of their class yielding to the mighty power of trade, are both jealous and bitter. But theirs is a losing fight. The landlord class is rapidly passing from power in Europe, giving way to the enterprising dwellers in cities and handlers of money. In refusing to pass the measures mentioned the Reichstag is simply recognising and admitting the inevitable.

SLAIN BY HIGHWAYMEN.

A Wealthy Hebrew Peddler Murdered by a Gang.

Special to the Times.

UNIONVILLE, Pa., March 18.—Developments in connection with the murder of Max Samuels, the wealthy Hebrew peddler of Pittsburg, at Bradford, last night indicate he was slain by a band of highwaymen.

There were six masked men in the gang, all heavily armed, two of which carried axes. The band's operations early last evening and extended their raid depredations for eight miles along the route of Pittsburg, McKeesport and Youghiohenny Valley Railroad.

All the track people and several other people along the stretch of the road were held up and relieved of their money and valuables.

Friday was pay day on the road and the robbers reaped a rich harvest. The depredation extended to several farmhouses also, from which food and valuables were taken. One hour after the highwaymen had passed over the Broadford bridge they met the peddler. Samuels was found between the tracks, his head split open, and every particle of valuables missing. All traces of the robbers disappeared at the bridge. Those who report encounters with them seem unable to give an accurate description of the men, beyond the fact of their wearing masks and being heavily armed.

WARFARE WITH SNOWBALLS.

Napoleon at School Was Made the Leader of the Sports.

Professor W. M. Sloane tells many interesting anecdotes of the school days of Napoleon in his new "Life of the Little Corporal" in The Century. Writing of the time when Napoleon was at Brienne, Professor Sloane says: "Each of the 150 pupils had a small garden spot assigned to him. Buonaparte developed a passion for his own, and annexing by force the neglected plots of his two neighbors created for himself a retreat, the solitude of which was insured by a thick and lofty hedge planted about it. To this citadel, the sanctity of which he protected with a fury at times half insane, he was wont to retire in the fair weather of all seasons with whatever books he could secure. In the companionship of these he passed happy, pleasant and fruitful hours. His youthful patriotism had been intensified by the hatred he now felt for French schoolboys and through them for France.

"'I can never forgive my father,' he once cried, 'for the share he had in uniting Corsica to France.' Paoli became his hero, and the favorite subjects of his reading were the mighty deeds of men and peoples, especially in antiquity. Such matter he found abundant in Plutarch's 'Lives.' Moreover, his degradation by the school authorities at once created a favorable sentiment among his companions, which not only counteracted the effect of the punishment, but gave him a sort of compensating leadership in their games.

"The well known episode of the snow forts illustrates the bent of his nature. When driven by storms to abandon his garden haunt and to associate in the public hall with the other boys, he often instituted sports in which opposing camps of Greeks and Persians, or of Romans and Carthaginians, fought until the uproar brought down the authorities to end the conflict. On one occasion he proposed the sport, common enough elsewhere, but not so familiar then in France, of building snow forts, or storming and defending them and of fighting with snowballs as weapons. The proposition was accepted, and the preparations were made under his direction with scientific zeal. The intrenchments, forts, bastions and redoubts were the admiration of the neighborhood. For weeks the mimic warfare went on, Buonaparte, always in command, being sometimes the besieger and as often the besieged. Such was the aptitude, such the resources and such the commanding power which he showed in either role that the winter was always remembered in the annals of the school."

THE DRUMMER'S BAGGAGE.

If There's a Lot of It, It Shows That He Is New to the Business.

"I can tell after a single glance at the baggage carried by a drummer about how long he has been on the road," said a lawyer at the Commercial Travelers' club. "When the young man first starts out to the grand tour of the west or south, he is likely to carry in one large trunk enough samples to stock a village store. Another trunk will contain changes of clothing and linen sufficient for a trip around the world. He will carry two large hand satchels—one containing samples, the other a bountiful supply of gents' furnishings and toilet articles. Two overcoats—one light, the other heavy—a shawl or blanket and a mackintosh rolled up and strapped, a leather hat box containing a 'sizer,' an umbrella and a cane and a large pair of fieldglasses swung over his shoulders on a strap will complete the outfit.

"Six months later this young man will have discarded one of the trunks, the hatbox, the cane and the fieldglasses. At the end of a year two satchels and the umbrella will comprise his belongings. He has gradually learned that every first class hotel in the country can do laundry work in 12 hours; that umbrellas can be hired at the checkroom; that one middle weight overcoat is sufficient for his wants; that a cane is in the way; that the place for a silk hat is on the head, or, better still, that a derby is good enough; that blankets are supplied in the Pullman service; that fieldglasses are only of use on race tracks, and then behold the angel of commerce with his change of linen on one side and his samples on the other of a single traveling bag, selling more goods in a day than he formerly sold in a week and not paying out from $3 to $10 a day on excess of baggage."—New York World.

Skulls For Drinking Cups.

The barbarous custom of converting the skulls of enemies into drinking cups was a common one in ancient times among the fierce tribes of northern Europe and was not unknown to the people of the more civilized regions farther south. The Italian poet, Marino, causes an assemblage of friends to quaff their wine from the skull of Minerva, and in his "Wonder of a Kingdom" Torrent makes Dakber say:

Would I had ten thousand [illegible]
Their skulls set all in silver, to drink [illegible]
To his confusion who first [illegible]

Thomas Middleton, a dramatic writer of the early part of the seventeenth century, is believed to be the originator of the phrase, "A soldier's drinking cup," as applied to a human skull. In "The Witch," one of his most celebrated plays, the duke takes a bowl, which he is told is a human skull, whereupon he exclaims:

Call it a soldier's cup.
[illegible]
[illegible]

One of the [illegible], as represented in the old Scandinavian sagas, is that of drinking [illegible] from the skulls of vanquished foes.

THE DYING CENTURY.

[When the time approaches for the century plant, or American aloe, to blossom, a spearlike shape shoots up from its stem, which rapidly thickens to a treelike trunk, or tower, surmounted by a magnificent pannicle of blossoms. The vitality of the plant is exhausted by the effort, and it speedily withers and dies.]

The century hath bloomed. Each growing year
Unfolded like a wider, greener frond
Charmed from the stem by nature's magic wand,
Foil after foil, until the end drew near.
Then high in air it raised its emerald spear
In triumph, and its crown of glory donned,
Each petal glistening with a diamond,
For its impending doom a dewy tear.

The great White City was the white rayed flower
That crowned the ripe years of the century.
In widening fronds came forth its life and power,
Till, like the aloe's suddenly rising tower,
Its hoarded strength in one grand ecstasy
Was spent, and now the century must die.

—E. P. Jackson in Donahoe's Magazine.

HOW SOME MEN TALK.

The Senseless Sort of Conversation With Which They Greet Each Other.

It would puzzle a stranger to judge of the conversational abilities of Chicago men by the chat which usually follows a meeting of friends on the street. This is one chat taken verbatim:

"Hello, old man!"

"Hello, yourself! How's tricks?"

"Oh, so so; can't kick! How's things coming with you?"

"Right along. Haven't seen you for a month. How are you taking it?"

"Easy. Anything new with you?"

"Not a thing; same old song. Well, so long."

"So long. Take care of yourself."

One of the men was a bank president, the other a wholesale dry goods merchant.

A board of trade leader met a prominent insurance manager. Both are well read men, of wide information and are accounted good after dinner speakers. It was:

"Hello, old man!"

"Hello, Billy! How's tricks?"

"Nothing extra; about the same. How's the world using you?"

"Can't kick in these times. How's your conduct?"

"Same as usual. Anything new up your way?"

"Not a thing; same old song. Going my way?"

"No. So long."

"Well, so long. Look out for yourself."

A Dearborn street lawyer met a La Salle street lawyer. They are high in legal circles, have a fine standing in court and are cultivated, refined gentlemen. It was:

"Hello, old man!"

"Why, hello! How are you?"

"First class. How's your corporosity?"

"Haven't a word to say. Business good?"

"Some coming in; nothing to brag of. How's the world using you?"

"Can't complain. Don't see much of you. What's new with you?"

"Nothing; same as usual. How's it coming with you?"

"So so; getting a living. Well, so long, old man. I'll see you later."

"So long. Take care of yourself."

"Sure."—Chicago Record.

Old Fashioned Prayers.

New England preachers of a hundred years ago were given to great plainness of speech. One of them, the Rev. Joseph Penniman, while settled in Bedford, Mass., and afterward, while pastor of the church in Harvard, acquired no little reputation for what the historian of Harvard calls his "irreverent way of offering information to the Omniscient." At the time when the British troops were advancing upon Lexington Mr. Penniman prayed from his pulpit:

"We pray thee, O Lord, that thou wouldst send these British soldiers where they will do some good, for thou knowest we have no use for them about here."

During a season of drought he prayed eloquently that the Lord would "vouchsafe that the bottles of heaven may be uncorked and their refreshing waters poured upon the parched fields."

Soon the drought was broken. Day after day the rain fell. The minister felt that the good work was being overdone. So he prayed again:

"We did ask, O Lord, that thou wouldst uncork the bottles of heaven, but we sought not that thou shouldst throw away the stopples."

At another time the orchards of Harvard were devastated by insects, and the minister put up this petition:

"We pray, O Lord, that thou wilt take pity on us and remove from our midst these voracious canker worms, for if thou lookest over this town thou wilt see that every apple tree is as red as a fox's tail."

Waste of Fuel In Smoke.

It has long been claimed that the enormous volumes of black smoke rolling from the chimney tops of factories and mills represents just so much waste of fuel, and that were this element properly managed and utilized the gain would be considerable. Exhaustive experiments recently made under the direction of a body of mechanical engineers disprove this statement. They have ascertained that there is but an infinitesimal quantity of heat producing substance in this waste, being only 51.46 grains of soot in 100 cubic feet of smoke. As only 60 per cent of soot is combustible, it will be seen that the waste is but trifling. It is therefore upon æsthetic and sanitary grounds that smoke consumption is demanded by these experts. It might be said in addition that there certainly would be an economy of labor and materials in a smoke consuming device, as the clothing destroyed and the wear and tear of scrubbing are an important item in domestic management.—New York Ledger.

Misplaced Charity.

"I was dining in the restaurant of a hotel awhile ago," said George Carney of Mobile, "with a couple of friends. Our table was near one of the windows, and we were engrossed in conversation when I suddenly looked up and out of the window. On the street, leaning against the railing and gazing intently at us, I saw a middle aged man. Thinking he might be a poor fellow looking longingly at our meal and hungry, I raised the window and threw a quarter to him, saying, 'Go and get a feed for yourself.' The quarter fell at the man's feet, but he made no move to pick it up, and when I again told him that the coin was beside him he surprised me by stooping down and picking it up and throwing it through the window at me. Then he walked off. One of the cabmen saw him [illegible]. When I finished my meal, I [illegible] if he had ever seen him [illegible].

"[illegible]," he replied. 'He is a [illegible] who hangs about the various hotel [illegible] during meal hours and always watches people eating. They say he is a rich man and a miser, but I don't know him.'

"Hereafter," added Mr. Carney, "I'll be careful to whom I throw money."—

LITTLE BROWN DOG AT THE DOOR.

Early and late you watch and wait,
Little brown dog at the door,
For a quick footfall and a boyish call,
For your master to come once more,
Eager to follow, through field and hollow
Wherever his feet may roam,
Content to stray if he leads the way.
Wherever he is, is home.

But you never hear the whistle clear,
Nor the sound of the boyish call,
Nor the scamper of feet all bare and fleet
Down through the shadowy hall.
Though long you wait at door and gate
For your playfellow of old,
With his eyes so blue and his heart so true
And his hair like the sunshine's gold.

'Tis a year and a day since he went away
To a country beyond our ken,
And those who go that way, we know,
Never come back again.
Still early and late you watch and wait,
Little brown dog at the door,
But the voice is still, and watch as you will
Your master comes no more.
—Dorothy Deane.

TEMPERING DAMASCUS BLADES.

An Old Record Says That Each Operation Cost a Human Life.

Professor von Eulenspiegel and party in delving among the ruins of ancient Tyre unearthed what seems to have been the workshop of an ancient armorer, or "waffenschmidt," with a quantity of sword blades in different stages of manufacture, though badly corroded. A copper cylinder, with a close fitting tap, was found among a pile of dry rotted wood, evidently the remains of an arm chest, the brass nails and copper bands of which had retained their original form. This cylinder contained a parchment inscribed in ancient Syriac characters and in a fair state of preservation. The professor pronounced it an extraordinary discovery—one calculated to cast much light upon the heretofore mysteries of the ancient craft of weapon making, giving in detail the methods followed in making the perfect Damascus blades.

The manner of tempering these blades when intended for a ruler or an officer of high rank was as follows: "Let the high dignitary furnish an Ethiop of fair fame, and let him be bound down, shoulders upward, upon the block of the god Bal-hal, his arms fastened underneath with thongs; a strap of goatskin over his back and wound twice around the block; his feet close together, lashed to a dowel of wood, and his head and neck projecting over and beyond the end of the block. Then let the master workman, having cold hammered the blade to a smooth and thin edge, thrust it into the fire of cedar wood coals, in and out, the while reciting the prayer to the god Bal-hal until the steel be of the color of the red of the rising sun, when he comes up over the desert toward the east, and then with a quick motion pass the same from the heel thereof to the point six times through the most fleshy portion of the slave's back and thighs, when it shall have become the color of the purple of the king. Then, if with one swing and one stroke of the right arm of the master workman it sever the head of the slave from his body and display not nick nor crack along the edge, and the blade may be bent round about the body of a man and break not it shall be accepted as a perfect weapon, sacred to the service of the god Bal-hal, and the owner thereof may thrust it into a scabbard of ass' skin, brazen with brass and hung to a girdle of camels' wool dyed in the royal purple."—Berlin Tageblatt.

These Tobacco Abstainers.

Much complaint has been made of late concerning the outrageous conduct of male, and especially of female, abstainers from tobacco, who force their way into railway smoking carriages, and, in spite of the protests of the other occupants, persistently abstain from smoking during the longest railway journey. It may be asked why the smoker does not quietly continue to smoke, regardless of the presence of the abstainer. Of course this is practicable, but what decent and humane man can take any pleasure in smoking when there is seated opposite to him a middle aged woman, who is perhaps the mother of young and helpless children, but who shamelessly and sniffingly proclaims her vicious hatred of tobacco in every look and movement?

The presence of the abstainer must necessarily cast a gloom over any railway compartment, and the smoker, filled with disgust and pity, loses all interest in his pipe. What is the most painful feature of the whole matter is that the abstainers have actually formed societies for the forcible suppression of smoking, and, not content with their own degradation, are striving to degrade all other men and women to their level. The remedy is, however, plain. If the abstainers have a right to crush smokers by law, smokers have a similar right to crush abstainers.—W. L. Alden in Idler.

A Dissecting Room Triumph.

Every one knows that the nerves in the human body are almost without number, threading every part of the system. The difficulty of dissecting to preserve these nerves can thus be imagined. In a glass case in the museum of Hahnemann college is shown the entire human cerebro-spinal nervous system, every nerve arranged in its proper order and all intact. This remarkable piece of dissection is the work of Dr. R. B. Weaver, one of the college professors. It took him six months, working eight hours a day, to accomplish the work. He received in recognition an official ribbon from the World's fair, where the work was exhibited. Every nerve emanating from the brain and spine has been preserved, and the subject looks like a fishnet in the case. Some of the nerves are quite thick and others as fragile, seemingly, as a spider web.—Philadelphia Record.

On Choosing Pork.

If young and well fed, the lean is easily broken between the fingers and the skin indented if nipped with the nail. The fat is white and waxy and the rind thin and clean. Stale pork is easily detected by the skin looking dark at the top and clammy between the creases of the legs and shoulders and by its strong, tainted smell.—New York Dispatch.

LIFE ON 18 CENTS A DAY.

The Fearful Problem That Confronts the Paris Working Woman.

A working girl living alone cannot live honestly in Paris on less than 650 francs a year. This in American money is $130. For 300 days in the year she must make nearly 45 cents a day. A room within a reasonable distance of her work will cost $20 a year. The slight saving which she might effect by going into the outer suburbs would be eaten up in the expense of tramway, omnibus or even shoe leather. Her food will cost her $80 a year. This estimate allows her bread, meat and milk sufficient to keep her in good health six days in the week and provides for a dinner on Sunday at one of the working people's restaurants. The menu of this meal would be something like this:

Bread	2 cents
Wine	6 cents
Soup and beef	9 cents
Vegetables	5 cents
Cheese	3 cents
Total	25 cents

The amount of money she would have to spend on her clothes depends in some measure upon the nature of her work. It could hardly be less than $16 a year, including shoes and outdoor wraps. For heat, light, washing and car fare there would remain $14.

Now, on this sum a girl can live honestly in Paris. She cannot live honestly for less if she has to take the entire care of herself. The figures I have given are not ironclad. Of course there must be a certain amount of flexibility in any general estimate. But I am quite within the bounds of moderation when I put the minimum living wage of the Parisian working woman, who is single and alone, at 40 cents a day for 300 days in the year. How do they earn it? These vestmakers, shirtmakers, flower makers, embroiderers, milliners, cloakmakers, washerwomen, ironers, matchmakers, leadworkers, this army of toiling women. Not three-fourths of them earn this little wage. The first working girl with whom I discussed this question was a trifle more intelligent than her class. She had come from Auvergne and had been five years in Paris. She worked in a match factory in the Twentieth arrondissement, out near La Villette. It is work in which a certain amount of technical instruction is necessary, and in consequence the wage compares favorably with that of other employments open to women.

"How much do you make a day?" I asked.

"I make 30 sous a day, all a woman can make in Paris," she replied, "and that is not enough to live on."

This 30 cents a day is more than the majority of women earn.

"I have a room over there," and she pointed to one of the cardboard tenements which are being jerry built in all that region between Pere la Chaise and the basin of La Villette, "and it costs me 50 cents a week. I have $1.30 a week for food and clothes and medicine. I have to take medicine—that's on account of the sulphur."

"Do you live on that?"

"I can't," she said. "Bread is 8 and 9 cents a kilogram (a loaf of about two pounds); milk is 10 cents a quart; the cheapest kind of meat—beef, I mean—costs 20 cents a pound. I have to have fuel and light. It cannot be done. I tried it for a year, and I was starving all the time. I should have been dead by this time if I had kept it up. Now? Oh, now I am not 'honest.'"

It is to be remembered that this girl had come from the country. She was used to heavy food and the open air. The privations of a working woman's life were more to her than to one to the manner born. In addition she probably had not the art, instinctive in the Parisian girl, of sweating her sous and buying to the best advantage. I met plenty of Paris women who kept themselves alive and kept themselves from vice on 30 cents a day. Of course they had neither happiness nor comfort, but they had existence. That was assured them as long as they were able to work 16 hours a day. It is said that 16 hours of continuous work is the limit of a woman's endurance. Thirteen hours is the average length of the woman's working day in Paris.—Paris Letter in New York Commercial Advertiser.

Chinese Victims of Consumption.

That there is a large Chinese population in Boston is well known, and yet it is seldom that one hears of a death in the Chinese quarter. The proportion of Chinese residents is small as compared with those of other nationalities, and there is no way to tell the exact number of deaths among them, as they are recorded by the city officials under the head of miscellaneous nationalities. Inquiry reveals the fact that Chinamen in nearly every case die of consumption. They are ill, as a rule, but a short time. In their native country their principal diet is rice, which, from its healthfulness, tends to lengthen life. When they begin business here, all their habits change. They work early and late, seldom leaving their shops, and as they succeed they begin to eat American food. It is remarked by all with whom they have dealings that they always buy the best the markets afford. It is their custom to work until midnight or after and then enjoy a hearty meal. If they are well to do, they are certain to have chickens and whatever fruit can be procured, no matter how expensive it may be. If they have just started in the laundry business, it is quite likely that they will form a company and adjourn to the nearest "night lunch wagon" or restaurant.

Living, as most of them do, in such small rooms, when sickness overtakes them they cannot receive proper care, and they are carried to the hospitals.—Boston Transcript.

The Cruel Plant.

A Canadian climber, the Physianthus albens, has received the name of "cruel plant" from its ill treatment of butterflies. It flowers in the month of August, and the butterflies, attracted by the perfume, hover around it in large numbers and push their trunks into the corollas to sip the honey. A pair of sensitive vegetable pincers in the heart of the flower grips the delicate proboscis, and in spite of struggles to get free the butterfly hangs [illegible] until it dies. Apparently the plant has nothing to gain by the death of the [illegible] "carnivorous," like the V[illegible] In fact, if the butterflies [illegible] and go, it would tend to foster the species by assisting cross fertilization. It appears, however, that the "cruel plant" came originally from Brazil, where the butterflies are much stronger and extricate their suckers from the trap. We may add that another Canadian plant, the Cnicus discolor, is charged with cruelty. The flower has a gland which secretes a viscous liquid capable of liming insects which are fond of it. Moreover, they seem to be stupefied and poisoned by it, and no reason can as yet be assigned for the deadly consequence.—Cassell's Magazine.

SADIE'S CONFESSION.

It is Read to the Jury—The Murder of Montgomery Gibbs.

Special to the Times.

BUFFALO, March 18.—The trial of the Robinsons was resumed this morning. Police Superintendent Bull testified to the confession made by Sadie to him at police headquarters and swore positively that no threats or promise had been made to cause her to confess.

The confession was then submitted and read to the jury. It related with hideous details the story of the murder of Montgomery Gibbs and during the reading Clarence's face became deathly pale, while Sadie sank lower in her chair and riveted her eyes upon the judge.

The confession states that Clarence fired all three shots while he in his statement charges Sadie with firing the third and fatal shot.

When recess was taken at noon, Superintendent Bull was under cross examination but all efforts to shake his testimony were fruitless.

A TIFF WITH THE JUDGE.

D'Alton Denies that Any Threat to Commit Him for Contempt Was Made.

Special to the Times.

OTTAWA, March 18.—It was rumored in Ottawa yesterday that on Saturday Chief Justice Strong had threatened to commit D'Alton McCarthy for contempt of court, owing to a dispute that arose in the hearing of a case.

Mr. McCarthy, when interviewed last night, said: "The rumor that the Chief Justice threatened to commit me is untrue. We did have an argument, however. I desired to read an authority in connection with the hearing of the case of Lewis vs. Alexander, and his Lordship said with much rancor that he would not permit it. I questioned his right to make a decision, and a dispute ensued, but he did not go so far as to threaten a commitment.

"With a younger barrister the effect of the incident might have been to break up his argument."

HEIR TO A FORTUNE.

An Octogenarian Proves Her Right to Thousands.

Special to the Times.

CHICAGO, March 18.—Margaret Dawson McCaffrey is in Chicago to prove she was the wife of John McCaffrey, who died at Brighton Park last June, and to take possession of a large estate as the legal heir. At the time of Mr. McCaffrey's death much mystery was attached to his previous marital relations. Mrs. McCaffrey gave testimony yesterday before Judge Kohlsea, which tended to conclusively show she was the wife referred to by the testator, who, in a codicil to his will, said he did not know the names of three of his children by his first wife. When McCaffrey died he left an estate valued at $500,000. Owing to the peculiar reading of the will, after his death a hunt was instituted for his heirs, which resulted in the finding of Mrs. Margaret Dawson McCaffrey at Georgetown, D. C. She was brought to Chicago a few days ago, and yesterday she met her sister, Ann Jane Riley, whom she had not seen for nearly fifty years. Mrs. McCaffrey is nearly 80 years old.

Ailsa Again a Winner.

NICE, MARCH 19.—Mr. A. Barclay Walker's yacht Ailsa won the race in cruising trim today from Monaco to this place, defeating Valkyrie I. and Corsair. Britannia did not compete.

A DOUBLE SUICIDE.

A Soldier and His Sweetheart Resolve to Die Together.

Special to the Times.

PARIS, March 19.—France is peculiarly the land of dramatic suicides. One reported from Lyons has sent a shiver through the gay Parisians, who are usually callous to death in any form. A young soldier had been on a visit to his relatives. Instead of returning to his regiment at the expiration of his leave he lingered at Lyons paying court to his sweetheart. As the days passed, the man became a prey to melancholy. He brooded over the punishment that would befall him on his return to barracks. The fit grew upon him, and communicated itself to the girl. Finally the soldier suggested that they should kill themselves. His sweetheart assented, and wanted to die by drowning in the Rhone. This idea, however, did not strike him very favourably. He thought drowning too slow and painful a death. He proposed shooting, and the girl agreed. After taking a light supper the couple shut themselves up in a room. They wrote a letter to the effect that it was better to die than to be separated. The arrangement was that the soldier should shoot his sweetheart and then kill himself, and that if her wound was not mortal she should finish herself with the revolver. They laid themselves dressed on the bed. The man shot his companions and then blew out his own brains. The girl was not seriously injured, however, and she took up the pistol, and, firing at herself, fell back in a swoon. The soldier's arms were drawn tightly round her, and for twelve hours she lay thus in the embrace of the corpse. She was taken to a hospital when discovered next morning. The doctors say she will recover, but the girl declares she will take the first opportunity to join her dead lover.

The Cornwall Island Shooting Case.

CORNWALL, Ont., March 19.—The preliminary examination of Easterbrook and Carpenter charged with shooting Mitchell Oak on Cornwall Island on March 7th, was resumed this morning. Oak was not present, as was expected, and Dr. Graveley stated that he would not be able to be out for a couple of weeks. The evidence of Oak's three sons, Jim, Mitchell, and Peter, was taken, but as they spoke no English, and an interpreter had to be employed, the whole day was taken up in getting their story, and the examination stands adjourned till to-morrow. They admitted being in Easterbrook's bush to get wood, but claimed that the Indians have the right to cut wood on any part of Cornwall Island. Peter Oak says that his father took off his coat to fight Easterbrook if the latter would lay down his gun, and was shot after offering to go away as ordered. The witnesses were not sure which of the white men did the shooting.

Slapped the Judge's Face.

ATLANTA, Ga., March 19.—During the taking of evidence in the contest of Dr. Felton for the seat in Congress of Representative John W. Maddox on Friday, Seaborn Wright slapped Judge Joel Branham's face. Wright who is a lawyer, was present as a spectator and friend of Dr. Felton. Judge Branham is counsel for Maddox. He made a statement in reference to Wright, which the latter contradicted. The two men advanced toward each other, and Judge Branham cried "I will slap your face." No sooner had he spoken than Wright struck him a resounding blow on the cheek. Populists and Democrats lined up on opposite sides. Friends seized Wright and Branham, while Mrs. Felton ascended the Judge's bench and pleaded for quiet. Whether the affair will be amicably settled cannot be learned. There is intense feeling between Wright and Branham, who are prominent members of the Georgia bar.

Howden Gets a Month.

TORONTO, March 19.—John F. Howden, the printer who provided William Terry, the Grand Trunk brakesman, with proofs of Trinity Medical College examination papers for improper distribution among certain students, yesterday pleaded guilty in the Police Court, and was sent to gaol for thirty days. The Crown Attorney withdrew the charge against Terry, and he went free. This was done, not because Terry was less guilty than Howden, but because Terry, for reasons best known to himself, betrayed his friend into the hands of the police, and, had it been necessary, would have served as a Crown witness against him. Howden states that Terry approached him as a friend, and asked for the proofs for the special purpose of assisting one person, also a friend of Terry, whose chances of passing the examination were anything but good.

Fire at North Tonawanda.

NORTH TONAWANDA, March 19.—Fire at 1.30 a. m. destroyed the saloon on Delaware street owned by Joseph Major. Loss about $2,000; insured.

A Steamer Grounded.

NEW YORK, March 19.—The British steamer Ontario, which sailed this morning from London, touched the southern edge of the Romer on her way to sea. She lay in an easy position, and at ten o'clock was floated on the rising tide. A two-masted schooner also went ashore on Romer shoal. She was soon got afloat.

Li Hung Chang in Japan.

SHIMONESKI, March 19.—Viceroy Li Hung Chang and his suite arrived here this morning in order to negotiate for peace between China and Japan.

Montreal's Big Failure.

LOCAL AND DISTRICT HAPPENINGS OF THE DAY.

The Weather.

PROBS.—Fine weather, stationary or a little higher temperature.

The Oakville Gold Cure.

Information regarding the above will be given with pleasure to all parties desiring such information. A. H. MELVILLE.

"Calcutt's Water Tube."

Mr. C. Anderson, of Little Current, and Mr. J. Johnson, steamboat inspector, were visiting Calcutt's brewery inspecting the patent water tube improvement and have pronounced it a "great improvement" and that it will save a large amount of fuel and increase the power.

Oshawa's Treasurer Dead.

OSHAWA, Ont., March 19.—Henry Carswell, town treasurer for the past thirty years, died suddenly of apoplexy last night. Mr. Carswell was one of the oldest settlers here, having been a resident of this place for the past fifty years. He was seventy years of age, and had always enjoyed the best of health.

The Lindsay Fire.

At the fire in Lindsay, a number of travellers stopping at the Benson House had valuable samples burned. Among the number were: Messrs. J. Ross, Montreal; C. H. Kelk, Montreal; J. A. Ross, Montreal; A. H. Cabb, Toronto; W. H. Martin, Toronto; R. J. Sailsbury, Toronto; Wm. Caldwell, Toronto; A. A. Mark, Toronto; L. B. Howland, Brockville.

A Singular Accident.

A valuable cow, the property of the Nicholls hospital, met with a very singular death recently. The animal by some means got into the manger of its stall, and in its efforts to get out ripped its side open. The manger had to be torn down before the cow could be extricated. It injured itself to such an extent that it was deemed advisable to kill it, which was done.

In Electrical Lines.

Mr. R. H. Bradburn has taken an agency for electrical supplies, and has opened an office two doors south of THE TIMES. A full and complete line of electrical appliances, incandescent lamps, gas and combination fixtures will be supplied to customers. This will be a great convenience to those who are in need of this line of goods and no doubt Mr. Bradburn will do a large and successful business.

An Interesting Lecture.

St. Johns school house was filled with a large audience last night when Rev. Septimus Jones, Rural Dean of Toronto, delivered an interesting lecture taking for his subject "Oliver Goldsmith." It was an able and eloquent effort, full of wit and pathos and intensely interesting. The eminent divine held the unbroken attention of his hearers, who were delighted with the intellectual treat afforded them. Rev. Mr. Jones arrived in town from Ottawa yesterday afternoon.

American Canoe Association.

A member of the American Canoe Association in Peterborough received a letter yesterday signed by the Purser and Commodore of the A. C. A. asking for full particulars of the advantages of Rice Lake as a locality for holding the next annual camp of the association, and also enquiring about railway facilities, etc. From the letter it is inferred that the officers of the A. C. A. are seriously contemplating the holding of the next camp at this charming summer resort. THE TIMES drew attention to the advantages of having the camp so near Peterborough, in a recent issue, and also spoke of the desirability of Rice Lake for an outing of this nature. It is to be hoped the A. C. A. will choose this favored locality for their annual camp.

POLICE COURT NEWS.

Wm. Cushion Sent to Gaol for Disorderly Conduct.

In the police court yesterday morning, William Cushion, well-known in town, was sent to gaol for 10 days on a charge of being disorderly. The complainants were Matthew Heedan and his wife, Syrians, who reside on Sherbrook street. By their evidence it was proven that Cushion and other boys had bombarded their domicile with stones. A fine of $3 and costs or 10 days in gaol was imposed, in default of which Cushion took up his residence on the hill.

The young man Wells who drove furiously around the streets yesterday and finally upset the cutter, was taxed to the tune of $5 and costs which he paid.

ELECTED OFFICERS.

Annual Meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary of St. Johns.

The annual meeting of the St. John's Branch of the Women's Auxiliary was held at the rectory on Monday.

The attendance was good, and the reports of secretary, treasurer and superintendent of Mission Band showed that good work had been done throughout the past year.

The report of the Parochial Secretary, Mrs. Samuel White, plainly showed that the missionary zeal of the W. A. members is not limited to the Northwest or foreign missions, the poor of our own town and parish being worked for and materially assisted.

After the president had read the annual address the election of officers took place, which resulted in the re-election of the former officers with the exception of Mrs. Jas. Best, 2nd Vice-President, and Miss McCallum, Assistant-Superintendent Mission Band, resigned. Scrutineers of votes reported:

Mrs. G. A. Smith—President.
Mrs. Weller—1st Vice-President.
Mrs. Clarke—2nd Vice-President.
Miss Kirkpatrick—Treasurer.
Miss M. Rubidge—Parochial Treasurer.
Miss Beck—Secretary.
Mrs. S. White—Parochial Secretary.
Mrs. Sailsbury—Superintendent Mission Band.
Mrs. R. M. Roy—Assistant Superintendent.

A vote of thanks was moved by the Rector, seconded by Mrs. Vernon to the officers of the Woman's Auxiliary for the very efficient manner in which they had discharged their duties. The rector also appointed Mrs. Vernon and Mrs. Perry in addition to the former Board of Management.

A session of the Peterborough Presbytery is being held at Port Hope.

A meeting of the Fire, Water & Light Committee was held last night.

The evangelistic services in St. Paul's are creating wide spread interest, and the attendance is large.

The Troubadour Minstrels will meet for rehearsal at Mr. Jackson's tonight. All are requested to be present.

The grand jury inspected the goal, the Nicholls and St. Joseph's hospitals and the House of Refuge yesterday.

Much surprise is expressed in certain circles in London that the Prince of Wales should have permitted his yacht Britannia to be raced on Sunday.

The names of those who will compose the commission to investigate the affairs of University College were made public Monday evening. His Lordship Chief Justice Taylor, of Manitoba, will be chairman, and the first session is called for April 8th.

What will the college classes that enter in 1896 be called? The class of Naughty-naught? Somebody who has been thinking this problem over suggests that this be so, and those of succeeding years shall be "Naught-y-one." "Naught-y-two" and so on to "Naugh-t-y-nine."

POPULAR SPORTS.

Grocers Defeat Dry Goods Men in a Game of Hockey.

An amusing game of hockey was played on the rink last night between the grocers and dry goods men. A large crowd witnessed the efforts of the amateurs. At the end of a hotly contested game the score stood 7 to 6 in favor of the grocers. The teams lined up as follows:

GROCERS.		DRY GOODS.
Armstrong	Goal	S. Berth
Miles Henry	Point	T. Meredith
Wm. Daymen	Cover Point	G. Butcher
J. Cummings	Forwards	F. Logan
J. Connal		J. Tully

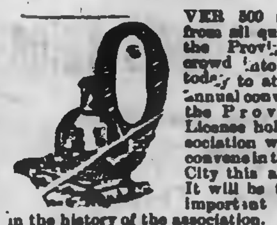
KILRAIN—O'DONNELL FIGHT.

After an absence of four years from the ring Jake Kilrain, of Baltimore, faced Steve O'Donnell, of Australia, better known as Corbett's sparring partner, for 8 rounds Monday night at the Suffolk Athletic club. The contest was delared a draw amidst the wildest excitement, the like of which was never before witnessed in Boston. Kilrain had plenty of sympathisers, and among them was John L. Sullivan, who occupied a seat behind him. He urged his old time opponent on during the fight and it seemed to give Jake encouragement. O'Donnell, although a much lighter man than Kilrain did not show up to advantage and he disappointed the spectators, who expected to see a clever fight. It was apparent as soon as Kilrain stepped into the ring that he had been drinking and that he was not in a fit condition to fight. His stomach was large and he was not very fleshy, but he had not lost his old time cleverness, which he used to great advantage. At times it looked as though he would not be able to continue on his feet as his wind was poor, but at critical times he rallied and showed wonderful strength. When the fight was finished Referee Shephard held his decision for a few minutes, while the 1500 spectators yelled Kilrain at the top of their voices. When he called it a draw it met with the approval of all. At the close of the contest Sullivan leaped into the ring and rushed over to referee Shepard, and declared the bout should have been decided in favor of Kilrain, at the same time grasping Jake by the hands congratulating him on his good showing. Shepard did not appear to mind John's argument, but Billy Delaney, one of O'Donnel's seconds exclaimed: "Don't talk to that mutton head," referring to John L. Sullivan gave a war whoop and sprang at Delaney, who jumped from the ring and made for ante-room. Some of Sullivan's friends seized him, and Delaney can thank the gentlemen that he is not now in the hospital. John L. fussed for a few minutes, but as the object of his anger did not put in an appearance he went out into the cold world vowing vengeance on Delaney.

MANY CHANGES

Will Provincial Hotelkeepers Propose to the Government.



OVER 500 members from all quarters of the Province will crowd into Toronto today to attend the annual convention of the Provincial License holders Association which will convene in the Queen City this afternoon. It will be the most important meeting in the history of the association.

Important amendments to the law respecting hotel men and the business will be asked from the Ontario Government.

LEGISLATORS WILL BE BESIEGED.

Every member of the Local Assembly is to be seen during the convention by a deputation of hotel men from his own constituency and the necessity of his support for the amendments when they come up emphasised. By judiciously dividing up their forces in this way the delegates feel sure of getting the amendments through this session.

A large number of amendments have been drafted. One of the most startling is the severe penalties the hotel men propose to impose on those guilty of illegal selling. If it is adopted not a glass of liquor is likely to be sold in the province on Sunday or during other prohibited hours.

THE PROPOSED PENALTIES.

This amendment in effect is as follows:

"That on the first conviction for illegal selling an hotelkeeper be fined $100 and costs or three months.

"That on a second conviction the penalty be three months' imprisonment without the option of a fine.

"In case of a third conviction the offender is to get six months' imprisonment without the option of a fine, all subsequent convictions to rank as a 'third offence' and be punished as such."

OTHER PROPOSALS.

Other proposed amendments of importance are as follows:

"That all holders of licenses be eligible for election to municipal offices.

"That all hotels close at 12 p.m. at night, and on Saturdays at 9 p.m., these hours to be uniform in city and country.

"That boards of license commissioners have full discretion in transfers of licenses." At present a petition has to be taken around in the polling sub-division to which the transfer is to be made, and a majority of the electors in the division must sign in favor of the transfer before the commissioners may act.

"That the power of municipal councils to deal with licenses be taken away and vested in the Provincial Government.

"That all hotels be allowed to supply their guests and lodgers during prohibited hours.

"That all clubs holding charters from the Ontario Government in cities and towns pay a license fee.

"That baggage may be sold in 15 days for board and lodging instead of after three months as at present."

The Montreal association will send up a deputation to the convention, that association having been invited to fraternise.

THE GRAND JURY

Sworn in at the High Court Jury Sittings Yesterday.

At the Jury Sittings of the High Court of Justice, presided over by Mr. Justice Street, the grand jury was sworn in, composing the following:

Dawson Kennedy (foreman), John Carlisle, Geo. F. Elliott, Wm. Fowler, Wm. Fowler, Wm. A. Graham, Robt. Miller, Wm. McIlmoyle, John A. Rose, F. J. Johnston, Jos. Milburn.

In his address Mr. Justice Street congratulated the jurors on the absence of criminal cases and upon the fact, that in consequence their duties would not include the investigation of such. His Lordship explained the change in the law which required the summoning of but 12 jurors instead of 23 as formerly.

The first case called was that of Murray vs. the Bell Telephone Company.

MILITARY MEN ENTERTAIN.

D.A.G. Col. Cotton the Guest of Local Militia Officers.

THE officers of the 57th Battalion entertained the D.A.G., Col. Cotton, officers of the cavalry and artillery and a number of ex-officers of the militia at a supper held in mess rooms in the drill shed last night. The company numbered about 40, and the banquet board around which they gathered was graced with a most excellent and delectable menu. An evening of intellectual and gastronomical enjoyment was spent. It was a feast of reason and a flow of soul, and a graceful compliment to their distinguished guest, the D.A.G.

The officers of the three branches of the force are organizing a military club with the view of promoting that esprit-de corps which should exist in every military district. As this is to be the headquarters of the Prince of Wales dragoons, all the officers of that regiment will reside in this locality.

The D. A. G. is inspecting the arms and armories of the 57th battalion and artillery and is also transfering the arms, accoutrements and saddlery of "C" troop to Capt. Johnston, Vice Col. H. C. Rogers, appointed commanding officer of the C. of W. Dragoons.

INTERESTING TO LADIES
SOMETHING FOR NOTHING
CAN YOU GET IT?

Many who should know better, are well pleased to get a good sized glass jar or tin of bulky alum, ammonia or other powerful but injurious mixture, for use as Baking Powder, at much less, perhaps even half the price, of the really good article, overlooking the fact that the amount then APPARENTLY saved is of small moment in comparison with the real but not always immediately observed inevitable injury following the use of these articles. If in addition to the SEEMINGLY low prices there is attached some showy gift or prize to give the impression of extra value, the inferior or harmful nature of the powder is lost sight of in the expectation (a vain one) of getting "something for nothing."

"LADIES' HOME" and "HAPPY THOUGHT" on the other hand, can always be depended on as articles of first class quality, and such as can be AND ARE guaranteed not only free from everything in the slightest degree injurious, but invariably pure, satisfactory and economical.

Can Catarrh Be Cured?
MOST POSITIVELY SO BY THE USE OF
Oxygenator

The record of our remedy is remarkable, it having shown itself equally efficacious in every form of the disease, from the simplest first symptoms to the most aggravated type. We confidently believe that any person suffering from Catarrh who has vitality sufficient to keep him alive until Oxygenator is given time to impart its properties can be completely cured by its use. That all other remedies have failed is no evidence that it will not cure you. Obtain precise but simple directions how to use it from head office, and we will guarantee you splendid results with the first jar you start with. Chronic cases [illegible]

TO THE ELECTORS
—OF—
East Peterborough

GENTLEMEN,—Having some time ago been nominated by the Patrons of Industry, and lately by the Liberal party, as a candidate for the representation of East Peterborough in the House of Commons at the approaching Dominion Elections, I have decided to accept the candidature as an Independent Liberal, and if elected I shall support, to the best of my ability, the following policy:—

1. Maintenance of British Connection.
2. Public lands for the actual settler and none for the speculator.
3. Independence of Parliament and economy in the public expenditure.
4. The abolition of the Canadian Senate.
5. Tariff for revenue only and to be levied principally on the luxuries and not the necessaries of life.
6. Reciprocal trade between Canada and any other country in the world if it can be obtained on fair terms.
7. Repeal of the Dominion Franchise Act and a return of the voters' lists made out by our municipal officers.
8. That electoral districts conform as nearly as possible to county boundaries.
9. Responsible government in practice as well as theory.

As it will be impossible for me to call on you all personally during the short time at my disposal, I take this means of placing my views before you as soliciting your support. I shall also endeavor to hold as many public meetings as possible in the several municipalities, at which I hope to have an opportunity of presenting my views more fully before you. I beg to remain, gentlemen,

Your humble servant,
JOHN LANG.

A Metal Breadboard

THE WOMAN WHO HAS BEEN USED to kneading dough on the old fashioned wooden breadboard knows what a bother it is to get them clean and how cumbersome and heavy they are. When they begin to crack or check its almost impossible to thoroughly cleanse them, and they may easily become dangerous conveyances of disease. It was left for a woman, of course, to remedy this state of affairs, and Mrs. M. M. Everhard, of St. Joseph, Mich., has patented a metal bread-board, which is one of the greatest labor-savers imaginable. It is light, does not absorb grease, dough does not adhere to it, and while it possesses all the advantages of the marble bread-board it is much cheaper and, of course, far lighter and easier to handle. If readers want to confer a favor upon their wives that will be forever appreciated, let them send $1 to the manufacturers, 101 Bay street, Toronto, for one of these boards.

VERY LIKELY TWO BLOWS

WERE DEALT UPON THE HEAD OF YOUNG WILLIE WELLS.

Coroner Johnston Believes that to Be the Number that Was Administered—The Coroner States that the Injuries Could Not Have Been Caused by the Weight if the Lad Was Standing Up.

Special to the Times.

YESTERDAY medical evidence was again adduced in the Hyams case which certainly thickens the cloud of suspicion over the accused men and greatly strengthens the Crown's theory that Wells was killed first and the weight dropped afterward.

Coroner Johnston was the man who gave it this time. With the skull of the unfortunate Willie Wells in his hand, he swore positively that at least two lines of force or two blows had caused the injuries to the head; that the weight falling upon it from any height, if the lad were standing up, could not cause the injuries, and that he could conceive of no conditions under which the weight falling upon an upright man could produce the injuries. Some of the fractures could have been caused by the falling of the weight from a short distance but not all.

Evidence of a financial nature all adduced to prove motive on the part of the Hyams was also brought out.

INSURANCE MATTERS.

Samuel W. Hughson, agent of the Covenant Mutual Life Association of Galesbury Ill., was recalled and testified that H. P. Hyams, who had insurance on Wells' life for $2,000, applied in September, 1892, for $2,000 insurance. It never materialized as Hyams would not be examined.

E. F. B. Johnson asked that the insurance papers found on H. Hyams at the time of his arrest be produced. This was granted.

Thirty seven checks on the Imperial Bank, signed by Martha Wells or Hyams, were proved by H. B. Paton of the Imperial Bank and put in. Two checks, one of $7,-904 and the other of $2,000, were endorsed by H. P. Hyams. The dates were September 30 and June 16, 1893.

This was after the insurance money had been paid. On April 22, 1893, $22,000 was placed to her credit on a deposit receipt. Later on $5,000 was drawn out on her credit and $17,000 placed to her credit on a deposit receipt. Again on April 23, another $3,000 was paid out and the balance, $14,-000, placed to her credit on a deposit receipt.

To Mr. Johnston he said that the $7,904 of September 30 was a draft sent to Montreal made in Mr. Hyams' favor. He never saw either of the Hyams or Barrister Horn at the bank.

LAWYER SMOKE MAKES A CORRECTION.

Lawyer S. C. Smoke, Mrs. Hyams' solicitor, corrected his former evidence. He said that he had an interview in his office with Lawyer Horn and H. P. Hyams when it was admitted that Hyams had money in possession belonging to Martha Wells, for which he had given security. The date of that interview was March 30. He had another interview on April 22nd.

The defence objected, saying that Lawyer Smoke was privileged, but Col. Denison ruled this out on the ground that the interview was between Harry Hyams, Solicitor Horn and an individual who represented a woman who was not Hyam's wife.

Mr. Johnston fought this ruling on technical grounds, but Col. Denison ruled that Mr. Smoke must give his evidence.

The witness stated that the conversation on March 22 related to moneys and was between Lawyer Horn and himself, Hyams being present. Col. Denison ruled that the latter was not bound by what his lawyer said and the evidence did not go in. Previous to this the witness said that Mrs. H. P. Hyams told him that she did not wish him to relate what had occurred. H. P. Hyams had told him on April 22 that he had moneys in his possession belonging to Martha Wells.

Crown Attorney Curry tried to get an admission about some document to which Martha Wells and H. P. Hyams were parties, but failed.

Arthur C. Winterburry, of the Home Savings and Loan Co., identified the signature of Martha Wells and the endorsation of H. P. Hyams on one of their checks payable to H. P. Hyams for $1,700, and upon a check on the Dominion Bank for the same amount. Both checks represented the same transaction.

THE SKULL OF WILLIE WELLS.

Coroner Dr. Johnston produced from a small hand-bag the skull of Willie Wells. Crown Attorney Curry asked him if the skull was in the condition of that of a man who was looking up an elevator shaft when a 200-pound weight fell upon it.

"Not if it fell any distance," was the answer.

He further said that the condition could not be produced by the weight falling upon the head from any distance in any circumstances. It would be difficult for him to account for all the conditions from any one line of force. There were certainly two lines of force. One line of force was from the front right side of the head backwards, the other was from the back right side forwards, both towards the left. There was also a traverse and upward force.

If the man was lying with his head on the ground he could account for the condition of the skull if the weight had fallen about eight or ten inches, but if it had fallen from the flat above in that case the head would be crushed.

THE VICTIM WAS NOT STANDING UP.

The condition of the lower jaw proved to him that jaw was resting on some substance when the blow was struck. If the weight fell on a man's head in a upright position the present condition would not result, and the other bones of the body remain perfect as they were in this case. That weight falling in a vertical direction on a man's head could not fail to injure the bones of the neck or shoulders.

In cross-examination he said that the fracture above the right eyebrow was probably caused by a round instrument.

If those fractures were caused by one weight toppling over on the head of a man lying down it would have to weigh some 300 or 400 pounds. If the man was standing looking up and the weight fell upon him from a height of 10 or 15 feet it would shear clean through.

The court adjourned after E. F. B. Johnston had defended himself from the imputation that his request—that the medical evidence for the defence be allowed to examine the skull without the presence of detectives or Crown officials—was unreasonable or outrageous.

Father Langevin Consecrated Archbishop.

WINNIPEG, Man., March 20.—This day will long be remembered by the Catholics of Manitoba as a day of note in the annals of the church. With the impressive pomp and ceremony usual on such occasions, the Rev. Father Langevin was formally consecrated as Archbishop at St. Boniface and became the head and mouthpiece of the Catholics of Manitoba.

SAVED AT SEA.

The Brave and Heroic Rescue of a Crew After a Thrilling Experience—Noble Work of Tars.

Special to the Times.

PROVINCE BROWN, Mass., March 20.—The British schooner Gypsum Prince has arrived here with the crew of the schooner B. H. Jones, of Thomaston, Maine. The B. H. Jones was dismasted in a gale on Monday night, 25 miles southeast of Thatcher's Island. The rescue of Jones' crew is told in the following interesting report: The Gypsum Prince reports having passed Pollock lightship Sunday night about 9 o'clock and at midnight was off Cape Cod banging away in the teeth of a norther trying to work by the Cape. Early next morning those on board discovered a dismasted wreck tossing around at the mercy of the tempest with her rigging and spars thrashing alongside. The first officer, Mr. Bezaun, called for volunteers to mann the lifeboat and go to the rescue. The seas were fearful to look at, and the only way they could get the boat into the water was to poise her on the rail with the men in place at the oars and when the vessel settled in the rough sea bringing her rail level with the water, the lifeboat was given a shove clear off the vessel and fell fully eight or nine feet before striking the water. For two solid hours fought, and at last they won. A favorable lull gave them a chance and they threw a line to the wreck which was caught and fastened. And during another lull between two seas the boat was hauled up, the crew on the wreck jumped and safely landed in the boat. In the meantime the Prince had drifted some three miles astern. The line was let go and stern first went the lifeboat toward her. The return on board the Prince was as hazardous in the mountainous seas running as was the departure but the men at the stern was equal to it. Watching his chance when his boat was on the top of a rushing combre he steered toward the big four-master and landed almost on deck, near enough at least for all to jump and reach safety. The boat was quickly hoisted in and the schooner bore away for Boston. She was, however, obliged to put in here for harbor.

THEY KICKED TOO LATE.

Methodist Ministers Warn the Government of What May Happen.

Special to the Times.

WINNIPEG, Man., March 20.—At a special meeting of the Methodist Ministerial Association yesterday, before it was known that a remedial order would be issued, the following resolution was passed and wired to Premier Bowell:

"Fearing lest silence be construed as indifference, we respectfully but firmly protest against interference with the school system in Manitoba as now established by law; first, because by this law no injustice is done to any individual; secondly, because such interference would infringe upon provincial rights, which are sacred, having been uniformly recognised since Confederation, notably in dealing with the Jesuits Estates."

Now that the remedial order is passed another meeting is likely to be held to pass stronger resolutions.

REMEDIAL LEGISLATION.

CABINET MAKES A REMEDIAL ORDER TO GREENWAY.

He is Called Upon to Remove the Grievances—Dissolution to Follow—Terms of the Order Not Made Public.

Special to The Times.

OTTAWA, March 20.

AT a Cabinet Council yesterday afternoon a remedial order in the Manitoba school appeal was adopted, which will tomorrow be forwarded to the Manitoba Legislature. The terms of order will not be made public until tomorrow, by which time his Excellency the Governor General will, it is presumed have signed it. It recites the course of the appeal and the history of the question, and some parts of the recent judgment of the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council. The command laid upon the Legislature of Manitoba is, it is understood, couched in a voluminous vocabulary. Now that the order has been adopted pledging the Government, should Manitoba decline to comply, to introduce remedial legislation in Parliament, dissolution will follow immediately. The proclamation will probably be issued tomorrow dissolving Parliament and bringing on the general elections.

Dr. Ferguson, M.P., for South Leeds, was here today, and after seeing some Cabinet Ministers told a friend that he was going home to issue his address to the electors.

Mr. Davin, M P., announces through a special edition of The Leader, his own paper, that some legal difficulty has arisen which will prevent the distribution of the Government seed grain being made through the Department of the Interior direct, as was advertised. Therefore, all persons desiring seed grain will have to make application to Mr. N. F. Davin, M. P., Regina. This, of course, looks very like a session of Parliament dodge.

The Dunnville demonstration in Dr. Montague's county has been postponed, it is stated here.

The trade and navigation returns for the year ending June 30, 1894, are being called for continually by outsiders, but the fact is they are not ready, and will not likely be got ready in time to be of any use. They will probably not be printed before the general elections. It is said they are being held back because they show a substantial diminution of trade as compared with 1892 93.

Mr. J. D. Edgar, M.P., is here tonight en route home from Alexandria. The great Liberal meeting there was, he says, a tremendous success.

C. P. R. Reaches Out.

DULUTH, Minn., March 20.—It was learned last night that Canadian capitalists have stolen a march on the Duluth & Iron Range and the Duluth & Mesaba Northern railways. The latter road contemplated extension into the Rainy Lake region and partial surveys had been made. Now it is learned that a branch of the Canadian Pacific has been started which will tap the country between Fort Frances and Rainy Lake city, and that the greater part of the right of way has been secured.

OLD COUNTRY CABLES.

TEH SPANISH MINISTRY TO RESUME OFFICE.

Newfoundland and Canada—Japs at Formosa—Rosebery's Illness—Britain's Ultimatum—Sagasta Must Stand.

Special to The Times.

LONDON, March 20.

THE Times tomorrow will publish a despatch from Shanghai, saying a rumor is current there that the Japs are about to send an expedition against Formosa. The report is not credited here, however. It is considered more likely that a forward move will be made toward the north in the event of the failure of peace negotiations.

SAGASTA MUST STAND.

LONDON, March 20.—The Post tomorrow will publish an interview with Gen. Martinez de Campos, Captain General of Madrid, in which Gen. de Campos expresses the opinion that Premier Sagasta ought to continue in office. If he does not do so, Gen. Campos says, the first regiment will be regarded as being led by a few officers. Such a thing must not be allowed, as it would bear the semblance of justification. The idea of a change in the ministry being ascribed to such a case cannot be tolerated.

ROSEBERY'S ILLNESS.

LONDON, March 20.—The News today says that although Lord Rosebery has recovered from his recent attack of influenza, he is still suffering from insomnia, in regard to which trouble no great improvement can be reported. The change from London to Epsom has not yet produced the desired effect, and his Lordship is still unable to attend any but the most urgent business.

SPANISH CRISIS.

MADRID, March 20.—Queen Regent Christiana yesterday granted an audience to Senor Canovas de Castillo, who assured her that the Conservatives were not eager for office, but they were willing to assume the duties of the various ministries if they were called upon to do so.

CANADA AND NEWFOUNDLAND.

LONDON, March 20.—The Post today says that there is reason to believe that the sole object of the government in sending Mr. Herbert Murray, formerly chairman of the Customs department to Newfoundland is that he may provide the fisherman with funds as the banks and leading merchants have hitherto done at the beginning of the fishing season. It is not known whether or not Mr. Murray will require the same security for the advances as those who have previously supplied the funds. His mission has nothing to do with the present position of the colony. There are many reasons for Canada's taking the liabilities off Newfoundland and admitting that colony to the federation. Her fisheries are a source of wealth, while the possession of her bait grounds would be a good card to play against the U. S. Morever the inclusion of Newfoundland in the Dominion virtually means the security of the Gulf of the St. Lawrence in the event of a foreign invasion. Newfoundland, however, would gain little else than pecuniary assistance; yet if Canada does not guarantee the colony's debt nobody else will. The idea of her reverting to a crown colony may be abandoned, and it will probably happen that Newfoundland will become part of Canada with Premier Whiteway as her first lieutenant.

THE FATE OF THE REGENTE.

MADRID, March 20.—The Government has not received official news regarding the report of the finding of the cruiser Reina Regente, and the statement that she had been found sunk in shallow water near the Straits of Gibraltar, is generally discredited by the authorities. All the Madrid newspapers, however, publish the statement that Alfonso XII discovered the cruiser sunk at Bajo Aceitunos, with only a small portion of her masts above the water.

ENGLAND'S ULTIMATUM.

LONDON, March 20.—Lord Kimberley, Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, yesterday personally handed to the Nicaraguan Minister at the Foreign Office the ultimatum of the British Government demanding reparation for the expulsion from Bluefields of Mr. Hatch, the British Consular agent. A copy of the document was cabled to the British Minister resident in Nicaragua. Lord Kimberly emphatically demands adequate satisfaction from Nicaragua. In official circles the belief is general that the matter will be amicably settled and no demonstration by a British squadron will be necessary to enforce the demands of Great Britain.

ANOTHER FOR SIR OLIVER.

Dr. Baxter, of Haldimand, Gives Patron Senn a Bad Beating.

Special to the Times.

CAYUGA, Marbh 20.—Since 1867 Dr. Baxter has represented this constituency in the Ontario Legislature. In 1886 he was elected by a majority of 205, and from 1887 to 1891 he was Speaker of the House. In June, 1890, E. E. Sheppard was defeated by the doctor with a majority of 338.

Last June Patron John Senn contested the riding successfully, and Dr. Baxter met with his first defeat; the vote stood, Senn 1,693, Baxter 1,678, leaving a majority of 15 for the Patron. A protest resulted in the reopening of the constituency, and the Patron again contested it against Dr. Baxter, who received yesterday a majority of 282. The following are the returns of majorities.

Dr. Baxter—Cayuga, 124; township of North Cayuga; 99; township of Oneida, 8; township of Rainham, 92; township of Walpole, 79; total, 408.

Mr. John Senn—Caledonia, 2; Hagersville 18; township of Dunn, 82; township of Seneca, 10, township of South Cayuga, 4; total, 126. Majority for Dr. Baxter, 282.

A Disastrous Fire.

BURLINGTON, Vt., March 20.—A disastrous fire this morning burned the woodworking shops of J. R. Booth, the Pioneer lumber mills, the large storehouse and works of the Baldwin Refrigerator Co., and the shops of the Vermont Roller Shade Co., containing a large amount of stock and much valuable machinery. During the fire W. L. Millington, aged 65, a watchman in the employ of the mills, fell through the roof of a building into the flames and was burned to death. The total loss is estimated at $300,000. The insurance is much less. This fire closes all the mills in the northern section of the lumber district that escaped the conflagration last December and makes a great loss to Burlington. About 225 men are thrown out of employment. It is stated that the mills will not be rebuilt.

The Times.

PETERBOROUGH, MARCH 20 1895.

Good morning!

We are told that "vice is a monster of so frightful mien as, to be hated, needs but to be seen; yet seen too oft, familiar with her face, we first endure, then pity, then embrace." The evil practices which called forth Mr. Tarte's hatred five years ago he has long since embraced, and the demagogism which he at that time considered so fatal is now his ordinary vocation.

Since Kaiser William declared himself as against the policy of restricting the importation of Amerian beef and pork into Germany, esteemed American contemporaries have discovered that he is not at all the sort of a kaiser that they have been laughing at for some years.

Just opposite the beautiful tall new building of a east side hospital is a little basement factory where two German brothers make and mend surgical instruments. This is one of the several delicate mechanical trades that survive on a small scale in spite of the modern tendency toward great establishments.

B. B. Osler has been retained by the Ontario Government to prosecute all Ontario murderers. If our learned friend has really so much influence over the intelligent juryman as he gets credit for having, the new scheme is a good one. As the defender of a murderer Mr. Osler might influence a jury to let a guilty man off; but it would require even greater eloquence than B. B's to induce a juror to commit murder by hanging an innocent man.

So far asuniting as one city, as proposed a year or two ago, St. Paul and Minneapolis are at daggers drawn. The rivalry has gone so far that Minneapolis people have scattered broadcast a libellous circular against the sister city, stating that the civic officials have not been paid for months, and, among other things, saying that "many business houses have sought new locations in the past year, and thousands of people have been obliged to leave St. Paul for want of work. Office buildings and dwelling-houses are depopulated, and St. Paul real estate cannot be given away. Every newspaper has increased its size in order to print the mortgage forecloseures." The St. Paul people are furious over these statements, and threaten some form of retaliation.

Japan's grasp of the essential, practical results of our nineteenth century civilization is, to Western eyes at least, the most startling feature in the war now waging in the East, the inovation which the Japanese government, as is reported, intends to introduce in its rewards for military valor would do honor to any hard headed Yankee or British business man. Instead of a bit of ribbon with a medal or a cross attached to it, to be worn on state occasions, the veteran on his return will receive a watch that he can use without ostentation every day of his life, and on whose case will be inscribed the service which he has rendered to his country. The presentation of a watch as a reward for gallant deeds, or because of personal esteem, is not unknown among us, but Japan has got the start of us in this general application of the utile cum honesto, and once more shows her amazingly progressive sense.

THE CHILDREN'S PROTECTION ACT.

Mr. J. J. Kelso, the superintendant of neglected and dependent children for Ontario, has published a report of his year's experience in the practical working of the Ontario Children's Protection Act that contains a number of valuable hints. The system is based upon the principle that there is no training school for a child like a Christian home. If the child find all requirements in its own home, then happy is the child and content may be the State; but if it have no home or only a bad home, then the State interferes as wisely as it can and endeavors to transplant the child to a foster home where its great loss may be partially made up to it. As the report says: "By ensuring a healthier and happier home life for the children of the poor it will mean much waste material converted into valuable product, and, above all, a large diminution in the vicious and criminal class now being maintained at tremendous cost in our public institutions. For the class known as dependent children, the concensus of opinion abroad is that family life is by far the most natural, wholesome and economical method of disposal, and under the Children's Law of Ontario this is the officially recognized principle."

The Children's Aid Societies, which are the voluntary instruments of the law in this case, have increased in number during the year from five to nineteen, and they have done a vast deal of good work. Difficulties have arisen, of course, and the superintendant seems to be especially anxious for more power in rural districts. Some things have been learned, too. For instance, girls are much more in demand than boys; and the report remarks with a naive humor that "in order to find homes for little boys, some missionary work will be necessary among Christian, kindly-disposed people." Another piece of information picked up was that the city children must be sent away to the country when very young, if they are to be content there. Mr. Kelso placed seven lads between 12 and 15 on farms, but not one of them would remain. "The two excuses were hard work and loneliness," says the report. "They found the country so totally different to what they had been accustomed to that some of them could not get back to town quick enough. The experiment was a most valuable one nevertheless for it conveyed this important lesson—that if dependent children are to grow up contentedly in the country they must be transplanted very young." Before the age of eight is reached is considered the safest period.

The law on the whole is considered a success as far as it goes, and its future developement will be watched with interest.

AN ENGLISH EXPERIMENT.

England is said to be moving toward socialism. Govermental control of certain monopolies has apparently been growing in favor there for some years. In 1870 Gladstone's caused the telegraph system to be placed under control of the Government.

The cost of the system to the Government in 1870 was $55,000,000. The next year 15,000 miles of wire were strung to connect the various systems. In 1870 the total number of telegrams handled weekly by the different companies which England bought out was from 128,000 to 215,000. In 1893 the weekly average exceeded 1,100,000. Wonderful improvements have been made also in the mechanical part of the service. From a possible 75 words a minute the limit has grown to 500 words.

But the great gain has been in the way of cost. Twelve words can be sent for 12 cents, paid by stamps. The telegraph in Great Britain is considered in the same light as the postal service in Canada. That is, it is not meant for a revenue producer, but rather as a means of bettering the condition of the people, opening new channels for business, and benefiting the state indirectly through its integral parts.

VALUE OF A SPY IN BATTLE.

Exploit of a Soldier Who Gained Information at Gettysburg.

Dr. H. N. Howard, who was assistant surgeon of the Tenth Maine infantry, related the following incident:

"On the second day of the battle of Gettysburg the Twelfth corps was on the right of the Union line. The First division (General Williams') occupied the extreme right at the foot of Culp's hill, where slight earthworks had been thrown up. In the afternoon the enemy appeared to be massing on our left. General Meade ordered the First division of the Twelfth corps over to the support of the left. This left the Tenth Maine occupying the extreme right of the Union lines alone.

"The enemy doubtless discovered the movement, as after dark it was found that they were moving by the left flank down the ravine back of Culp's hill. This was reported to General Slocum. He lost no time in informing General Meade, who ordered a trusty scout to be sent out at once to ascertain the facts. Captain Beardsley called for a volunteer for the desperate service, the night being black as ink. Henry Kallock threw off his chevrons, and in the blouse of a private soldier announced himself ready. Kallock was first sergeant of Company D, as brave as he was daring and efficient. With dread as to the result, Captain Beardsley sent him out into the darkness. At midnight the brave sergeant returned and reported that he had penetrated the lines of the enemy, who were then occupying the works but a few hours before vacated by General Williams' division.

"This was at once reported to General Meade, who ordered General Williams to return. Under cover of the darkness the movement was noiselessly accomplished. They approached so near as to hear the whispered voices of the enemy within the intrenchments and there remained until the first light of dawn discovered to the enemy the immediate vicinity of the Union forces. Then was initiated the bloody assault upon Culp's hill, where, in indiscriminate heaps, lay the foes of either army. When the sun went down, Old Glory waved in triumph over the little earthworks on the extreme right of our lines, announcing the first victory gained in the battle of Gettysburg.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

Why He Knew.

Mr. Timothy Cole, the engraver, gives an account in a private letter of an amusing experience in the Louvre: "While I was working on 'The Fish Market,' by Van Ostade, an elderly lady and a young gentleman stopped in front of the picture. They were much attracted by what I was doing, and the lady asked her companion if he knew what I was about. He very readily answered that I was etching. 'But,' she responded, more attentively regarding me as I engraved, 'he appears to be cutting on wood.' 'Etching on wood,' was the offhand return. I could not repress a smile as I worked on, and they watched me in silence. 'I should think,' resumed the old lady, 'that if he made a false cut or mistake it would be the ruin of all he had done?' 'Oh, no,' was the nonchalant reply, 'all he would have to do is to scratch it out and do it over again.' Here my involuntary glance of surprise, as I looked up from my block, met the inquiring eyes of the questioner. It was time for me to explain, which I did, correcting the gentleman's erroneous idea—evidently derived from seeing the process of etching—of a wood engraver's being able to remedy anything he had once cut by scratching it out. We then fell into conversation, and I learned that the young man was an art critic, which accounted for the confidence with which he uttered his opinions."—San Francisco Argonaut.

Wonders of the Eye.

In an article on the human eye written by Dr. Austin Flint the following passage occurs: "Viewed as an optical instrument, the human eye may well be called perfect, for it is an apparatus contained in a globe less than an inch in diameter, in which is produced an image, practically perfect in form and color, and which can be accurately adjusted almost instantly for every distance from five inches to infinity, which is movable in every direction, has an area small enough for the detection of the most minute details and at the same time large enough for the appreciation of large objects, and which enables us to see all shades of color and to estimate distance, solidity, and, to some extent, the consistency of objects." And yet this wonderful instrument, perhaps the most varied in its capabilities of any part of the body, is persistently misused and neglected. Is it any wonder that some day nature resents this treatment and leaves the offenders in total and perpetual darkness?—New York Ledger.

Some Puritanism Left.

Culture and skepticism and the growth of luxury and refinement are no doubt affecting English character, but to an extent which only seems considerable because the cultivated and skeptical, the refined and luxurious minority exaggerate it. The exaggeration is apt to deceive, because the classes which have outgrown the influence of Puritanism are disproportionately vocal, as they are relatively small, while the classes among whom that influence is still dominant are a virtually voiceless multitude.

But the impartial student of the national character is constantly being confronted with evidence to the fact that the process of so called "emancipation" has reached but the merest fringe of the community, and that the great bulk of middle class Englishmen are still, to all intents and purposes, the true spiritual descendants of a Puritan stock.—"Social England," H. D. Traill.

The Morphine Habit In France.

Dr. Jules Rochard, in The Union Medicale, draws a gloomy picture of the increase of the morphine habit in France and elsewhere. The habit, he finds, becomes incurable at the end of six months of indulgence. The fair sex and the doctors are, in his opinion, most deeply addicted to morphine. He draws an unpleasant comparison between the behavior of each kind of delinquent. Women, he says, delight in declaring how they indulge in this vice and show ornamental hypodermic syringes to their friends. Dr. Notet states that a lady, having broken the needle of her syringe in a remote country village, wounded her skin with scissors and thrust the stump of the needle into the wound, injecting in this manner till a new syringe arrived from Paris.

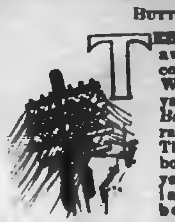
OUTRAGED AND LYNCHED.

FOUND WITH A ROPE AROUND HER NECK.

A Brutal and Dastardly Crime—Students Expelled at Kingston—Killed in the Woods—Pulled a Horse's Tongue Out.

Special to the Times.

BUTTE, Neb., March 19.



TERRIBLE details of an awful crime have just come to light. Mrs. Wolton, living in Keyapaha county, near Bruckeburg, was outraged and lynched on Thursday last and her body was discovered yesterday. The crime is supposed to have been committed by rustlers of the anti-vigilance committee, who suspected her of giving testimony which led to the conviction of cattle thieves. Her body was found lying in a room with a rope around her neck and there was evidence that she had been outraged also. She was living alone at the time, her husband having been sent to the insane asylum. The crime occurred near the scene of Barrett Scott's tragedy. There is great excitement and threats of lynching. No arrests have been made yet.

STUDENTS EXPELLED.

KINGSTON, March 19.—On Saturday judgment was pronounced on four students who were proved to have been connected with the recent thefts of books in Queen's University. The evidence was especially conclusive with regard to two of them, and these were summarily dismissed from the University. Another was suspended for the remainder of the present session, and the fourth, who was accused of concealment of the knowledge of several offences of this nature, escaped with a severe warning.

A HOTEL ON FIRE.

YARMOUTH, N. S., March 18.—About 3.30 yesterday morning fire was discovered in the Globe hotel a three-storey wooden building, situated on Hawthorn street. Before the flames were extinguished the building was destroyed, the roof and west end being completely burnt off. A gale was blowing at the time, but the fire was confined to the hotel. The building was owned by William Jones, who was absent at the time in Argyle.

KILLED IN THE WOODS.

BETHANY, Ont., March 19.—On Friday last while Richard Fitch and his two brothers-in-law, William and John Sisson, were engaged in felling trees in the woods, Richard Fitch was struck on the head by a falling tree. He lived for forty-eight hours, when death terminated his sufferings.

PULLED A HORSE'S TONGUE OUT.

KINGSTON, March 19.—Joseph Theobald, who was formerly proprietor of a barber shop in this city, was on Saturday at Watertown, N. Y., convicted of pulling the tongue out of a balky horse and sent to gaol for six months and fined $50.

THE REPORT DENIED.

HAMILTON, March 19.—The reports from Hamilton stating that Mr. Buchanan, the independent candidate for the Commons, attempted to get endorsation of the Christian Endeavor societies and that the attempt was voted down, is untrue and misleading. The simple truth is that the District Union adopted a resolution urging Christian Endeavorers to support only Christian temperance candidates. One member suggested that Mr. Buchanan's name should be endorsed, but Mr. J. C. Harris, secretary of Mr. Buchanan's central association, was the first to object to naming any candidate and the majority agreed with him. There was no opposition shown to Mr. Buchanan, and no member believes he had anything to do with the motion.

HARMONY IN THE IRISH PARTY.

Justin McCarthy Says There is Neither Division Nor Faction in the Party.

LONDON, March 19.—Justin McCarthy presided this evening at the annual Nationalist banquet in London. He said in his speech that there was neither division nor faction in the party; that all were pledged to secure Ireland's autonomy and to nothing else. John Dillon, T. P. O'Connors and others uttered somewhat similar sentiments.

To Cheat the Insurance Companies.

WINNIPEG, March 19.—Simon Goldtaub, merchant, of Plum Coulee, was burned out last week and put in his claim to insurance companies for the loss of his stock. Insurance people were suspicious and found large quantities of goods from Goldtaub's store packed away in a stable and covered with hay. Goldtaub is now in jail.

TRAINING ANIMALS TO ACT.

Educating Dogs and Baboons to Amuse the Public.

Down Brixton way they live, and theirs is one of the nattiest and airiest houses in the road. The milkman sings at the area door, and down from the room on the drawing room floor, where he has been very busy indeed, runs one of the firm to make sure of the supply of milk. If you happened to pass by in the road just as this dairy transaction takes place, you would laugh, even if you were the grimmest and most morose of men. It is altogether too funny. The door opens, the youth hands in some substantial cans—for the firm is a large one, requiring a good deal in the way of their daily dinner, tea and supper—and out of the door the said partner pokes his brown nose in a quiet but very businesslike fashion. He only wants a pair of goggles to convert him into the typical stage doorkeeper who looks out of his lodge in pompous style, inquiring, "What is it you want?"

Instead of goggles our friend of the Brixton firm is attired in something else. A padded oblong erection adorns his back.

At first you might find it difficult to give the thing a name, but when you have presently been admitted to the offices of the firm you will appreciate the virtues of this saddle. Its wearer is a spaniel of the sporting variety, and besides being the keeper of the milk cans he is also present in the character of a thoroughbred race horse, and when he waddled, somewhat stealthily, down to the area door he ought really to have stuck to his guns up stairs, for there, in the large front room, a performance by the entire staff of the firm of Babe & Co. is going on. Just now there is a pause in the performance. The boxing members—three of them in tights, belts and knickers—glower at each other from the seats to which they have retired. A fourth, in gray raiment, sniffs critically at the skipping rope, which two minutes ago served him in the fulfillment of his duties as champion terrier. In the center of the room sits Babe, the head of the firm, whose private family name is Baboon, and on the shoulder of one of the "sleeping partners"—to wit, Mr. and Mrs. Macart,—sits the most intelligent and mischievous looking of little apes. Some years ago Mr. and Mrs. Macart and their nine performing dogs were the delight of London. They "worked" at a big music hall, and great was their success. They were among the most popular soloists on the large music hall stages. In the provinces they were always welcome, and America, their native country, received them and their dogs always with gladness.

Not the least part of their universal popularity they owed to the fact that their performing dogs were a happy family. We saw them on the stage and off, at times when a crowd applauded them and when Mr. Fred Macart was with them all alone behind the scenes. The animals were madly fond of their master and mistress, who taught by kindness, and not by cruelty, and made no virtue of it. "You see," Mr. Macart said in his quiet way, while three hounds attempted to lick his face and two terriers tugged impudently at his trousers legs, "you see, it doesn't answer to frighten the animals. You make them hate and fear you, and they work without spirit, and the public won't stand it and hiss you off the stage. You coax them into learning their tricks, you praise them if they do well and give them just a taste of the whip if they're obstinate or sulky, and you get them just to love to show off. I don't know about trainers of performing animals being paragons of gentleness and patience. We, my wife and I, are fond of our dogs and monkeys, but that's neither here nor there. The point is, you can do with them what you like almost in the way of training them if you train them by kindness. It's the best and, in fact, the only policy." And then Babe, in a sudden fit of affection, bounded upon Mr. Macart's arm, hugged him tightly with her long hairy arms, made a babbling noise of approval and delight and began what looked like studies of phrenology with her master's skull.

"Time!" calls out the master of ceremonies, and into the middle of the room bound the two jolly boxers and begin the most absurd and spirited tussle imaginable. "Give it to him, Pepper!" "Go it, Mustard!" And the comical performance goes on and on till a third gentleman of the same breed of rough coated terriers comes upon the scene. He wears a policeman's uniform and is most imposing to behold in his capacity of representative of the law. He interferes between the prizefighters and would have you believe that he is sternly opposed to such creatures as prize boxers and professional fighters. But in his eyes all the time there gleams a light of intellectual enjoyment of the scene which belies his general demeanor, and the way in which he deals blows right and left for the ostensible purpose of separating the sportsmen shows that his delight is in their work and his own.—Westminster Budget.

Peculiar Chinese Dishes.

Some of the dishes were extremely nice, notably the little shreds of roast mutton, excellently seasoned, such as I learned ever after to call for with confidence at Chinese inns. On the other hand, the chicken was made uneatable, and the eggs on this occasion, I am bound to say, were inexpressibly nasty. The taste for them as eaten in China had need to be acquired, no doubt, for I had been told at Vierny of the wonderful pains and expense at which Chinese gormands preserve their eggs till they are black and putrid, and of which they are as proud when many, many years old as an English squire of his crusted port. I have, moreover, a vague impression, which for the moment I cannot verify, that I somewhere tasted these ancient delicacies and found them good, but on the present occasion my notebook condemns them utterly.

The rissoles of pork sausage were tasty, and so were the French beans, peas and hearts of cabbage stalk cut in slices, and the mandarin oranges preserved in sirup. We helped ourselves to these delicacies as we pleased, but our host every now and then with his chopsticks placed on the plate of one or other of his three guests a choice morsel, which mercifully it was not a matter of unbending etiquette that one should eat. It was polite, of course, occasionally to return the compliment and help him to tidbits with one's knife and fork.—"Chinese Central Asia," Harry Lansdell.

An Expensive Wife.

"Mr. Skinflint, I have brought the account for your late wife's funeral. The expenses amount in all to £4 5s."

Skinflint—What! Four pounds five shillings? I almost wish now she hadn't died!—London Tit-Bits.

Anxious.

She—Oh, Charlie, papa is going to give us $100,000 when we marry!

He—Is that so, darling? Well, suppose we get married a few months sooner than we expected.—Detroit Free Press.

A Lady's Thankfulness

RESCUED FROM FATAL DISEASES

She says: "I Thank God for the Wonders Paine's Celery Compound Accomplished for me."

ANOTHER PROOF OF THE VALUE OF THE GREAT SPRING MEDICINE

The following letter from Mrs. H. Harbour, of Winnipeg, Man., should give strong encouragement to all who suffer from heart disease, kidney trouble and general weakness. Such sufferers should take warning of the dread results that are sure to follow if disease is neglected in the spring season. Now is the time to cleanse and put away loads of disease; a month or two later your case may be a hopeless one. Paine's Celery Compound is the only cleanser and disease banisher that can meet successfully the worst cases. It succeeds when all other medicines fail; it is the only true health-restorer, and our best Canadian people testify daily to its virtues and wonderous health-imparting qualities.

Mrs. Harbour says:—

"It is with great pleasure that I write to thank you for your wonderful medicine, Paine's Celery Compound. A month ago I was very sick and happened to see one of your publications, in which I read of others being cured. I concluded to try Paine's Celery Compound myself, and I now thank God for the wonders it accomplished for me. I was suffering from heart disease, kidney trouble and general weakness, and some days was not able to stand without experiencing great pain; my appetite was also very poor. Since I used the Compound I am able to get about the house and work, and can now eat anything put before me.

"I trust my testimony may lead many to try your valuable remedy."

HOW THEY MET.

'Twas In a Crowd, and the Place Was the Keeley Institute.

There have been many strange experiences gone through by the worshipers of the Keeley institute in Dwight, Ills., more so perhaps three or four years ago than at present, when there are so many branches established in different states. One of these experiences happened some three years ago.

There was a brainy, brilliant crowd of literary, fashionable, thespian and legal lights there who had all gathered to secure a respite from the cravings for liquor, opium, morphine and other habits. Among them was an old codger dressed in heavy, dust covered cowhide boots, with hickory shirt and butternut overalls, who kept apart from the rest of the throng and seemed to feel somewhat out of place in the gay and better dressed crowd.

One evening a delegation of about 700 all told, including perhaps 250 ladies, went down to the depot to see the "jag train" come in with the new arrivals on board. One of the first to leave the cars was a handsome fellow of perhaps 35, who was carrying all he could navigate under, and who was feeling decidedly happy. Catching sight of the sedate old unknown, who had accompanied the crowd to the depot, he said to his companion, who was trying to keep him within bounds:

"Lemme go, lemme go, I tell you! There's a man I want to see."

Then he ambled toward the hickory shirt and extended his hand with mock dignity, saying:

"How'sh yer honor? I'm glad to see yer."

By this time the bystanders had caught on that something was going on and began crowding around the maudlin newcomer and the sedate old gentleman. Turning round to the crowd, who were eagerly looking on, the tipsy candidate said:

"P'raps you folks don't know it, but thish the chief justice of the state of ——, and, by Jove, I'm the attorney general."

After that the chief justice resume his ordinary garb and proved to be one of the most companionable of the brilliant coterie gathered at Dwight.—Minneapolis Journal.

THE COW QUESTION.

It Is Discussed From Both Sides of the Garden Fence.

We have received a communication on the subject of the town cow, and though it is well written and properly signed we do not like to give it space, and for several reasons. The cow question has done more to embitter life, separate families and destroy the peace and quietness of entire communities than all others. Like other questions, there are two sides to the cow argument—the cow's side and the other side. Those who own cows are on the cow's side; those who don't own cows and do own gardens and shrubbery are on the other side and there to stay.

Still we never could see why the cow so craved a diet of choice roses and valuable shrubbery. Her butter or milk always goes at the same price. Columbia river water is better than all the roses to enhance the value of her yield. Why shouldn't she run at large if she wants to? Some people neglect their plants and bushes, and the cow trims them up. She also reminds the man of the house that he has left the front gate open and does it delicately, because she always wakes the man's wife up first, or the hired girl, and she tells him, and he gets up and exhibits his pajamas to the neighbors by the light of the silver moon; also his temper, and the latter can best be seen on a dark night.—Dallas Chronicle.

A DOUBLE SUICIDE.

A Soldier and His Sweetheart Resolve to Die Together.

Special to the Times.

PARIS, March 19.—France is peculiarly the land of dramatic suicides. One reported from Lyons has sent a shiver through the gay Parisians, who are usually callous to death in any form. A young soldier had been on a visit to his relatives. Instead of returning to his regiment at the expiration of his leave he lingered at Lyons paying court to his sweetheart. As the days passed, the man became a prey to melancholy. He brooded over the punishment that would befall him on his return to barracks. The fit grew upon him, and communicated itself to the girl. Finally the soldier suggested that they should kill themselves. His sweetheart assented, and wanted to die by drowning in the Rhone. This idea, however, did not strike him very favourably. He thought drowning too slow and painful a death. He proposed shooting, and the girl agreed. After taking a light supper the couple shut themselves up in a room. They wrote a letter to the effect that it was better to die than to be separated. The arrangement was that the soldier should shoot his sweetheart and then kill himself, and that if her wound was not mortal she should finish herself with the revolver. They laid themselves dressed on the bed. The man shot his companions and then blew out his own brains. The girl was not seriously injured, however, and she took up the pistol, and, firing at herself, fell back in a swoon. The soldier's arms were drawn tightly round her, and for twelve hours she lay thus in the embrace of the corpse. She was taken to a hospital when discovered next morning. The doctors say she will recover, but the girl declares she will take the first opportunity to join her dead lover.

BY A WATERSPOUT.

Several Lives Lost and an En ous Amount of Property Destro

Special to the Times.

GADSDEN, Ala., March 19.—News comes from several sections of the State of great losses in horses and cattle by the big rains and strong winds prevailing the past few days.

A cyclone struck Prouto and wrecked the house of W. E. Copeland. The house was torn from over the heads of the Copeland family and six members of it are more or less injured.

Lucy Haversham, a 9-year-old girl, was blown some distance and struck a tree, breaking her arm and leg and several ribs.

The worse fatalities occurred on Coosa river, 30 miles above this place. A waterspout burst and the river rose out of its banks, dislodged the house of Jacob Anderson and carried him and his wife and baby down the stream. The house was wrecked on a rock and the three inmates drowned. A negro servant saved his life by catching the limb of a tree as the house sped down stream. Hundreds of cattle were drowned and 50 to 100 barns were wrecked. Three men who were logging on the Coosa river have not been seen since the storm and are thought to have been lost.

Died an Hour After Quitting Work.

GUELPH, March 19.—George G. Lynn, C. P. R. baggageman, took suddenly ill last night after going home from work after 6 o'clock and died in an hour or two. Affection of the heart was the cause.

PETERBOROUGH, MARCH 21, 1895

THE NEWS THIS MORNING

HERE IT IS IN SHORT ORDER FOR BUSY READERS.

Telegraphic Tidings From all Parts of the Globe Condensed and Assorted for Easy Reading.

The German Reichstag on Tuesday adopted the colonial estimates after a heated debate.

Owing to the illness of Judge Desnoyers, of Montreal, the St. Louis case was again postponed on Tuesday until today.

The Duke of Aosta, nephew of the King of Italy, was formally betrothed on Monday evening to Princess Helene of Orleans.

Lieutenant Governor Chapleau arrived in Montreal from Quebec on Tuesday. He has almost completely recovered from his recent illness.

A meeting of the representative citizens of Montreal was called for yesterday, to consider the proposal to hold an international exhibition next year.

The Patrons of Industry of East Durham met on Tuesday at Millbrook and selected Mr. Samuel Grandy as their candidate for the coming Dominion elections.

On Monday night the City Council of Chatham, Ont., by a vote of 10 to 1, declared against the proposal to petition the Legislature for power to tax church property.

The Liberals of Huntingdon county, Que., nominated Mr. Julius Scriver, M.P., as there candidate at the general elections, at a convention held yesterday at Huntingdon.

Mr. Peter McKenzie, of Kinloss, was selected yesterday as the Liberal candidate for West Bruce at the coming general elections. The convention was held at Kincardine.

A message from Arthabaskaville states that Mr. Laurier, the Liberal leader, has been ordered by his physician not to leave the house during the present week, and will accordingly be prevented attending the meetings at which he was announced to speak.

In the House of Commons yesterday Mr. Buxton, Parliamentary Secretary to the Colonial Office, said that the Imperial Government would relieve the distress in Newfoundland out of the public funds, and Sir Herbert Murray would shortly start to carry out that object.

Mr. J.S. Larke, the Canadian Commercial Agent in Australia, reports to the Dominion Government that trade between Canada and Australia may be developed very considerably if proper representations are made, and suitable goods shipped, though, as he points out, prices are very close.

A valuable deposit of hematic iron ore has been discovered in Belle Isle, Conception Bay, Newfoundland, which is practically on the surface, and is five feet deep. An arrangement has been made with the New Glasgow Iron and Coal Company for the working of the property during the coming summer.

The Spanish cruiser Alfonso XII. has returned to Cadiz, and reports having found the missing cruiser Reina Regente sunk near Bajo Aceitunas, not far from the Straits of Gibraltar, with only twenty inches of her masts above water. She carried a crew of four hundred and twenty officers and men, and all hands are believed to have perished.

In the Ontario Legislature yesterday Dr. Meacham moved an amendment to a motion to go into Committee of Supply to the effect that the appointment of certain provincial officials should be made by County Councils instead of by the Government. The amendment was rejected by a vote of 55 to 25, the Patron members siding with the Government.

The Grand Orange Lodge of Eastern Ontario commenced its thirty-sixth annual meeting in Gananoque yesterday with a large attendance of delegates and visitors. Grand Master Kidd, in the course of his address, referred to the Manitoba school question, and said that as the legislation passed by the Legislature of Manitoba was strongly objected to by the Roman Catholics, that body is not only authorized to deal with it in the interests of her people, but that it is a duty incumbent upon them to do so, more especially as that course is the one indicated by the Privy Council. As an Orangeman, he thought that Public schools conserved the best interests of the people.

NOTHING IN DEFENCE.

The Gibbs Murder Trial Draws to a Sudden Close.

Special to the Times.

BUFFALO, N. Y., March 20.—The counsel for Robinsons announce they will make no defence. They moved for dismissal of the charges on technical grounds. The motion was overruled. Mr. Kenrick is summing up for the people.

District Attorney Kenrick addressing the jury, went over the case from beginning to end, making a terrible arraignment. When he asked if the false words of Sadie were to outweigh those of responsible witnesses, Sadie broke down and sobbed pitifully. Again, when he referred to her as an adventuress, she sprang from her chair and shouted "I'm not an adventuress." Her sister pulled her back into her seat and tried to quiet her, but the strain was tremendous and she was unable to restrain herself.

When the lawyer asked "Who is this Clarence Robinson?" Sadie fairly screamed "He's better than you," and struggled to free herself from her sister and counsel, who were kept busy preventing her from springing at the district attorney.

It was 11.15 o'clock when Judge Hatch began his charge. He said that before the jury could find a verdict of murder in the first degree they must be reasonably sure the prisoners went out with the deliberate intention of killing Gibbs. He said the confessions should be given the weight and consideration they deserve.

Sadie evidently realized the gravity of the situation, for again she broke down and sobbed bitterly, but Clarence sat calmly and made no sign. Finally he leaned forward and attempted to comfort his wife, but she turned and gave him a venomous slap in the face, and then buried her head in her hands and renewed her weeping.

ILL NEWS TRAVELS FAST.

A Madrid Newspaper Discredits the Report of Finding Reina Regente.

Special to the Times.

MADRID, March 20.—El Imparcial this morning says the report that the wreck of the missing cruiser Reina Regente has been discovered is utterly without foundation. The Alfonso XII., which was sent to search for the missing ship, has, the paper asserts, returned from her cruise without having obtained any news regarding the fate of the cruiser. The Government still entertains the hope that the Reina Regente, having run short of coal, has been blown into the Atlantic and may yet be heard from.

The Correspondencia reiterates the assertion that the Reina Regente was discovered sunk in shallow water at Bajo Aceitunas, adding that the wreck was just visible at low tide. The paper also says that the cruiser Alfonso XII. has brought from the wreck the bodies of 30 of the crew of the wrecked ship. The Alfonso XII. will return to the scene of the wreck with divers and dragging appliances.

FOR SPECIAL INSTRUCTION.

Officers and Non-Coms. to Leave for England on the 30th.

Special to the Times.

OTTAWA, March 20.—The undermentioned officers and non-commissioned officers of the permanent force have been selected to proceed to England for the purpose of undergoing special courses of instructions in their military duties. They leave Canada under command of Lieut.-Col. Otter by the Allan line steamer Mongolian, which sails from Halifax on Saturday, the 30th March:—Lieut.-Col. W D Otter, D A G, No 2 M D; Lieut-Col J F Wilson, R C A, Quebec; Major F L Lessard, R C D, Toronto; Captain MacDougall, R R C I, St Johns; Captain R W Rutherford, R C A, Quebec; Sergeant Instructor James Page, R C D; Sergeant Instructor Young, R C D; Sergeant James Slade, R C A; Sergeant G R Damour, R C A; Sergeant-Major J B Munro, R R C I; Color-Sergeant G W Galloway, R R C I.

BURIED UNDER BRICKS.

A Laborer Seriously Injured at the McKinnon Building.

Special to the Times.

TORONTO, March 20.—Edward Prince, a laborer, working at the ruins of the McKinnon building, was buried under a heavy mass of debris this morning, sustaining injuries that may prove fatal. He was working in the cellar, close to the west wall, when a large section of the wall gave without a moment's warning, and falling inwards, buried Prince. Fellow laborers quickly extricated him from beneath the heap of bricks and mortar, and it was found that his right leg was fractured just above the ankle and, in addition, he had received several very painful wounds. The ambulance was summoned, and the injured man was removed to St. Michael's Hospital for treatment. His shoulder was also dislocated. He resided at 840 Manning avenue.

Military School Transfer Wanted.

MONTREAL, March 20.—Owing to the difficulty experienced by the officers connected with the city volunteer corps, principally business and professional men, in sparing the time to attend the Royal Military School at St. John, Que., to qualify for their commissions, an effort was some time ago made to get the school removed to Montreal. Yesterday past and present commanding officers of the city corps, as well as a number of prominent citizens, waited upon the Minister of Militia, who was in town, and again laid their views before him, pointing out that it would contribute much to the efficiency of the force if the school were transferred to Montreal. Hon. Mr. Patterson expressed himself in sympathy with the deputation, promised to lay the matter before the Governor-in-Council as early as possible, and to do all in his power in favor of what he considered was only a reasonable request. He also visited the drill hall and promised many repairs and improvements.

Damages Against the A. G. Company.

BUFFALO, March 20.—A verdict for $5,000 damages was awarded Mrs. Hude in the Superior Court against the American Glucose Company, whose works were destroyed by fire on April 12, 1894. In this fire Mrs. Hude's husband was one of the 12 Polish laborers who perished. This is the first case brought; three more are on the calendar, and the result of this will undoubtedly lead eight more to be brought into court.

Three Relations.

Rev. Septimus Jones delivered an able and interesting lecture in St. John's church last night to a large audience, taking for his subject "The Three Relations." He designated the three relations as follows: 1. Between husband and wife. 2. Between parents and children. 3. Between employer and employees. In an apt and eloquent style he told what these relations should be, and contrasted this with what, unfortunately, in many instances did exist. His hearers were delighted with the able effort of the eloquent divine.

BIRTH.

GRAND JURY'S PRESENTMENT.

They Recommend the Establishment of a House of Industry.

The jury in the case of Murray vs. Bell Telephone Company brought in a verdict of $460 and full costs to the plaintiff. W. H. Moore and George H. Watson, Q. C., for plaintiff and Edwards & Murray for the defendant. The particulars of the case were published several days ago.

Yesterday a verdict for the plaintiff was found in the case of Henderson vs. Henderson, and an order was made by which both parties pay their own costs. Hall & Hayes for plaintiff, Edwards & Murray for the defendants. This was an action brought by David Henderson and John Henderson, of Otonabee, against Annie Henderson, of Otonabee. David Henderson, sen., who died in February, 1894, willed to the plaintiffs the west half of lot No. 13 in the ninth concession of Otonabee, but the defendant, after the death of David Henderson, sen., entered into possession of the said lot. The plaintiffs claimed possession of the lot and $500 for mesne profit of the premises since the death of David Henderson, sen. The defendant denied the allegation made by the plaintiffs.

The Grand Jury brought in the following presentment:

To His Lordship Justice Street:

We, your Grand Jury of our Sovereign Lady the Queen, present as follows:

We congratulate your Worship and this county on the law abiding nature of its citizens as shown by the fact that no criminal cases appear on the docket of this Assize.

We appreciate the change in the law reducing the number of the Grand Jury to thirteen, as we believe the increasing intelligence in the magistracy of our country and the practical care they bestow upon their duties amply justify it.

As instructed by your Lordship we have inspected the gaol and beg to report that we found everything connected therewith very satisfactory indeed. The number of prisoners confined there now is twenty-two, over two-thirds of whom are vagrants. In view of this and of the fact that nearly all the time a large number of people are confined in gaol because they are poor, shiftless and without friends, your Grand Jury would recommend that the town and county unite in considering the advisability of establishing a House of Industry on terms of mutual satisfaction.

We also visited the Nicholls and St. Joseph hospitals, and beg leave to record our high appreciation of the provision made by both these institutions for the care and comfort of the sick and destitute under their charge.

DAWSON KENNEDY,
Foreman.

The remarks regarding the establishment of a House of Industry were endorsed by his Lordship, who stated that he would place the recommendation before the proper bodies.
